PROCEEDINGS

The Fifteenth Annual Meeting of the Tennessee Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Board of Missions was held in St. Luke's Church, Jackson, on Tuesday, May 13, 1902. The day began with the Holy Communion at half past ten, and a sermon by the Reverend Alex. Coffin, rector of the parish, from the text, "As my Father hath sent me, even so send I you."

The business meeting began at three o'clock, the President, Mrs. John Shortridge, in the chair. Owing to the much-regretted absence of the Treasurer, Mrs. B. W. Barnwell, of Se- wanee, was appointed to assist the Secretary. Respectfully submitted,

KATE P. GALE,

Diocesan Treasurer.

The communications read were a letter of thanks from a clergyman in Virginia and an appeal from the Church Home and Hospital, Orlando, Florida, and the delegates were requested to put the needs of this institution before their respective branches.

Before taking the pledges for the coming year, the President announced that the period of the Quintard scholarship in China had expired, and the opinions of delegates as to the renewing of it were solicited. Mrs. W. E. Norvell of Christ Church, Nashville, moved that the scholarship should be renewed, and the motion being seconded by Mrs. Gailor of the Cathedral Branch, the vote was put to the house and the motion carried.

Then the following pledges were made:

After the business had been dispatched, Mrs. Norvell, of Christ Church, Nashville, gave an interesting account of the Triennial Meeting in San Francisco, and emphasized the fact that the Auxiliary is composed of women who have received much in the way of opportunities and of those as well who have received little. After the singing of a hymn, the Lord's Prayer was said in unison and the meeting was adjourned.

On Wednesday afternoon an informal meeting was held at the residence of Mrs. Murray, where the attendance was most encouraging. The first business before the meeting was the reorganization of the Jackson Branch, with a membership of thirteen women.

The different delegates were then asked to give an account of the workings of their home branches, and most of the talks were hopeful and enthusiastic.

It was unanimously voted that the regrets of the Tennessee Branch should be expressed to Mrs. K. P. Gale on the intelligence of her resignation as Treasurer, and the following resolution was drawn up by the appointed committee:

Resolved, That the officers and members of the Tennessee Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary, learn with keen regret of the resignation of Mrs. K. P. Gale, Treasurer, who feels compelled to give up the active work, and we desire to record our appreciation of her faithful and efficient discharge of the duties of the office which she held for seven years, and to express the hope that we may continue to have the benefit of her counsel and intelligent co-operation in the plans and purposes of the Woman's Auxiliary, which have been so dear to her.

E. M. NORVELL,
F. O. BARNWELL, Committee.

There being no further business, the afternoon ended with a pleasant social hour and the delegates adjourned to meet next year in Memphis.

DEANE S. DUBOSE.

SECRETARY'S REPORT

Meeting as we do today, for mutual help and the inspiration which comes from personal intercourse with those who are striving for the same object, we must look back over the year just passed, to see how we can profit by its failures or its successes. You will see by the report of work done that there is a decided advance over the year preceding, and some of the branches have almost doubled their efforts, and yet there are several others which reveal a lack of zeal and enthusiasm. We need more women who feel a personal responsibility for the spread of the kingdom. In some of our small parishes which are removed from other parishes it is hard to gain the interest of the women, and yet there are some whose zeal does not flag, even when there is no one near to encourage. I have recently received a letter from one such woman, who feels that she cannot revive a feeble branch, but she still considers herself a member of the Auxiliary, and we must feel that her interest will surely enlist that of others. Are we keeping up with the efforts of those who are in the mission fields? If we are, we cannot fail to see that more earnest prayer and more liberal gifts are needed now than ever before. The field of labor has been greatly enlarged, and there is need of laborers and of those who will uphold them, in their labors. To those who are working singly and without the encouragement of helpers the word comes to be strong in faith; to those who are members of small or weak parishes and to those who represent the strongest ones, let the accomplishments of the past incite us to greater effort, that none of us shall lack a share in the work which we have been called to do.

DEANE S. DUBOSE.

In submitting this modest report, may I be allowed to address a few words to the officers and members of the Woman's Auxiliary whose enthusiastic interest and energetic support in this beautiful but little understood department of their own work I earnestly solicit. In giving an account of its progress during the year it has been my privilege to have charge of it, I wish first to mention the difficulties which I have encountered and which prevent the Babies' Branch from being the power it should be in the missionary work of the Diocese. Perhaps it may seem somewhat discouraging to speak first of difficulties, but in facing obstacles courageously and cheerfully, in dwelling on what still remains to be accomplished, rather than on what has been accomplished, lies the hope for growth and development in any work. Briefly stated and striking to the root of the matter, the almost total ignorance of most of the clergy and the great majority of the Woman's Auxiliary in regard to this department of what is, or should be, the latter's own work, is the thing which it is most vital to overcome. I wish therefore to make a most earnest appeal to the Parish officers of the Woman's Auxiliary to lend, at least, a willing and interested ear to information in regard to the aims and organization of the Babies' Branch and to give their aid in planting it in Parishes where the former already exists. Above everything do I wish the fact to be emphasized that it is in as far as it is anything at all, an inherent part of the Woman's Auxiliary. If it is permissible for me to touch upon a point which is out of my province I should like to submit to the careful consideration of the Diocesan officers of the Woman's and Junior Auxiliary the advisability of an attempt to organize at the same time a Woman's Junior and Babies' Branch in Parishes where none of the three is established—say by a joint circular letter soliciting the approval of the Rector and his appointment of some women likely to undertake the work as Parish officers. Only by some such co-operation, it seems to me, can we work up to the full conception and ideal of this noble organization. As a further practical illustration of what I mean by the full co-operation of these three departments, let me suggest that in the effort either to organize or to enlarge the Woman's Auxiliary in Parishes where the Babies' Branch already exists, the officers of the former follow up the Secretary of the latter, using her little red mite box as an entering wedge. I venture to believe there will be found already created an opening for interest in the work of the Woman's Auxiliary; and thus might be reached many individuals of that class of the indifferent, stragglers, backsliders and lukewarm, whom we all know so well in our Parish life. For, coming to the very bright and hopeful side of the work, very few mothers, no matter how careless, indifferent, or even hardened to the usual calls to religious activities, can resist the appeal to teach some dearly loved little one to devote a few prayers and pennies to spreading the Kingdom of Him Who came into this great world as a tender, helpless little child, and Who makes childlikeness of heart one of the chief qualifications of those who would see Him in His power and glory.

In closing, let me add that the strength of this work—for it is full of power and possibilities as well as of sweetness and beauty—lies in the fact that in its essence it is peculiarly and especially the work of the sower, that noblest of all laborers for the future, who, going so often “on his way weeping, shall doubtless come again with joy and bring his sheaves with him.”

Respectfully submitted,

MRS. WM. C. ROBERTSON,

Diocesan Secretary of the Babies' Branch, 725 Douglas Street, Chattanooga.

Report of St. Mary's League for Work Among the Colored People

MEMPHIS BRANCH

The Memphis Branch of St. Mary's League has a membership of twenty-eight persons. During the past year it has lost three members, one by death and two by resignation, but has gained three active and one honorary members. The average attendance of the meetings has been very good and interest in the work seems to be increasing.

During the year twenty-three white aprons and twenty-six curtains have been furnished and made for the school of St. Mary the Virgin at Nashville and the seven months' scholarship more than paid.

There are five members, viz: Mrs. Gage, Miss Rogers, Mrs. Ensley, Miss Gillisby and Dr. Davenport, who have promised to give five dollars per year towards the scholarship (fifty dollars) for the same school. The success of the coming year's work seems assured.

LILLIAN SMITH, Secretary.
