TO THE BOARD OF MISSIONS.

MINUTES.

The tenth annual meeting of the Albany Diocesan Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary, was held in S. Paul's church, Albany, on April 19, 1893. The Holy Communion was celebrated at 10:30, followed by an address of welcome by the rector, Rev. F. G. Jewett. The Rev. F. L. Hawks Pott, made an interesting appeal in behalf of S. John's College, Shanghai, emphasizing the importance of a Christian education for the Chinese, both for missionary work and for governmental influence.

At the close of this service, the delegates adjourned to the smaller room and listened to Miss Emery, who, in an earnest appeal, urged that all, even the smallest missionary stations, should form branches of the Woman's Auxiliary and claim the privilege of giving with them to some of the many needs presented.

At one o'clock a generous luncheon was served by the ladies of S. Paul's church.

At 2:15 P. M., Mrs Dewey called the business meeting to order. The secretary called the roll, to which 23 parishes, represented by 143 delegates, responded. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The president's address followed, impressing all in its earnest eloquence. A "well-defined and high ideal" was urged. The ten years' work of our Albany branch was briefly reviewed and the need of a traveling secretary and a secretary for the Junior Auxiliary was emphasized.

The report of the corresponding secretary, Miss Lacy, showed an increase in the number of branches reporting and also in money given, though the number and value of boxes sent is less. The report was accepted.

The treasurer, Mrs Fine, read a summary of her report, which shows a balance of $79.86 for current expenses. The report was accepted.

Miss Tweddle, manager for the Archdeaconry of Albany reported growing interest and zeal in the three counties of her division. Mrs Van Nostrand also reported an increase of branches in the remaining five counties.

Miss Cusack, manager for Troy, reported encouraging interest in the ten working branches in the three counties under her supervision. Mrs Wheeler, of Warren, Essex and Clinton counties, was not present.

Miss Hughes, manager for the Susquehanna Archdeaconry, reported eight branches in Otsego and Schoharie counties, and finds with deep regret, that some larger parishes prefer independent work; that in some of the villages the church is very weak. New interest has been evinced since the autumn quarterly meeting was held in Cooperstown.

Miss Gay, manager for Delaware county, reported most energetic work in the five branches under her care, three of which are self supporting.

From the Archdeaconry of Ogdensburg no report was received.

The reports of the Diocesan Lending Library, Mrs Dewey, chairman, and of Miss Boyd, treasurer, were read and accepted.

Miss Lacy read the report of the Diocesan Buying Committee, which was accepted.

Miss Burt, correspondent of the Church Periodical Club, reported thirteen librarians. Periodicals have been distributed to 1,200 clergymen. She read interesting extracts on the use that could be made of old prayer books, S. S. books, "The Weekly Soldier," etc.

Receiving pledges being next in order, a prolonged discussion on the method of making them resulted in putting the amounts on slips and handing them to the secretaries, the result being announced later. The required sums falling short on several objects, the branches were urged to complete them during the year.

The following sums were pledged for the various objects named:

A proposed amendment to the constitution, making diocesan meetings semi-annual instead of quarterly, having been announced with the call for the meeting, Mrs. Byington of S. Peter's offered the following motion: that Art. 11 be amended to read, There shall be semi-annual diocesan meetings the second Wednesday in May and in October, at a place fixed by the Executive Board, who may also for sufficient cause change the time. The May meeting shall be the annual meeting, for appointment of officers and receipt of annual reports. After discussion and the reading of a favorable letter from the bishop, the motion was unanimously carried.

The president announced that an invitation had been received for our Diocesan Branch to send a delegate to the World's Congress on Missions, to be held in Chicago, Sept. 28 to Oct. 5 inclusive. As there was no response to the inquiry for names of those intending to visit the World's Fair at that time, the appointment was left open.

A motion to appropriate $200 for current expenses was carried.

It was announced that the forms of constitutions recommended for parish branches and for junior auxiliaries would be reprinted and extra copies struck off, which the Corresponding Secretary would supply upon application.

An invitation from Mrs. Dewey was extended to all present, to an informal reception, from 8 to 10 P. M., at her residence, to meet Miss Emery and discuss auxiliary work.

It was announced that the next annual meeting would be held at S. Paul's church, Troy, in response to an invitation from that parish, and that Herkimer had been suggested for the semi-annual in October.

A cordial vote of thanks was extended to the speakers and to the ladies of S. Paul's, Albany, for their generous hospitality to the Auxiliary.

After the benediction, pronounced by Rev. Mr. Jewett, the meeting adjourned.

QUARTERLY MEETINGS

Those who braved the disagreeable weather to attend the quarterly meeting of the Albany Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary, held at Cooperstown, on Friday, Nov. 11th, will always remember it as a special "red letter day" in the annals of the Auxiliary.

The majority of the delegates reached Cooperstown on Thursday, and were most cordially welcomed and entertained. The afternoon was spent in a visit to the Cooperstown Orphanage, where great delight was expressed over the comfortable home, and the happy, healthy children. A short entertainment was given by the children, and Mrs. Dewey spoke a few words of thanks to them in return.

In the evening an informal meeting was held in the parlor of the hotel. The questions of how a traveling secretary might help to organize new branches, and what might be considered legitimate lines of work for the Auxiliary, were discussed.

On Friday morning at 10:30, the Holy Communion was celebrated in Christ church, and an address of welcome made by the rector, Rev. C. S. Olmstead.

Directly after the service, the business meeting was called to order in the chapel, Mrs Dewey, president, in the chair.

In the absence of the recording secretary, Miss Judson, of Albany, was elected secretary pro tem, and Miss E. J. Hughes, of Gilbertsville, treasurer in place of Mrs Fine, also absent. The roll call gave 52 delegates representing 15 parishes. The minutes of the annual meeting were read and approved.

The address of the president gave a most interesting resumé of the history and work of the Auxiliary, since its organization, 21 years ago; the need of more branches in our diocese, and the possibility that even the smallest parishes could contribute something was emphasized; also the necessity for organization in order to work effectively.

The corresponding secretary gave a detailed account of her work since July 1st, which was accepted.

The treasurer's report, read by Miss Hughes, was accepted.

Mrs. Byington, in the absence of the vice-president, was called to the chair, and Mrs. Dewey, as chairman, gave a verbal account of the work and progress of the Diocesan Lending Library, and read the reports of the librarian and treasurer, which were accepted. The work of the Diocesan Buying Committee was explained. The president urged the formation of new branches and of junior auxiliaries.

The appointment of Miss Cusack as manager of the Archdeaconry of Troy was announced.

The president extended Miss Susan Cooper's invitation to call during the recess.

The meeting was then adjourned.

At half-past one a bountiful luncheon was served in the rectory, and an informal reception was enjoyed.

At 3 o'clock, a meeting was held in the church, at which Bishop Doane presided, and Bishop Brewer of Montana, and Bishop Leonard of Nevada and Utah, spoke most interestingly of their work, appealing for woman's help to carry it on. At 8 o'clock, Bishop Doane spoke at length of the efficacy of the work of the Woman's Auxiliary, and the need for more branches in our diocese and introduced Bishop Talbot of Wyoming and Idaho. The bishop told of his work among the Indians and miners, and asked for aid in building his cathedral and furnishing his girls' school.

Bishop Doane, in behalf of the Auxiliary, tendered a most hearty vote of thanks to the rector and his people for the delightful hospitality so thoroughly enjoyed. Thanks were also given the bishops for their kindness in journeying thus far to tell of their work.

A collection was taken at each service with most gratifying results.

ELIZABETH W. JUDSON,

Recording Secretary pro tempore

The Lenten quarterly meeting of the Albany Diocesan Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary, was held in S. John's church, Troy, on Thursday, Feb. 23, 1893, at 2:30 P. M. Delegates present, 57. The Rev. Mr Freeman being called away, the president, Mrs Dewey, opened the meeting with prayer. The minutes of the last meeting at Cooperstown, were read and approved; as was also the report of the corresponding secretary. The Diocesan Buying Committee rendered no report.

The report of the Diocesan Lending Library showed that the total circulation for November, December and January was 44 books, and the total number of volumes, 1,026. Attention was called to the increase of circulation as more books were added. Report accepted. The treasurer's report gave a balance on hand of $106.26; it was accepted. The report of Miss Boyd, treasurer of the Diocesan Lending Library showed a balance of $38.09, which report was accepted.

The Rev. Mr Locke, who was to address this meeting, was detained by illness. Miss MacRae, who was to leave Albany Feb. 25, en route for Wuchang, China, to engage in hospital work, being present, was invited by Mrs Dewey to say a few words, to which she pleasantly responded.

The president then read extracts from interesting letters from Japan and Alaska; and urged that there should be liberal pledges at the annual meeting for both these objects.

Miss Cusack read a paper on Alaska, containing a detailed description of its vast extent of territory, and need of missionary workers. Mrs Nichols, of Hoosick Falls, read a letter from Alaska to Miss Glenton, who is to complete her medical course this spring and has offered herself as the first woman missionary to Alaska.

The president suggested, as the World's Fair might interfere with plans for the annual meeting in May, the time for the latter might be changed to April, whereupon it was unanimously voted that the next annual meeting should be held in S. Paul's church, Albany, on Wednesday, April 19. The opinion of the members was asked respecting a change to semi-annual meetings, the annual to be held alternately in Albany and Troy, the autumn meeting in some smaller and more distant town; also that the latter be held in October. It was also suggested that the time of the meeting of the Archdeaconry might be conducive to increased interest. These questions were laid over for action at the annual meeting.

It was announced that the Woman's Auxiliary are asked to increase the amount of the next United Offering to more than treble that of the last. Systematic giving is urged and the use of mite boxes.

It was voted that cordial thanks be extended to the ladies of S. John's church for their hospitable reception of the Woman's Auxiliary. The meeting then adjourned.

Recording Secretary

PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS

WOMEN OF THE AUXILIARY:

When we count progress by decades the lines of growth are well defined. This tenth anniversary of our organization shows an increase from 30 parish branches, sending out money and boxes to the value of $3,245.59, to 56 branches and $7,204.06 in boxes and money. A summary of our work for these ten years will be printed in this annual report*; but it should be remembered that these figures are approximate only, many boxes having been sent without any value having been assigned and much money which has not passed through the treasurer's hands, as the constitution now provides.

MEETINGS

The first three years of our organization only one meeting was held annually. In 1886-7 there were four, one being held in Saratoga in August. Since that time three quarterlies have been held, usually in Nov. or Dec., Feb. or March, and May.

With our many and varied interests in missions, charities, and in scientific, educational, sanitary, and other forms of philanthropic work, life grows more complex each year. Our tendency is to over-organization. No special weight attaches to reports of our various committees for brief periods of a few months. Once a year is certainly enough to judge progress in these lines. It seems clear, even if it is wise to continue quarterly meetings, that they should aim rather to diffuse missionary knowledge, and rouse enthusiasm, by means of interesting addresses, or papers by members, with only such business as is necessary to advance our work.

* See page 46.

If the annual meeting is held alternately in Albany and Troy and a semi-annual in some distant part of the diocese, it may be wiser for each Archdeaconry or each manager to have one or two meetings answering to quarterlies, or in cities like Troy and Albany, each church might have one special meeting each year for addresses, brief papers, etc., to which all the other parish branches in that and neighboring places should be invited. In this way a greater amount of information and interest might be diffused than by regular quarterly diocesan meetings.

Your action will be asked to-day on this question of an amendment to the clause of the constitution referring to diocesan meetings.

PLEDGES

It has been the custom for our parish branches to pledge certain sums, at the annual meetings, towards definite amounts which the diocese as a whole contributes to the general work of the Board of Missions. There has never been any method by which we might know at the end of the year whether these amounts had all been filled. Even to pick out, item by item, from the treasurer's printed report would often fail to tell the story, as some branches have forwarded money independently and not thru the diocesan treasurer, as the constitution provides. As we grow, it becomes more difficult each year to take pledges in this way. It will readily be seen that, in such a diocese as Connecticut, where the pledges amount to $5,000 and the attendance at annual meetings is from five or six hundred to a thousand, that it is wholly impracticable, and some simpler way must be devised. Doubtless our parish branches give with more interest and greater generosity where they select their own objects and know just what form of work they are aiding. To combine this freedom of choice with the definite sums desired is the problem. In Connecticut, where the individual envelope method is used, the object may be designated and the money will go to that till the pledge is filled; then it is transferred to any other which may most need it unless it is marked "special," in which case it is sent with what was pledged and is reported as surplus. Thus, if any wish their money to go to certain objects, it must be sent in early or marked as a "special" and is then over and above the amount pledged by the diocese. All money received by the treasurer after the pledges are filled and not otherwise designated, will be given this year, in Connecticut, towards the endowment of the Episcopate in a Missionary Jurisdiction, which is to be the

UNITED OFFERING OF THE WOMAN'S AUXILIARY IN 1895

At the Triennial meeting held in New York, in Oct. 1889, a united offering of $2,000, one-half the gift of one woman, was devoted to building Christ church, Anvik, Alaska, and to sending a missionary to Japan.

In Baltimore, last October, $20,353 was given to increase the Enrolment Fund, and it was resolved that the next united offering, in 1895, should be the endowment of the Episcopate in a missionary jurisdiction to be selected by the Board of Missions. A domestic missionary jurisdiction costs the Board, annually, $3,300. This would require a fund of $66,000 at 5%; a foreign jurisdiction costs $2,800, or a fund of $56,000.

Contributions to this object are to be over and above the regular gifts of the Auxiliary and it has been proposed that mite boxes for this special purpose shall be widely distributed among members all over the country. A leaflet furnished with these boxes gives fuller information and all are cordially invited to supply themselves to-day. More will be furnished by the corresponding secretary as desired.

The total work of the Woman's Auxiliary in money and boxes, for 21 years, as reported from 1871-1892, is $3,623,505.60, nearly one-third of which has been given in the last three years. In the ten years since our organization as a diocesan branch, the total of our gifts in money and boxes, as shown by our reports, is $57,928.58.

And what of

THE FUTURE.

In his last Convention address the bishop said: "I am sorry to find that there are still less than one-third of our parishes which have in them branches of the Auxiliary. It is a great mistake; this organization is in the American Church to stay and grow, and the parish that is without it is behind the age. It is quite as important for the parishes themselves to have the stir of this interest in their own life as it is for the Board of Missions to have a general representation of its work in this way."

The life that is centered in itself, whether that of the individual, the family or the church, is essentially selfish and can not have a healthy spiritual growth. The small parish struggling to pay its debt, get a furnace, buy new carpets, or whatever may be its burden of need, will have greater blessing in its own work if its sympathies and interests are broad enough to respond to the needs of others. Should not the injunction to give one-tenth apply to the church as well as the home treasury? "Give, and it shall be given unto you; good measure, pressed down, and shaken together, and running over shall men give into your bosom. For with the same measure that ye mete withal it shall be measured to you again."

Clearly, every parish should have a vital interest in the great work of missions, for its own spiritual welfare. How can we best aid them to make a beginning? How can we help in making parish meetings interesting, that the seed sown may bear rich fruit?

The way has not yet opened to carry out the suggestion made last year, that a traveling secretary should visit distant parishes and help them to organize in the way best fitted to meet their special needs. If the right secretary can be found the money will surely be forthcoming, for it is the history of the world that a great want always meets its adequate supply in time.

A beginning has been made in a missionary collection of books in the Diocesan Lending Library, for the use of the Woman's Auxiliary. Interesting reading matter, copies of letters from mission fields, short articles, leaflets, etc., may be obtained from the central office thru Miss Emery, and distributed by our corresponding secretary. A systematic plan for such distribution of matter may readily be devised if the various branches will inform the secretary of the intervals of their monthly meetings, which usually occur on regular days, e. g., the first Monday of each month, the second Wednesday, etc. From her records she can tell just what work certain branches are doing and will then send information concerning the special workers and localities they are aiding. Maps would also be of value. When any new work is proposed, members could thus become so interested beforehand as to give new zeal and enthusiasm to their efforts; but it should always be remembered that enthusiasm, inspiration, is the companion of, not the substitute for hard work.

The Round Robin of the Junior Auxiliary Publishing Co. was referred to last year. When any diocese is doing hard and faithful work in lines that benefit all, it would seem fitting that we should make some recognition of appreciation and do what we can to help. If each diocese would pledge, e. g., only $5 to this object it would give $300 to increase the number and variety of publications and would mean mutual helpfulness. It is recommended that our diocese pledge this amount at least, enabling the corresponding secretary to distribute 70 copies of the various publications, which, like other missionary information, should be returned to her after each meeting and used over and over till worn out.

Another plan which the near future should see realized is a diocesan section of the Junior Auxiliaries, with a committee, or possibly only a diocesan secretary. Several dioceses already have such departments. Our great hope for the future lies in building up a broader, grander work among women who have been trained from childhood to business-like and efficient methods, in the true missionary spirit.

Special meetings of diocesan officers would doubtless be of practical value, but we are widely scattered.

Our great need is workers. We want at once a traveling secretary and a secretary for the Junior Auxiliary department. Where shall they be found?

One great trouble is that we are not willing to begin at the beginning of any work and gain our knowledge by experience. "There is no road to the attainment of the ideal except by a bold and successful dealing with the real." Quoting a recent article, "Men and women succeed because they take resolute and firm hold of the opportunities which present themselves and of the tools which lie at hand. They are never dreamers, loiterers, or spectators. They never wait for a better time. They are never idle pessimists, deploring the degeneracy of the age in which they live. They make the most of their time and get the best out of it, and like Caspar Braira, in Longfellow's poem, finally carve beautiful things out of fagots."

An old French writer has said: "When I see a soul whose first object is God and submission to His will, however much she may be lacking in other things, I say, Here is a soul with great talents for serving God. Other gifts without this alarm me."

"We have no human capacity which is unworthy of an immortal development. Even the slimy ooze of the lake and the black coal in the mine hold an essence of purity within them which nurses the white life of the lily and kindles the sparkle of the diamond."

A well-defined and high ideal is the first essential of success in any work. "As there is in every rude block of marble a statue awaiting the voice of the imagination to call it from its sleep, so there are in all hard conditions the possibilities of noble achievements waiting for those who have the faith, the courage, and the insight to perceive that the hour is ripe and that the deed can be done."

Nothing is so fatal to progress as a spirit of self-satisfaction (unless it be pessimism). No great artist was ever yet satisfied with what he had done. The mood of progress is the mood of discontent, that "divine discontent" which is the passion for perfection. There is always the intense desire to do something still better; and it is this desire and the steady realization of it, rather than any recognition or reward, which gives life its zest and interest. Hope and faith are as essential to progress, to great works and noble lives, as pure air is essential to health and vitality.

ANNIE DEWEY,

President

REPORT OF DIOCESAN CORRESPONDING SECRETARY

Reports have been received from 51 branches, while 56 are registered as members of the Auxiliary. Two societies have done nothing during the year. In a few, reference is made to a decrease in the value of work done. The reason assigned shows quite as much accomplished, but for a special purpose in the parish which could not be classed as mission work.

Boxes sent number 100, valued at $4,919.61; and for pledges and other objects $2,284.45, making a total in money and boxes of $7,204.06. From 21 Junior Auxiliaries the work reported amounts to $960.30. Letters and postals written since Aug. 1, 1892, 204.

In the report for 1891 a constitution recommended for parish branches, is printed, which is worth the careful study of parish officers. Article 7 is most important to those who may conduct the business of the respective branches. Much information required for the preparation of the reports and which should be entered on the blanks would not be missing if article 7 was carefully followed. If a record was kept of the date of sending boxes, also of names and addresses, and of pledges made by the respective branches, when the blanks are received, but a very little time would be required to prepare a report for the annual meeting. This same article refers to the missionary letters which the parishes receive from time to time. "Shall return all unaccepted letters immediately after such meeting." In a few branches this is not done, and is oftentimes the cause of delay in supplying other branches with letters for which they are waiting. A still further delay is caused in filling the box, and the family of the missionary may wait for months before they receive the aid promised to them.

Miss Emery furnishes slips upon which this request for the prompt return of letters is made, and a further suggestion, "Please write at once to the missionary telling him that you are intending to send him a box." Several times, during the past year, this has been neglected or forgotten; and much correspondence has been required to learn the reason of the delay reported. A few moments of time, and a little care, given to these details is all that is required, and much better results would be secured.

Reports from a few parishes give assurance of increased interest taken in missions. Opposition to missionary work is being overcome by instruction. The importance of this teaching is great, when there are so many who are not informed, who know nothing of what has been accomplished already.

THE JUNIOR AUXILIARY

The various guilds and societies of young people, working for missionary objects, have shown no lack of interest during the past year.

The first letter received last summer was from a band of little girls living in a country parish. These children wished to devote a part of their summer holiday to the making of gifts to be sent in a Christmas box. A report comes from another society of girls who meet to work and listen to the reading of articles on missions. The reading occupies the last half hour when all the members will be present. These children have accomplished much during the year.

The members of the Auxiliary who are working with children find much to interest them. Children can be taught to work carefully, and learn that the gifts they are to prepare are only of value when sent in the right spirit.

The many interesting papers, written for the Young Christian Soldier, are intended to assist those who direct the work of children. In an article recently published an account is given of an illustrated lecture on, "The Work in China." The special work our Church is doing in schools and homes for little children is not all that is taught in such a lecture, but much in regard to the country and its customs. It is possible some of the junior branches may wish to try this new method of studying missions.

REPORT OF DIOCESAN BUYING COMMITTEE

Four parishes have availed themselves of the aid offered through the diocesan fund for materials for small parishes, which permits the treasurer to double any money sent her for this purpose, to the limit of $10, provide the materials are used for mission, not local work.

Mrs James A. Greig of S. Peter's, Albany, reports shopping for one parish in the Archdeaconry of Susquehanna, $2.50 forwarded and $2.50 added from the treasury. One parish in the Albany Archdeaconry had $5. doubled, preferring to do their own shopping to save express.

Mrs John I. Thompson of S. Paul's church, Troy, has sent materials to two parishes in the Archdeaconry of Troy, one giving $5., the other $7., both of which were doubled.

The amount pledged for this purpose was $55. A balance of $22. was left from last year, total $77. $19.50 has been expended. Total value of materials furnished $39. Balance on hand $57.50. Small parishes are urged to use this fund.

To save delay it is requested that all sums to be doubled be sent direct to the treasurer, who will forward the amount to the buyer for the parish desiring the materials.

For the committee,

ALICE LACY,

Chairman

A collection of books on Missions for the use of the Woman's Auxiliary has been started, and it is earnestly hoped that the members will find them of practical value in adding interesting information to monthly meetings.

With the sending out of the supplement of new books in Jan. the use of the library increased nearly three-fold what it had been for months previous.

The committee firmly believe that by adding a few of the best books two or three times a year and sending out lists of such additions, that there will be a constant and healthful growth in the use of the library. If we might have $100 from the Woman's Auxiliary beside the annual gift of $25 from the Mann Bequest of S. John's church, Troy, which comes to us regularly for books, the results would be more satisfactory.

For the committee,

ANNIE DEWEY, Chairman

REPORT OF THE CHURCH PERIODICAL CLUB

The general report of the Church Periodical Club in January showed an increase since last year of 1,400 contributors and 100 librarians. The number of clergymen, not including missionaries, who have been reached and assisted in various ways during the past year, is more than 1,200.

One generous woman in our diocese sends regularly, eleven periodicals and has donated five valuable commentaries, besides fifty or more prayer books.

During the year, 137 letters and 112 postals have been written; 40 copies of the Church Periodical Club annual report have been sent to the librarians and other church workers throughout the diocese, and more than 100 leaflets have been sent to librarians for distribution, in order that the purpose of the club, and the needs which it is called upon to supply, might be more generally understood.

Since the adoption of the revised prayer book, a correspondent in the Churchman has asked, "What shall we do with our old prayer books?" The Church Periodical Club can give a satisfactory reply, for many and many are the appeals received. One missionary writes, "I can make use of 300 and more"; another says, "we have not prayer books enough to go around in our little colored church"; a layman writes, "every day I have applications from working people for prayer books, I can put a great number to use at once", and still another asks even for torn and dilapidated books. An impetus would surely be given to the whole work of our auxiliary, were there time to listen to some of the letters from those whose loneliness is cheered, whose faith is strengthened, and whose work for Christ and His church is aided by your contributions. A few extracts are given: "I want to enlist your sympathy for a much isolated church family, a mother and five daughters, four miles from a church, no schools, no religious influence except an occasional Methodist exhorter. They keep up daily lenten services at home, led by the mother. Can you get some one to send a copy of the weekly Soldier to the children or the Churchman to the mother?"

Here is another, "I have received a package of books from the Church Periodical Club. I am sending them out from house to house, and I think they have done much good already. I call them the C. P. helps. They have comforted me so much this winter; I have been ill among strangers, with no one to cheer and give me comforting words. May God bless your work."

A worker in North Carolina writes: "I feel grateful to each member of the Church Periodical Club for the books and literature. without which I could not have been able to carry on the Sunday school." A church-woman, from an isolated place in Nebraska, sends the name of another, a hard-working woman with several children, and all fond of reading. "We have but five communicants here," she writes, "and our missionary who comes to us once a month, travels 500 miles every month, in all kinds of weather, and all kinds of vehicles. We sigh for a little church of our own, but the future has none in sight. We are so poor; if we had but one of the many thousands which are spent in the cities, how rich we should feel!" Mrs. Gill of Arapahoe, Neb., writes, "can you not interest the churches in your diocese, through the librarians, to send us a donation of S. S. books, interesting stories which both children and parents may read with profit. Remember that you, in your state, noted for its educational advantages, are surrounded by all refining influences, with stores where books can be purchased, libraries, etc. We have no books, the papers on the shelves at the P. O. are police news and cheap, trashy papers, bad enough for the men to read, worse for our youth."

And now, after three years' experience, there are doubtless many of us who know that the interest, with which we first undertook the sending of our periodicals, is passing away, leaving to be performed only a common-place duty, which may at last grow irksome. This is the trial of our work, whether it be of God or of men. The noble woman, who was the originator and founder of the C. P. C., said, "The time you take to put up your paper, the string with which you tie it, the stamp necessary to send it, and the little prayer that perhaps goes with it, make it a true missionary work," and if we have made it so—if every promise of a periodical or any contribution whatever has been given for "Jesus' sake," our work will know no failure, and will be sustained by an interest and enthusiasm all its own.

May we so realize our privileges, spiritual and intellectual, that we may show our gratitude to God by sharing them with those, our brethren less blest, who are thankful even for the fragments gathered from our abundant feast.

MARY FRANCES BURT,

Correspondent
