TO THE RIGHT REVEREND, BISHOP OF THE DISTRICT, AND WOMAN'S AUXILIARY.

Since our last meeting several questions have arisen for consideration by the Woman's Auxiliary in general and our Auxiliary here in the District of Asheville in particular. Therefore this seems a fitting opportunity to lay these matters before you who are here present, as delegates and visitors, in order that those who could not be with us today may be likewise informed through the pages of our Annual Report.

First, and foremost the leading question of the moment bears upon representation at the Triennial meeting in Cincinnati this coming October.

Owing to the increased number of women and consequently of officers in the Auxiliary this point has arisen for consideration and it is one not to be lightly regarded.

This matter came up at Richmond during the last Triennial meeting in 1907, and after more or less discussion the following resolution was presented.

RESOLUTION AND RECOMMENDATION ADOPTED AT THE TRIENNIAL CONFERENCE OF DIOCESAN OFFICERS IN 1907.

Resolved: That the representation at the Triennial Conference of Diocesan Officers of the Woman's Auxiliary in 1910 be confined to diocesan officers only, elected or appointed at the last annual meeting of their branches.

Recommendation: The Committee recommends that in each of the years intervening between this and the Triennial of 1910 every diocesan branch consider what officers in their branch entitle the holders to represent the branch at the Triennial Conference of Diocesan Officers of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions.

The Auxiliaries have also had sent to them a resolution from the Connecticut branch, the first of which is that representatives shall not exceed five in number and that alternates should be provided for; and that these names should be sent to the General Secretary at least one month before the Triennial meeting, otherwise they will not be recognized as delegates.

After carefully considering these points I am prepared to say that it seems wise to limit the number of representatives provided this can be accomplished on an equitable basis, that alternates, not necessarily officers should be allowed and the certificate for the original representative be worded in such a way that the alternate may be substituted at even the last moment.

The resolution for sending in the names a month beforehand and the forfeit this failure insures does not appeal to me.

Before the close of this meeting I hope we may have an exchange of opinion on this subject of representatives so that your delegates for the coming Triennial meeting may act in accordance with your wishes.

Now, for more local matters, and with regard to these I will first read you a recommendation that was presented by your President to the Bishop and officers of our Auxiliary at a meeting held on May 24th. at Shoenberger Hall.

"What we really need and badly need, for the health and prosperity of our Auxiliary in this district is an organizing secretary to go from point to point visit, encourage and stir up the present branches and establish new ones.

I firmly believe that could we find the right person for this work one thorough trip throughout the district would be far more effective than all the letters that have been, or could be written.

This ofcourse entails a heavy expense for which there is no fund and apparently no resource."

The minutes of this meeting state that this suggestion was approved by all and that $35.00 for a fund for the purpose was subscribed, and that it was decided to lay the matter before you today. If it meets with your approval article three of the constitution will have to be changed to include an organizing secretary as an officer and some way suggested to increase the fund already mentioned.

Today I greet you at this our Fourteenth Annual Meeting, and tomorrow we will once more wish one another God speed until we meet again.

With the memories and resolutions we carry with us to our homes, for I know we all gather strength and inspiration for the coming year, let us also take with us a feeling of deeper responsibility towards our work in the branches of which we are members, a feeling of greater responsibility to our Juniors, and a more earnest and prayerful responsibility in all matters that pertain to the extension of Christ's Kingdom.

MINUTES OF THE FOURTEENTH ANNUAL MEETING OF THE WOMAN'S AUXILIARY.

June 15th. and 16th. 1910.

Waynesville, N. C.

The Fourteenth Annual Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the District of Asheville was held in Grace Church In The Mountains, Waynesville, on Wednesday, June 15th. at three o'clock. Bishop Horner opened the meeting with the Auxiliary prayers, and made his annual address to the members, speaking first of his great appreciation of the work of the Woman's Auxiliary. He said that he valued most highly the services of the women, and referred to the address of the Rev. H. Fields Saumenig, asking all to bear in mind the "Knighthood of Christ." The educational work of the district has two departments, Parochial Schools and Industrial Schools, which, the Bishop said, would be brought before the meeting by representatives of each system. We should have a school in every mission station, for there are one hundred and fifty thousand children of school age. There are now in the district three Industrial Schools, and a fourth is soon to be opened on the C. C. & O. Railroad at a most beautiful place which should be an inspiration to teachers and pupils.

After the Bishop's address Mrs. Bacon introduced the Rev. McNeely Du Bose of Morganton, who presented the cause of the Parochial School in general and of the schools near Morganton in particular. There are ten churches or missions in Mr. Du Bose's field, and a map showed the great distances the missionary must travel. A travelling industrial teacher visits four schools, and it is interesting to note that the same system is employed in Germany with great success. Mr. Du Bose gave some striking statistics from the different missions, and closed with an earnest appeal to "go home and get as much money as possible, and send it at once."

Rev. M. S. Taylor of the Patterson School was then introduced, and told of the fine work inaugurated at that school one year ago. What the mountain boys need is agricultural education, and this is what Mr. Taylor is giving them in the Patterson School. There are three teachers, each well fitted for his special work, and the three departments are working well. Fifteen dollars will support the work for one day.

The roll call was answered by twenty six delegates, four Junior leaders, ten Mission teachers, and six Diocesan officers. Mrs. Bacon greeted the Auxiliary, and after reading a resolution adopted at the Triennial Conference of the Diocesan Officers in 1907, the regular business of the meeting was suspended at the request of Mr. Areson in order that the prayers of the Auxiliary might be offered for a member of the Waynesville branch, Mrs. Miller, just stricken with paralysis. After the prayers for a sick person, Mrs. Bacon spoke of the need of an organizing secretary, approved by the Bishop and the Advisory Board. The Treasurer's report was then read, but the sum total could not be given as six branches had not been heard from. This year there is no deficit, hence no special offering has to be taken, and Mrs. Bacon asked the members please to allow this unusual condition to establish a precedent.

Miss Martin, secretary of the United Offering varied the monotony of countless figures by quoting interesting selections from United Offering reports, speaking of the special workers in the District. The amount now in bank is $945.12 toward the Triennial.

In Mrs. Minor's absence the secretary read the report of the Junior Auxiliary showing that while the "few" have done constant work, much more should be accomplished by the "many" also asking the Juniors to distinguish between Parochial and Auxiliary work.

Mrs. Royster sent a report of the Babies' Branch, but gave only the financial side of the question. Mrs. Chester's paper on Mission Study sounded a note of encouragement in the increased amount of reading and study taken up by the different branches, but called for greater effort in the coming year.

Mrs. Chapman presented the report of the Church Periodical Club, and told of the twenty first anniversary of the Society which has recently been held. The possibilities are boundless, and there is need for more workers. A long letter from Miss Emery was read, asking for united effort in all our work.

Mrs. Bacon announced that the amount of the apportionment of each branch is to be the same for the coming year with the exception of Rutherfordton. Mrs. Wetmore spoke of the Prayer League to which Miss Emery had referred. Rev. Harvey Officer is the originator of this special form.

The vote on Foreign Work was next taken, the two objects being; St. John's College, Shanghai, St. Anne's Embroidery School, Japan. St. Anne's Embroidery School, Japan, was chosen. The two objects for Domestic Work were: Hospital, Orlanda, Florida, Hospital, Oklahoma. It was decided to work for the Hospital, Orlando, Florida. The Patterson School and the Morganton Missions are the two district objects to be decided upon by each branch. If no choice is made when sending the money to the Treasurer, the amount will be equally divided between the two.

A discussion on the representatives to the General Convention was participated in by Miss Patton and Miss Horner, but no action was taken. It was moved by Miss Martin that the collection taken at the Corporate Communion be given each year to the United Offering—carried. It was moved by Mrs. Wetmore that the offering taken at the Missionary Meeting be added to the reserve fund—carried. Mrs. Bacon explained the duties of the organizing secretary as those of a leader who is to go to new places to organize new branches and to visit and encourage weak branches. It was thought that one hundred dollars would be needed for this work, although Miss Patton hoped it would take only half this amount. Thirty-five dollars has already been promised. Mrs. Chappell moved that an organizing secretary is desired and that room be made for such an officer in Article III—carried. Miss Patton moved that Article III be amended so as to add an organizing secretary to the list of Diocesan Officers—carried. Mrs. Chapman said she thought the money for the expenses of this new officer should not be taken from any missionary fund, and it was suggested that notice should be sent to each branch by the Treasurer in connection with the Central Fund, asking for voluntary contributions for this new object. Miss Martin stated that the Secretary of the Convention had offered to print the Annual Report with the report of the District, thus saving about $30.00 which might be used for this purpose. The matter was left until the next meeting.

Mrs. Wetmore spoke of the Quiet Day to be held at Arden, August 26th, to be conducted by the Rev. J. W. Areson. A cordial invitation was extended to the Auxiliary by Mrs. Wetmore. It was announced that an adjourned meeting of the Auxiliary would be held in the church on Thursday morning at half past nine, immediately after which would be held a Conference of workers, Miss Patton to preside.

On motion the meeting adjourned.

The adjourned meeting was held in Grace Church at half past nine on Thursday morning, June 16th at which time Mrs. Bacon spoke of the "Alaskan Churchman" as a new and interesting Missionary paper, commending it to the Auxiliary.

The Secretary of Mission Study was asked to write to the Principal of St. Anne's Embroidery School, Japan, and obtain more definite information in regard to the work; the reply to be printed and a copy sent to each branch.

The Rev. J. W. Areson spoke to the Auxiliary of Mrs. Miller's critical condition, saying the Doctor could give no hope of her recovery.

The Minutes were read, and after one correction and one amendment had been made, were accepted as read.

After a greeting from Mrs. Walters, a former active worker in the Waynesville Auxiliary, now unable to attend the meetings, on motion the meeting adjourned.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY OF MISSION STUDY

When we look back on the events of the past year, we find great cause for praise and thanksgiving.

No one can study any part of the Mission field, without a strong sense of the awakening every where to the necessity of sending the "glad tidings" to all nations. In the far East we hear of conferences, and meetings, which betoken the increase of work, and interest in the Christianity, which the Orient has been so slow to learn. And although there has been a riot in Shanghai, caused by the increased price of rice, and our Missionary, Rev. A. A. Gilman suffered the loss of valuable goods, yet it was soon quelled. The last account from Mr. Gilman says, "with the gathering in of the new rice and the clearing of the atmosphere, which must be the result of this riot, we look forward to a real forward movement." Japan is awakening to the privileges which are offered.

And in our own land Alaska is opening new stations, the Bishop of Honolulu sends most encouraging accounts of the work undertaken in his District, and Bishop Brent is always ready to seize any opportunity to preach the Gospel, where it has never been heard before.

And what an inspiration is awakened by the conventions of the Laymen's Missionary movement throughout our land, north, south, east and west, men have gathered in great numbers to show their interest in preaching the Gospel all over the world. If they cannot go they will send others and for this they must give of their means and spend freely that which has been given to them.

And now we must ask, "what have we been doing"? Our interest is especially with Mission Study. How much have we learned during the past year? What has that knowledge incited us to do? Have we been willing to give more to Missions? To deny ourselves some luxury, so that there might be a larger offering sent to the Board of Missions?

And have we been careful to pray daily for Missions? The noon day prayers printed on a card can easily be committed to memory. Shall we not all resolve that no day shall pass without using them? Wherever we may be the heart can rise in thought to Him, Who is "the Giver of all good," and to Whom no earnest appeal is ever made in vain.

To seventy-nine letters written, I have had seventy answers. And one improvement is striking. In almost every branch the spirit of Missions is used and in some branches papers were written. Only one branch confesses no work done. But when this is told "with shame and sorrow" the words of the writer, we must hope that another year, with a little help and encouragement, there will be Mission Study and an interesting report.

In many branches the plan recommended has been adopted to study the field of work to which our offering for the quarter was to be sent and there have been pleasant accounts of reading and study on the domestic and district work.

The Embroidery School at Nara, Japan, could be studied only from one paper in the spirit of Missions.

Miss Emery wrote that she had no leaflets on the subject and our one source of information must be the Spirit of Missions. And here may I suggest that when a vote is to be taken, the members of the Auxiliary think a little of the object for which we are to work and try to choose the field of which something is known.

So we will try to do our best another year and go on our way rejoicing that we have been so greatly blessed, asking for strength to do the Lord's Work, in the Lord's Way, according to His Blessed Will.

L. L. CHESTER,
Secretary.

UNITED OFFERING

It seems to me that instead of giving the financial statement of the United Offering, which all can read in the Journal when printed, if we heard a few of the facts about the United Offering workers, it would be of much more interest.

First, let us recall the object of the United Offering. In 1907 the Woman's Auxiliary, meeting in Richmond, made its seventh United Offering, of $224,251.55. Of this amount $10,000 was given for a dwelling house for woman Missionaries and school a building for the training of native Mission women in the District of Tokyo, (Sendai) and the remainder of the money, $214,251.55, was devoted to the training, sending out and support of women Missionaries and the care of those disabled.

At the present time one hundred and fifty persons are being supported on what remains of this amount. Of these one hundred and fifty, fifty-three are at work in the foreign and ninety-four in the domestic field, two are retired Missionaries, one foreign and one domestic and one is in training for Mission service.

Of the workers at home and abroad, fifty-four are teachers, five are doctors eighteen nurses, eleven are employed in industrial and nine in institutional work, while fifty are engaged more exclusively in evangelistic effort. These one-hundred and fifty United Offering workers come from fifty or more of our Dioceses and Districts as widely separated as Marquette and Louisiana, eastern Oregon, Texas, Los Angeles and West Virginia; there are fifteen Deaconesses among them, of whom three are graduates of the Philadelphia, nine of the New York school and there are two Sisters of the Sisterhood of the Holy Nativity.

Of these one-hundred and fifty Missionaries, we have seven teaching in the schools in the District, of whose good work we know so well. They are: Mrs. J. H. C. Wilson, Waynesville, Mrs. E. W. Chappell and Deaconess Adams, Morganton, Miss Phelps and Miss Medford, Valle Crucis, Miss Mary Miller, Lincolnton and Miss Armstrong, High Shoals.

The offering to be made in Cincinnati on the 6th. of October 1910 and its purpose, is the same as that of the offering in Richmond in 1907. Of that offering we gave $1,060.49, What shall we give next October?

JUNIOR AUXILIARY REPORT

I do not feel that this year has been a banner year in the history of the Junior Auxiliary. There has not been all the work done that we hoped would be accomplished for there is so much more to be done than the mere gathering together enough money to pay our assessments.

A sum total of $206.16 has been raised by seventeen branches. That we have been able to do this is due to the constant faithful service of the few more than to the concerted action of the many.

We have met our apportionment to General Missions whereas last year we fell somewhat short. But this year we have not done so much outside work.

Many of our Leaders say that the year has been an especially hard one, some have felt it impossible to keep up their Junior work on account of the extra strain upon themselves. Some complain of the lack of young people interested or willing to be interested in this work of the Church. So sound the notes of discouragement. On the other hand we have those who are always faithful and earnest and hopeful and some branches that seemed languishing and dying have been awakened to new life and zeal.

As I said above we have this year reached our apportionment. The Juniors of the District have given enough to supply the school at Saluda with blackboards which have been a much needed item in its equipment. There are scholarships supported at Christ school and at St. Paul's Beaufort and at Saluda. One branch has sent two quilts of their own making to Christ School. Scrap books have been made by another and sent to enliven the small invalids in the Infirmary of the Thompson Orphanage and clothing have been carried to the sick and suffering by one branch. Another has contributed to the expenses of one of our Mission Chapels and others have helped fatherless children.

As I read the reports from the various branches there seems to me to be a tendency to confuse Charity work with Auxiliary work and to make an act of kindness take the place of an effort to promote the growth of Christianity.

I hear from some that the children are more interested in working for things near home than in giving to those far off and that as they are children we must let them work where they are interested and not try to make them interested in other things, that will all come as they grow older. This may be true but I feel that just in this very thing lies the reason of any lack or falling off in the Junior work.

We take the attitude that the work of the Junior Auxiliary is not so very important or necessary since we have the Woman's Auxiliary and, as this is my only chance of speaking to so many Missionary workers at once, I want to beg all of you who are so interested in the spread of the Gospel, in increasing the power of the Church and in trying to give to all the opportunity of being Christians and of knowing what it is to love and serve God, to realize that our greatest hope of accomplishing this lies in these very young people. They are just waiting for some one to interest them and make earnest workers of them all. If the children are not trained what can we expect of them when no longer children. We must manage to gather them in now, to tell them so earnestly of the needs of those who are without, that they will be not only be willing but anxious to do all they can.

Mission work is like charity work. We hear in a vague way of a charitable object or case needing help and though a passing thought comes that it might be good to help, the thought does not become an act. But we meet some one who feels intensely about the matter and knows just why and where and how help is needed, and is so earnest in telling us of the necessity that at once our thought of helping becomes a desire to help and the desire the act.

So in Missions we must feel the necessity ourselves and study and learn until we become so full of interest that our words will flow from the abundance of our hearts and we shall speak to and instruct these young people so effectually that very soon we shall have all the help we need and the growth of the Church will be measured not by tens but by hundreds.

MARY V. MINOR.

Secretary.

When the C. P. C. celebrated its 21st birthday Jan. 11th, 1910, in New York, Archdeacon Spurr of W. Va., told of the help given to him in his work among 800 prisoners in the jail at Moundsville and to the Missionaries in the vicinity to whom gifts of literature came as an uplift in their work. Our own district in its various schools and rectories could tell of much cheer and uplift from the same source. Miss Sallie Stewart of Virginia added her testimony to the good accomplished among fisher-folk and miners. Rev. Mansfield of the Seamen's Church Institute, N. Y., said he could speak for the many sailors who left New York harbor taking with them books and papers to cheer them on their way and of the reading rooms on land, where between voyages the men were kept interested by the reading matter which the club supplies.

In connection with this anniversary appeals were sent to many friends of the club asking for money to raise the endowment fund to a sum sufficiently large for the yearly interest to pay the rent of the office.

Individuals among clergy and laity, schools, reading rooms and hospitals all ask for help and the possibilities are boundless.

One woman, here and there, sending her magazine regularly, writing a friendly letter to the recipient, keeping in touch with those she is trying to help. Multiply this over and over and there seems to be no end to the good that can be accomplished.

Are we doing all we can? I am sorry to report the loss of another librarian by removal. I beg of each branch of the Woman's Auxiliry to have a librarian appointed and contribute something to the funds however little.
