REPORT.

Since the annual meeting of May 10th, 1882, the members of the Society, and others, met in Trinity Chapel, October 23d. An address was made by the Rev. Archdeacon Kirkby, and interesting letters read. The Secretary was prevented by sickness in the family from attendance, which accounts for so summary a mention. But these means have doubtless had their influence, in the more vigorous prosecution of the work in hand, by causing a greater missionary interest. Last year there were responses but from nine parishes. This year there are twenty-four, of which fourteen have, in some way, contributed through the Auxiliary. Of the remaining ten, two report missionary work outside of the women's auxiliary; six report parochial work, and two have no report. The fact of a response of any kind from a new quarter, is encouraging; and if parochial work is to form a regular part of this report, it is very important and desirable that all should be heard from, for mutual encouragement to good works, and as a stimulant to each parish. Not that any judgment is to depend on mere figures. Those that show the smallest results may have worked with the most self-sacrifice and earnestness. Of many such, it may be said, "She hath done what she could;" a commendation greater than perhaps can invariably be accorded to the thousands of princely givers. There is encouragement in the smallest beginnings, in this case also, in the much increased interest shown by the larger number of reports. There seems great reason to hope, that if the work be earnestly prosecuted a yearly increasing number of parishes will unite, in one way or other, with the Auxiliary, until the whole Diocese shall have a mutual friendly interest, and such a knowledge of the work done as will, by God's blessing, strengthen all to greater efforts in His cause. Our Rt. Rev. Father in God, the Bishop of the Diocese, following in the footsteps of his sainted predecessor, has taken an earnest, personal interest in this matter, and to him, under God, may be attributed much of the improvement of the past year.
