Address of the Bishop

I thought this morning that I would call your attention to the energy of our Lord. Our Lord's energy is most striking. You will remember when He was at the marriage feast in Cana of Galilee, His mother spoke to Him in a very familiar way, and told Him of the difficulties of the host. The way in which she spoke would indicate that He was in the habit of assisting, whenever called upon. One must judge a good deal from the few words which are given of our Lord's life. We must take those words as indicative of His character; and the few words, which were spoken on this occasion, would indicate that He was ready to do what He could, that He had been called upon by His mother on former occasions, and had answered her, by doing what she desired. There seemed to be a readiness to act indicated in His words. Then you know how Nicodemus came at night. He seemed to be ready at all times to assist. Conditions and circumstances in no way interfered with His work, but He was always ready to do what He could, in the different positions in which He was placed. In other words, there was no evidence, at any time, of His holding back of any work being too much of a trial; He was always ready, with that energy of spirit which especially belonged to Him, to do what He could.

It certainly must have been a severe trial to talk to the crowd in the Wilderness. It must have taxed Him because, we ought to remember, that He was without food as well as the crowd. We know, too, that He talked with the woman of Samaria when He had had nothing whatever to eat; His energy seems to have made Him regardless of the trials and difficulties which presented themselves at every hand. You know He walked from Perea to Bethany, which was a day's journey, to be present at the house of sorrow, when Lazarus died; and you know, too, that He went to that house and comforted Martha and Mary, by sorrowing with them. There was a readiness of spirit in the Master. They crowded around Him all day long, and His energy was manifested by His rising a great while before day for the purpose of praying. Such were the crowds and such were the demands upon His time, that unless He arose a great while before day, He had not an opportunity of praying to the Father. He was constantly talking during those three days while He was in the temple before His crucifixion. I have not time to go into a detailed statement with reference to those three busy days. It is difficult to take up the events of even one day, with any comparative fullness, but you all know how full those three days were, and how He went from one part of the temple to the other, seeking to arouse in their hearts a recognition of righteousness and a recognition of Him as the Messiah.

Well, my sisters, in spite of all our Lord's good works; in spite of the fact that He manifested His energy in doing good; in spite of the fact that He never hesitated to respond, you might say, to almost any call; in spite of the fact that He went without food in order to be of use to His fellows; in spite of the fact that He denied Himself and sacrificed Himself for the good of others; yet He was not free from criticism, even by His friends. They sneered at Him and said, "Whence has this man learning? Is he not the carpenter, the son of Mary?" The fact that He had been a carpenter was sufficient to make them criticize Him, not believing that one brought up as He had been could teach them how to live. This was the criticism of His friends; the criticism of those who lived in Nazareth with Him; the criticism of those who had been benefited by His works, by His assistance, by His readiness to help. These were the ones who criticized Him, and pointed the finger of scorn at Him because of His early training and His early life. The Pharisees made fun of Him, laughed at Him, spoke of Him as a wine bibber, and an associate of publicans and sinners. Their criticism of Him was a criticism of scorn. They absolutely went so far as to laugh at Him and sneer at Him. And we must remember, too, that His life of goodness did not save Him from imposition, or did not save him from what is commonly called blackmail. The tax collector demanded of Him an illegal tax. What did He do? Why He paid it, in order to avoid criticism, in order to avoid having these people point their finger at Him as a dishonest man.

When you look at our Lord's life from the standpoint of energy, and also remember that these good works of His, which called forth so much physical exertion, did not prevent this worldly criticism, I think, my sisters, that we need not ever complain of any criticism which comes to us from the world. And I say this with greater readiness because I know of your labors and I know how much you have to bear in the way of criticism. I know that those who collect money are treated, at times, with scorn, that people turn their backs on them, and I have heard some say that they would not go any more, and I have heard them complain that it was impossible to go so often. I know your trials. I know your difficulties. I know how hard it is to do this work. It is always hard to follow in the footsteps of the Master, but there is something glorious in living in the world as the Master. There is something glorious in battling with the world, as the Master battled with it. There is something glorious in carrying on the Master's work. Aye, something glorious in suffering for the Master. All that I wish you to understand from me this morning is this: That I have recognized you were struggling to follow in the footsteps of the Master, and that I have recognized also the trials and difficulties which meet you in your work. I know full well that anyone who does the Master's work must suffer, and unless we can find happiness and joy in suffering with, and for the Master, then our labor becomes irksome.

I wish to congratulate you upon the work which you have done this past year. This past year has been the hardest year which I have experienced in my Episcopate, and you can bear in mind that next August will complete my thirtieth year. This past year has been the hardest year I have had to face. It did seem to me that calamities had about come to an end. We had the yellow fever epidemic in '88, and we had a freeze in '95, and the fire in 1901. I did not think of an European war, but this European war has cut off the revenues of the land, and has carried out of the state some of our most valuable and helpful people, so that we have suffered, not only financially, but we have suffered by the loss of those who have been active in carrying on God's work in the Diocese. This has made the year unusually hard, not only hard, but distressing. It has been a year of heartaches, because all kinds of misfortunes and trials have arisen, so that I especially appreciate your help, your sympathy, your support. The Woman's Auxiliary is the only association in the Diocese, is the only means, I might add, for helping financially, which has not gone back. The Woman's Auxiliary has met and prayed, I say this without asking questions, because without prayer you could never have accomplished what you have. The Woman's Auxiliary has had a larger revenue this year than it had last. You can understand my gratitude. You can understand why I thought of the energy of our Lord, because I recognized that you were exercising that energy which was preeminent in our Master's life. I pray God that He will support and help you. I pray God that you may continue in your prayers and in your labors, and I know you will receive at last the blessing of the Master, "Well done, faithful servants."

Address of Diocesan President

In coming before you as your President, ladies, I want to assure you that it shall be my endeavor never to fail in the trust you have placed in me, and to thank you for your loyalty and enthusiasm which have been my encouragement and strong support during this past year.

A year, filled with joys and sorrows, hopes and discouragements, has slipped by since we last met and we stand at another mile-post on the Road of Life. How shall we tread this stretch of the Road? Sullenly, with lagging feet and indifferent minds; anxiously, with thousands of petty cares and worries stinging our fretted souls like wasps; or joyously, with hands outstretched to the down-trodden and weary and eyes fixed on the Light that shines from the Cross of Christ guiding us on the Road? Knowing as I do much of your loving service and self-sacrifice, I know full well how joyously you will travel along the Way. At the beginning of the new year, with a thrill of anticipation, we wonder what the coming year has to give us, but, at this time, we think instead of what we can put into the coming months to make this a year of greater service to God and more spiritual blessings to our fellow men and ourselves. May we not try to obtain and spread around us those first three great gifts of the Spirit—Love, Joy and Peace? Just as the sun shining on a bud makes it unfold, leaf by leaf, until its heart is bared to the warm sunlight, so Love, with its Christ-like tenderness and understanding, causes the wrappings of indifference, distrust and dislike to fall from the soul, and quickens it with the knowledge of Christ's love; then comes Joy, with its radiance dispelling the shadows that cloud our way and weaving a golden thread in the grey texture of sad lives; and lastly Peace, that Peace of God that lays a soothing touch upon our restless, fevered lives. Shall we not pray God to give us power, to put these three gifts into many lives during the coming year?

Much has come into the life of the Auxiliary during the past year. Principally, four new branches of spiritually interested women. At Tallahassee, largely through the prayers and zeal of Mrs. Stuart Lewis, a branch has been organized that is unique in the history of the Woman's Auxiliary—a branch among the College girls. It is impossible to estimate the far-reaching influence of this Branch, for though the girls are lost to the College Branch after graduation, they carry home with them such an interest in the work that they will kindle it in others. Their keen interest is a wonderful help and we are glad to welcome them among us. As an evidence of unselfish love, the little Branch at Murray Hill stands out. A small number struggling to build a Church in which to worship God, they have already formed their Branch to help others to a knowledge of Christ. Surely, we will all pray God to prosper them. At River Junction, with great courage, self-sacrifice and hard work, they have just completed a most attractive Church, and as one of them said to me, "Surely, we must help others to know and worship God. See how much has been done for us." At Mandarin, after holding a most interesting Mission Study Class, eighteen women have formed a Branch, because they feel they must do something for the spread of Christ's Kingdom. We are grateful to have the encouragement of their enthusiasm.

Among the various questions that have arisen from time to time is that of dividing the Auxiliary funds. Some want to know why they can not take some of their money and send it to various Missions in which they are interested. Others want the Woman's Auxiliary to work for the Parish. As for the first question, it would seem somewhat to defeat the cooperative work of the Woman's Auxiliary. As you know, we can get a good deal of water from a pipe in one stream, but if many holes are bored in the pipe it becomes a series of thin trickles. So, while it is splendid to send five dollars to Japan or ten dollars to Alaska, it is rather pitiful to have our pledge to the Board of Missions tremble on the verge of failure and to know that the Bishop with a sad heart has closed another Mission station. In many of the small Parishes the members of the Woman's Auxiliary and of the Guild are the same, but they meet once a month as the Auxiliary, have prayers and missionary readings and pay their Woman's Auxiliary dues. The other three weeks they meet as a Guild, plan entertainments and work for the various objects of Parish interest. This seems to me a good plan.

One question which we have to discuss is the form of a memorial for our late beloved President, Mrs. John Freeman Young. Knowing her interest in the mountain work, I incline to furnishing a sitting room in some mountain girls' school or a rest room in some mountain parish house, that her name among the people whom she loved may always be associated with the idea of comfort and rest. We can not adequately show our love, but we can express to the world the salient thought of her life, to help others for Christ's sake. In this, and all other questions arising at this meeting, I am most anxious to hear from all the delegates. We want constructive criticism. I always think that constructive criticism is like chopping down a scrub oak and planting a live oak, while destructive criticism is like chopping down a scrub oak and leaving a bare stump. We want to plant many live oaks this year. As we have only this opportunity once a year to meet and talk things over, let us use this to the fullest.

To me the most wonderful word picture of the Bible is where St. John tells us, "The light shined in the darkness and the darkness comprehended it not." Can't you see it, the white light of our Lord's soul, blazing in the murk of sin and ignorance and the dark things of evil crouching, snarling or running madly away, terror-stricken and blinded by this unknown Power? In view of this, is it not wonderful that Jesus Christ has given us the power to kindle a light in the darkness of man's ignorance and to hasten the time when the whole world shall be flooded with the light of the knowledge of Christ's love and there shall be no more darkness? May God grant us all appreciation of our opportunity.

MARGARET G. WEED.

Report of Corresponding Secretary

In January I received notice from the Bishop that he had appointed Miss Margaret Gould Weed president of the Woman's Auxiliary. It was my pleasant duty to notify the Branches and the general officers of this appointment and, needless to say, we were all delighted to welcome the leader so earnestly desired.

It is due to Miss Weed's forceful enthusiasm that four new Branches have been added to our number during the past year. We welcome these new Branches at Murray Hill, Mandarin, River Junction and the unique organization known as the College Branch, composed of girls attending the college at Tallahassee, which, we can well believe, will have a far-reaching influence in days to come.

An innovation in Jacksonville Auxiliary Circle is the United Quarterly Meetings held with the different Branches. These meetings were decided on by the Jacksonville Directresses at the last Annual Meeting in St. Augustine and have proven of great benefit—spiritually and socially.

Five times during the year I have been called upon to write letters or send resolutions of sympathy.

Many requests for United Offering boxes have been answered and letters written concerning the various boxes sent to the missionaries in the Fourth Province.

Circular letters were sent to each Branch, reminding them of Auxiliary Day and notifying them of the Annual Meeting.

Each month I have written notes for the Auxiliary page of Church Herald.

In looking over the often incomplete reports sent in I make these approximate estimates:

Number of contributors .....	736
Number of meetings.....	280
Branches observed Auxiliary Day.....	17
Branches contributed to United Offering.....	16
Branches contributed to Contingent Fund.....	14
Branches contributed to boxes.....	9
Branches contributed to Thackara Memorial.....	3
Branches had Mission study .....	12

Respectfully submitted,

MARY C. ARNOLD.

Report of the Educational Secretary

This address is in the nature of a farewell, as it is the last time that I shall speak to you as Educational Secretary. As you know, since January, I have held two offices, that of President and that of Educational Secretary, and I think it is for the good of the work that we should request the Bishop to appoint someone in my place as Educational Secretary.

In the Branches where they have had Mission Study Classes during Lent there are striking examples of the effect of cooperative work. In every instance there has been greatly increased interest in the subject of Missions and the work of the Woman's Auxiliary, as well as a steady demand for more interesting meetings. The Branches reporting Mission Study Classes are as follows:

St. John's, Jacksonville; St. Andrew's, Jacksonville; St. Stephen's, Jacksonville; St. Mary's, Jacksonville; Good Shepherd, Jacksonville; Julia Weed Division of Juniors, Good Shepherd, Jacksonville; Quincy, Tallahassee, Live Oak and Mandarin.

Next year I trust the roll will be a larger one.

In looking back over the work for the year that is gone, I am struck by the number of requests for ways to make the Auxiliary work more interesting, and of this I now want to speak. Try to break away from the formal meeting, where dues are collected and the meeting adjourned. These meetings are sure to be uninteresting and are only attended from a strong sense of duty. We all have the experience of members who pay their dues to a collector regularly but never come to a meeting, and are also accustomed to the complaint, "Why there is nothing to do. It is so uninteresting." Or the remark, "I don't know a thing about the Woman's Auxiliary. I just pay ten cents a month to somebody for something." Here we must learn a lesson from the Women's Clubs. They have interesting courses of lectures and form committees to work them up. Now there is nothing as interesting as the work for the Kingdom of God, but no work is done in a more haphazard fashion. Shall we not try this year to work more systematically? Have a committee to take charge of the meeting each month. If you have only four members, let each member take a month, and then begin again. Have subjects of Missions for reading and discussions and combine descriptions of countries and conditions and history bearing on the influence for and against the coming of Christianity. While you read and talk things over, have some work; sew for a child in the mountains or Alaska or Japan. Make bandages for a Mission hospital, or picture books for little sick children. Once or twice a year give a program meeting and invite the whole town, men and women. Give it in the evening and get the Juniors, if there are any in your Parish, to help. At the meeting have a report of your work for the year, some tableaux, or a little play, or just a missionary reading in costume and light refreshments. Charge no admission fee and take up no collection. Let the entertainment be absolutely free. The meeting can be as elaborate or as simple as your membership demands. The principal thing is to have every member help and as many others as you can get to assist you. Those who are Directresses are familiar with the complaint that the Directress does not make the meeting interesting. My sisters, the Directress is not any more responsible than every member of the Branch. Above all, the work for the Lord Jesus must be cooperative work. If each of us go to the meeting with a vivid interest in the work and a keen desire to make it a success, don't you know right now that its success is assured? Another thing that works against the success of a meeting is the fact that any other thing arising is used as an excuse for non-attendance—a meeting of some club, a card party, a motor trip, or rain. Now I want to ask you, can we not twelve times in a year for one hour at each meeting put the work of the Master first? Can we not bend our best energies to making these meetings a success by our cooperation, attendance and encouragement and by making all other engagements wait on these meetings? Let us try it for this year. I am ready to supply suggestions for meetings, plays, tableaux and literature for readings. Only decide what you want and give me time to write to New York for it.

Before closing, let me remind you that work without prayer is pretty apt to be fruitless. Each meeting should be opened with prayer, and in addition we should pray each day for persistent zeal in the work of spreading Christ's Kingdom. And above all let us never forget that we are doing work for God.

MARGARET G. WEED,
Educational Secretary.

We have met regularly the first Monday in each month throughout the year. We sent a barrel of clothing, as usual, to Sewanee, Tenn.; contribution of $1.00 toward Diocesan Contingent Fund. We had a series of "teas" to raise the necessary amount for our regular pledges and they were most successful and helpful. Auxiliary Day attendance was fifteen, with a splendid address from our Rector. Mr. Benham gave us much encouragement. The Woman's Auxiliary has held its meetings the first Monday of each month during the past year, with a fair attendance at each meeting.

The Junior Auxiliary, under the able leadership of Mrs. J. W. Patton, has been revived and the young people are showing some interest in the work.

Also the Triennial Offering is being looked after by Mrs. A. E. Broughton, who is meeting with great success owing to her untiring efforts in the work.

Many bouquets of flowers have cheered the sick, and committees have been appointed each month to call on the members of the Parish, particularly the strangers, and to report all sickness and distress found on these visits.

Two new members have been added to the Auxiliary.

We have also assisted our Rector in his work at Rocky Point and Newberry by conveying him to and from these towns.

The Woman's Auxiliary has also given over thirty books to our Sunday School library, which were greatly needed.

Early in December a box of clothing was sent to the Industrial School at Corbin, Ky.

Altogether the past year has not been an unprofitable one in spite of financial depressions and the unusual turbulent state of the whole world.

Owing to several reasons, such as withdrawals, removals and deaths, there is a falling off of $37.05 in our Systematic Offering this year.

The result of last year's Mission Study Class was $15.00, which was not all collected until June, when it was forwarded to New York for the Emergency Fund.

A cake sale in August enabled us to give $30.50, our apportionment towards last year's deficit in the Diocese.

In November barrels of clothing, etc., were sent to the Missions of Glen Alpine and Saluda, N. C., also to St. Mary's on the mountain, Tennessee, and a box of clothing with a check for $20.00 to a needy clergyman in Decatur, Ga.

In December $5.00 was given to St. Stephen's, LaVilla, and $5.00 to All Saints', South Jacksonville, for Christmas festivals.

As our Contingent Fund had been exhausted, in February we had to resort to an entertainment to raise $25.00 for the Thackera Memorial, which was forwarded in March.

On account of some misunderstanding as to the time of collecting the United Offering, the amount raised was only $73.20 instead of $100.00.

The subject of this year's Mission Study Class was "The Conquest of the Continent," and the proceeds were devoted to the United Offering. Respectfully submitted,

We have been able to hold our meetings regularly with continued interest. Our losses have been most keen. Our beloved Rector was taken from us by death and our Church destroyed by fire. Even under such trying circumstances we have worked on in the Master's cause. This year we have had a Mission Study Class, which has been greatly enjoyed; as we started late the class has decided to continue its meetings for some time after Easter. Through our Parish Treasurer we sent $10.00 to the Valle Crucis Industrial School, Ruland, N. C., for the erection of the boys' dormitory. MRS. SYDNEY J. SMITH, *Secretary.*MRS. E. O. RHEM, Treasurer.

The first meeting of St. Alban's Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary was held in the early part of December, at the home of Mrs. Hammatt, for an informal discussion. Miss Weed then gave us a most interesting talk and advised as to our duties as an auxiliary.

I regret to state that we have not held regular meetings each month as three families have left Murray Hill recently, leaving only two members at present; however, will organize again when our Mission is built which, we hope, will be soon. We are continuing our Sunday evening services at F. M. A. Hall as usual, and Rev. Caslor officiating.

Miss Weed gave us a splendid talk at Capt. Martin's home March 10th about Auxiliary work, its meaning and how wonderfully it is carried on by the women in the Philippines.

There were two silver teas given, one at Mrs. Capt. Martin's home and one at Mrs. Wm. Bunting's home, raising $21.75, with which we purchased hymn and service books for our choir. The choir is now organized and doing well.

The College Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Florida Woman's College of Tallahassee, Florida, was organized on Monday November 29, 1915, in the Auxiliary room of St. John's Episcopal church by Miss Weed and Mrs. J. Stuart Lewis. The organization started with sixteen charter members. Now the membership has increased to thirty.

The number of meetings held up to the present date have been seven, including the initial meeting. At each meeting articles taken from The Spirit of Missions were read and discussed. These articles have proved to be very beneficial as well as enjoyable.

The total of the Systematic Offering is $36.21, the amount of our United Offering is $3.05.

At each monthly meeting two girls are appointed every Sunday to attend the early celebration of Holy Communion and to offer prayers for the success of the Auxiliary.

Junior Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary

Report of the President

On Thursday afternoon, May 18th, in St. John's parish house the second annual conference of the Juniors was held. The meeting was one of the most largely attended of any during the council, demonstrating the keen interest taken in the work of the Juniors of the Diocese.

The meeting was opened by the President, following which the annual financial report of the Juniors was read by the Secretary and Treasurer, Mrs. W. Malcolm McCrory. Representatives of the following branches read reports: Jacksonville, Good Shepherd, Divisions I, III, and the Julia Weed Memorial, St. Andrew's, St. John's, St. Mary's; Tallahassee, St. John's; St. Augustine, Trinity.

Miss Weed gave a talk on "What the Juniors Do," which she illustrated most effectively by tableaux in which Juniors from the different branches assisted.

In the scrap book contest a wonderful amount of interest was taken, many splendidly arranged books being exhibited together with other work of the Juniors. The Chair appointed as judges in the contest: Mrs. Reginald White, St. Augustine; Mrs. Loftin, Quincy, and Mrs. F. P. Hamilton, Jacksonville, who presented the following report:

"The committee appointed to judge the merits of the scrap books has considered neatness and artistic arrangement of the pictures and interesting printed matter, and has decided that the prize should be given to St. Mary's Branch, Division III, Mrs. Wm. Wyllie, directress. Honorable mention should be given to Tallahassee Branch.

(Signed) MRS. LOFTIN,

MRS. F. P. HAMILTON,

MRS. REGINALD WHITE,

Chairman."

Miss Weed expressed herself as very much gratified with the contest, stating that she has another one in view for the coming year, announcement to be made later.

Mention was made of the button-hole contest conducted with such splendid results by Mrs. Selina F. Gilmour who is such an inspiration to all who are endeavoring to assist in the work of the Master.

The president reported a new branch at Tallahassee organized by our former president, Mrs. J. K. Munnerlyn; also the re-organization of the Gainesville Branch under the leadership of Mrs. John Patton. A Julia M. Weed division has been organized in St. Augustine by Mrs. White.

It was with deep regret that the death of one of our leaders was chronicled: Mrs. E. A. Kelley, directress of St. Katherine's, Pensacola, who was called to her rest early in the year.

This interesting meeting was brought to a close by a rising vote of thanks to Miss Weed for her splendid talk.

These Junior conferences mean much for the future inspiration of the Juniors who are the "Seniors of tomorrow." Each person present was impressed with the importance of the work of the Juniors in this Diocese which is to aid the Bishop in educating young men for the sacred ministry.

Respectfully submitted,

ARNETTA M. VANCE,
