The Salem Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of Southern Virginia was opened at 9:30 Thursday morning, October 26th, 1911, in St. Paul's Church, Salem, with a short service and a hearty address of welcome by the rector, Rev. J. Scott Meredith. The church was crowded to the doors.

The business meeting was opened by the Diocesan President. The roll was called and forty-seven branches responded. Mrs. Letcher in her usual graceful and concise way gave an interesting account of the origin and growth of the Auxiliary in Virginia and Southern Virginia, which to-day, on its twenty-first anniversary, is celebrating its coming of age.

At the General Convention in Baltimore in October, 1871, the various missionary societies of the Church were organized into the Woman's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions. In 1872 Miss Mary Emery—afterward Mrs. Twing—made her first public address in the Sunday School room of Christ Church, Norfolk, and organized the Norfolk branch. In 1889 Mrs. Letcher, then Miss Loulie Taylor, attended a missionary council in Washington, D. C., and was the only member from the Diocese of Virginia. She was deeply stirred by hearing Miss Emery state that a Diocesan Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary had been organized in every Diocese and missionary jurisdiction of the Church except West Texas, Southern Florida, North Dakota, Virginia, China, Japan and Africa. The energetic and consecrated Secretary resolved this should no longer be true of Virginia. The Norfolk Branch invited the president of each parish branch to meet in conference in the chapel of St. Paul's Church, Norfolk, and there on June 18th, 1890, was organized the Virginia Diocesan Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary. At this meeting there were nine branches represented. To-day, twenty-one years later, there are one hundred and sixty-five organized branches in the State. The first year the contributions in money and boxes were $4,331, now the annual contributions amount to about $20,000.

Mrs. Letcher concluded this brief history by saying, "When a man attains his majority a deeper sense of responsibility and increased effort are expected of him, should less be expected of a Diocese or of the Woman's Auxiliary in Virginia and Southern Virginia?"

Mrs. Peyton Nelson, of Williamsburg, offered a resolution that a rising vote of thanks be given to Mrs. Letcher for the twenty-one years of active and efficient service.

Mrs. Letcher then read the Diocesan report of the President and Secretary.

Mrs. John J. Lloyd gave an outline of the work and history of the Junior Auxiliary. Her first letter as Secretary was written seventeen years ago to Miss Pelton, then connected with the Christiansburg Juniors. In the beginning there were fourteen branches, now there are fifty-four doing splendid, active work, and laying the foundation of missionary zeal and interest in our boys and girls. The report of this work in the Diocese was interesting and inspiring.

This was followed by Miss Garrett's report of the Babies' Branch, read by her sister, Mrs. Peyton Nelson. A short discussion arose as to the age limit of the Babies' Branch, which was decided to be eight years.

Mrs. William A. Anderson gave the report of the Church Periodical Club. "Very encouraging and growing," said Mrs. Anderson, "but not large enough. Sending magazines and books to clergymen and deaconesses, reading matter, calendars and picture cards to missionary districts has done so much good and given so much pleasure that an earnest plea was made for greater effort and more systematic giving. Over six thousand miscellaneous magazines have been distributed and two hundred and six regular subscriptions sent to grateful readers, besides a number of books, cards, Bibles and hymnals. New chapters of the Club have been formed at Staunton and Christiansburg.

The spirited rendering of the hymn "Jesus Shall Reign" was followed by deeply interesting missionary addresses from the field workers. Deaconess Adams told of the needs of the people of Keokee. The liberal donations from the several branches have enabled her to give a wonderful amount of happiness, comfort and aid. A number of Christmas trees loaded with gifts left no boy or girl without joy of Christmas. "I had more than one hundred and fifty dolls," said the gentle little Deaconess, "and I could have used almost as many more. Send me dolls." "Children," she said, when leaving, "what shall I tell the good people who have been Santa Claus to you?" A dozen voices answered lustily, "Tell 'em thank you, thank you." The Deaconess asked for second-hand clothing in good order, especially boys' and men's clothing. She needs urgently "sick room boxes" containing towels, soap, sheets, night clothing. Gifts in money are wonderfully helpful in meeting emergencies, and what this resourceful woman can accomplish with a few dollars is indeed touching.

Miss Whitfield, of Grace Mission, Covington, was the next speaker. "Like Moody," she said, "I am not so much concerned as to what God will do with the soul of the heathen as I am for what He will do with us who neglect our opportunities of bringing others to Him." She spoke at length of the prospects, achievements, opportunities, inspiration and discouragements of the noble work among the mountaineers. A mission home is being built to which girls will be taken for training. Covington will furnish the house, but there is great need for provisions and housekeeping supplies. On a motion the Auxiliary raised $55.00 for a contribution to supplement this latter need. In closing Mrs. Whitfield referred to the great loss which this work sustained in the removal of Rev.

Woman's Auxiliary.

Mr. Rogers to Lynchburg. She also thanked St. John's Church, Bedford City, for the gift of chancel furniture.

At noon the proceedings were suspended for mid-day prayer which was conducted by Rev. W. H. Meade, of Roanoke.

Mrs. Henry N. Castle made an earnest, stirring appeal in behalf of the United Offering, which she said was the banner offering of the Church. It represents the twelve baskets of fragments, which after all other needs are met, the Auxiliary gathers into a United Offering. With a ringing call to greater effort she urged the Diocese to double its past record and by prayer and endeavor to reach the sum of six thousand dollars by 1913.

Mrs. Letcher then read an interesting letter from Miss Cornelia J. Packard, who was unable to be present, telling of her work among the Amherst Indians. These active efforts are resulting in improvements in the conditions of living. Miss Packard, and her helper, Miss Spencer, in the absence of a minister, read service and sermons to as many as one hundred and fifty who assemble for these services.

The meeting adjourned at 12:30. The Quiet Hour in the afternoon from four to five was conducted by the Rev. J. W. Cantey Johnson. This reverential service deepened the consecration of each member of the Auxiliary.

In the evening there was an excellent address by Dr. John Wilson, from Hankow, China.

FRIDAY.

The Woman's Auxiliary began its second session Friday morning, October 27th, with the celebration of the Holy Communion.

The business meeting was opened by the President. The reading of the minutes was followed by the motion to have them published in the Church papers.

The first speaker, Miss Caryetta Davis, gave an encouraging account of her work at St. Peter's School, Ferrum, Franklin county. The young girl for whom the Auxiliary raised a scholarship in 1910 has proven apt, intelligent, and so capable that she has taken the place of one of the older workers. Miss Davis asked for a second scholarship of $50.00 for a needy, promising girl of fourteen (14). In quick response to this, the sum of seventy-one dollars was raised. With glowing enthusiasm Miss Davis told of the helpfulness and usefulness of the boxes sent. The contents are placed on sale in the school house, the occasion bringing together sometimes two hundred people. Some of the native characteristics in evidence at these sales are giving place under the Christian touch of this gracious woman to a spirit of unselfishness and consideration for others.

Miss Davis asks especially for toys and gifts for Christmas. There are 167 children in the Sunday School and she has in sight provision for only fifty. "No knives for toys," laughed Miss Davis, "they are not yet educated to that. Cloaks, coats and wraps are especially helpful," she added. "My people will walk miles to get them. Don't forget quilt-pieces and magazines."

Deaconess Bertha Radford brought a spiritual message to the Auxiliary from her work in Schuyler. "In love save one another," she said earnestly. "What has been accomplished in this rough field makes me exclaim with thanksgiving, 'Great and marvelous are Thy works, Lord God Almighty.'"

There are about one thousand people in this little town in Nelson county, nearly all engaged in quarrying soapstone. The greater number are illiterate. This serves to make them more eager for their children to have advantages. "The more you can help them materially," said the Deaconess, "the closer you can get in touch with them to help them spiritually." Thirty years ago, the first religious services ever held were in a stable, and when the sermon began, the horses had to be led out, so as not to disturb the worshippers. To-day, there stands a beautiful Church built of the native stone. The Deaconess asked for Chancel furnishing, especially Chancel chairs and a cushion for the communion rail. She spoke with grateful appreciation of what had been done for the work by the Second Circle of St. Paul's, Lynchburg; Trinity, Portsmouth, and St. Paul's of Norfolk.

Mrs. Letcher presented the claims of the colored work at Lawrenceville, urging that the pledges be paid promptly as there was an immediate need of funds for current expenses, and little help was coming from the North.

Attention was directed to the vast and difficult work of Bishop Funsten in Boise, Idaho. Lack of necessary funds requires him to spend six weeks in Northern cities in the effort to raise six thousand dollars to supplement the appropriation of the Board of Missions. Mrs. Creasy, who succeeded Mrs. Peyton Nelson, formerly Miss Sue Garrett, in the work at Ross Fork Hospital, asks for two endowments of forty dollars each from the dioceses of Virginia and Southern Virginia. Forty dollars was appropriated by the Auxiliary.

Among the new needs to which the President directed the earnest consideration of the Auxiliary was St. Mary's Mission in Honolulu, Hawaii, under the care of Bishop Restarick. This is an important central successful work and doing the only Christian work among the Orientals in this district. Chinese and Japanese children are taught to read, speak, sing, and write the English language, and also the elements of the Christian religion. It has resulted in the baptism and confirmation of many Japanese and Chinese who have become faithful Christians. The situation of the Mission in a suburb of Honolulu, is most favorable for its work and the present site must now either be relinquished or bought. The sum of six thousand dollars is needed for the purchase and repairs of the building. Three thousand has been raised on the Islands, and it is proposed that the other three should be raised among the Auxiliaries of thirty dioceses, each contributing one hundred dollars. Southern Virginia enthusiastically raised her appropriation in a few minutes.

A letter from Miss Mann was read asking help for building a Church in Nikko, Japan. The land is already paid for. Church furnishings as memorial gifts was suggested. $5.00 was raised in response to this need. In connection with Miss Mann's work, Mrs. Letcher spoke of the efficient, beautiful service of Er Araki San, the head nurse in St. Luke's Hospital, Tokyo. It will be remembered she received her training in America. The tenth anniversary of her consecration to this service occurs on the first of next March. It is proposed that a gift shall be presented to her at this time, as an expression of the true esteem in which she is held in this country as well as in her own. Mrs. Carter H. Harrison, of Staunton, asked for especial interest in the plan of raising funds for this purpose. Every member of each branch of the Auxiliary in Virginia and Southern Virginia is asked to give not less than ten cents for this gift.

The Rev. H. St. George Tucker, D. D., of St. Paul's College, Tokyo, addressed the Auxiliary and graphically outlined the splendid work among the student body of St. Paul's and its allied schools. The education of women is a significant fact of the development of Japan. A woman without religion is not what the new Japan needs. Thousands of young women of the lower, middle, and educated classes are being brought under Christian influence. Dr. Tucker spoke of Miss Boyd's home and work for young girls who come to Tokyo as students, as of the utmost importance. Miss Tsuda's fine school is doing a magnificent work.

Proceedings were suspended for noon-day prayer, conducted by Rev. J. Scott Meredith.

The new field of Dante, Russell county, to which Deaconess Maria Williams has just been sent, was next presented. "Turkey-foot Cove" it used aptly to be called. From four to five thousand people are now crowding into this mining town, where there is no resident minister except a Roman Catholic priest. The people are glad and eager for religious instruction and training. Deaconess Williams has already started a Sunday School with an excellent attendance. She asks to be remembered with Christmas boxes to help her with the Christmas celebration.

Woman's Auxiliary.

Mrs. Letcher recommended that the week following November 15th be observed throughout the diocese by the main branches for a peaceful, prayerful, active effort to increase the membership of the Auxiliary. Also that each branch should set aside during the year a certain sum to be used for the expenses of delegates. That a larger number should attend the annual meeting is urgently desired.

The motion to renew the old pledges for the coming year was carried.

Mrs. Heath Cabaniss, of Petersburg, extended a cordial invitation to the Auxiliary to meet in Petersburg at any time they should select. Mrs. Onthank, of Lynchburg, made a motion that the time of the annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary be changed from spring to fall. As the delegates had not all been instructed by their Auxiliaries how to vote on the question, Mrs. Stephen Putney, of Wytheville, offered in its place a resolution that the Auxiliary should accept Mrs. Cabaniss' invitation and meet in Petersburg next October. These resolutions provoked some discussion, the President holding that all branches not now represented should have opportunity to vote. The resolution finally adopted, was offered by Mrs. Green, of Norfolk, as follows: "That the Auxiliary will accept the invitation to meet in Petersburg next October and that the Secretary will in the meantime notify all the branches to instruct their delegates how to vote on the question of division, any branch not sending a delegate to the annual meeting to send a written expression of opinion."

Mrs. Williamson, of Danville, was called to the chair, all officers were unanimously re-elected for the ensuing year.

Woman's Auxiliary.

This closed the twenty-first annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of Southern Virginia.

In the afternoon, Mrs. Lloyd held a conference of officers and leaders of the Junior Auxiliary in the Church, followed by a meeting of all interested in the United Offering conducted by Mrs. H. W. Castle, of Norfolk.

A large audience in the evening listened to the address on the progress of Christianity in Japan, by Dr. H. St. George Tucker.

A resolution was presented on behalf of the delegates to the Woman's Auxiliary to extend to the ladies of Salem and Roanoke their heartfelt thanks and grateful appreciation for their cordial and delightful hospitality and for the careful and painstaking preparations which have added so much to the success and helpfulness of the meetings. Also to the public press for the kind and satisfactory reports of the proceedings.

THE JUNIOR AUXILIARY IN SALEM.

The annual meeting of the Junior Auxiliary of the Diocese of Southern Virginia met in St. Paul's Church, Salem, on Saturday morning, October 28, 1911, the President, Mrs. J. J. Lloyd, presiding. The business session was preceded by a brief service conducted by the rector, Rev. J. Scott Meredith.

A graceful address of welcome was read by Miss Amelia Harvey cutter, of the Salem Juniors, to the assembled delegates, who felt with appreciation the warm cordiality of Salem's welcome to her guests. A spirit of joyful enthusiasm prevailed.

Delegates from Bedford, Big Stone Gap, Christiansburg, Covington, Keokee, Lynchburg (St. Paul's and Grace Churches), Roanoke, Radford, Salem and Schuyler responded to the roll call. There were also twenty-four representatives from these eleven branches.

Woman's Auxiliary.

Miss Kathleen Clayton, delegate of the girl's Juniors of St. John's Church, Bedford City, reported a membership of sixteen in active work, with a study class on Indian Missions in the West. St. John's has a flourishing Boys' Auxiliary, which may well serve as a model and inspiration to other parishes, who are endeavoring to meet the "Boy Problem." With such emphasis on the Layman's Missionary Movement, why is not the boy's interest aroused and riveted in more of our Junior Branches? The Boys' Auxiliary of St. John's was ably represented by Mr. Harry Carter and Mr. John Burke. They report a membership of twenty, varying in ages from seven to nineteen years. They meet on Sunday afternoon with a short service, followed by study or discussion of some missionary subject. The year's work represents contributions to Miss Neely, of Japan; Christmas boxes of fruit and dainties to the almshouse; gifts to their own Christmas tree for the poor; and to Grace Mission, Covington. During Lent they have a study class on Indians, closing with a stereopticon evening showing Indian scenes.

Miss Miriam Taylor, of Big Stone Gap, mentioned in her interesting report that their principal work had been the making of a beautiful missionary quilt which was on exhibition in the Church. It will later be sent to St. Luke's Hospital, Tokyo. This branch has thirteen members, meeting every Tuesday.

Miss Elizabeth Stuart, leader of the Christiansburg Juniors, told most interestingly of the organization of the branch eighteen years ago, and their continued support of a child in Mr. Ishie's Orphanage in Japan. This branch has a large membership—meets every two weeks, and has an active study class.

Emmanuel Church of Covington, has one of the largest, most progressive branches in the Diocese, under the leadership of Miss Wills and Mrs. Rogers. A full report showing original work and interesting study was read by the delegate, Miss Laura Wallace.

Miss Alfa Childress read the report from Grace Church, Lynchburg. This branch has a membership of twenty-five girls and seven boys doing energetic work and carrying on an excellent study class.

St. Paul's, Lynchburg, sent Miss Katherine Lewis to report the re-organization of their circle. A successful plan has been giving ten cents to each child to double as many times as possible. Their donations have been most generous.

St. John's, of Roanoke, sent a large number of representatives from their auxiliary, showing their interest in the meeting and giving encouragement to the cause. No formal report was given.

Miss Virginia Wright, of Radford, who has been under Mrs. Lloyd's training at Big Stone Gap, organized a little band of Juniors in her new home a year ago, which has now grown to a membership of twelve. They are encouraged by frequent visits from Deaconess Adams.

The report of the Salem Juniors was read by their efficient and accomplished leader, Mrs. J. C. Langhorne, and showed the circle to be in a flourishing condition.

Christ Church, Schuyler, was represented by little Miss Bessie Smith, who reported a membership of twenty—meeting weekly for study and work. "This is what we make," she said, showing attractive baskets, napkin rings, crochet, and dressed dolls. The children make these articles, which are really beautiful, and sell them for their missionary money.

Mrs. Lloyd read a number of reports from unrepresented branches. She then introduced the speaker, Dr. H. St. George Tucker, with charming reminiscences of his boyhood. Dr. Tucker held the rapt attention of every child and grown-up by his description of child life in Japan, and the noble efforts in their behalf exerted by Mr. Ishie's Orphanage in Tokyo; the Widely Loving Society in Osaka; St. Luke's Hospital, St. Margaret's, St. Paul's, and the various kindergartens and Sunday Schools directed by Christian teachers and leaders.

Mrs. Lloyd enumerated the different objects to which the Juniors have given pledges, as follows:

Memorial Cot in St. Luke's Hospital, $50.00; Memorial Scholarship in Widely Loving Society, $30.00; Support of Girl in St. Mary's School, Shanghai, China, $50.00; Margaret Burke Memorial, Cape Palmas, Africa, $25.00; Anniversary Gift to Er Araki San, $10.00; St. Mary's Mission, Honolulu, $5.00; Grace Mission, Covington, $5.00.

After mid-day prayer, led by Mr. Meredith, the annual meeting closed with a hearty vote of thanks to our Salem hostesses who have done so much for the pleasure and success of the meeting, making it an occasion long to be remembered.

Woman's Auxiliary.

Report of the President and Secretary.

The work of the Auxiliary for the past year has been marked, simply by a steady continuance in well doing, rather than by any great advance in the cause, for which at least, we are thankful.

The changes made by the Board of Missions, in reference to the crediting of the missionary money, threatened, at first, to make some confusion and disturbance in the working of the Auxiliary; but with two, or at most three, exceptions, no misunderstandings have arisen and all has worked out harmoniously. All the pledges made by our Diocesan Branch have been promptly met, notwithstanding the fact that the salary of our own missionary has, this year, been increased by $80.00. In addition to our regular pledges we have had the pleasure of providing the Episcopal robes for our former O. O. M., the Rt. Rev. H. St. George Tucker—now Bishop of Kyoto, Japan; and the members of the various branches sent a testimonial of their esteem and affection for Araki San, the Japanese head nurse of St. Luke's Hospital, Tokyo, Japan, upon the completion of her tenth year of service in that Institution; besides special pledges, made at the annual meeting in Salem, to Miss Caryetta Davis and work in Franklin county; to Miss Whitfield's work in Alleghany county; to Deaconess Adams' work at Keokee, Lee county; to Deaconess Radford, at Schuyler, Nelson county; and to Deaconess Williams, at Dante, Russell county, in our own diocese, and an Indian scholarship at Ross Fork, Idaho, and to St. Mary's School Building, in Hawaii, in our Domestic Missionary field; and to Bishop Tucker's work in Japan—amounting in all to $649.25.

During the past year we have tried especially to emphasize the missionary study classes and several of the branches used the Text Book provided by the Board—The Conquest of the Continent—with more or less success. The idea of the Board is to have education secretaries for the Auxiliary in each Diocese, that this study may be more thoroughly and systematically carried on, for only through knowledge can interest in missions be aroused and maintained. I am most happy to say that we have secured as educational secretaries for the eastern half of our Diocese, Miss Louisa Myers and Miss Edmonia Whittle, of Norfolk, and hope soon to have some one appointed for the western portion. This Branch of our work should especially appeal to the younger members of the Auxiliary who, ere long, will be taking our places, as leaders of the Auxiliary work in the Diocese, and will need just this training to prepare them for it.

The reports show an increase in the number of branches and of individual members; but much work remains to be done in the small country parishes, which would experience especial benefits from this contact with the more extended Church work, thus brought to their attention. Another most important and valuable means of keeping abreast of the Church's work—its advances and its needs—is the regular reading of the Spirit of Missions, and a copy should be in the hands of each member of the Auxiliary, certainly at least, of the officers of each branch, and read and discussed at their meetings. Thus will our gifts to Missions be less perfunctory, as we know of the actual needs that call for them, and our prayers for Missions have more definite point and purpose.

I must also remind you that this is our last year for collecting the United Offering before its presentation at the General Convention, in New York, in 1913, and I sincerely trust, we will all avail ourselves of the privilege of thus sending our substitutes to labor in the missionary fields for the extension of the kingdom of our Lord and Master.

Trusting that the coming year may find us more and more faithful in His service, ever mindful of the fact that to all of us will soon come "the night, in which no man can work."

Faithfully yours,

LOULIE TAYLOR LETCHER,
Diocesan President and Secretary.

The annual pledges for next year are as follows:

OUR OWN MISSIONARY FUND.

THE SEVENTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE JUNIOR AUXILIARY OF SOUTHERN VIRGINIA TO THE BOARD OF MISSIONS, MAY 11 TO MAY 12.

We are again reviewing a year's work, inside and outside of our own diocese. A year's work for others is difficult to give, because so many interesting and helpful things have to be left out, but I think we may look back upon improvement and progress for the most part.

It is noticeable, in looking over the reports sent in, that more Branches are emphasizing the study of missions. This means, of course, intelligence of truths which are so often hidden from really intelligent Christians, and of more light and interest given out to the young people by their older leaders. It points out, too, to the fact of the importance of having thoughtful, earnest leaders back of the machinery of each branch, however small or large it may be.

In some cases the Sunday afternoon meetings seem to have been devoted to catechising and instruction along missionary lines.

The boys of Bedford City, Blackstone, Grace, Lynchburg; and Clifton Forge, seem to have adopted that plan which may answer two questions—how to interest boys in missions, and how to spend Sunday afternoon profitably?

Many of the branches seem to have divided the meetings in such wise, as to reserve a portion for studying some special mission field—the literary side of the meeting—apart from sewing and talking. That may mean a better understanding of our relation to the Board of Missions and of the threefold object of the Junior Auxiliary, viz.: "Learn, pray, give." It is plain to see how such a course will increase the interest of our young people in parts and peoples of the world in which we live, and which we are bidden to help to "teach all nations."

As we must look for recruits for the mission fields from the ranks of these young people we are now leading, we ourselves should feel the Spirit-call to "Feed my lambs."

With but few exceptions all branches have taken part in our Southern Virginia Diocesan pledges, which are as follows: Work for the school at Anvik, under Mr. and Mrs. Chapman, our tried and trusted missionaries of long standing.

At the annual meeting of the Woman's and the Junior Auxiliaries at Salem, October, 1911, the following pledges were made:

To gift for Er Araki San, head nurse of St. Luke's Hospital, Tokyo, Japan, in memory of her faithful service during her two years' training in our Richmond Hospital, and ten years in St. Luke's, Tokyo, Japan.....	$10 00
To the work of our Church in Honolulu.....	5 00
To "Grace Mission," near Covington, Va.....	5 00

At the meeting of the Junior Auxiliary on Junior Day, October 28th, in Salem, our guest—missionary of the Woman's Auxiliary—was the Rev. St. George Tucker, of St. Paul's College, Tokyo, Japan. It was well this valued messenger from our own diocese to Japan was generous enough to lend himself to our young people assembled for more than an hour of delightful instruction and entertainment. Having the curios from Japan, they were used as object lessons. This missionary gave a message not easily forgotten on the child-life in Japan. He also spoke of our "Gold Dollar Scholarship" missionary in Southern Virginia, Rev. James Hubard Lloyd, as having worked with him for three years in St. Paul's College.

The offertory of the service on "Junior Day" was given to Rev. St. George Tucker for his personal use, wishing it could have been thousands instead of the small amount of $500. There were at the meeting eleven delegates and twenty-four representatives, besides many visitors, both of the Woman's and Junior Auxiliary. As this was a long distance for Juniors to come from—the far east of our State—the number present was satisfactory, particularly when we remember the season of school life to all.

The reports of work—methods in the several branches represented by the delegates present as well as by those sent by others, were read and listened to with great interest; and it was encouraging to see the earnest spirit that prompted the boys and girls to leave their different homes and schools to tell of their various methods of work done for the Master.

The two boys of Bedford City—manly representatives—were brave enough to stand in a meeting where the “gentle sex” generally predominates and tell how they strived and worked along missionary lines.

It was a matter to be thankful for when gathering items from each report sent the President-Secretary that so many branches reported Study Classes. Some studied “The Conquerors of the Continent,” others “The Winners of the World,” some “The Overcoming of the Dragon,” and still others lines of study outlined by the spirit of missions. There seems to be a growing and progressive movement along study lines.

Another good thing observed was the accepting of many branches the offer given each Lenten season to the young people of the Church to secure new subscribers to the Spirit of Missions. One branch reported six new subscribers. This meant placing in as many hands the “Acts of the Disciples,” which is our present version of “The Acts of the Apostles,” and put into their mite boxes just half of the subscriptions for each child’s Easter offering.

With some branches missionary plays seem to have been attractive as well as lucrative. One branch, after the little play, “The Sunset Hour,” an outdoor play for children, not only sent what they had voted upon as their pledges, but the whole amount, being so elated and thankful—a very good illustration of “cheerful giving.”

The time-honored custom of our Southern Virginia Juniors—that of sending a united box to our Juniors of this fair land—had not been possible for a year. It got to be wearing on the minds and hearts of some of us, so a little too late, but really doing the best we could under the circumstances, a small box, valued at $9.68, of Christmas toys, was sent to Ross Fork, Idaho. This coming November will find us more thoughtful and loving; for on almost every returned blank report came a cheerful answer, “Yes, we will help on the Junior Box Question.”

Headquarters asked modestly for 250 gifts for “Crow Creek, South Dakota.” I think 450 will be nearer the response.

It is with regret that the Secretary has to report several of the largest and formerly helpful branches as having grown weary in well doing; at least, as far as a report of their work is concerned. And if a blank is opposite the name, it means a sorrow to the Secretary not to be able to give a hearty word instead of—

There seems with a few parishes, in which Junior work once flourished, a sort of panic regarding the apportionment; the fear, perhaps, that the parish branch reporting to headquarters might be more direct; while as a matter of fact the same thing has been done for seventeen years, only through a secretary working under the Bishops of the Diocese.

The President of the Junior Auxiliary of Southern Virginia has so arranged with the Board of Missions through its Auxiliaries that nearly all of the diocesan pledges are counted as on the apportionment. Several parishes have reported as having now no Junior Auxiliary, for the superintendents of the Sunday Schools think best to report to their minister and directly to the Board of Missions. That having been the work and privilege of the Woman's Auxiliary and its Junior Departments for so many helpful and happy years, it fills one with a feeling of regret that so gross a mistake could be made by such worthy Christians.

Thanking all who have held up my hands in this, our blessed Lord's work, however it is done, and with recognition of the faithfulness of the many efficient and loving helpers, I remain your President-Secretary,

(Mrs. J. J.) E. H. LLOYD.

THE SEVENTEENTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE LITTLE HELPERS' AUXILIARY OF THE DIOCESE OF SOUTHERN VIRGINIA TO THE BOARD OF MISSIONS.

The sweetest privilege of life is the opportunity that God extends to each one of us that He has placed on earth to work out with Him His plan of salvation. It is a blessed privilege that we are co-workers with God.

My intimate association with many faithful, self-sacrificing officers, and a large number of dear little children in the vineyard of the Master, makes me realize that the more earnestly and conscientiously each officer and child strives to serve the Master, the richer the harvest of blessings that rains down from heaven, not only upon the work, but into the heart and life of the worker, in the widening of the vision and the ability to serve; in the increase of faith and love; and in the willingness to spend and be spent. So this work for the uplift of our fellow-man is not in vain; it brings the double blessing. It "blesses him that gives and him that takes." May God give grace to each parent and officer to lead the hearts of the little ones to Christ, training them to carry forward his last commandment.

It is the Lord who commands us to train up a child in the way that he shall go, and He gives us the promise that when he is old, he shall not depart from it. May He be with you in this beautiful work, and make the little ones "Mete for the Master's use."

The report of the little Helpers this year is very encouraging. The Banner Branch is again St. Paul's, Petersburg, under that marvelous leader, Miss Victoria Dodson. She and her band of sixty children show the world what consecrated, faithful zeal and labor can accomplish, combined with prayer, and looking to God to help. This year they offer on God's altar the largest gift ever sent by any branch of The Little Helpers in the Diocese of Southern Virginia. They offer to the Lord $113.50. It will go to the fields at home and abroad to help to hasten the kingdom and carry the glad tidings. May God's richest blessings rest on the leader and the children of the Banner Branch, in their homes and in their lives.

The banner child this year is Lucy Norvell Lee, of St. Thomas', Abingdon Branch. This little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Norvell Lee shows her beautiful training by giving $4.03 of her pennies to help other little ones know Christ.

St. Luke's, Norfolk, under the wise and energetic guidance of Miss Aliscia Wilkinson, sent this year the largest offering ever sent by The Little Helpers from that church—$39.75. Next to them stands

Woman's Auxiliary.

St. John's, Hampton, under Mrs. Walter B. Hoover, their most competent leader, who sent in Easter cards and money—$38.38. St. Paul's, Norfolk, under their most efficient and active leader, Mrs. Albert C. Surpell, have more than doubled their membership and sent the largest offering in years—$18.61.

St. Thomas, Bedford county, under the leadership of Miss Louisa Burks, has done a wonderful work. Her little branch of twelve children sent $17.65. Trinity, Staunton, under Mrs. Walter B. Hulihen's noble leadership, sends $16.74, the largest offering ever sent by that branch. The Abingdon Branch, under their splendid leader, Mrs. L. Norvell Lee, has largely increased its membership and its offering, and sends to missions $14.11.

The Williamsburg Branch, under Mrs. Van F. Garrett and Mrs. George Coleman, from ten children, send $12.72, an average of over a dollar apiece. St. Stephen's Chapel, Port Norfolk, under Miss H. S. Etheridge, has raised its membership to nineteen, and send $12.78 to missions. This work has been accomplished through the prayers and untiring efforts of their consecrated leader. So all around we have signs of encouragement.

Dear little Susie McBryde Grinnard, of Columbia, South Carolina, sent to the branch a voluntary offering of $4.53, the largest amount sent this year by any child. And dear little John Lloyd, Jr., a grandson of Archdeacon and Mrs. John Lloyd, sends us, as an individual gift to missions, $2.50, for which we all unite in thanking them.

Many officers and branches not mentioned did consecrated, faithful work, and I feel have their records on high.

Thanking each officer and parent, and the dear Little Helpers, for their offering and labor, in His name, and earnestly praying God to bless and keep you all,

Respectfully submitted,

MARY WINDER GARRETT,

President of The Little Helpers Auxiliary Southern Virginia.

Williamsburg, Va., May 30, 1912.
