Foreword

The 2015 Episcopal Clerical Directory represents further progress toward our goal of providing The Episcopal Church with the most comprehensive and reliable data possible about the clergy who serve this Church. This forty-sixth edition of the ECD includes biographical information on 18,901 clergy in good standing as of the date indicated on page 2.

Because of our constant concern to protect clergy privacy and prevent identity theft, with this 2015 edition of the Directory we have made several important changes in the kinds of data that are displayed in a cleric's biographical entry:

- The address that the cleric designated as his or her "published address" during the 2015 Episcopal Clerical Directory Clergy Information Update process is displayed. If the cleric did not specify a published address, no address is displayed.
- Only the cleric's year of birth is displayed; the month and date of birth are no longer displayed.
- Only the first names of the cleric's parents are displayed. We ceased publishing the cleric's mother's name at birth in the late 1990s because that information is often used as a security question for online and financial transactions. Now, as an additional safeguard against identity theft, we will no longer publish the parents' surnames in the cleric's biographical entry.
- An email address is displayed only if the cleric identified an "office" email when updating her or his information during the update process. If the cleric did not enter any data into the "office" field, no email address will display.

Further, as we began to do with the 2005 edition of the Directory and in response to requests from an increasing number of clergy, we no longer publish information on previous marriages, even those that resulted in children. The number of children, if any, from a cleric's previous marriage will continue to be displayed.

For over 10 years, the affiliate companies of the Church Pension Group have collaborated on the development of the Common Reference Database, a significant undertaking that enables all of the affiliates of the Pension Group to "read off the same page" about clergy and institutions and to serve them with an even greater degree of efficiency. Thus, for example, a cleric's ministry history—the chronological list of congregations in which s/he has served—is supplied by referencing the Pension Fund database. As ever, we count on our clergy to inform us when incorrect information appears.

Clergy who completed the 2015 Clergy Information Update questionnaire are identified in boldface type in the book. Because we receive updates from clergy and institutions nearly every day, new contact information and current position information submitted after the production deadline for this edition will be available online at the ECDPlus website: www.ecdplus.org.

Again in this edition, multiple current positions, including non-parochial ministry-related positions such as health care, school, and military chaplaincies, are shown. All current positions are listed near the beginning of each biography to help the reader discern at a glance each cleric's present ministry. These positions appear with the cleric's current employment position first, followed by the most recent appointed or voluntary positions on Episcopal Church-related bodies such as General Convention commissions, committees, agencies, and boards; diocesan councils; standing committees; or boards of church-related nonprofit organizations.

Clergy who died since the 2013 edition of the Directory was released, but whose death was reported prior to the date indicated on page 2, have their date of death noted in their biographical entries in place of their current ecclesiastical employment position.

Ordination data and changes in canonical residence are noted by the Recorder of Ordinations after written confirmation from the diocese has been submitted to the Recorder. Biographies of clergy who have transferred into The Episcopal Church from another province of the Anglican Communion, or who have been received from the Roman Catholic Church or another church in full communion with The Episcopal Church, do not include the dates of their ordinations to the diaconate and priesthood, nor the names of the non-Episcopal Church bishops who ordained them. Instead, the name of the Episcopal Church bishop who accepted their transfer or received them is listed, along with the date on which that transfer or reception took effect.

Faithfully,

Susan T. Erdey
Editor
