Foreword

The 2019 Episcopal Clerical Directory represents further progress toward our goal of providing The Episcopal Church with the most comprehensive and reliable data possible about the clergy who serve this Church. This forty-eighth edition of the ECD includes biographical information on 19,155 clergy in good standing as of the date indicated on page 2.

For privacy reasons, the publication displays only:

- designated published address,
- year of birth,
- parents' first names,
- office email address.

We no longer publish information on previous marriages, even those that resulted in children. The number of children, if any, from a cleric's previous marriage will continue to be displayed.

Clergy who updated personal information via ecd.cpg.org since the prior publication date are identified in boldface type in the book. Because we receive updates from clergy and institutions nearly every day, new contact information and current position information submitted after the production deadline for this edition will be available online at the ECDPlus website: www.ecdplus.org.

Again in this edition, multiple current positions, including non-parochial ministry-related positions such as health care, school, and military chaplaincies, are shown. All current positions are listed near the beginning of each biography to help the reader discern at a glance each cleric's present ministry. These positions appear with the cleric's current employment position first, followed by the most recent appointed or voluntary positions on Episcopal Church-related bodies such as General Convention commissions, committees, agencies, and boards; diocesan councils; standing committees; or boards of church-related nonprofit organizations.

Clergy who died since the 2017 edition of the Directory was released, but whose death was reported prior to the date indicated on page 2, have their date of death noted in their biographical entries in place of their current ecclesiastical employment position.

Ordination data and changes in canonical residence are noted by the Recorder of Ordinations after written confirmation from the diocese has been submitted to the Recorder. Biographies of clergy who have transferred into The Episcopal Church from another province of the Anglican Communion, or who have been received from the Roman Catholic Church or another church in full communion with The Episcopal Church, do not include the dates of their ordinations to the diaconate and priesthood, nor the names of the non-Episcopal Church bishops who ordained them. Instead, the name of the Episcopal Church bishop who accepted their transfer or received them is listed, along with the date on which that transfer or reception took effect.

Faithfully,

Matthew J. Price
Editor
