SECRETARY'S REPORT.

It is not possible to think or write in this year of commemoration, without some reference to the Spirit of the times.

When we look back over the hundred years which have given to us ecclesiastical and civil government, and mark the changes in the religious and social world, we find no more startling contrasts than are presented by this, our own fair State and Diocese.

In the days when only seven Dioceses sent their congratulatory greetings to our first President, from their General Convention then assembled, Maryland could show within her borders a hospitality without stint, domestic service without measurement, broad acres for the manse as well as for the plantation, with her tithes and taxes paid plentifully, if uniquely, in the currency of the Province, tobacco.

The eyes of the century look down to-day upon a country then scarcely dreamed of, with rolling prairie and wealth laden mountains occupied and developed.

Changes have however, come to us, and in many of our country parishes, the fields are untilled, the soil impoverished, and the glebe alienated. Under these altered conditions the inevitable effect is that of torpor. This, we trust, is passing away. Already the leaven of energy begins to lighten, and it lies within the province of each of us to afford our aid to the simple but effective plan * inaugurated by the Bishop of Maryland, thus furnishing him with means to fertilize these waste places, and with very little exertion, we may hope for a new era, when the Church shall claim her own again, and GOD, even our own GOD, shall give us His blessing.

There were last year 22 parishes or organizations working with us. We have been much encouraged by the addition of two Memorial Churches, and Grace Church, Darlington. It may be that another year will bring in others. The Auxiliary welcomes all work whether done in connection or otherwise, as it regards every act done "In His Name" worthy to be recorded here, as it surely will be hereafter.

Our scope has been wide, and our Auxiliary can think with gratitude that in all the noble reforms which have come to pass in Japan, the progress of China and among the Indians, the interest shown, the petitions extended, and the scholarships and stipends furnished from the Maryland Branch, have done no small part in opening these dark places to the Day Dawn.

Not the least satisfactory in our accomplished work, is the fact that no call from our own Diocese has been unheeded. Every person needing help having been cared for as far as reported.

Most earnest thanks must here be returned to the Parish Secretaries for the alacrity with which the work was taken up during the illness of the Diocesan Secretary, who, but for the prompt help then rendered, must have borne a great burden of anxiety.

* The penny a day, or penny a week, one aggregating 365 a year, the other 52 cents per annum.

Reports from Michigan, California, Long Island, Connecticut, Pittsburg, Indiana and others, have been received, and it is interesting to note the different channels in which they work. One or two assume the support of a Missionary, or augment the stipend of some clergyman. Indiana devotes quite a space to Parish work, and thus furnishes a commentary on the fact that the Auxiliary embraces all departments.

We have had no additional meetings during the year, but our initial gathering at Emmanuel Church was marked by an increase of interest most encouraging. Miss Emery was present and gave some helpful suggestions as to children's societies, a most important addition to our work, and one which it is hoped may be embraced by every Parish.

The very interesting meeting called by the Bishop for the young women of the Church was attended by a large representation, and his address upon "What Women can do," most suggestive and forcible.

It only remains for us, dear friends, to realize that at the best, the time is short.

The early Christians did not at first transcribe the words of the LORD JESUS, so confident were they that His second appearing would not be delayed beyond their day.

How much more should we, who have the ages behind us, and know that the world is growing old, employ every moment, embrace every opportunity, so that when the Bridegroom cometh, He shall find us ready to go forth to meet Him.

ANNIE LEAKIN SIOUSSAT,

Parochial Branches of the Auxiliary are requested to confer with Mrs. A. L. Sioussat, 1912 Park Avenue, concerning work undertaken by them, for it has been ascertained that boxes have frequently been sent to the same destination from different societies, each one ignorant of what the other was doing, and often ignorant of more urgent demands.

Mrs. Sioussat is in correspondence with the Bishop of Maryland concerning work in the Diocese, and with Miss Emery who has general supervision of the Mission field.
