He reported that the Society had increased its circulation in certain vital areas, particularly in the Armed Forces, but that due to greatly increased expenses, its over-all circulation had only slightly increased over the preceding triennium. He noted that but 1 per cent of the Society's contributions come from the Protestant Episcopal Church and asked that members of the House try to encourage interest in the Society.

The Bishop of Southern Ohio moved the following Memorial:

"The House of Bishops hereby records the happiness which all of our members feel as we welcome Miss Elizabeth McCracken to the sessions of the House during this General Convention. Miss McCracken's attendance at General Conventions began long before any of us became Bishops. She was present at her first General Convention, as a young child, in 1888, when the Chicago Quadrilateral was adopted. In 1895 Miss McCracken, then a young girl in her teens, attended General Convention with her father, a Deputy.

"Since 1904 she has been present, except once when sickness prevented, at almost every General Convention. For over thirty years she has sat with us in the House of Bishops as the official representative of The Living Church. Her reports on the procedures and actions of the House of Bishops have made an important contribution not only to the House, but to the whole Church. Miss McCracken's keen insight, her knowledge of the Church and a vast number of its members, her fair minded approach to every question, and her honest reporting of everything about which she wrote, have never wavered.

"While our respect for Miss McCracken is very great, our affection for her is greater. Her friendship, expressed in the encouragement she has given many of us, and in the kindly, though penetrating, rebuke or criticism given to some of us, has been a blessing for which we are most grateful.

"To you, our counsellor and longstanding companion in the House of Bishops, we, your friends, express our thankfulness that you are again present with us in the House this year, and we congratulate you on this 70th Anniversary of your first attendance at a General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America of which you have been so devoted and loyal a member. May God bless and keep you always."

The Bishop of Central New York, for the Committee on Memorials and Petitions, offered the following resolution as a substitute for the Diocese of Olympia resolution concerning the personalizing of missionary effort:

Whereas, The problem of relating the Dioceses and Parishes more closely to the actual work of our overseas missionaries has repeatedly produced proposals for the adoption of a missionary by a Parish or for the assumption by a Diocese for responsibility in a certain missionary field, but while the National Council, after due investigation, has found it heretofore impossible to carry out such proposals, the very fact that they are constantly pressed reveals an abiding desire for a more intimate contact between the people of the Church at home and the workers in the field. Accordingly, your Committee reports the Resolution of the Diocese of Olympia, in the form of a companion resolution to that just adopted to this effect:

Resolved, That the abiding problem of "personalizing overseas missionary work" (referred to above) be referred to the National Council in the confident hope that it will find some way of complying with the principles, at least in some token project.

On motion of the Bishop of Southern Ohio, the House adopted the following Memorial:

"We, the members of the House of Bishops, hereby record our thankfulness and joy that Diocesan status has been granted to the Missionary District of North Texas by action of this General Convention.

"Furthermore we wish to express our congratulations to the Bishop of Northwest Texas, his Clergy, and the members of the Church in his Diocese. North Texas was created as a Missionary District at the 1910 General Convention. Former Bishops have labored hard and long to insure the fine progress made through the years toward Diocesan status. Countless Clergy and Lay people through 50 years have made great contributions without which the present action could not have been achieved. We note that since 1946, the number of Clergy and Parishes have almost tripled; the number of communicants has more than doubled; Church School pupils have increased four-fold; the endowments have skyrocketed from $7,000 to $550,000; the District budget has increased from $6,000 to $113,000; and the missionary contributions to the General Church which totaled $2,750 ten years ago are now about $20,000.

"These clear evidences of remarkable progress are proof of the enthusiasm, loyalty and determination of the Bishop, Clergy and Church members of North Texas. We know the road which has been traveled has not been an easy one, and that the goal chosen could not have been achieved without much hard work, great readiness for sacrifice on the part of many, and widespread and effective team work on the part of the Bishop of North Texas and his people. An important victory has been won, and we rejoice with those who have won it:

"To our Brother in this House, George Quarterman, we express our thanks for the leadership he has given the Church in North Texas, and assure him that he will have our best wishes and prayers both now as the Diocese of Northwest Texas is being born, and in the future as his Diocese continues the fine progress which enabled it to achieve its new status."

On motion of the Bishop of Nevada, the following resolution was adopted:

"Resolved, We the members of the House of Bishops, hereby record our grateful rejoicing that Diocesan status has been granted to the Missionary District of Arizona by this Convention.

"Moreover, we would congratulate the Bishop of Arizona, his forty-three (43) clergy and his faithful people. We note that Arizona emerged from the depression to the war with a population of about a half-million souls, and in thirteen (13) years increased to a population of a million and a quarter. In this critical era of expansion, the Church's membership grew even faster than the population. 3,500 communicants in 1945 became 11,800 in 1958, divided among 18 parishes and 26 missions. This splendid growth of numbers is reflected in the financial achievements of these devoted churchmen. A diocesan Expansion Fund of $447,500. has been raised. $13,500. is available in a special bequest and these sums have been added to previously existing endowments of $100,000. Another $80,000. is pledged and will be collected by the first of 1960."
"Such an achievement in numbers and in resources provides vivid evidence of the exceptional dedication of the Bishop of Arizona, the devoted work of his clergy and the evangelical loyalty of the people. By any standards we know this must be counted success in the service of God, and all who hear of it should be encouraged and inspired by this example.

“Our beloved brother in this House, Arthur Kinsolving, will be the first to insist that this accomplishment is the work of God and his fellow workers in parishes and missions; but we would express to him personally our appreciation and loving gratitude for his leadership in the undertaking and we would assure him of our continuing prayers and best wishes for Bishop, clergy and people in the final steps of organization and in the still greater opportunities for the Service of God and His children which lie before the Diocese of Arizona in the future. May they go forward with God.”

The Bishop of Arizona and the Bishop of North Texas each thanked their brother Bishops for support and encouragement, and the Convention for the action taken.

The Bishop of North Queensland, Australia, addressed the House, speaking particularly on the matter of Christian stewardship. He thanked the American Church for its leadership in this respect and expressed the hope that the rest of the Anglican Communion would follow the example of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

On motion of the Bishop of Erie the House adopted the following resolution:

WHEREAS, In fulfilling its function, the Committee on the Admission of New Dioceses was perplexed by the problem of the aided Diocese; and

WHEREAS, It is stated in the Home Department Budget and Program Report that at present grants are made to the aided Diocese on the ground that it has a “missionary problem of so great a magnitude that the local jurisdiction cannot completely support it in the immediate future”; and

WHEREAS, It is the opinion of the Committee that there is some doubt as to whether certain present allocations come strictly under the category stated; therefore be it

Resolved, That the National Council be requested to review the basis on which funds are allocated to Dioceses with the objective of eliminating any grants which do not fulfill the condition described by the Home Department report; and be it further

Resolved, That this House requests that a report of this study be given at the next meeting of the House of Bishops.

THE PASTORAL LETTER
Issued by the House of Bishops, October 17, 1958

In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost

DEAR BRETHREN IN CHRIST:

This letter is written against the background of our unforgettable experience at the recent Lambeth Conference. For forty days we had, once again, the privilege of meeting with bishops of the Anglican Communion from many parts of the world. We came from every continent, were members of every race and many nations, and revealed in our fellowship, not only the encouraging growth of our Communion, but also that it is part of the Holy Catholic Church which includes members of every race and nation. We saw anew, against the background of the world's terrible divisions, the oneness of mankind in Christ; we saw that "in Christ there is no East or West"; we saw that only a world body, freed from the passions and enmities that divide men, can bring a healing and reconciling word to our world. The Lambeth Conference was a symbol of that unity toward which the whole world groans and travails.

The most urgent and frightening fact in our world is the terrible divisiveness setting men against men: rival nationalisms, opposing philosophies, competing economic systems, and fierce racial tensions. An old order is vanishing and a new order is struggling in pain to be born. In this fierce competition and contest for one solution or another all mankind is swept along. As we dealt with these divisions in our Lambeth deliberations we recognized the stubborn depths of the problem, the passionate fears and resentments that divide men. We recognized that we in America share this common world problem; for America is divided, not only by deep racial tensions, but by the breakdown of communication between those of different convictions, sometimes even between clergy and people. Since wholeness is health; since division is sorrow and sickness; since this terrible world division can mean death, we write to you on the subject of unity and reconciliation. We do so with a great sense of urgency, not to tell you what to do in your specific situations, but rather to share with you five great truths that will help us all to act more truly wherever we may be.

THE CREATIVE MEETING OF SOULS

First, even if no report had been issued by Lambeth, it would still have been a notable experience; for at the Conference we lived with one another under the same roof, broke bread together, prayed beside one another, and knelt side by side at the Holy Communion. We enjoyed the deepest fellowship.

In our world's travail toward unity we would remind you that there is nothing that can take the place of this face to face meeting, this deep fellowship, this communion of souls. It is tragically easy to treat other people as "things" and without personal acquaintance to forget that all mankind desires, needs, hopes, and fears the same things. The meeting of others is a creative experience, giving to each the knowledge of our common humanity, lifting us out of our private worlds, giving us the humbling knowledge that often our proudest thoughts are not true but the slanted thinking of our particular group, and thus making us more open to God's purposes for us.

Because real meeting elevates the soul and purifies the mind, we ask you, as Christian people, amid all the tensions and divisions of our world, to meet and know and listen to your brethren of other races and groups. It was Archbishop William Temple who said that if any man thinks in terms of the common good and seeks the common good, he is a converted man. But such thinking and acting can come only as we rise above our particular groups by a first hand knowledge of, and deep fellowship with, those who are our brethren in Christ. It was not simply Lambeth which represented mankind; our own Episcopal Church has within its fellowship rich and poor, white and Negro, Orientals, Indians, and Latin Americans. Meet and know your brethren in Christ.

THE SACREDNESS OF LAW

Secondly, since Lambeth Palace is close to the Houses of Parliament, many of us were led to reflect anew on the meaning of law and government. In Christian thought government is a structure appointed by God for the common good. Its function and responsibility is to care for the outer order and framework of our common life. We, all, need to be protected. We need the orderly and impartial administration of justice for the protection of our property, our safety, and our hard-won rights.

St. Paul recognized this when he appealed to Caesar, and when in the Epistle to the Romans he wrote, the powers that be are ordained by God. The law is a minister of God for good. It is God's instrument. It makes civilized life possible, and enables us to live together in peace. It restrains our selfishness and wildness, and, while it cannot change our hearts, it does provide the indispensable outer framework of our unity.

The people of this land do not need to be reminded at this moment of the evils of tyranny, but we do need to be reminded now of the evils of anarchy. Anarchy, the absence of law and order, is a greater evil than tyranny, and leads to tyranny. Anarchy is the absence of order; tyranny is an order of sorts. It is for this reason that Christians are taught to honor government and to pray for all Christian Rulers, that they may truly and impartially administer justice, to the punishment of wickedness and vice. Without that outer framework of order no unity is possible, and any man who seeks to undermine the rule of impartial justice is inviting disaster for the nation. It is only for the gravest and clearest principle of conscience relating to a serious moral issue that one may contemplate civil disobedience. And, because all order is at stake, such disobedience can only be justified when it is based on a higher ethical principle than the law represents. Never, is it right when the disobedience is the expression of a lower ethical standard than the law would enforce. We call upon you, therefore, at this time to honor and obey the laws of this land.

God's Judgment Upon Our Divisions

Thirdly, we saw vividly at Lambeth the judgment of God upon all our divisions and conflicts. This judgment is a great fact that concerns us all and because of which we all will suffer. The judgment of God; what is it? It is not some extraneous power falling upon us with no relationship to our behavior. It is not the capricious will of an arbitrary tyrant. It is not the opinion of bishops. It is not a quotation from the Bible.

God's judgment is the response of a just God to the offences of mankind against His loving will. It is the inevitable result we bring upon ourselves when we move against the grain of His universe. It is the inevitable result of our inner contradictions. It is God frustrating our purposes when we oppose His will. This judgment is as real as God is, and as powerful, for it is God Himself seeing our sins and acting in history to accomplish His will in spite of our sins. You will find the judgments of God reported in your daily newspaper, in the events of history, in the clash and contradiction of rival ambitions and fears, in the hatred and suspicion we earn when we fail to deal justly with those with whom we share this narrow world.

We must remember that the majority of mankind belong to the colored races, and that the American racial problem is discussed the world over. Much of the good will which early missionaries gained has been lost. Much of the good will which our nation once enjoyed has been lost. If America continues to lose friends as others become convinced that we do not mean what we say about justice and equality, the reason will be obvious. The judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether. These judgments are the plain cost we pay in God's universe for not practicing what we preach, and for not being ready to grant to others the opportunity and equality we cherish for ourselves.

Two strong motives, therefore, should drive us to our duty. One is the love for all men which the Holy Spirit pours into our hearts, the Divine Spirit that urges us toward unity. But if our hearts are sometimes dull, let us then do the will of God because the fear of His judgment grips our hearts. Imprint upon our hearts, says the Prayer Book, such a dread of thy judgments, and such a grateful sense of thy goodness to us, as may make us both afraid and ashamed to offend thee. This is God's world, and He punishes us together as we move against His will. If Africa and Asia should turn finally against us, it could well be because the colored races became convinced they must look elsewhere for justice. It is only when we lift our eyes from our immediate problems to see God's reign, His grace and wrath, that we think and act truly.

The Light of Reason

Fourthly, it must be evident to all that as more than three hundred bishops at Lambeth debated the deepest problems of the day—racial and group tension, nuclear warfare, the problems of the family—that these debates were often charged with the deepest emotion. But our unity was never threatened, because we built, not chiefly on emotion, but on the calm and clear light of reason. Voices were not raised, arguments were never personal, and our fellowship, therefore, was never threatened.

The divisions of this world, national, class, and racial, always are accompanied by deep emotion. But emotion on these subjects, as we can observe in many American communities, is deeply divisive. Indeed, in some communities unity is an impossibility because people have in their emotional blocks lost the ability to communicate one with another. If we built on emotion, the end is conflict.

We need to give a larger place to the liberating, manly, and noble quality of reason. Of course we share with the rest of God's creation the emotional drives of life: fear, rage, and hunger. But part of what the Bible means when it speaks of our being made in God's image is that we can reason. By the calm, impersonal, unifying process of shared thought we are set free from the control of passion to find one another and the commonwealth of humanity. If we carefully search for truth, we will be led together to God, who is the source of all truth.

Let us not think that like children we can shout down other people and their wishes and interests. They are not ghosts, nor children to be frightened away. There is only one way for free men to overcome conflict, and that is by talking together in reasonable self-control, and thus finding a third way which will lead to peace. Christians who believe in the God who is the source of all truth ought to be the first ones to claim this privilege of reason.

Therefore, we ask everyone in this nation to keep his voice down, his arguments impersonal, and to recognize "the stubborn depths of the problem, the passionate fears and resentments that divide men." We ask everyone to recognize that reason and not emotion will unite our torn communities, that discussion must be carried on by all without any note of superiority or servility, and that when we confront one another, we are to do so in a brotherly fashion.

WE ARE THE PEOPLE OF THE CHURCH

Finally, we speak about the Church, to which, by God's mercy, we all belong. We are the Church's people; but the Church is not ours. It is God's creation, the body of which Jesus Christ is the Head and all baptized people are the members. Nobody can destroy it, for it is built on a rock and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. Our Lord Christ is mankind's one true hope of unity, for by one Spirit are we all baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we be bond or free. By His redeeming love Christ has broken down the middle wall of partition between us, and has made us one in Him. And He has given us the honor of sharing that unity, and of continuing His reconciling work. The Church, when it truly understands itself, is thus the reconciling community in the life of the national community. And every parish or mission, however small, is the great Church at work in its neighborhood, a manifestation at the local level of the all-embracing love of Christ and of the world fellowship revealed in part at Lambeth.

In our world, as St. Paul wrote, two spirits contend one with another for the hearts of men. The first spirit is the self-centered spirit of man leading inevitably to hatred and division. The cries of "my class", "my race", "my clan" rend the world community. This is the spirit of the world; the spirit of pride, exclusiveness, and separation. Now the works of the flesh, says the Apostle, are . . . hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies.

The other Spirit, ever guiding the Church (as we saw at Lambeth and know from this Convention) is the Spirit of God drawing men together. It is this Holy Spirit who leads us to love our brethren, who humbles our spirits as they are convicted of sin, who leads us to a unity not of our making. This Spirit raises us above self to see God's will and plan for all men. It is the Spirit of humility, of inclusiveness, and of love ever warring against our hard hearts. In our work of reconciliation we must never think of ourselves as alone, but always as guided and sustained by Christ Himself present and working in our midst. But the fruit of the Spirit, says St. Paul, is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance. . . . If we live in the Spirit, let us walk in the Spirit.

We have spoken about five great truths that can help us to see and do God's will wherever we may be: The creative meeting of souls, the sacredness of law, God's judgment on our divisions, the light of reason, and the membership we share together in the Church guided by the Spirit.

We said at the beginning that we were not attempting to tell anybody what to do in his specific situation. Provided they have a true perspective, we believe that God's children are quite able to make the necessary, creative decisions which are part of our reconciling task. If we suffer in that endeavor, count it always a privilege to suffer for God and His truth. Care for your souls, brethren, amid the passions and prejudices of our day, and remember that truth alone is strong.

In order that there may be some clear understanding of what would be required by way of study, examination, and time in the case of a perpetual deacon going on to the priesthood, the following principles are proposed:

1. In the first place it is presumed that the demand for such will be rare, and should be entertained by the Bishop only after careful scrutiny as to necessity and motives. The very first statement in Section 10 of Canon 34 contains the words “with no intention of seeking advancement to the priesthood.” This being the case any undue number of requests for such advancement would give us pause as to the stability of the Order. However, it is recognized that such a call of God could come to a perpetual deacon, and it seems important that we be prepared to deal with it.

2. Canon 34, Sec. 10 (e) says, “Any Deacon ordained in accordance with this Section who may afterward desire to be advanced to the Priesthood shall be required to pass all examinations required of other Candidates for the priesthood and to comply with all other canonical requirements precedent to such ordination.” In intent this means that he goes back to the beginning of his preparation for the ministry as if he had never been ordained deacon. What this means needs some definition.

3. This would seem to start at the point of admission to candidacy (Canon 26). If the person making the request cannot present a proper college degree, he must follow the provisions of examination as prescribed in Canon 26, Sec. 5 (b and c). It is presumed these examinations after some form were taken before admission to the perpetual diaconate. But it would seem wise for the Bishop to request the Board of Examining Chaplains to review the applicant's status and to recommend further study and additional examination if they see fit.

4. Another thing that would seem to be of value at this point would be a review of the applicant's state of health, physical and mental. Therefore, any Canon on this subject should include a medical and psychiatric examination.

5. After these matters are in order, the Bishop may accept the application of the perpetual deacon for the right to be advanced to the priesthood. From the date of such acceptance two years shall elapse before the applicant may be ordained. He shall spend at least one of these years as a special student in a theological seminary to which the Bishop shall assign him.
6. He shall be required to pass examinations in the full agenda of the Canon 29 on the "Normal Standard of Learning and Examination of Candidates for Holy Orders," as prescribed in Sec. (1) of that Canon.

Resolved, That the above program of preparation for ordination to the priesthood on the part of a perpetual deacon be endorsed by this House.

On motion of the Bishop of Connecticut it was referred to the Joint Commission on Theological Education, together with the request that the Joint Commission on Theological Education make a study on Church pensions as they affect perpetual deacons who are interested in being priested.

The Bishop of Washington presented the statement of the Committee on The Pastoral, which on motion duly adopted was referred back to the Committee.

The House went into Executive Session at 5:00 p.m.

The Bishop of Honolulu reported on work being done among communicants of our Church in Formosa.

The Presiding Bishop reported on his two recent trips abroad.

The House rose.

On motion, the House adjourned at 5:45 p.m.

POCONO MANOR, PENNSYLVANIA.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1956.

The House met at 10:00 a.m. after Devotions, the Bishop of Salina reading a Lesson from Holy Scripture.

The Secretary read a summary of the Minutes of the session of the previous day, which were accepted.

The Chair called for the Special Order of the Day.

The Bishop of Washington reported for the Committee on The Pastoral. He moved the adoption of the statement of the Committee. It was adopted.

The Bishop in charge of the American Churches in Europe moved the adoption of a resolution that the House of Bishops reconsider its previous order that it not issue a Pastoral in 1957 and that it issue the statement presented by the Committee on The Pastoral as The Pastoral Letter of this House. The motion was adopted.

The Secretary announced the appointment by the Chair of the following as the committee to study work being done among the deaf:

The Suffragan Bishop of Central New York.
The Suffragan Bishop of Maryland.
The Suffragan Bishop of Pennsylvania.
The Suffragan Bishop of Massachusetts.

The Bishop of South Florida presented the following statement on the Armed Forces and moved its adoption:

The House of Bishops rejoices over the widespread interest among our people concerning the ministry to those in the Armed Forces, an interest evidenced in part by the continuing discussion of the need or desirability of electing a Suffragan Bishop to be in charge of the work of our Chaplains. Needless to say we too have concern that our people in service have every opportunity possible to receive the ministrations of the Church. We too recognize the missionary opportunity offered by the millions of young people now on duty in the Armed Forces of the United States.

In preparation for the 1956 meeting of the House of Bishops the Chairman of the Armed Forces Division wrote to each of the some 100 Chaplains on active duty asking him to express his mind on the need for an Armed Forces Bishop. In passing it is interesting to note that 69 replies were received. Of these 4 expressed no opinion, 25 desired to have a Military Bishop elected, 40 voted "No" to the question, "Do you favor the House of Bishops electing a Bishop for the Armed Forces?"

More than three score suggestions were made about the chief responsibilities and concerns of such a Bishop, the help he might give to the individual Chaplain, and the ways in which he might improve and advance the ministry of the Episcopal Church to those in service. The many suggestions do reveal felt needs.

To have a Bishop for the Armed Forces would appear to recognize the value of the Chaplain's work, provide him psychological support, and in general enhance the prestige of the Chaplaincy. For those conscious of rank, his office and title would enable the Suffragan to wield more influence than the Bishop Chairman of the Armed Forces Division or the Executive Secretary. In a position to understand the Chaplains' problems he could be more truly a Father-in-God and pastor to them.

With these needs the members of the House of Bishops, many of whom have served as Chaplains, have sincere sympathy. However, in our considered judgment the present organization can better meet these needs than one Bishop with entire responsibility could. We have a Bishop for the Armed Forces in the Far East, the Bishop of Honolulu. We have a Bishop for the Armed Forces in Europe, the Bishop in charge of the American Churches in Europe. Both of these are former Army Chaplains. We have four Bishops in the Armed Forces Division, all former Chaplains, who are willing and able to make occasional visitations. We have two experienced Chaplains as Secretaries to take care of administrative, personnel, and counselling problems.

One man, even a Bishop giving full time, cannot better meet all of the needs or solve all of the problems incident to the ministry of the Church in the Armed Forces. Indeed a Military Bishop might weaken our work by seeming to relieve the Bishops, clergy, and laity of the Church of their responsibility in this important and widespread ministry. Now every Bishop has the pastoral responsibility to the military installations in his jurisdiction and the priests of every cure, indeed every congregation has an immediate responsibility to those of the local fellowship now away in the service.

To the suggestion that the office of a Bishop indicates rank in a military sense we can only reply that such an understanding is foreign to the Church's conception of a Chief Pastor. To seek by pressure or by influence ends not attainable on merit is to adopt the mores of the world that stand condemned by Him who "came not to be ministered unto, but to minister."

Those now serving in the Army, Navy, Marines, or Air Force, whether officers or enlisted men, are for the most part civilians on active duty. Our aim is not to establish a Military Branch of the Church but to strengthen the ties of those in military service with the fellowship of the Church in local congregations both at home and where possible in the areas where they may be stationed.

To establish such a permanent Bishopric would seem to be contrary to our Catholic and Anglican tradition. The office of a Bishop indicates territorial jurisdiction. If we elect and consecrate a man for this office it will be permanent, at least until he reaches the age for canonical retirement. We might well be initiating a dangerous precedent in electing and consecrating a Bishop to serve any special interest group save as a temporary expedient in a time of grave emergency. This is said knowing that the Church of England has recently appointed a Military Bishop. But the Church of England is the established Church and as a result has more official standing and can wield larger influence than the Episcopal Church can, accepting as we do the principle of the separation of Church and State. Moreover their practice of the appointment and translation of Bishops makes possible the incumbent's immediate reassignment whenever it seems advisable.

We who have had experience in the office and work of a Bishop, who have the responsibility for the care of all the churches, and all churchmen, are sincere in our belief that the election of a Bishop for the Armed Forces is neither necessary nor expedient at the present time.

THE BISHOP OF PENNSYLVANIA.
THE BISHOP OF SOUTH FLORIDA.
THE BISHOP OF WESTERN NEW YORK.
THE BISHOP OF MINNESOTA.

Adopted by the House.
The Suffragan Bishop of Louisiana presented the following resolution of thanks to all those who helped make this meeting of the House of Bishops so successful:

DEARLY BELOVED BRETHREN:

The tragic international events of the past few weeks have filled our hearts with outrage, misgivings, and perplexity—outrage at the ruthless slaughter and enslavement of the Hungarian people by the tyranny of Russia; misgivings over the unilateral action taken by the contending interests in the Middle East; and the perplexity shared by so many men as they grope for a solution which will not lead to total war. We know that all Christian men and women share this outrage, these misgivings, and this perplexity; and, for our guidance, we hold these truths to light our path.

First, remember that in the Christian tradition government, while it can be abused, is a divine ordinance. In a small community or a large nation there can be no order without government and no liberty without a common obedience. The same reasoning applies to the international scene. There it is also true that without the power of government, without common obedience to authority, there is no liberty. The opposite of order is disorder; and international disorder is anarchy, and even war. With all its inadequacies and imperfections we believe that Christians are called to give their fullest support to the United Nations, the only semblance of world government we possess. Let it be strengthened so that it can maintain order; let its servants with their awful responsibility be steadily in our prayers; and let the order it stands for be clear in our minds. As always in the affairs of men, the only answer to the anarchy of unilateral action is common action built on a community of interest. Above our turmoil and unrest God reigns, and government to express community of interest and to maintain order is a clear part of His sovereign will. Let us be bold and persistent in working for that government on the international scene.

Secondly, wherever we may be, we can pray, remembering that Jesus, our great High Priest, is ever making intercession for us, and offering His life for all mankind. Since as individuals there may not be much we can do to influence decisions in the United Nations or in our own government, our chief work in all our parishes and missions must be to pray for the men who have the decisions to make, for the people who will pay for these decisions with their lives, for justice, and for the peace of the world. Pray regularly; pray with all your heart. Pray for the people of Hungary in their anguish; pray for all captive souls; pray that tyranny may be broken. Pray, lifting all your bewilderment to the Throne of God; pray without despair, knowing that God hears; pray without ceasing, knowing that this is the greatest work of the Church, and that "more things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of."

Thirdly, remember that the free world must stand together, and that our present precarious alliance can be maintained only by the deepest understanding and sympathy. The harsh judgments of the self-righteous against the unilateral action of others must be softened by the knowledge of our own sins and short-comings. Applied to the international scene, it is a profound Christian truth that self-righteous people are hard and blind, and that relationships can be maintained only as we are able to forgive because we too need forgiveness. We believe that unilateral action is dangerous and to be avoided, but let us face honestly, for example, what the people of the United States would be tempted to do if our interests in the Panama Canal were threatened. The relationship of mutual respect and trust must be strengthened in the free world, or comfort will be given to world Communism, and the hope of mankind darkened. Without the humility, based upon our common need for forgiveness, that relationship and understanding are impossible.

Finally, there are three immediate duties that lie before each of us. (a) We can by our generous gifts do all we can to alleviate the enormous suffering of the brave Hungarian people, and by such gifts identify ourselves with them. (b) We can support President Eisenhower and the decision of our Church, taken in convention after convention, pledging full support to the United Nations, by expressing our concern that effective power be given to that body. And (c) we can remember that our own racial divisions and misunderstandings at home are part of the same sad story of division which we see on the international scene. Since the world is one, what we do at home with our divisions and misunderstandings is reflected for our own good or ill among the nations of the earth. It is the will of God that every member of the Church exercise his reconciling ministry in the community in which he lives, that every member seek to create fellowship by breaking down the barriers and suspicions that divide us. Let the sincerity of our prayers for justice, freedom and peace be tested by the action we are willing to take on the local scene. We can pray for world peace and for the abating of tensions in the middle East; we can pray for freedom and justice for our Hungarian brethren; but in our own communities we can lift our hearts in prayer and fulfill our prayers by reconciling word and effective action.

The roll was called and it was found that 106 Bishops, being more than a quorum, were present.

The House stood while the Secretary read the names of those Bishops who had passed away since the last meeting of the House of Bishops, to wit:

The Bishops recently consecrated and not yet presented, were now presented to the House, to wit:

The Bishop of Southwestern Brazil, the Rt. Rev. Plinio Lauer Simoes, S.T.D., was presented by the Vice President of the National Council, the Rt. Rev. John Boyd Bentley, D.D., and the Bishop of Southern Brazil.

The Bishop of Idaho, the Rt. Rev. Norman Landon Foote, S.T.D., was presented by the Bishop of West Missouri and the Bishop of San Joaquin.

The Bishop Coadjutor of Indianapolis, the Rt. Rev. John Pares Craine, D.D., was presented by the Bishop of Western New York and the Bishop of Georgia.

The Bishop Coadjutor of Sacramento, the Rt. Rev. Clarence Rupert Haden, Jr., D.D., was presented by the Bishop of Los Angeles and the Bishop of West Texas.

The Chair announced with deep regret that it had received communications stating that Bishop Scarlett, Bishop McElwain, the Bishop of Northern Michigan and the Bishop of Eau Claire were ill and would be unable to attend this meeting.

A resolution that sympathetic greetings of the House be sent these members was adopted.
A resolution that the House send its warm and affectionate greetings to the Rt. Rev. Henry St. George Tucker was also adopted.

The Chair announced that due to the illness of Bishop Scarlett and his inability to conduct the Quiet Day on Sunday, as scheduled, for the wives of the Bishops, they would meet with the House of Bishops and participate in a joint Quiet Day, which would be led by the Bishop of California, the Vice Chairman of the House.

The Chair called upon the Chancellor of the University of the South (the Bishop of South Carolina), the Bishop of Tennessee, and the Vice Chancellor of the University of the South (Dr. Edward McCrady), who brought warm greetings from the University of the South.

The Secretary presented the resignation of the Bishop of Western Massachusetts, under Canon 43, Sec. 8 (a), to take place on Thanksgiving Day, 1957, which was referred to the Committee on Resignations of Bishops.

The Chair asked the Committee on Foreign Missions to meet directly following the Session of the House in order that adequate consideration might be given to the election of Missionary Bishops for the Missionary Districts of Mexico, the Philippines and Central America.

The Presiding Bishop read a letter from the Bishop of Grahamstown, South Africa, in which was set forth an interpretation of the Native Laws Amendment Act as it affects the Church and is now operating in the Union of South Africa, and asked that the Protestant Episcopal Church remember in its prayers the problems being encountered by the Church of the Province of South Africa.

The Presiding Bishop reported that in preparation for the Lambeth Conference of 1958 the House had been asked to prepare certain background material for the committees of the Anglican Commissions that will meet at that time.

He stated that due to the shortness of time, he had asked the Rev. Almon R. Pepper, D.D., Director of the Department of Christian Social Relations of the National Council, to consult with people in the Church who could be of assistance, and to prepare a statement on the Family in Contemporary Society in the United States, copies of which have been made available to members of the House who might wish to read it.

A similar request has been made for the same purpose on the subject of the Reconciling of Conflicts between Nations.

The Bishop of Kansas reported on the work that the Liturgical Commission had been doing on Worship and the Prayer Book in preparation for Lambeth.

The Bishop of Kansas also reported on the work of this Commission relative to Prayer Book Studies, stating that material on Collects, Epistles and Gospels for the Black-letter Saints’ Days may be ready by January, 1958. He asked for comments of the House on the same. He also asked concerning requests of the House for the need for such services as those of Deposition, Restoration, Liturgy with respect to the Atom Bomb, etc. Such services could be prepared if the requests warranted.

The Bishop Coadjutor of Virginia reported for the Joint Commission on Approaches to Unity, giving background material that the Commission feels could be used at Lambeth. He also spoke on the Commission’s work since 1948, stating that this had dealt almost exclusively with the Methodist Church. In its approaches to unity it has used as its standard the Faith and Order Statement of 1946. What work has been done with the Methodist Church has been carried out primarily on the top level.

Bishop Nash reported for the American Churches in Europe, setting forth in glowing terms the many problems and the great opportunities open to the Episcopal Church in this work. His report showed vital work being done by its eight churches on the Continent. Some of the problems deal with our relationship to the Church of England and its Chaplains on the Continent as they relate themselves to the two Communions, and whether Anglicanism in this area is for British and Americans only or for all un-churched persons in an ecumenical sense. He concluded his presentation by an appraisal of the work of the Reformed Church in Spain and the Lusitanian Church in Portugal.

The Chair reminded the House that some of the questions presented by Bishop Nash in his appraisal of the European situation would be among those under consideration in subsequent days of the meeting of this House by the Committee of Nine.

The Rt. Rev. R. Bland Mitchell requested that members of the House seek out and autograph the book “Autographs of the Episcopate in the United States of America" which is a treasured possession of the Registrar of the University of the South.

On motion, the House adjourned at 6 p.m.

SEWANEE, TENNESSEE.
SUNDAY, SEPTEMBER 15, 1957.

The House of Bishops met at 7:30 a.m. for the Celebration of the Holy Communion in All Saints' Chapel.

Acting in accordance with the resolution adopted by the House at the 1955 General Convention, a Quiet Day was observed from 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. The Bishop of California, the Vice Chairman of the House, was the leader. His topic for the day was, "The Office and Work of a Bishop in the American Church."

The wives of the Bishops, whose Quiet Day was cancelled because of the illness of their leader, Bishop Scarlett, were invited to join with the House of Bishops for the day.

SEWANEE, TENNESSEE.
MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1957.

The House met at 9:30 a.m., after Devotions, the Bishop Co-adjutor of Sacramento reading a Lesson from Holy Scripture.

The Secretary called the roll of those who had not been present on the previous day and the attendance of 19 additional members was noted.

The Secretary read a summary of the Minutes of the session of the previous day, which were accepted.

The Chairman of the Committee on the Dispatch of Business moved the Order of the Day.

The Bishop of San Joaquin presented the following resolution on behalf of the Committee on Domestic Missions, which was adopted:

WHEREAS, The Domestic Missionary Bishops at their meeting on September 14, 1957, have requested that the House of Bishops take official cognizance of the problems related to Church-wide expansion in the years ahead, looking toward more definite plans at the next General Convention; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Bishops requests the National Council, through the Home and Overseas Departments, to make a study of the needs which face the whole Church and to present to the 1958 General Convention recommendations as to ways and means to meet the needs.

The Presiding Bishop suggested that the members of the House, and in particular the Presidents of the various Provinces, give most careful consideration in the election of members from the Provinces to the National Council. Such members should have a deep knowledge of the Church.

The Bishop of Arizona presented the following resolution regarding the Bishops' Quiet Day, which was adopted:

Resolved, That this House records its gratitude to the Bishop of California for his witness to the Gospel in the meditations delivered on the Quiet Day for the House of Bishops, and that if it be practicable, these meditations be printed or mimeographed and placed in the hands of each Bishop of the Church.

The Bishop of Olympia presented the following resolution concerning the Canterbury Club, which was adopted:

Whereas, The Executive Commission of the National Canterbury Association has urged all Episcopal students, teachers and administrators to join in a nation-wide corporate Communion on the third Wednesday of October of each year, beginning October 16, 1957; therefore be it

Resolved, That this House joins most heartily in this initiation, expresses hope that there will be general acceptance, and urges that the Presiding Bishop appropriately declare this observance as a nation-wide appointment in the Church.

The Bishop of Washington reported for the Committee on the Pastoral Letter. He presented the following resolution, which was adopted:

Resolved, That it is the conviction of the House that it would be unwise to undertake to issue a Pastoral at this Meeting.

He stated that his Committee was looking ahead and working toward the issuance of a Pastoral either on Christian Healing or Racial Integration in the Church and in Society, as directed at the Meeting of the House in 1956, and that there is a strong possibility that a Pastoral on one of these two subjects will be ready for the General Convention in 1958.

The Suffragan Bishop of Long Island reported for the Joint Commission on Church Architecture and the Allied Arts. It is the intention of the Commission to publish a brochure, possibly before the 1958 General Convention, on the subject "Requirements for Church Buildings." The Commission will welcome suggestions by mail within the next month from any members of the House.

The Bishop of Washington reported on the recent North American Conference on Faith and Order, of which he was Chairman, which met at Oberlin, Ohio. Other representatives of our Church at this meeting, the Bishop of Olympia and the Bishop Coadjutor of Virginia, also added their comments.

The Bishop of Pennsylvania introduced the Rev. William G. Pollard, Ph.D., Executive Director of the Institute of Nuclear Studies at Oak Ridge, Tennessee, a member of the Joint Commission on the Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy. Dr. Pollard presented a report for this Commission as follows:

The Joint Commission on the Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy was appointed by action of the General Convention of 1955.

The Commission has held three full meetings of its membership at Washington, D.C., at Oak Ridge, Tennessee, and at Philadelphia, Pa. At Oak Ridge we were briefed on the nature and potentialities of atomic energy by leading scientists of the installation. We were shown a swimming pool research reactor in operation.

We have also consulted the State Department, the Atomic Energy Commission and other government authorities in this field.

Since our thinking early turned towards Japan, we have interviewed and met with the President of St. Paul's University, Tokyo, and other authorities on Japan and the Japanese Church.

There is great need in America for study and understanding by the people of the Church of the constructive purposes inherent in atomic energy. We have come to believe that this understanding can best be achieved not only by a program of study but by the Church taking the lead in actually sharing the potential peaceful blessings of this power.

We feel that the only institutions related to the Episcopal Church possessing facilities and trained personnel to use an atomic research reactor at this time are St. Paul's University and St. Luke's Hospital in Tokyo, Japan. To give a reactor to these Christian institutions for peaceful study, research and medical therapy would be a powerful Christian witness in Japan. For the Christian Church dramatically to take this great new force and use it for good would witness to our concern not only for spiritual well-being but for the total well-being of the whole man. It would further witness to our concern that the whole of God's creation be used for good and for blessing. We, therefore, have decided that immediate steps should be taken outside the budget of the Church to secure funds to give a swimming pool type research reactor to St. Paul's University, Tokyo, equipped with facilities for producing radio-active isotopes for use at St. Luke's Hospital.
This type of reactor cannot be used for military purposes. St. Paul's University will provide housing and all operating costs. Funds for these purposes have been assured from Japanese sources if this reactor is the first to be given a Japanese University. The proposal has been favorably reviewed by the Atomic Energy Commission, and the United States government and is in full accordance with President Eisenhower's program of Atoms for Peace.

We would commend this to the Church for approval and immediate implementation.

He followed this report by a discussion of such a reactor, its great value, from a Christian point of view, to St. Paul's University and St. Luke's Hospital.

The Bishop of Louisiana spoke concerning the gift, to each member of the House, of the book "So Great a Good—a History of the Episcopal Church in Louisiana and of Christ Church Cathedral, 1805–1955" a work of Hodding and Betty W. Carter, which gift has been made possible by friends of the Diocese of Louisiana.

The Bishop of Southern Ohio presented a motion expressing thanks to the Bishop of Louisiana and, through him, to his Diocese, the very great appreciation for the gift of this history, which was adopted.

The Bishop of Pennsylvania reported on the project originated by the late Bishop Keeler of the gift of an organ by the American Church for the Chapel at Lambeth Palace. At the Special Meeting of the House of Bishops in 1956 $3,600 was asked to cover the cost of this gift. Contributions received amounted to $4,260.30. These contributions were forwarded to the Archbishop of Canterbury; the organ has been installed in the Chapel, and will be dedicated during the Lambeth Conference in 1958.

The Bishop of New Hampshire initiated a discussion on the Perpetual Diaconate, asking members of the House concerning its effectiveness as they have seen it in operation. After considerable discussion the Suffragan Bishop of California stated that the resolution on the Perpetual Diaconate adopted at the 1956 Meeting of this House had been under consideration by the Joint Commission on Theological Education, which hoped that a report will be ready for presentation at the 1958 General Convention.

On motion, the House adjourned at 12:30 p.m. to reconvene at 2:30 p.m. in All Saints' Chapel.
The House met at 2:30 p.m. in All Saints' Chapel, the Presiding Bishop in the Chair.

The Presiding Bishop introduced the Rev. Willem A. Visser 't Hooft, General Secretary of the World Council of Churches, who addressed the House on the Ecumenical Movement and the part that the Anglican Communion has taken in it.

Dr. Visser 't Hooft stated that we have often heard the quotation of Archbishop Temple "that the Ecumenical Movement is the great new fact of our time," but the question arises in what sense is this true. It is certainly not the fact of the emergence of an international organization of the churches which is world shaking. We must ask what lies behind this. Something has happened in the consciousness of the churches which makes the Ecumenical Movement possible.

It would seem that in many different churches in many different countries there has been at one and the same time a rediscovery of the nature of the Christian Church. This has taken place in the realm of Theology, particularly Biblical Theology, but also in many other realms. Many great traditions have contributed to this rediscovery. In this connection we owe much to the Eastern Orthodox. It is interesting to note that in the Roman Catholic Church there is also a wholly new approach to the doctrine concerning the Church. The Anglican Communion has played a central role in that important development through the theologians who have participated in ecumenical discussion.

Now it is the task of the World Council to give expression to that new conception of the church. It does so in various ways. It seeks to express the universal fellowship of Christians by bringing the churches into constructive conversation with each other. It seeks to do so by providing channels for the expression of the solidarity of Christians through interchurch aid. It seeks to do so as it gives the churches a common voice with regard to the great international, social and racial problems of our times.

What has all this to do with the cause that we have at hand, namely with the cause of the unity of the Church? We can only express concrete results in the realms of Church unity when the truly Biblical and ecumenical concept of the church has really penetrated the whole life of our churches. At the present moment we are still in the dangerous position that a relatively small number of the Ecumenically active and courageous people understand what the Ecumenical Movement is all about, but that there are large masses in our churches who are still thinking in very small and often even men-centered ways about the church. Our first task is therefore to give our church members that real understanding of what is meant when we confess the Una Sancta, the Holy Catholic Church of the Creed.

In the meantime we have no reason to be discouraged with regard to progress in the field of unity, for in many parts of the world serious attempts are made to bring the churches together. In this respect the Lambeth Conference of 1958 will be of crucial importance. It is to be hoped that on that occasion the Anglican Communion will once again take the lead in preparing the way for a wider manifestation of the essential unity of the Church of Christ.
The Chairman of the Committee on the Dispatch of Business moved the Order of the Day.

Nominations were in order for the Missionary District of Central America.

The Rt. Rev. David E. Richards, S.T.D., Suffragan Bishop of Albany, was nominated by the Bishop of Cuba, reporting for the Committee on Foreign Missions. The Bishop of the Panama Canal Zone seconded the nomination.

The Rev. Raymond Karl Riebs, Associate Priest, Christ Church, Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, was nominated by the Bishop of Cuba. The Bishop of Southern Ohio seconded the nomination.

A motion that the nominations be closed and referred to the Committee on Foreign Missions was adopted.

At 10:30 a.m. the Secretary of the last House, the Rev. Canon C. Rankin Barnes, S.T.D., called the House to order, read a passage of Holy Scripture, and led the House in prayer.

Mr. Morehouse, of New York, presented the following resolution, which was adopted:

WHEREAS, This 59th General Convention is honored by the presence of the Hon. Le Roy Collins, Governor of Florida and distinguished layman of this Church; therefore be it

Following the Governor's address the roll call was completed.

The Minutes of the Ninth Day were approved.

Mr. Morehouse, of New York, presented Report No. 10 of the Committee on Dispatch of Business, which was adopted:

Today is the last full day of the 59th General Convention. It is therefore of the utmost importance that the House of Deputies complete this day all business requiring concurrence by the House of Bishops. As we still have much important business before us, it will probably be necessary for us to have an evening session. Your committee, therefore, requests that we schedule an evening session; but in the event that we complete all business requiring concurrence of the Bishops before adjournment of the afternoon session, we shall at that time introduce a resolution to cancel the evening session.

Resolved, That a session of the House of Deputies be held this evening beginning at 8:00 p.m., to consider such matters as require concurrence by the House of Bishops.

It is also necessary that any remaining committee reports be brought before the House today if they are to receive proper action. The most orderly way to accomplish this is to follow the normal Order of Business for the most part, dealing with each committee report as it comes up without reference to the Calendar of any matter requiring concurrent action. However, certain matters of importance should receive priority, in order that time may be given for proper consideration both by our House and by the House of Bishops. We therefore offer the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the Order of Business today shall be as follows:

2. Completion of matters pertaining to Program and Budget.
5. Resolutions to establish or to continue interim Joint Commissions and Joint Committees, with appropriations as recommended by Committee on Expenses.
6. Roll call of standing committees, beginning with Committee on Rules of Order; and all such reports as require concurrent action shall be dealt with immediately, without reference to the Calendar. At his discretion, the President may call from the Calendar related matters requiring concurrence, for immediate action.
7. Reports of Joint Committees and Joint Commissions not previously dealt with. This includes certain nominations and elections.
8. Reports of Committee on Privilege and Courtesy requiring concurrent action.
9. Reports of other special committees, if any.
10. Petitions and Memorials, if any.

11. Motions and resolutions requiring concurrent action. (2/3 vote.)

Resolved, That notwithstanding the foregoing Order, the President may at his discretion admit resolutions, committee reports, or items from the Calendar, requiring concurrent action, at any time; and Messages from the House of Bishops shall be dealt with at the earliest convenience after receipt.

Resolved, That all speeches today be limited to three minutes; but the President may at his discretion allow an additional two minutes; any additional time to be only upon two-thirds vote of the House.

Resolved, That the President of the House, or the Convener of any Standing Committee designated by him, be empowered to activate any such committees by mail, and if deemed advisable to call a meeting or meetings of the Committees at some suitable place and time prior to the formal organization of the House, to the end that the committee may consider matters referred to it at the earliest possible date; and be it further

Resolved, That the President or the Secretary of the House may refer by mail to any Standing Committee thus tentatively organized any matter deemed appropriate, including reports of Joint Commissions and Committees, memorials, petitions, and resolutions received prior to the opening of the 60th General Convention.

Addinsell has provided for more than seven years as Treasurer of the National Council.

The diligence and remarkable skill which he has brought to bear on the sometimes tedious but always demanding responsibilities of his office could have its source only in the deep spiritual insight and inspiration he possesses.

Strict in his decisions when necessary, he is so gifted with tact, evenness of temper and kindliness of manner as to have won that friendly and ungrudging acceptance of his judgments which a lesser man could not have obtained.

He came to his office at a critical time in the Church's financial history and he leaves it in a strong position, with young and able business leadership, well organized and trained by him to carry on the work in which he has served so superlatively.

This Convention, on behalf of the whole Church, hereby extends to him its good wishes for the future and its warmest and most heartfelt thanks for his outstanding service.

The Rev. Dr. Barrett, of New York, on the Tenth Day, presented Report No. 7 of the Joint Committee on Committees and Commissions:
The Committee has considered the following resolution presented by Mr. Hay, of Pittsburgh:

WHEREAS, There has been strong sentiment for some years among the clergy and people of this Church calling for the election of a Bishop to serve as chief pastor to our priests and people who are in the Armed Forces, or resident in military communities at home and abroad; and

WHEREAS, The number of our priests and our people serving in the Armed Forces, and their families will continue to be very considerable for many years to come; and

WHEREAS, The present provision for direct Episcopal supervision of and Episcopal pastoral and sacramental administrations to our people in the Armed Forces and their families is at present on an interim, and temporary basis; and

WHEREAS, Though this matter has been brought before previous General Conventions, no careful study has yet been made of the various aspects and effects of such a Bishop's probable duties and functions by both Houses; therefore be it

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that a Joint Commission of this General Convention be appointed to give careful study to the election, and duties and functions when elected, of a Suffragan Bishop for the Armed Forces and report to the next Convention; and be it further Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that the sum of $3,000.00 be appropriated for the expense of this Joint Commission during the next triennium.

The Committee would invite the attention of the House of Deputies to the fact that the matter of a Suffragan Bishop for the Armed Forces was thoroughly explored by the House of Bishops at a meeting held during the last triennium, that the House of Bishops came to the conclusion that such a step was not desirable and published a full explanation of the reason for the decision.

The Committee has had referred to it Resolution No. 3 contained in the Report of the Standing Liturgical Commission dealing with the proposed preparation and publication of "A Book of Propers for the Minor Holy Days." The Committee reports that in its opinion, the proposed resolution, if adopted, would be in violation of Article X of the Constitution, for the reason that such resolution proposes an alteration of the Book of Common Prayer with respect to the service of Holy Communion, in a manner which does not comply with the provisions of the Constitution on that subject.

Mr. Dykman, of Long Island, on the Third Day, presented Report No. 9 of the Committee on Canons:

The Committee on Canons reports that it has considered the amendment to Canon 4, Sec. 6 (b) amending the clause by adding the following sentence at the end thereof:

“Any Diocese or Missionary District, engaged in a program of proportionate giving, which has eliminated an asking Diocesan budget, shall be exempt from the requirement of the subsection, provided that such Diocese or Missionary District shall, by such means as it deems best, see that its people are fully informed as to the program adopted by the General Convention and their obligations with respect thereto.”

The report was accepted.

Mr. Dykman, of Long Island, on the Fourth Day, presented Report No. 16 of the Committee on Canons:

The foregoing resolution was referred to the Committee on Canons.

Mr. Dykman, of Long Island, on the Fourth Day, presented Report No. 19 of the Committee on Canons:

The Committee on Canons reports it has considered the following resolution presented by Mr. Dakin, of Western Massachusetts:

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that Canon 5, Sec. 1, be amended by deleting in the third sentence thereof the words “in good standing” and by inserting therein after the words “time of this report” the following new words: “and the number of the former who have attended worship services at least thrice in the next preceding year, and of the latter who have received Holy Communion at least thrice in that period.”

The Committee is informed by Mr. Dakin that the purpose of this amendment is to bring the provisions of Canon 5, Sec. 1, into harmony with the provisions of Canon 45, Sec. 3, regarding parochial records and reports. The Committee is further informed that this resolution has been referred to the Committee on the State of the Church which is primarily concerned with statistical matters.

The Committee therefore believes that action by the Committee on Canons should be postponed until the report of the Committee on the State of the Church has been received.

This was placed on the Calendar No. 40 until the report of the Committee on the State of the Church has been received.

Item No. 40 was taken from the Calendar on the Eleventh Day. Mr. Dakin, of Western Massachusetts, amended his resolution.

The report was accepted.
Mr. Greene, of Washington, on the Tenth Day, presented Report No. 19 of the Committee on The Church Pension Fund:

Your Committee, having considered the resolution presented by Mr. Crane, of Missouri, reading as follows:

"WHEREAS, Canon 7, Sec. 1, fails to clearly set forth the eligibility of clergy who are not disabled or infirm, but who retire under Canon 45, Section 8, or who retire at age 68 as allowed under the provisions of the rules and regulations of the Trustees of The Church Pension Fund; therefore, be it

"Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that Canon 7, Sec. 1, be amended to read as follows, following the words; '... and approved thereafter by the several Dioceses and Missionary Districts;' ... 'with the view of providing for the clergy eligible for retirement, for the clergy disabled according to the rules and regulations of the Trustees of the Church Pension Fund, and for the widows and minor children of deceased clergy.'" believes that such amendment of the Canon is not necessary, and that it would create more ambiguities than any which it is alleged that it would cure. The present language of the Canon has not been subject to any misunderstanding insofar as the Committee is aware.

Your Committee, therefore, offers the following resolution, and has instructed its Secretary to move its adoption;

Resolved, That the Committee be discharged from further consideration of the Memorial, because of the precision of the present language of the Canon, and the ambiguity of the language proposed in the Memorial.

The Committee reports that the subject of this resolution is covered by its report No. 7 on the Resolution presented by the Committee at the Convention of 1955 upon the definition of “members, members in good standing and communicants in good standing” which was placed upon the Calendar and since no further consideration on that subject seems necessary, asks to be discharged from further consideration.

Mr. Dykman, of Long Island, on the Seventh Day, presented Report No. 28 of the Committee on Canons, which was made a special order of the day for the morning of the Ninth Day.

The special Order of the Day having arrived on the Ninth Day, Report No. 28 of the Committee on Canons was taken from the Calendar and presented by Mr. Dykman, of Long Island.

The Committee reports that it has considered the resolution presented by the Rev. Edward B. Guerry, of South Carolina, and ten other deputies reading as follows:

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that the second sentence of Canon 18, Sec. 2, Clause (b) be amended to read as follows:

"The Bishop or Ecclesiastical Authority shall take care that his or its judgment is based upon and conforms to the doctrine of this Church as set forth in The Form of Solemnization of Matrimony in the Book of Common Prayer; but when any impediments set forth in Canon 17, Section 2, Clause (b) are proved by satisfactory evidence, including a copy of the Civil Court's decree and record, if practical, to have existed before the marriage which has been annulled or dissolved by a Civil Court of competent jurisdiction, thus manifestly establishing that no marriage bond as the same is recognized by this Church has ever existed in the case, the same may be declared by proper authority."
The Rev. Canon Robertson, the Rev. Canon Stowe, the Rev. Sherwood S. Clayton, the Very Rev. Dean Kennedy and Messrs. Dykman, Moore and Foulkes present the following report and recommend adoption of the resolution for the reasons stated:

We believe there should be no Canon susceptible of different construction in the several Dioceses and Districts so that marital status may depend on domicile and the position toward permanency of the marriage bond of the Bishops at a particular time.

As stated in the Report of the Joint Commission on Marriage and Divorce to the General Convention of 1931, which proposed a Canon recognizing only nullity ab initio, such was already the law of this Church (Journal, 1931, p. 470 et seq.).

In spite of the fact that the purpose of Canon Law is to lead men to salvation, a report of a Committee on the House of Bishops (Journal, 1949, pp. 439-40) recognizes that under the present Canon the paths chosen by the Bishop may differ according to domicile and his conscience.

The form of solemnization of Matrimony contained in the Book of Common Prayer is part of the Canon Law of this Church.

The words "For be ye well assured, that if any persons are joined together otherwise than as God's word doth allow their marriage is not lawful" coupled with the promise to love, comfort, honor and keep in sickness and in health; and forsaking all others keep only to the one so long as both shall live and the latter declaration, "to have and to hold from this day forward for better, for worse, for richer, for poorer, in sickness and in health, to love and to cherish till death us do part" are completely inconsistent with a dissolution of the marriage bond by anything occurring later.

Thus it is a violation of God's holy ordinance as so explicitly set forth to recognize any such possibility.

We question the constitutionality of any Canon repugnant to the Form of Solemnization of Matrimony as contained in the Book of Common Prayer which has been adopted other than as provided in Article X of the Constitution for alteration of that Book.

The Amendment proposed by the Deputy from South Carolina accords with the ancient Canon Law as so explicitly set forth in the Book of Common Prayer and preserves the dignity of the Church which certainly is not enhanced by different interpretations of the same Canon in different Dioceses and Districts, a situation we deplore.

We therefore move the adoption of the resolution.

The Rev. Dr. Sant, of Missouri, presented the Minority Report, as follows:

The Rev. Dr. Sant and Messrs. Ford, Hay, Adams, Dakin and Neely dissent from the opinion of the Majority and consider the present Canon preferable.

While we recognize that no Canon that can be designed to cover problems in the marriage field will be regarded as perfect, we dislike to put the Church in the position of having to expand the doctrine of nullity to the absurd lengths which we are convinced would result as a practical matter if the proposed amendment were adopted.

We feel that every member of the House should carefully read the Report of the Joint Commission on Holy Matrimony to this Convention, particularly the Appendix prepared by Bishop Bayne and approved by the Joint Commission, which reads as follows:

"It is, perhaps, unfair to generalize. Yet, it would be agreed by the great majority of the bishops who administer the discipline of the Church, that the present Canons, imperfect as they are, do permit a positive and redemptive approach to the heavy problems of marriage and divorce in our society; that they do permit approximate justice to be done without corroding our witness to Christian standards; and that, perhaps most important of all, they permit the accumulation of a store of experience which will, in due course, enrich and purify our moral theology in this area. This last is, perhaps, the most important function of any canonical legislation."

We are in complete sympathy with this position and opposed to the adoption of the Rev. Mr. Guerry's nullity amendment.

A vote by orders being required on the adoption of the Majority Report, the result showed that the resolution was lost by a vote of:

Clerical: Ayes, 31; Noes, 39; Divided, 5.
Lay: Ayes, 23; Noes, 49; Divided, 8.

appreciation of the work of the National Council's Department of Christian Education, which was referred to the Committee on Christian Education.

Dean Littleford, of South Florida, on the Second Day, presented a critical resolution regarding the National Council's Department of Christian Education, which was referred to the Committee on Christian Education.

The Secretary of the House, on the Ninth Day, read the following communication from the Triennial Meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary:

_WHEREAS, The women of the Church have received from the Department of Christian Education of the National Council excellent materials for use as individuals and as groups, effective aids in program planning and, through its teams of Consultants, invaluable assistance in Leadership Training; therefore be it_

Resolved, That the Triennial Meeting of the Women of the Church of 1958 expresses appreciation to the Department for all it has meant to them, commending its excellent work done in the past, and anticipating its plans for the future; and be it further

Resolved, That we respectfully urge that the General Convention of 1958 give its approval of and adequate support to the Department for the coming triennium.

The Rev. Mr. Warner, of Western Michigan, read Report No. 4 of the Committee on Christian Education, the resolution attached to which was Item No. 31 on the Calendar.

The Committee on Christian Education reports that it has considered resolutions regarding the program of the national department of Christian Education as follows:

One adopted by the Annual Convention of the Diocese of Connecticut on May 20, 1958 commending the Department and its work (copy attached); another submitted by the Rev. Reamer Kline, D.D., Clerical Deputy from Connecticut, very much like the one from his diocese, commending the Department and its work (copy attached), copies of which have been sent prior to the opening of General Convention to all Bishops and clerical and lay Deputies; another adopted by the 49th Convocation of the Missionary District of Wyoming May 8, 1958 commending the Department and its work (copy attached); another submitted by the Rev. Don Frank Fenn, D.D., Clerical Deputy from Maryland, reflecting a very different point of view (copy attached), copies of which have been sent, prior to the opening of General Convention, to all Bishops and clerical Deputies; and another presented by the Very Rev. Osborne R. Littleford, Clerical Deputy from South Florida, expressing a position quite like, although not quite as strong, as that taken by the Rev. Don Frank Fenn (copy attached).

To aid it in its deliberations, the Committee on Christian Education invited all deputations and individuals who wished to express themselves, before the Committee, regarding the National Department of Christian Education and its program, to do so. This announcement was made by the Chairman of the Committee at the afternoon session of the House of Deputies October 8th. Approximately 30 persons availed themselves of this opportunity and, although a number of them were not in accord in every particular with every aspect of the program of the National Department of Christian Education, all of them—with the exception of one or two—commended the over-all program of the National Department, and many of them spoke of it, and what it had accomplished in their dioceses and parishes and own lives, with the highest praise. And everyone, without any exception, found great value in it.

With all of the resolutions and information available before the Committee, the Committee on Christian Education has carefully studied the matter of this report. In the course of things the Chairman was authorized to appoint a sub-committee to draw up, for the Committee's consideration, a substitute resolution which might be offered to the House of Deputies. As members of this sub-committee the Chairman appointed the Rev. John Heuss, D.D., of New York; the Very Rev. Lloyd E. Gressle, D.D., of Delaware; Dr. Edward McCrady, of Tennessee; and the Committee's secretary, Mr. Peter Day, of Milwaukee. The Committee has considered their recommendations, and in some instances amended them, and is now ready to make its unanimous recommendation.

We offer and recommend the adoption of the following resolution, which puts the matter squarely before the House:

WHEREAS, The current program of the National Council in the field of Christian Education has done much to recapture for Christian Education its proper importance in the spirit, life and work of our Church; and

WHEREAS, The Department has wisely centered its program in the life of the worshipping, redeeming fellowship of the Holy Catholic Church; and

WHEREAS, In this program a sound distribution of emphasis has been made between family worship, leadership training, and the publication of teaching materials for children, youth and adults; and

WHEREAS, The Department of Christian Education is now making intense effort to create teaching materials and methods specifically designed for very small church schools; and

WHEREAS, There is deep concern on the part of the Department, in revising its current church school courses to include therein an increased emphasis on the content of the Church's historic teaching in ways which will be meaningful to the spiritual needs of the growing child, and to simplify whenever possible the teaching methods; therefore be it

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that this General Convention record its appreciation of the service rendered in the field of Education by the National Council and its Department of Christian Education, and that it call for continued study and development by the Department to bring into existence an increasingly useful set of materials and methods for the whole Church.

Item No. 31 was taken from the Calendar, being the foregoing resolution. The Rev. Dr. Heuss, of New York, for the Committee on Christian Education, spoke to the resolution and moved its adoption.

Mr. Huddleston, of Tennessee, presented a substitute resolution, which was not adopted.

On motion of the Bishop of Connecticut, the Bishop Coadjutor of Virginia read a proposed preamble to the resolutions contained in the Report of the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations on the Church of South India, for the information of the House.

On motion of the Bishop of West Missouri, a Preamble to the foregoing resolution was accepted by the House, so that the combined Preamble and resolution were considered as follows:

PREAMBLE:

We, the Bishops and Deputies assembled in General Convention, receive with gratitude the testimony of the Lambeth Conference of 1958 to the growth of inner coherence in the Church of South India during the last ten years, affirmed as well by the action taken by five of our sister Anglican Churches recognizing the Bishops and episcopally ordained clergy of that Church.

In taking parallel action we recognize that we act in the face of some very real anomalies which appear to be inevitable in the state of divided Christendom:

1. That of recognizing Episcopal Order within the life of a Christian Body which is still to some extent in process of formulating its agreed standards of faith;

2. That of recognizing only the Bishops and episcopally ordained clergy in a Christian Body which though it adheres to episcopal ordination, acknowledges its non-episcopally ordained clergy to be of equal status.

3. That of entering into a limited measure of intercommunion with a Christian Body itself in full communion with other Christian Bodies with which we have no such relations.

Therefore, We call attention to the fact that our action is of an interim character, a nature imposed upon it by these anomalies and necessarily remaining so until their resolution in such manner as may permit full communion between the Church of South India and the Churches of the Anglican Communion.

Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that having considered the form and practice of consecration and ordination in use in the Church of South India and the intention explicitly asserted in its Constitution "that eventually every minister exercising a permanent ministry in it will be an episcopally ordained minister," (CSI Constitution, II, 21) we acknowledge the bishops, presbyters and deacons consecrated or ordained in the Church of South India at or after the inauguration of that Church as true bishops, priests and deacons in the Church of God.

Adopted by the House.

[Communicated to the House of Deputies by Message No. 9.]

The foregoing Message was referred to the Committee on Ecumenical Relations, with the request that it hold an open hearing thereon.

The Bishop of Washington presented the following resolution:

Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that

a. A Bishop or episcopally ordained Presbyter of the Church of South India when temporarily within a diocese or district of the Protestant Episcopal Church may be invited to celebrate the Holy Communion in churches of the diocese or district in accordance with the Order for the Administration of the Holy Communion in the Prayer Book of this Church, with the permission of the Bishop, provided that he be willing while within that dioce­se or district to celebrate in Protestant Episcopal churches only except upon occasions recognized by the Bishop as having major ecumenical significance.

b. An episcopally ordained deacon of the Church of South India when temporarily within a diocese or district of the Protestant Episcopal Church may be invited to assist at services of the Holy Communion in churches of the diocese or district, with the permission of the Bishop.

c. Bishops, presbyters and deacons of the Church of South India may be invited to preach in churches of the Protestant Episcopal Church, with the permission of the Bishop of the diocese or district.

d. A bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter or deacon of the Church of South India may be granted license or permission for a stated period of time to act and officiate as a bishop, priest, or deacon of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and such bishops, presbyters and deacons shall be thereupon subject in all respects to the canons and other regulations governing ministers of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

e. The Bishop of a diocese or district may upon special occasion authorize the celebration of the South Indian Liturgy (An Order for the Lord's Supper, or the Holy Eucharist, approved by the Synod of the Church of South India, January, 1954) in a church within his jurisdiction for the congregation of that Church by a bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter of the Church of South India.

f. Bishops and priests of the Protestant Episcopal Church who visit the territory of the Church of South India may accept the hospitality of that Church for celebrating the Holy Communion within it.

g. Communicant members of the Church of South India when temporarily within the dioceses or districts of the Protestant Episcopal Church may receive Holy Communion in Protestant Episcopal churches. Members of the Church of South India who desire to become habitual communicants or communicant members of the Protestant Episcopal Church shall be required to conform to the regular discipline of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

h. Members of the Protestant Episcopal Church who visit the Church of South India may accept the hospitality of that Church for receiving Holy Communion and other sacramental ministrations at the hands of its bishops and episcopally ordained presbyters.

A motion by the Suffragan Bishop of Long Island that the sections of this resolution be individually considered was lost.

A motion by the Suffragan Bishop of Long Island to eliminate section D was lost.

Adopted by the House.

[Communicated to the House of Deputies by Message No. 10.]

The foregoing Message was referred to the Committee on Ecumenical Relations, the Committee on Amendments to the Constitution, and the Committee on Canons.

The Rev. Mr. Gillett, of Quincy, on the Second Day, presented a resolution regarding the constitutionality and canonicity of the resolutions on the Church of South India, which was referred to the Committee on Amendments to the Constitution and to the Committee on Canons.

Mr. Dykman, of Long Island, on the Third Day, presented Report No. 12 of the Committee on Canons:

The Committee on Canons reports that it has considered the Preamble and Resolutions presented by the Rev. Gordon E. Gillett, of Quincy, as follows:

"WHEREAS, Resolutions 2a, 2b, 2c, 2d, on the Church of South India, recommended by the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations for adoption by this Convention, to authorize invitations to celebrate, preach, and officiate, may be in conflict with certain provisions of the Constitution and Canons of the General Convention; viz., with Constitution Article VIII and with Canons 38 and 39; now therefore be it

"Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that consideration of resolutions submitted on behalf of the said Joint Commission be postponed pending advice by the Committee on Amendments to the Constitution, and the Committee on Canons, of this House, on the possibility of this conflict; and be it further

"Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that the Committee on Amendments to the Constitution and the Committee on Canons are hereby requested to advise this House on this matter."
The Committee finds no conflict between the resolutions recommended by the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations and Canon 38. The Committee believes Canon 39 has no application. Believing it was the intention of the presenter to ask the opinion of the Committee on a possible conflict with Canon 49, the Committee reports that it finds no such conflict.

The report was accepted.

Mr. Dykman, of Long Island, presented Report No. 15 of the Committee on Canons:

The Committee on Canons reports that it has considered Message No. 10 from the House of Bishops with reference to the Church of South India and finds concurrence by this House would require no amendment of the Canons.

Dean Lemoine, of Long Island, on the Third Day, presented a resolution regarding the report on the Church of South India, which was referred to the Committee on Ecumenical Relations.

Canon Butler, of New Jersey, presented Report No. 3 of the Committee on Ecumenical Relations, reading as follows:

Your Committee on Ecumenical Relations has had under consideration Messages 9 and 10 from the House of Bishops relating to the Church of South India. Two open hearings have been held and the matters involved have been carefully considered by your Committee.

The Committee has also considered the resolution submitted by Dean Lemoine, of Long Island, reading as follows:

"Resolved, That recommended Resolution No. 1 of the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations (page 16 of Report) be amended by inserting the word 'Episcopally' before the word 'consecrated' so as to make the passage read:

'We acknowledge the bishops, presbyters, and deacons episcopally consecrated or ordained in the Church of South India . . .'."

Your Committee approves the substance thereof and therefore recommends that the resolution contained in Message No. 9 from the House of Bishops be amended by the insertion of the word "episcopally" before the word "consecrated" in the third from the last line.

Your Committee further unanimously recommends that this House concur, with the amendment aforesaid, in the action of the House of Bishops as communicated in its Message No. 9.

Your Committee further recommends that this House concur with the House of Bishops in the action communicated in its Message No. 10.

Your Committee finally recommends that these matters be made a special Order of Business for this House.

The foregoing Report was placed on the Calendar No. 27.
The Rev. Mr. Gillett, of Quincy, on the Second Day, presented a resolution regarding the Church of South India, which was referred to the Committee on Ecumenical Relations.

Canon Saunders, of Long Island, presented a substitute resolution regarding the Church of South India, which was referred to the Committee on Ecumenical Relations.

The Rev. Mr. Brown, of Newark, on the Third Day, presented a resolution regarding the Church of South India, which was referred to the Committee on Ecumenical Relations.

Canon Butler, of New Jersey, on the Fourth Day, presented Report No. 4 of the Committee on Ecumenical Relations:

Your Committee on Ecumenical Relations has also considered certain other resolutions relating to the Church of South India, as follows:

Resolution submitted by the Rev. Gordon E. Gillett on behalf of the Province of the Midwest;

Substitute Resolution submitted by the Rev. Canon A. Edward Saunders of the Diocese of Long Island; Amendment proposed by the Rev. Herbert S. Brown of the Diocese of Newark.

Inasmuch as these proposals are inconsistent with the resolutions recommended for adoption by your Committee in its Report No. 3, your Committee asks to be discharged from further consideration thereof.

The report was accepted.

The Bishop of Washington, on the Fifth Day, moved that the House of Bishops reconsider the resolution on the Church of South India, contained in its Message No. 10. The House so voted, and asked for a return of Message No. 10.

The Secretary of the House of Deputies announced that the House of Bishops had requested the return of its Message No. 10, which was agreed to.

On motion of the Bishop of Washington, the House of Bishops voted to delete from the foregoing Message section (d) and to re-letter subsequent sections (d), (e), (f), (g), and (h), and to adopt the resolution as so amended.

[Communicated to the House of Deputies by Message No. 47.]

The foregoing Message was referred to the Committee on Ecumenical Relations, the Committee on Amendments to the Constitution, and the Committee on Canons.
The Rev. Dr. Fenn, of Maryland, presented Report No. 10 of the Committee on Amendments to the Constitution:

The Committee has considered Message No. 47 of the House of Bishops, which was referred to it for advice as to the constitutionality of its provisions. Message No. 47 is the same as Message No. 10 of the House of Bishops, which House withdrew, except only that Paragraph d of Message No. 10 has been deleted and the remaining paragraphs correspondingly relettered. Message No. 47 deals with the Church of South India question, as did Message No. 10. In view of the fact that the only paragraph of Message No. 10, which in the opinion of this Committee involved constitutional questions, was Paragraph d of that message, and in view of the fact that this paragraph had been omitted from Message No. 47, the Committee is of the opinion that no constitutional questions are raised by any of the provisions of Message No. 47 of the House of Bishops.

Mr. Dykman, of Long Island, on the Seventh Day, presented Report No. 27 of the Committee on Canons:

The Committee on Canons reports that it has considered Message No. 47 from the House of Bishops, with reference to the Church of South India, proposing a resolution in the same words as those contained in the resolution contained in Message No. 10 striking out former paragraph (d).

The Committee has already reported that concurrence by this House in the earlier resolution would require no amendment of the Canons, and so reports with reference to the resolution contained in Message No. 47.

Item No. 27 was taken from the Calendar, on the Eighth Day, being Report No. 3 of the Committee on Ecumenical Relations on Messages Nos. 9 and 47 from the House of Bishops relating to the Church of South India.

Report No. 3 of the Committee on Ecumenical Relations was again presented by Mr. John Nicholas Brown, of Rhode Island.

Mr. John Nicholas Brown, of Rhode Island, presented Report No. 5 of the Committee on Ecumenical Relations:

The Committee on Ecumenical Relations reports that it has considered Message No. 47 from the House of Bishops which Message is a substitute for former Message No. 10 with which the Committee recommended concurrence in its report No. 3.

Message No. 47 is identical to Message No. 10 except that paragraph "d" of Resolution 2 (found on pages 16 and 17 of the Report on the Church of South India) is omitted and the following paragraphs re-lettered.

In view of the constitutional questions thus avoided the committee deems the omission wise and recommends concurrence with Message No. 47 as received.

The amended form of Message No. 9 from the House of Bishops was recommended for adoption by the Committee on Ecumenical Relations.

The Committee on Ecumenical Relations recommended concurrence with Message No. 47 from the House of Bishops.

Canon Saunders, of Long Island, presented a substitute as an amendment to Messages No. 9 and 47, and to the recommendations of the Committee.

The Rev. Dr. Vogel, of Milwaukee, presented three amendments to the two resolutions under consideration:

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that the Preamble affixed by the House of Bishops to the Resolution of the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations on the Church of South India be amended to read:

"In Paragraph 2 the insertion of the word 'generally' between the words 'in taking' and 'parallel action' so that the sentence will read, 'In taking generally parallel action. . . .'

"The last paragraph to contain the additional sentence: 'We also desire to state that our action is not to be construed as an approval of the scheme of South India as a modus operandi for future union or reunion attempts.'"

In Section "f" of Message No. 47 the words "if they are Episcopally confirmed" be inserted after "... Protestant Episcopal Churches' in line 3.

The Rev. Mr. Barker, of Western New York, presented an amendment to Message No. 47.

The Rev. Mr. Colbourne, of Sacramento, presented an amendment to Message 47:

Message No. 47 from the House of Bishops be amended by striking the concluding words of paragraph "a" as follows:

"except upon occasions recognized by the Bishop as having major ecumenical significance."

Mr. Bronson, of Minnesota, asked unanimous consent to make certain changes in the wording of an amendment to Message No. 9 from the House of Bishops so as to put it in proper form. His suggestion was adopted.

It was moved to strike out the first four paragraphs of Canon Saunders' substitute resolution.

It was voted that all amendments to Message No. 9, except the word "episcopally," which was recommended by the Committee on Ecumenical Relations in its Report No. 3, be laid on the table.
It was moved that the substitute resolution of Canon Saunders, and all amendments, be laid on the table. This motion was adopted by a vote of 353 to 241.

The House thereupon considered the following resolution:

Resolved, That this House concurs with the House of Bishops in its Message No. 9, with the following amendment:

Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that we, the Bishops and Deputies assembled in General Convention, receive with gratitude the testimony of the Lambeth Conference of 1958 to the growth of inner coherence in the Church of South India during the last ten years, affirmed as well by the action taken by five of our sister Anglican Churches recognizing the Bishops and episcopally ordained clergy of that Church; and be it further

Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that in taking parallel action we recognize that we act in the face of some very real anomalies which appear to be inevitable in the state of divided Christendom:

2. That of recognizing only the Bishops and episcopally ordained clergy in a Christian Body which, though it adheres to episcopal ordination, acknowledges its non-episcopally ordained clergy to be of equal status.

3. That of entering into a limited measure of intercommunion with a Christian Body itself in full communion with other Christian Bodies with which we have no such relations; therefore be it

Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that we call attention to the fact that our action is of an interim character, a nature imposed upon it by these anomalies and necessarily remaining so until their resolution in such manner as may permit full communion between the Church of South India and the Churches of the Anglican Communion; and be it further

A vote by orders being required, the House adopted the resolution by the following vote:

Clerical: Ayes, 58½; Noes 19½; Divided, 7.
Lay: Ayes, 67½; Noes, 7½; Divided, 5.

[Communicated to the House of Bishops by Message No. 87.]

The Presiding Bishop referred this Message to a Special Committee consisting of those Bishops serving on the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations.

The Bishop of Washington, on the Tenth Day, reported for this Special Committee, recommending concurrence.

The House concurred.

[Communicated to the House of Deputies by Message No. 128.]

The House of Deputies, on the Eighth Day, considered Message No. 47 of the House of Bishops.

The amendment proposed by the Rev. Dr. Vogel, of Milwaukee, was accepted.

The amendment proposed by the Rev. Mr. Colbourne, of Sacramento, was accepted.

The House thereupon considered the following resolution:

Resolved, That this House concurs with the House of Bishops in its Message No. 47, with the following amendment:

1. At end of item (a) delete the words “except upon occasions recognized by the Bishop as having major ecumenical significance.”

2. In item (f), after the words “Holy Communion in Protestant Episcopal Churches” add the words “if they have been episcopally confirmed.”

A vote by orders being required by the deputations from Chicago, Colorado and Louisiana, the House adopted the resolution by the following vote:

Clerical: Ayes, 64½; Noes, 12½; Divided, 4.
Lay: Ayes, 67½; Noes, 8½; Divided, 4.

[Communicated to the House of Bishops by Message No. 88.]

The Presiding Bishop referred this Message to a Special Committee consisting of those Bishops serving on the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations.

The Bishop of Washington, on the Tenth Day, reported for this Special Committee, recommending concurrence.

The House concurred.

[Communicated to the House of Deputies by Message No. 129.]
Church of the Holy Trinity, Brooklyn, New York

Mr. Bronson, of Minnesota, on the Third Day, presented a resolution in regard to the case of the Church of the Holy Trinity, Brooklyn, N.Y., which was referred to the Joint Committee on Committees and Commissions.

The Rev. Dr. Barrett, of New York, on the Tenth Day, presented Report No. 14 of the Joint Committee on Committees and Commissions:

The Committee reports that it has considered the following resolution presented by Mr. Bronson of Minnesota:

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that a Joint Special Committee consisting of two bishops, two presbyters and two laymen be appointed to offer its services of conciliation in an attempt to settle outside the civil courts the problems now in litigation involving the Church of the Holy Trinity, Brooklyn, New York.

The Committee has given careful consideration to this resolution, has consulted a number of persons who are closely concerned with the situation to which it is addressed and has been informed of the viewpoint expressed on the subject in a committee report made to the House of Bishops.

The Committee believes that the appointment of such a commission would be inexpedient in view of the fact that the General Convention has neither canonical jurisdiction in this case, nor the means of implementing an action that such a committee might regard as desirable under the circumstances.

The Committee asks to be discharged from further consideration of this resolution.

The report was accepted.

Church Pension Fund—Continuance of Assessment Rate

The Secretary of the House of Deputies, on the First Day, presented a Memorial from the Diocese of Chicago urging continuance of the present Pension Fund assessment rate. (See Appendix 7.) The Memorial was referred to the Committee on The Church Pension Fund.

Mr. Greene, of Washington, on the Eighth Day, presented Report No. 13 of the Committee on The Church Pension Fund, and asked that it be placed on the Calendar No. 34:

Your Committee on The Church Pension Fund, having reconsidered its Report No. 5 and the resolution therein as re-committed to it, and having heard and considered the views of a lay deputy as presented in a meeting in which all members of the Committee were present, offers the following resolution and unanimously instructs its Secretary to move its adoption;

WHEREAS, The Trustees of The Church Pension Fund have reported to the General Convention that the scale of pensions, minimum and otherwise, presently paid clergymen, widows and minor dependent orphan children can be increased, respectively, by an amount equal to 20 per cent thereof, provided that the 15 per cent rate of assessment (the additional 3 per cent on top of the permanent 12 per cent assessment) is continued; and

WHEREAS, The Church since January 1, 1950, has unanimously supported the assessment rate of 15 per cent; and

WHEREAS, The Trustees of The Church Pension Fund, after thorough consideration of actuarial reports, financial counsel, and with the wisdom in such matters represented by the Trustees as a group, have reported that the 20 per cent increase cannot properly or safely be put into effect unless the 15 per cent aggregate rate of assessment is continued; and

WHEREAS, The increase of 20 per cent in pensions involves an accrued liability for past service amounting to $12,000,000, which in addition to the current liability, which year by year must be covered, will be amortized by the 3 per cent portion of the assessment plus transfers from reserves; and

WHEREAS, The Trustees have consistently maintained reserves which will insure the Fund against default in the event of adverse financial conditions and did so protect fully the beneficiaries of the Fund even during the great depression; and

WHEREAS, The Church Pension Fund is subject to the Laws of State of New York and its Commissioner of Insurance, and would not be permitted to hypothecate assumed, but unrealized, future surplus earnings; therefore be it

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that the present rate of 15 per cent for assessments for The Church Pension Fund be continued, and that the scale of pensions, minimum and otherwise, presently paid to clergymen, widows and minor dependent orphan children be increased, effective December 1, 1958, respectively, by an amount equal to 20 per cent thereof, all as set forth in the Report of the Trustees of The Church Pension Fund to the General Convention dated February 3, 1958.

The following amendments were also placed on the Calendar No. 34:

Resolution presented by Mr. Flournoy, of Southern Virginia:

Resolved, That the resolution proposed by the Committee on The Church Pension Fund in its Report No. 5 be amended by striking the words, "present rate of 15 per cent be continued" and substituting therefore the words, "permanent rate of 12 per cent be re-established"; and further amended by adding at the end of the resolution the words: "All without prejudice to a possible increased assessment at the next or any subsequent General Convention if it be clearly shown to be necessary to meet the increase in clergy pensions hereby provided."
Resolution presented by Canon Hargrave, of South Florida:

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that The Church Pension Fund be requested and authorized, by means of a special rule, to make available, on an annual basis based upon the experience of the next previous fiscal year, such additional payment as may be possible to widows in the role of beneficiaries, in order to bring the amount of actual minimum benefit for widows to an amount not to exceed $1,200.00 per annum.

The resolution offered by Mr. Flournoy, of Southern Virginia, was not adopted.

Church Pension Fund—Joint Committee to Study

The Secretary of the House of Deputies, on the First Day, presented a Memorial from the Diocese of Louisiana, requesting the creation of a Joint Committee to Study The Church Pension Fund, which was referred to the Committee on The Church Pension Fund.

Mr. Greene, of Washington, on the Tenth Day, presented Report No. 18 of the Committee on The Church Pension Fund:

Your Committee, having considered the Memorial submitted by the Diocese of Louisiana, a copy of which is attached hereto, reports as follows:

1. The Memorial requests the General Convention to appoint a Joint Committee to study the status, investment policies and operational procedures of The Church Pension Fund, with specific attention to equalizing pension assessments where housing is provided, whether owned or rented; the feasibility of a life insurance benefit payable upon the death of a clergyman; and clarification of the status of adopted children.

2. Your Committee points out that there has been a Joint Commission to Study Clergy Pension Plans and Clerical Salaries in each triennium since the year 1949, and that there is presently before this House a Resolution providing for the appointment of such a Joint Commission to serve during the coming triennium, and to report to the General Convention in 1961.

3. With reference to housing allowance, your Committee is informed that the Fund, early in 1958, requested of all parishes an expression of opinion regarding housing in relation to assessments. The returns showed a heavy majority in favor of retaining the present basis, without change.

4. With respect to life insurance for the clergy, your Committee in other of its Reports, has recommended group life insurance for the clergy on a Diocesan basis, and here re-asserts that recommendation.

5. Adopted children are now eligible for benefits as dependent, minor orphan children of a deceased clergyman, provided, that the adoption took place before the adopting father passed the age of 45 years.

6. Your Committee points out that the Fund is audited by outside auditors, that its Investment Committee consists of men well qualified in this field, who have the benefit of Investment Counsel, and that its broad policies are based on the needs of a dependable, actuarial reserve pension system.

In view of all of the facts hereinabove recited, your Committee respectfully request that it be discharged from further consideration of the Memorial.

The report was accepted, and the Committee discharged from further consideration.

Mr. Greene, of Washington, on the Fourth Day, presented Report No. 3 of the Committee on The Church Pension Fund, and offered the following resolution:

[Communicated to the House of Bishops by Message No. 36.]

The foregoing Message was referred to the Committee on Canons.

Mr. Greene, of Washington, presented Report No. 4 of the Committee on The Church Pension Fund, and offered the following resolution:

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that The Church Pension Fund, under the provisions of Canon 7, cannot properly pay the Immediate Death Grant of $1,000.00 to any one other than the widow of a clergyman,

[Communicated to the House of Deputies by Message No. 131.]
On the recommendation of the Committee of Conference, the Bishop of South Carolina offered the following resolution:

Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that the General Convention sees no reason to desire any change in the present canonical establishment of The Church Pension Fund, namely, that it exists to serve "the clergy disabled by age or other infirmity and for the widows and minor children of deceased clergy" and for no other persons; and be it further Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that the General Convention sees no reason to suggest a change in the present rules of The Church Pension Fund in fulfillment of the Fund's purposes.

[Communicated to the House of Deputies by Message No. 132.]

That the following amendment to the Constitution which was proposed in and approved by the General Convention of 1955, and which by resolve thereof was sent to the Secretary of the Convention of every Diocese, and to the Secretary of the Convocation of every Missionary District, to be made known to the Diocesan Conventions or the Missionary District Conventions, was finally adopted in the General Convention of 1958, by a majority of all bishops, excluding retired Bishops not present, and by a majority of the Clerical and Lay Deputies of all the Dioceses and Missionary Districts entitled to vote in the House of Deputies, voting by orders; and is now a part of the Constitution:

Article I, Sec. 7, was amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 7. The General Convention shall meet in every third year on the Wednesday after the first Sunday in October, unless a different day be appointed by the preceding Convention, and at the place designated by such Convention; but if there shall appear to the Presiding Bishop, acting with the advice and consent of the National Council of the Church or of a successor canonical body having substantially the powers now vested in the National Council, sufficient cause for changing the place or date so appointed, he, with the advice and consent of such body, shall appoint another place or date, or both, for such meeting. Special meetings may be provided for by Canon."
Amendments Proposed in 1958

That amendments to the Constitution, as set forth below, were proposed to the General Convention of 1958, and by resolve thereof, were directed to be sent to the Ecclesiastical Authority of every Diocese and Missionary District, and to the Secretary of the Convention of every Diocese, and to the Secretary of the Convocation of every Missionary District, to be made known to the Diocesan Conventions or the Missionary District Convocations at their next meetings:

Amend the second sentence of Article I, Sec. 2, to read as follows:

"A majority of all Bishops entitled to vote, exclusive of Bishops who have resigned their jurisdiction or positions, shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business."

Amend Article I, Sec. 6, by adding at the end thereof a new sentence reading as follows:

"Each Missionary District established by the House of Bishops beyond the territory of the United States and also the Convocation of the American Churches in Europe, shall have the same rights in a vote by orders as are specified for Missionary Districts in Section 4 of this Article."

Amend Article II, Sec. 2, by deleting the words "within the United States" in line 6 thereof so that said line shall end with the word "jurisdiction."

Amend Article V, Sec. 6, so that the first sentence thereof shall read as follows:

"No new Diocese shall be formed unless it shall contain at least six Parishes and at least six Presbyters who have been for at least one year canonically resident within the bounds of such new Diocese, regularly settled in a Parish or Congregation and qualified to vote for a Bishop."

Amend Article X to read as follows:

"The Book of Common Prayer and Administration of the Sacraments and other Rites and Ceremonies of the Church, together with the Psalter or Psalms of David, the Form and Manner of Making, Ordaining, and Consecrating Bishops, Priests, and Deacons, the Form of Consecration of a Church or Chapel, the Office of Institution of Ministers, and Articles of Religion, as now established or hereafter amended by the authority of this Church, shall be in use in all the Dioceses and Missionary Districts, and in the Convocation of the American Churches in Europe, of this Church. No alteration thereof or addition thereto shall be made unless the same shall be first proposed in one triennial meeting of the General Convention and by a resolve thereof be sent within six months to the Secretary of the Convention of every Diocese and of the Convocation of every Missionary District and of the Convocation of the American Churches in Europe, to be made known to the Diocesan Convention or Convocation of the Missionary District or of the Convocation of the American Churches in Europe, at its next meeting, and be adopted by the General Convention at its next succeeding triennial meeting by a majority of all Bishops, excluding retired Bishops not present, of the whole number of Bishops entitled to vote in the House of Bishops, and by a majority of the Clerical and Lay Deputies of all the Dioceses entitled to representation in the House of Deputies and all the Missionary Districts, and of the Convocation of the American Churches in Europe, voting by orders, each to have the vote provided for in Article I, Sec. 4. Provided, however, that the General Convention at any meeting shall have power to amend the Table of Lessons and all Tables and Rubrics relating to the use of the Psalms by a majority of the whole number of Bishops entitled to vote in the House of Bishops, and by a majority of the Clerical and Lay Deputies of all the Dioceses entitled to representation in the House of Deputies, and all the Missionary Districts and the Convocation of the American Churches in Europe, voting by orders as previously laid down in this Article.

And Provided, further, that nothing in this Article shall be construed as restricting the authority of the Bishops of this Church to take such order as may be permitted by the Rubrics of the Book of Common Prayer or by the Canons of the General Convention for the use of special forms of worship.”

Amend Article XI to read as follows:

“No alteration or amendment of this Constitution shall be made unless the same shall be first proposed at one triennial meeting of the General Convention and by a resolve thereof be sent to the Secretary of the Convention of every Diocese and of the Convocation of every Missionary District and of the Convocation of the American Churches in Europe, to be made known to the Diocesan Convention or the Missionary District Convocation, or the Convocation of the American Churches in Europe, at its next meeting, and be adopted by the General Convention at its next succeeding triennial meeting by a majority of all Bishops, excluding retired Bishops not present, of the whole number of Bishops entitled to vote in the House of Bishops, and by a majority of the Clerical and Lay Deputies of all the Dioceses and of all the Missionary Districts and of the Convocation of the American Churches in Europe, entitled to representation in the House of Deputies, voting by orders, each having the vote provided for in Sec. 4 of Article I.”

Amend Article XI by adding at the end thereof the following paragraph:

“Each duly adopted alteration or amendment to this Constitution, unless otherwise expressly stated therein, shall take effect on the first day of January following the adjournment of the General Convention at which it is finally adopted.”

Dioceses, Development of—Joint Committee to Study

Mr. Longino, of Atlanta, on the Third Day, presented a resolution creating a Joint Committee to Study the Development of Dioceses, which was referred to the Joint Committee on Committees and Commissions.

The Rev. Dr. Barrett, of New York, on the Seventh Day, presented Report No. 3 of the Joint Committee on Committees and Commissions:

The Committee has considered the following resolution presented by Mr. Longino, of Atlanta:

WHEREAS, We are all interested in a more rapid growth of the Episcopal Church throughout the United States; and

WHEREAS, The creation of more dioceses will bring the Bishops of such dioceses closer to the clergy and communicants of new dioceses than our present method of approving the election of some Bishops Coadjutor and some Suffragan Bishops; and
WHEREAS, Bishops work more effectively toward the growth of our church as diocesans than as Coadjutors and Suffragans; therefore be it

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that this General Convention require that each diocesan furnish convincing proof, when requesting permission to elect a Coadjutor or Suffragan, that this method would better serve the Church, the clergy and the communicants than the creation of a new diocese; and be it further

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that a Joint committee consisting of three Bishops, three Presbyters and three laymen, be set up to study the foregoing resolution and to determine if the area and personnel of present dioceses are correctly constituted from standpoints of operating efficiently, economically and for promoting most rapid growth of our Church, and to recommend what number of parishes seem ideal for one diocesan to administer; and be it further Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that an appropriation of $1,000.00 be made for the triennium to cover the expense of the committee.

The Committee shares Mr. Longino's concern for the more effective administration of the work of the Church and for the promotion of its growth. Due however to the fact that the possible division of a diocese is by constitution and canon a responsibility of the diocese concerned, it seems to the Committee unwise to establish such a commission—particularly in view of the fact that the services of the Unit of Research and Field Study of the National Council are available to a bishop or a diocese wishing them. The Committee asks to be discharged from further consideration of this resolution.

The report was accepted.

The Rev. Dr. Gosnell, of West Texas, on the Tenth Day, presented Reports No. 22 and 23 of the Committee on Christian Social Relations, and offered the following resolution:

WHEREAS, This General Convention has received a resolution from the Triennial Convention of Episcopal Young Churchmen which met in Oberlin, Ohio, on August 26, 1958, in which they state that they believe racial prejudice, the use of violence and the curtailment of human freedom to be contrary to Christian practice; and
WHEREAS, This same Episcopal Youth Convention recommends that all local groups of Episcopal Young Churchmen give serious, sincere and unprejudiced study to this national problem with the particular attention to the area in which each of them lives; and

WHEREAS, This same Episcopal Youth Convention has communicated these preambles and resolutions to the 59th General Convention for our information; therefore be it

Equality of Sexes in Church's Life—Joint Commission on

The Rev. Mr. Bullen, of Florida, on the Third Day, presented a resolution regarding the appointment of a Joint Commission to study the equality of the sexes in all phases of the Church's life, which was referred to the Joint Committee on Committees and Commissions.

The Rev. Dr. Barrett, of New York, on the Tenth Day, presented Report No. 6 of the Joint Committee on Committees and Commissions:

The Committee has considered the following resolution presented by the Rev. Mr. Bullen, of Florida:

WHEREAS, There are differences of canonical rules in the several dioceses of the Church pertaining to qualifications of members of vestries and mission boards; and,

WHEREAS, There are differences of views in the several dioceses of the Church pertaining to qualifications of delegates to diocesan, provincial, and national conventions and councils; and

WHEREAS, These differences of rules and opinions center largely about the question of permitting both sexes in these capacities; therefore be it

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that a joint commission be appointed consisting of three Bishops, three Presbyters, three laymen, and three members of the Women's Division, to study this matter with due regard to canonical, organizational and theological implications, and to make such report and/or recommendations to the General Convention of 1961 as it shall see fit.
While aware of the serious problems that the resolution seeks to meet, the Committee believes that the matters raised are largely within the canonical and legal jurisdiction of the separate parishes and dioceses, rather than within the province of the General Convention.

It does ask, however, that this resolution be referred to the Joint Committee on Structure and Organization of the General Convention for study of the matter of the eligibility of Deputies to General Convention. This Committee asks, then, to be discharged from any further considerations of the resolution.

The report was accepted.

WHEREAS, The laymen of this Church are increasingly desirous of instruction and help in ways of witnessing which will present Christ persuasively to those who do not yet know Him; and

Whereas, The Constitution of the United States is the Supreme law of this land; and

The foregoing resolution was referred to the Committee on Social and International Affairs.

The House, on the Fifth Day, went into a Committee of the Whole to consider the foregoing Report.

The Committee rose.

Mr. McCook, of Connecticut, Chairman of the Committee of the Whole, presented the Report for action.

Recommended Action B-1 having been previously referred to the Committee on Amendments to the Constitution, the Rev. Dr. Fenn, of Maryland, presented Report No. 8 of that Committee:

The Committee has reviewed the recommendations and proposed resolutions contained in the report of the Joint Committee on Structure and Organization of the General Convention and finds that paragraph B—1 involves constitutional problems. Consequently, to make this recommendation of the Committee effective, would require an amendment of the Constitution. The following resolution herewith submitted by the Committee, without recommendation, would be sufficient for this purpose, to wit:

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that pursuant to Article XI of the Constitution, the following amendment to the Constitution is hereby proposed and that the same be made known to the several Dioceses and Missionary Districts, in accordance with Article XI, in order that the same may be adopted at the next General Convention, to wit: That the first sentence of the fourth paragraph of Section 4 of Article I of the Constitution, be amended by deleting the words "any Diocese" and by substituting therefor the words "at least three Dioceses."

Resolved, That the House of Deputies approves in principle the recommendations of the Joint Committee on Structure and Organization of the General Convention for the establishment of Study Committees during the mornings of the first week of the next meeting of the General Convention and recommends the project for consideration and possible implementation (if the physical resources of the place of meeting permit such implementation) to the Committee on Arrangements for the General Convention of 1961.

Adopted by the House.

Mr. Lee, of Pennsylvania, presented a substitute for this resolution:

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that the Committee of Arrangements of the 1961 Convention consider a program whereunder the Joint Sessions of the two Houses and the Women's Division for the consideration of the program and recommendations of the National Council be limited to two in number and that the National Council be afforded additional periods of one hour each as each House may determine.

Indian Americans

WHEREAS, The number of Indian Americans has nearly doubled in the past 50 years and continues to grow more rapidly than any other population sub-aggregate, with 50% of all Indians being under 20 years of age; and

WHEREAS, The mechanization of agriculture is increasing and accelerating unemployment on and off the reservations with resulting extensive migration of Indians to urban areas with attendant social and economic dis-location, under-privilege, personal frustration and disillusionment; and

WHEREAS, Educated Indians continue to leave their home communities, thus depleting their potential indigenous leadership; and

King James Version—350th Anniversary

The Rev. Mr. Warner, of Western Michigan, on the Fourth Day, presented Report No. 2 of the Committee on Christian Education:

The Committee reports that it has considered the resolution adopted by the Convention of Diocese of New Jersey, May 6, 1958, on the subject of the 350th Anniversary of the publication of the King James Version of the Bible.

The Committee feels that certainly the 350th Anniversary of the publication of the King James Version of the Bible is as great an occasion as an Anniversary of the Book of Common Prayer, the 400th Anniversary of which was celebrated appropriately by the Church in 1949, and offers the following resolution to implement the request of the Convention of the Diocese of New Jersey:

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that the National Council be directed to provide special helps through its appropriate departments and divisions for the due celebration of the 350th Anniversary of the King James Version of the Bible during the year 1961.

Adopted by the House.

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that the same be considered for inclusion in the Lectionary of the Book of Common Prayer, and that meanwhile, such lessons and prayers as are prepared by the Liturgical Commission and approved by the House of Bishops, be used and considered as additions to the Book of Offices, when authorized by the Bishop having jurisdiction.

The foregoing resolution was referred to the Committee on the Prayer Book.

The Rev. Mr. Day, of Massachusetts, on the Seventh Day, presented Report No. 7 of the Committee on the Prayer Book:

Your Committee has considered the resolutions presented by Mr. Cooper of New Jersey. It agrees to the appropriateness of the suggestions contained in these resolutions, and suggests that they be referred to the Standing Liturgical Commission for consideration in relation to any future revision of the Book of Common Prayer and in relation to the proposed publication of a new edition of A Book of Offices.

The resolutions were referred to the Standing Liturgical Commission.

Lay Workers—Pensions and Insurance Protection for

The Rev. Dr. Lewis, of Michigan, on the First Day, presented a resolution on the enlargement of the scope of The Church Pension Fund to include full time church workers, which was referred to the Committee on The Church Pension Fund.

The Rev. Mr. Howlett, of Nevada, on the Third Day, presented a resolution regarding a pension plan for full time lay employees, which was referred to the Committee on The Church Pension Fund.

Mr. Greene, of Washington, on the Tenth Day, presented Report No. 7 of the Committee on The Church Pension Fund:

Your Committee, having considered the Memorial submitted by the Diocese of Michigan, and that by the Diocese of Missouri reports as follows:

1. The Memorial, a copy of which is attached, after reciting the lack of Churchwide pension provision for lay workers in professional and non-professional capacities, directs the Delegates from the Diocese of Michigan to bring this matter before General Convention, and to request that the Pension Fund of the Church be enlarged to include these full-time workers.

2. Such persons comprise a group in which tenure in the work is variable, and often relatively short. Hence its personnel is constantly changing. Its members as a group have no clearly defined relationship with any central agency. It is not deemed to be practicable to enlarge The Church Pension Fund so as to include this group.

3. Protection for lay workers in Parishes and Missions, and in Diocesan Offices, can best be handled at the Diocesan level, where local conditions may be taken into consideration. Annuity policies may be provided by the Parish or Diocese, or Group Insurance, convertible to annuities, may be provided by the Diocese.

4. The Church Life Insurance Corporation has issued a pamphlet entitled "Lay Worker Pensions" which is recommended for study by the Members of this General Convention and throughout the Church. Appendix I of the Report of the Joint Commission to Study Clergy Pension Plans and Clerical Salaries also deals with Group Insurance.

Your Committee therefore offers the following resolution:

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that the matter of pensions and insurance protection for lay workers, both professional and non-professional be commended to the several Dioceses and Missionary Districts and to the Joint Commission on the Status and Training of Professional Women Workers for such action as they may deem to be appropriate.
Adopted by the House.

The House concurred.

Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that the first proviso of Article X of the Constitution be and it is hereby amended to read as follows:

But not withstanding anything hereinabove contained, the General Convention may at any one meeting, by a majority of the whole number of Bishops entitled to vote in the House of Bishops and a majority of each order in the House of Deputies,

a. Amend the Table of Lessons and all Tables and Rubrics relating to the Psalms;

b. Authorize for trial use throughout this Church, as an alternative at any time or times to the established Book of Common Prayer or to any section of Office thereof, a proposed revision of the Whole Book or any portion thereof, duly undertaken by the General Convention.

Referred to the Committee on Constitution.

Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that the second proviso of Article X of the Constitution be and it is hereby amended by deletion of the word "further."

Referred to the Committee on Constitution.

The Bishop of Alabama, on the Seventh Day, reporting for the Committee on the Constitution on the amendments proposed by the Standing Liturgical Commission to Article X of the Constitution recommended the following substitute amendment:

Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that pursuant to Article XI of the Constitution, an amendment to the Constitution is hereby proposed and that the same be made known to the several Dioceses and Missionary Districts in accordance with Article XI of the Constitution in order that the same may be adopted at the next General Convention, to-wit:

That the first proviso of Article X of the Constitution be amended by adding to it as follows:

"and, further, that the General Convention shall have power, in like manner, to authorize for trial use, subject to the direction of the Bishop of each Diocese or Missionary District, a proposed revision of the whole Book of Common Prayer or any portion thereof."

Referred to the Committee on Prayer Book.

The Bishop of Connecticut, on the Eighth Day, reporting for the Committee on the Prayer Book, recommended no action be taken on the amendments to Article X of the Constitution proposed by the Standing Liturgical Commission or the substitute amendment suggested by the Committee on Constitution.

On motion the House so voted.

The Bishop of Kansas, on the Third Day, presented the following resolution:

Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that the sum of $4,500.00 be and it hereby is appropriated for the regular expenses of the Standing Liturgical Commission for the ensuing triennium.

The foregoing resolution was referred to the Committee on Expenses, House of Deputies.

The Rev. Dr. Fenn, of Maryland, on the Fourth Day, presented Report No. 9 of the Committee on Amendments to the Constitution, regarding Resolution No. 1 in the Report of the Standing Liturgical Commission. This was placed on the Calendar No. 25.

Item No. 25 was taken from the Calendar, on the Eleventh Day, being Report No. 9 of the Committee on Amendments to the Constitution:

The Committee has considered Resolution No. 1 contained in the report of the Standing Liturgical Commission, suggesting an amendment of the first proviso of Article X of the Constitution. The Committee finds that with the exception of the usual provision for reference of the proposed amendment to the several Dioceses and Missionary Districts, the provisions of this resolution are in proper constitutional form. The committee believes, however, that the adoption of such an amendment is inadvisable for the reason that it weakens the basic purpose of Article X in safeguarding amendments to the Prayer Book by attempting to add another exception to the usual constitutional requirements for such amendment and introduces another way in which the constitutional method for revising the Prayer Book can be nullified. The Committee points out that if its recommendations as above set forth are persuasive with the House, Resolution No. 2 contained in the report of the Standing Liturgical Commission should not be adopted. Accordingly, the Committee asks leave to be discharged from further consideration of these proposed resolutions.

The report was accepted.
The Lord's Prayer—Change of Phrasing

Dean Clark, of Harrisburg, on the First Day, presented a resolution regarding changing the wording of the Lord's Prayer, which was referred to the Committee on the Prayer Book.

The Rev. Mr. Clark, of Wyoming, on the Fourth Day, presented Report No. 4 of the Committee on the Prayer Book:

The Committee has considered the resolution from the Diocese of Harrisburg for the changing of the phrase in the Lord's Prayer "and lead us not into temptation" to read "and let us not fall when tempted," and since such a change would require a revision of the Prayer Book, the Committee suggests that it be referred to the Standing Liturgical Commission, without recommendation.

The House accepted the recommendation of the Committee.

The Lord's Prayer—Shorter Form

The Secretary of the House of Deputies, on the Second Day, presented a Memorial from the Synod of the Province of the Pacific regarding the use of the Lord's Prayer, without the doxology, during Advent and Lent, which was referred to the Committee on the Prayer Book.

The Rev. Mr. Day, of Massachusetts, presented Report No. 6 of the Committee on the Prayer Book:

Your Committee has received the memorial from the Province of the Pacific requesting General Convention to grant permission for the use of the shorter form of the Lord's Prayer (i.e. without the Doxology: For thine is the kingdom and the power and the glory for ever and ever.) during the seasons of Advent and Lent.

Your Committee considered this request and is of the opinion that permission to drop the doxology in the Lord's Prayer at certain seasons would create confusion in the congregations of the Church unless there were a rubric in the Book of Common Prayer at the appropriate places warning the congregation that the Lord's Prayer was to be cut short.

Your Committee does not recommend that this change be authorized and asks to be discharged from further consideration of it.

The report was accepted.

Marginal Readings Bible

The Secretary of the House of Deputies, on the First Day, presented a Memorial from the Diocese of New Jersey requesting the reprinting of the Marginal Readings Bible of 1903, which was referred to the Committee on Christian Education.
The Rev. Mr. Warner, of Western Michigan, on the Fourth Day, presented Report No. 3 of the Committee on Christian Education:

The Committee reports that it has considered the resolution adopted by the Convention of the Diocese of New Jersey May 6, 1958, on the subject of the Marginal Readings Bible of 1903.

The Committee considers the question of a publishing venture of such proportions to be beyond its scope, and several members of the Committee are of the opinion that such a reprinting is unnecessary because of increasing use of the Revised Standard Version of the Bible both in the services of the Church and in the home.

The Committee recommends, therefore, that no action be taken regarding this Memorial, and requests that it be discharged from further consideration of it.

As a substitute for this recommendation, Canon Stowe, of New Jersey, presented the following resolution:

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that the General Convention of 1958 requests the Church Hymnal Corporation, or some other publishing company, to reprint by offset process or letter press, the "Marginal Readings Bible" of 1903, in both lectern and Bible study sizes, and to do so, if possible, in time to be a contribution to the 350th Anniversary Celebration of the original publication of the King James or Authorized Version, 1611-1961.

Adopted by the House.

[Communicated to the House of Bishops by Message No. 38.]

The House did not concur.

Prayer Book Revision—Joint Commission on

The Rev. Mr. Day, of Massachusetts, on the Seventh Day, presented Report No. 10 of the Committee on the Prayer Book:

WHEREAS, The Standing Liturgical Commission has substantially completed its work; and

WHEREAS, The Commission for the revision and enrichment of the Book of Common Prayer which undertook the 1928 revision of the Book of Common Prayer was appointed in 1913; and

WHEREAS, The Prayer Book Committee believes that a revision of the Book of Common Prayer would be of great benefit to the Church in enriching and unifying its worship;

The Committee unanimously recommends the following resolution:

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that a Joint Commission consisting of seven Bishops, seven Presbyters, and seven laymen be appointed to consider and report at the next General Convention such revision and enrichment of the Prayer Book as will adapt it to present conditions; provided, that no proposition involving the faith and doctrine of the Church shall be considered and reported upon by the Commission; and provided, that no proposal to change the title page of the Prayer Book or the name of the Church shall be referred to the Commission.

The Rev. Dr. Barrett, of New York, on the Tenth Day, presented Report No. 8 of the Joint Committee on Committees and Commissions:

The Committee has considered the following resolution contained in the report of the Committee on the Prayer Book:

WHEREAS, The Standing Liturgical Commission has substantially completed its work; and

WHEREAS, The Commission for the revision and enrichment of the Book of Common Prayer which undertook the 1928 revision of the Book of Common Prayer was appointed in 1913; and

WHEREAS, The Prayer Book Committee believes that a revision of the Book of Common Prayer would be of great benefit to the Church in enriching and unifying its worship;

The Committee unanimously recommends the following resolution:

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that a Joint Commission consisting of eight Bishops, eight Presbyters, and eight laymen be appointed to consider and report at the next General Convention such revision and enrichment of the Prayer Book as will adapt it to present conditions; provided, that no proposition involving the faith and doctrine of the Church shall be considered and reported upon by the Commission; and provided, that no proposal to change the title page of the Prayer Book or the name of the Church shall be referred to the Commission.

The Committee does not feel that the question of the desirability of a revision of the Prayer Book is within its province but is rather an issue to be decided by the Convention itself.

If the Convention desires at this time to begin action toward a revision of the Book of Common Prayer, the Committee recommends the adoption of the proposed resolution, with the recommendation that it be first referred to the Committee on Expenses for a proper appropriation, which we believe would amount to at least $10,000.00 during the coming triennium. The Committee asks to be discharged from further consideration of this resolution.

The Committee was discharged, and the resolution put before the House. An amendment to strike out both provisos of the resolution was introduced. The two provisos were separated.

The Bishop Coadjutor of Indianapolis, on the Third Day, presented the following resolution:

WHEREAS, Much emphasis has been placed on the question of age of the new Presiding Bishop, the implications being that a man too old will have no time for adjustment and a young man too long; and

WHEREAS, We have been blessed with superb leadership, but we have obviously allowed the duties of the Presiding Bishop to be increased to the danger point because of our failure to define our own aims for the nature of this office, expecting in one man to find our Spiritual leadership as well as the business administrator for the vast work of the departments of the National Church; and

WHEREAS, We look forward to a greatly increased program of development in the departments of the National Council, making even greater demands on the administrative head; therefore be it

Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that General Convention asks the new Presiding Bishop in consultation with the President of the House of Deputies, to appoint a Joint Committee of both Houses of this Convention to study with him both the nature of this Office and the means of assisting him and the Church in the leadership of the departmental work of the Church.

The Committee has considered also a similar resolution referred to it by the Bishop Coadjutor of Indianapolis.

WHEREAS, The Presiding Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the U.S.A. is deprived of pastoral functions and Episcopal jurisdiction; therefore be it

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that provision be made for Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that a joint committee be appointed to study this matter and report its proposals to the next General

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMITTEE ON PROGRAM AND BUDGET, 1958

INTRODUCTION

When God calls His Church to any great new opportunity, all that He requires is for His people to see the evidence that is before their eyes and to go forward with courage. We are told that while the children of Israel were still in the desert, Moses sent Caleb and other emissaries into the Promised Land. When the men came back they had a cluster of grapes so large that two men had to carry it on a staff. Caleb said, "Let us go up at once and possess it; for we are well able to overcome it."

There were, of course, some who could see only the difficulties. "The land . . . is a land that eateth up the inhabitants thereof; and all the people that we saw in it are men of great stature. And there we saw the giants . . . and we were in our own sight as grasshoppers, and so we were in their sight." Those who saw only the difficulties of the opportunity that lay before them prevailed.

Now the question before the people of the Episcopal Church meeting in this Convention, is whether we will meet the opportunities of the day . . . the vast increase of population at home, the need of many countries around the world . . . whether or not we will use for a holy purpose our share as a Church in the greatest wealth of any nation in history, or whether we will draw back.

Are we to take as our text for the next three years "We were in our own sight as grasshoppers"— Or are we to use the words of Caleb, "Let us go up at once and possess it; for we are well able to overcome it?"

Any budget is expressed in dollars and cents. Money was invented as a convenience in the exchange of goods and services. But money's only meaning is in what it can do for men, women and children, and in how it can help to fulfill the will of God for His Church.

Here the Church's buying power opens the way to a Promised Land that we know the people of the Church wish to enter.

NATIONAL COUNCIL

We commend our National Council for employing an expert firm of management consultants to survey our existing administrative organization and the manner by which it can be strengthened. We wish to thank the officers, department heads and staff for preparing and making available to us, and to the members of General Convention, the data essential to the work of this Program and Budget Committee in planning for the growing needs of the Church, and for their full cooperation with the Committee while in session.

We recommend to National Council the strengthening of our administrative organization by engaging, at a salary of $15,000 per annum, the services of an executive assistant sharing administrative responsibilities with the Presiding Bishop, as suggested by the aforesaid firm of management consultants.

Finally, we applaud the closer association which has become established between the General Division of Women's Work (formerly the Woman's Auxiliary) and the several Departments of the National Council. We give humble thanks to Almighty God for the devoted work and magnificent generosity of our women. God bless them!

SHAPING THE PROGRAM

National Council has presented to us a tentative program calling upon us to continue the existing work of our National Church and to inaugurate new work, to provide capital funds for urgent needs at home and overseas, and to launch a new Church magazine which, through its popular appeal, will command wide reading throughout our membership. We have sought to prepare a Program which will recognize the necessity of lifting our sights and will challenge the whole Church to greater corporate effort realistically.

THE CHURCH'S PROGRAM

Here, in broad outline, is the Church's Program as we conceive it:

HOME DEPARTMENT

"Ye shall be witnesses unto Me in Jerusalem, and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and unto the uttermost parts of the earth,"

We record with satisfaction the strides that our missionary districts in continental United States are making toward complete autonomy and self-support. Not since 1922 have two missionary districts come to General Convention seeking admission as dioceses. We commend Arizona and Northwest Texas for taking this momentous step at this Convention. As existing fields assume the burden of self-support the resources of the National Church become available for new work and specialized work. In the light of increased costs of living we have seen fit to recommend overdue increases in missionary salaries for bishops, priests, and lay personnel throughout the Home Field. We underline in our Program the responsibility of the Church for the thousands of our young men now serving in the Armed Forces, separated from normal family and Church life.

We call attention to the campuses of our colleges and universities as offering one of the most important and strategic missionary opportunities of this day. The leaders of the Church of tomorrow are on our campuses today. We recognize the educational, pastoral and evangelistic responsibility of the Church to special racial and minority groups in our population as "souls for whom Christ died." And finally, we commend the program of "on the job" training for seminarians, "in service" training for men in the field, and other means of producing an increasing number of qualified workers in town and country, which too generally in the past has been the neglected area of our Church's work in our own land. All of these emphases are reflected in the budget for the Home Department, which provides the necessary cost of living increases, the continuation of existing work, and reasonable advances looking to the strategic needs of the future.

OVERSEAS DEPARTMENT

The evidence of our worldwide task is in the mission field overseas. Frequently the growth has been retarded because even when men became available, means have been lacking to send them into the field. A Missionary Reserve, set up in this budget, for the first time, will enable the Overseas Department to meet needs as they arise, and place men in strategic places. Much needed increases are granted in the salaries of Overseas Bishops and in the minimum salaries for unmarried missionaries.

Since the development of a Church rooted in the soil with its own indigenous ministry is the avowed goal of our Program, we are heartened at the growing strength and effectiveness of our theological seminaries in the overseas field. A new seminary in Puerto Rico will aid the whole Spanish-speaking Latin-American field along with the existing Mexican seminary at Guadalajara. Haiti has a small but vigorous seminary for the training of its French-speaking clergy. Brazil has had a long and honorable history in training its Portuguese-speaking clergy at Porto Alegre. Cuttington College in Liberia trains all the native clergy of our African outpost. In the Pacific area the Central Theological School in Japan, and St. Andrew's Seminary in Manila each performs an indispensable function in the field which it serves.

Our work in the Pacific area overseas constitutes a strategic outpost of our whole missionary endeavor.

In Alaska, the coming of statehood presages a large immigration from the older states, and the Church under Bishop Gordon's leadership is preparing to minister to a white population which has already more than doubled since 1950. Self-support has grown, and new work is being established. The work among the Indians and Eskimos in the Yukon valley and above the Arctic Circle which can never become self-supporting in any foreseeable future, remains a paramount responsibility, inasmuch as many whole communities owe their evangelization to our missionaries and depend on the Episcopal Church for their spiritual sustenance.

In Japan, responsibility for the progress rests upon the Nippon Sei Kokwai. By agreement with its Presiding Bishop, the Rt. Rev. Michael H. Yashiro, our direct support of Japanese missionaries is being steadily reduced. Our principal aid to the Japanese program is the support of American missionary personnel who serve as a sort of catalytic agent to the evangelistic and educational efforts of the Japanese Church, and in substantial subsidies to our Church institutions of higher learning and theological education. Okinawa represents the most glorious and appealing missionary advance of our Church in the last ten years. Increased appropriations will guarantee continued healthy growth in this field which to this time has been virtually a monopoly of the American Episcopal Church.

In the Philippine Islands, under Bishop Ogilby, we have been making encouraging progress in the development of self-support and in the training of native leadership. Our relations with the Philippine Independent Church, symbolized by our sharing together the facilities of St. Andrews' Theological Seminary, constitute a most significant ecumenical advance.

The Missionary District of Honolulu at the Crossroads of the Pacific continues to show gratifying growth and is now 85 per cent self-supporting. In addition to his oversight of Okinawa, Bishop Kennedy's far-flung jurisdiction includes Guam (where we are taking advantage of a new opportunity), Wake and Midway Islands, and Taiwan, where our work among the Chinese refugees continues. At Hong Kong and Singapore, and in India and Pakistan we support personnel who symbolize the solidarity of our missionary program with that of the Church of England and other portions of the Anglican Communion.

In the lands to the south of us we rejoice to record the hope of new advance for our Church in Mexico under the leadership of Bishop Saucedo; the opening of a new field in Central America, where Bishop Richards is laying the groundwork for our witness to Christ in the five republics of Guatemala, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica and El Salvador; the expansion of our work in the Canal Zone, Panama, and Colombia under Bishop Gooden; the development of a Brazilian National Church in the three dioceses of our work in that vast republic; encouraging progress in each of our island missionary districts, Cuba, Haiti, the Dominican Republic, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands; and in our oldest missionary district in the Republic of Liberia, where our American Church makes its contribution to the Christianization of a great Continent in a state of political and social flux.
Christian Education

The Church's program in Christian Education must rest on the words, "teaching them to observe whatsoever I have commanded you." When nine years ago, with daring and determination, a fresh and imaginative approach was initiated, its first part consisted of The Church's Teaching Series. These basic text books were accepted with enthusiasm by the whole Church. The curriculum next developed is now undergoing intensive testing and revision. Publication of the Seabury Series continues to be the backbone of the Seabury Press operation.

Of equal importance with the production of material is the recruiting and training of those who teach. The continuing Leadership Training Program prepares diocesan departments, clergy and teachers for every phase of Christian Education in the Church. This program has built family life into parish life, led to a tremendous growth in Church School students and teachers, and brought new ideas and methods into women's work and laymen's work. Christian Education material is now being developed for the small Church School.

Christian Social Relations

The teaching which Christ commanded His Church to observe includes help to the hungry, the stranger, the sick, and those in prison. In our increasingly urban civilization the needs of humanity take new forms. Our program of Christian Social Relations reflects the Church's awareness and concern by providing a ministry to American Indians relocating in urban areas, help in training chairmen of Christian Social Relations departments in our dioceses and missionary districts, the development of a specialized ministry to the aged, study of the problems of alcoholism, and increased support of the program of Urban-Industrial Church Work, a field whose problems are only beginning to be understood and requiring entirely new concepts and methods for successful solution.

Capital Needs

In world history this is an age of population growth and shifts. New cities, with their hospitals, schools and universities, are accordingly founded. The Church's mandate to reach both the churched and the unchurched requires her to grow at least as rapidly as the population around her. This calls for a steady, reliable and continuing capital development. The present budget recognizes that this should not be left to special appeals or the uncertainty of gifts but made a regular part of our investment in our Father's business. We hope that the present provision of $500,000 in 1960 and $1,000,000 in 1961 for capital purposes will be increased by future Conventions until we meet what future research studies shall have established as our minimum need.

An Episcopal Church Magazine

We have carefully considered the proposal of the National Council that the Episcopal Church establish a national magazine, and we agree that such a publication could be a force in making deeper Christians and better informed and more loyal and active Churchmen.

This venture must be launched only in such a way that it will be a completely successful, Church-wide, every-family publication. This requires further study and intensive testing.
Therefore, we propose that the Presiding Bishop appoint a board of Church members, skilled in the communications field, to direct the work of a new Unit of Magazine Study. With the present assets of Forth and the new appropriations recommended (1959, $31,000; 1960, $46,800; 1961, $54,800), we believe it will be possible to develop a new, attractive and readable magazine with wide appeal, to test its readership, and to develop sound methods of reaching every family in the Church. Then we shall have the essential data to show the kind of magazine needed and the means whereby to achieve it.

THE BUDGET

To carry out the program, your Committee submits to General Convention the following Budget for the triennium.

RESOLUTION NO. 4

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that the National Council be, and hereby is, instructed, before February 15, in each year of the Triennium, to adjust the Budget in a sum reasonably within the total expectations plus other anticipated income, thus maintaining the pay-as-you-go principle throughout the Triennium.

RESOLUTION NO. 5

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that in all matters of Budget revision the National Council be urged to protect the missionary salaries and increases therein and missionary travel items contained in the Budget for the next Triennium, thereby making them the last to suffer reduction.

RESOLUTION NO. 6

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that an appropriation of $3,500.00 for the Triennium 1959, 1960 and 1961 be included in the Budget of General Convention for the work of the Joint Committee on Program and Budget.

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that during the ensuing Triennium such Board is hereby authorized and empowered: a—To study, design, pilot test and appraise the proposal for an Episcopal Church magazine to serve the interests of all the people of our Church; b—To expend thereon up to the total of the several amounts appropriated by the Budget of our Church for the ensuing Triennium to the Division of General Administration under the Unit of Church Magazine Study, as well as such further amounts which may be contributed there to from sources other than our Budget; c—To appropriate there to our existing magazine of the name of FORTH and all its subscription lists, properties, assets and appropriations, and to make such use thereof as such Board may deem fit; d—To appoint and/or employ all such officers, directors, and staff as such Board may elect and determine; and e—To enlist the co-operation, advice, counsel, and assistance of every Department of our Church as such Board might reasonably require to fulfill and carry out the purposes and objectives of these resolutions; and, further

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that the National Council is requested to assign to appropriate Departments or Units the responsibility for reviewing and appraising the requests for financial assistance from any agency or organizations not under the administrative control of the Council.

RESOLUTION No. 9

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that this 59th General Convention urge all members of the Church to practice tithing as a basic Christian responsibility and privilege, and be it further Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that this 59th General Convention commend to all vestries the goal of giving one-half of the ordinary income of their parishes to work outside of their parishes on National, Diocesan, and local programs.

CONCLUSION

There are times in the history of every movement when comes a lag, as previous gains are consolidated before a new advance is made. Sometimes weariness, cynicism and inertia prolong this lag unduly. "Tis said that the witty clergyman, Sydney Smith, was speaking slightingly of the missionary enterprise in the presence of the Duke of Wellington, till finally that great English hero and Churchman could stand it no more, and blurted out, "Look to your marching orders, sir!" In our proper concern for the consolidation of our gains at the parish and diocesan level, we must never lose sight of the Divine imperative for the great over-all advance of the Church. Let us recall again the marching orders of the Captain of our salvation: "Go ye into all the world, and make disciples of all nations, baptizing them in the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you alway, even unto the end of the world."
Let us heed that command, that we may continue to merit that promise.

Racial Discrimination

Bishop W. Appleton Lawrence, on the Second Day, on behalf of the Episcopal Pacifist Fellowship, presented the following resolution:

Inasmuch, As God made man in His own image, and all men of one blood; and

Whereas, Any form of discrimination based on race, creed or class is a denial of the unity of mankind and the Church as the body of Christ;

Whereas, It is imperative always that Christians seek means of reconciliation;

Whereas, In the life of our country we are all involved in the sin of segregation; therefore be it

Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that the General Convention initiate as well as support efforts to defend each individual's rights to full freedom of participation in the total society of our land.

The foregoing resolution was referred to the Committee on Social and International Affairs.

The Bishop of Texas, on the Fifth Day, reporting for the Committee on Social and International Affairs, presented, as a substitute, the following resolution:

Whereas, Holy Scripture teaches that God created man in His likeness and image and sent His Son, that in Him all mankind might find essential unity; and

Whereas, The perversity of human nature is sowing the seeds of racial conflict and tension throughout the world; and

Whereas, The Church's task in such conflict is to reconcile man to man and race to race, through the healing and redeeming power of Jesus Christ; and
WHEREAS, The difficulty of applying the Christian Principle of Brother­hood in specific situations is continuing to divide sincere Christians and to arouse our compassion for all who are especially involved: therefore be it

Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that we call upon;

1. Our families to foster a Christian understanding of race relations and to lead their children into such Christian attitudes as will prevent prejudice and promote mutual trust,

2. Our congregations to plan and carry forth such programs of prayer and study as will create, maintain and strengthen the lines of communication between all races,

3. Our church and civil leaders to direct their people beyond the easy standards of local expediency and to provide such creative and positive leadership as will establish that society in which every race will have the freedom to enjoy, without discrimination and without separation, all opportunities in education, housing, employment, public accommodations and all other aspects of church and civil life,

4. And our people to implement loyally and effectively the Lambeth trilateral of “mutual understanding, calm reason, and constant prayer”, through which our Heavenly Father will grant us that peace and righteousness which He alone can give.

The Committee on Christian Social Relations wishes to withdraw its motion for concurrence with Message No. 56 of the House of Bishops, and moves to amend it with the following substitute resolution:

WHEREAS, We believe in the natural dignity and value of every man, of whatever color or race, as created in the image of God and as one for whom Christ died and that discrimination by reason of color or race between men has as its root human sin and that the Church must confess its own sin in this area; and

WHEREAS, We acknowledge that there are no easy answers to the problems created by the effort to apply these convictions to special and local situations, particularly in times of cultural and social change, and that the composite thoughts of Churchmen in conference or convention may or may not be the will of God because we all stand under the judgment of God and not finally under the judgments of fallible men; and also that, despite honest differences of opinion, we are bound together, through our union in Christ and His fellowship of love, to seek God's will:

Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that we call first upon our fellow Churchmen by God's grace to work together in order that every citizen shall have open access to the public schools of the nation and, that by opening channels of Christian conference and communication between the races concerned in each diocese and community, they anticipate constructively the local implementation of this course; and be it further Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that we call on all members of the Church to work actively to eliminate racial discrimination in the life of our Church as well as in the realm of housing, employment, restaurants and all other phases of our common life.

Mr. Moore, of South Carolina, presented a substitute:

WHEREAS, The judgment of the Supreme Court of the United States in the school segregation cases has created a diversity of opinion in the Church so that some condemn as evil what they formerly accepted or condoned; and
WHEREAS, The opinion of the Supreme Court on questions of religion has no binding force; therefore be it

Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that in the opinion of this Convention it is still possible for Christian men to hold differing views on this and other subjects, and that a sincere belief in some degree of segregation is compatible with a belief in the dignity of all men and their equality in the sight of God.

Mr. Causey, of Virginia, presented a resolution on behalf of the Virginia deputation, as a substitute:

WHEREAS, We believe in the natural dignity and value of every man, of whatever color or race, as created in the image of God and as one for whom Christ died; that discrimination by reason of color or race between men has as its root human sin; that the Church must confess its own sin in this area; and

WHEREAS, We acknowledge that there are no easy answers to the problems created by the effort to apply these convictions to special and local situations, particularly in times of cultural and social change, and that the composite thoughts of Churchmen in conference or convention may or may not be the will of God because we all stand under the judgment of God and not finally under the judgments of fallible men; and also that, despite honest differences of opinion, we are bound together, through our union in Christ and His fellowship of love, to seek God's will; therefore be it

Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that we call first upon our fellow Churchmen by God's grace to cleanse themselves of all spirit of racial discrimination; and then upon all persons, especially the members of our Church, to work together, in charity and forbearance, towards the establishment, without racial discrimination, of full opportunities in fields such as education, housing, employment and public accommodations.

The Rev. Mr. Seekins, of Albany, presented the resolutions which were adopted by the General Convention of 1955, as follows:

WHEREAS, The Supreme Court of these United States has ruled that every citizen shall have open access to the public schools and colleges of the entire nation; therefore be it

Resolved, That the 58th General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America now commends to all the clergy and people of this Church that they accept and support this ruling of the Supreme Court, and, that by opening channels of Christian conference and communication between the races concerned in each diocese and community, they anticipate constructively the local implementation of this ruling as the law of the land; and be it further

Resolved, That we make our own the statement of the Anglican Congress that "in the work of the Church we should welcome people of any race at any service conducted by a priest or layman of any ethnic origin, and bring them into the full fellowship of the congregation and its organizations."

A motion to table all amendments was lost.

The resolution proposed by the Rev. Mr. Seekins was tabled.
The Virginia resolution was presented for voting, and was amended by the Rev. Mr. Smyth, of North Carolina, with the consent of the mover, to read as indicated above.

Unity—Joint Commission on

The Secretary of the House of Deputies, on the First Day, presented by title the Report of the Joint Commission on Approaches to Unity. (See Appendix 36.) This was referred to the Committee on Ecumenical Relations. Resolution No. 1 was referred to the Joint Committee on Committees and Commissions, and Resolution No. 2 to the Committee on Expenses.
The Rev. Dr. Barrett, of New York, on the Tenth Day, presented Report No. 13 of the Joint Committee on Committees and Commissions:

The Joint Committee on Committees and Commissions has had under consideration the resolutions submitted in the Report of the Joint Commission on Approaches to Unity.

The Joint Committee on Committees and Commissions has also given preliminary study to the possible combination of this and two other related Commissions into one Joint Commission, the present Commissions involved being those on Approaches to Unity, on Ecumenical Relations, and on Cooperation with the Eastern Churches. Conferences have been held with the Chairmen of these three Joint Commissions as well as with a number of their members.

While the Joint Committee on Committees and Commissions feels that the combination of these three related Commissions is a real possibility, the Joint Committee on Committees and Commissions believes that a more thorough study of the problem is needed before it makes a responsible recommendation one way or the other, and has therefore put this matter upon its agenda for study during the triennium for report to the next General Convention.

In the meantime, the Joint Committee on Committees and Commissions recommends the continuance of these related Commissions as separate Commissions. Appropriate resolutions regarding those on Ecumenical Relations and on Cooperation with Eastern Churches are being introduced in the House of Bishops, and the Joint Committee on Committees and Commissions now recommends favorable action on the following resolution:

Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that the Joint Commission on Approaches to Unity be continued, and that it be directed to continue negotiations with the Methodist Church and the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, and to initiate or further such conversations with representatives of such other Christian bodies as in its judgment may lead to closer fellowship with them.

Adopted by the House.

[Communicated to the House of Bishops by Message No. 116.]

The House concurred, with the following amendment:

Delete all that follows the words "the Joint Commission on Approaches to Unity be continued."

War and Peace

The deputation of the Diocese of Massachusetts, on the First Day, presented a resolution regarding the control of nuclear bomb tests, which was referred to the Committee on National and International Problems.

Bishop W. Appleton Lawrence, on the Second Day, on behalf of the Episcopal Pacifist Fellowship, presented the following resolution:

WHEREAS, The Lambeth Conference of 1958 has reaffirmed that "War as a method of settling international disputes is incompatible with the teaching and example of our Lord Jesus Christ," and that "Nothing less than the abolition of war itself should be the goal of the nations, their leaders, and all citizens," and that the use of nuclear bombs and other weapons of similar indiscriminate destructive power is "repugnant to the Christian conscience" and, in our view, morally indefensible; and

WHEREAS, We agree with the opinion of the Second Assembly of the World Council of Churches at Evanston in 1954 when it said, "It is not enough for the churches to proclaim that war is evil. They must study afresh the Christian approaches to peace . . ." and with the Central Committee of the World Council at its meeting in 1957 when it urged "that as a first step governments conducting tests should forego them, at least for a trial period, either together, or individually in the hope that others will do the same, a new confidence be born, and foundations laid for reliable agreements"; and

WHEREAS, We believe that in the cataclysmic events of our time, the Church has been given another chance to exercise through word and deed the ministry of reconciliation; therefore be it

Resolved, That we call upon the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church to go on record as recommending disengagement of the Church and its members from the methods of war and to undertake, in the words of the President of the National Council of Churches in his presidential address at St. Louis on December 6, 1957, "a program of massive reconciliation throughout the total life of mankind."

We further call upon the General Convention to institute a study through the National Council of preparedness in terms of non-violent defense and winning peace by methods which are compatible with the mind of Christ.

The foregoing resolution was referred to the Committee on Social and International Affairs.

The Bishop of Texas, on the Fifth Day, reporting for the Committee on Social and International Affairs offered a substitute resolution for a resolution presented by Bishop W. Appleton Lawrence, concerning the abolition of war.

The matter was placed on the Calendar.
The Bishop of Maine for the Committee on Social and International Affairs returned to the floor the resolution by Bishop W. Appleton Lawrence concerning the abolition of war and the substitute resolution presented by this Committee.

On motion, after further discussion, the House returned the motions to the Committee.

WHEREAS, The Lambeth Conference of 1958 reaffirmed that "War as a method of settling international disputes is incompatible with the teaching and example of our Lord Jesus Christ", and, that "Nothing less than the abolition of war itself should be the goal of the nations, their leaders and all citizens"; therefore be it

Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that this General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church affirms the provisions of Resolution 106 of the Lambeth Conference of 1958:

(1). That Christians "press through their governments, as a matter of the utmost urgency, for the abolition by international agreement of nuclear bombs and other weapons of similar indiscriminate destructive power, the use of which is repugnant to the Christian conscience. To this end governments should accept such limitations of their own sovereignty as effective control demands".

(2). That Christians urge their governments "to devote their utmost efforts at once to framing a comprehensive international disarmament treaty which shall also provide for the progressive reduction of armed forces and conventional armaments".

(3). That Christians support their governments in seeking to maintain peace and security in accordance with the United Nations Charter, and be it further Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that National Council be requested to institute a study of winning and maintaining peace by methods which are compatible with the mind of Christ.

Item No. 38 was taken from the Calendar, being Message No. 95 of the House of Bishops. Canon Stretch, of Long Island, for the Committee on National and International Problems, suggested this as a substitute for Item No. 39.

Mr. Bronson, of Minnesota, moved that the last resolve of Calendar Item No. 39, be substituted for the last resolve of Message No. 95, and that the House concur with Message No. 95, with the following amendment:

WHEREAS, The Lambeth Conference of 1958 reaffirmed that "War as a method of settling international disputes is incompatible with the teaching and example of our Lord Jesus Christ", and, that "Nothing less than the abolition of war itself should be the goal of the nations, their leaders and all citizens"; therefore be it

APPENDICES

APPENDIX 1
REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMISSION TO STUDY THE PROBLEMS OF ALCOHOLISM

This Commission was created in 1955 pursuant to a resolution of the General Convention. It was directed by the General Convention "to study the problems of alcoholism as they relate to this Church and to the Church's duty to society" and to report its activities and recommendations to the next General Convention. The personnel of this Commission is as follows: the Right Rev. C. Alfred Cole of Upper South Carolina; the Right Rev. J. Brooke Mosley of Delaware; the Rev. Canon Bernard C. Newman of New York; the Rev. George L. Cadigan of Rochester; Ebbe C. Hoff, M.D., of Virginia; Dean K. Brooks, M.D., of Oregon; Mrs. J. Prescott Seldon of Maryland and Mrs. Robert H. Durham of Michigan.

Your Commission interpreted its task to be two-fold, to study the problems of alcoholism as they relate to the Church and society and to continue and expand the work begun by the Joint Committee on Alcoholism. We have held four meetings as a Commission during the past three years.

The first meeting was held at the Church Missions House, New York City, April 25, 1956.

A. At this meeting it was the consensus of opinion that the main function of this Commission was to coordinate and give stimulus to all efforts that are being made by the Church in this field rather than to operate independently. Accordingly for liaison purposes, it was decided to invite to subsequent meetings the following: the Rev. Almon R. Pepper, and the Rev. M. Moran Weston of the Department of Christian Social Relations; the Rev. David R. Hunter of the Department of Christian Education; Mrs. Arthur M. Sherman of the Woman's Auxiliary; the Rev. Howard V. Harper of the Presiding Bishop's Committee on Laymen's Work; and the Rev. Philip T. Zabriskie of the Division of College Work.

B. The long range task of the Commission seemed to be the formulation and promotion of a Church wide program of alcohol education.

C. Four immediate efforts were undertaken.

1. A subcommittee, composed of Dr. Hoff and Dr. Brooks, was appointed—

   a. To compile a bibliography of carefully selected literature dealing with the problems of alcohol and classified according to use with particular groups within the Church: Teen-Age Groups, College Students, Woman's Groups, Laymen's Groups, Clergy, and those seeking help for alcoholism.

   b. To prepare a list of qualified persons from State Commissions and other agencies, grouped geographically, available to speak on the subject.
2. The Rev. George L. Cadigan was appointed to continue the liaison program between our Church and other denominations.

3. Realizing the educational value of conference discussion, Bishop Cole was asked to write the bishops of the Church, suggesting that they sponsor two day conferences for the clergy on the subject of alcohol and society.

4. Bishop Mosley was appointed Chairman of a subcommittee to produce a theological statement on the use of alcoholic beverages to be used as a standard of reference.

The second meeting of the Commission was held at Seabury House, Greenwich, Conn., November 7-8, 1956. Dr. George Cadigan made a report for his committee which was received and approved. Dr. Ebbe Hoff reported on a bibliography of source material. His report was accepted and a motion passed that the bibliography be sent out by the Department of Christian Social Relations to representatives of the Department of Christian Social Relations, the Woman's Auxiliary, the Committee on Laymen's Work and to all bishops. Dr. Dean Brooks reported on the list of qualified persons from State Commissions and other agencies. His report was accepted and a motion passed that this list be kept on file in the Department of Christian Social Relations to be used as needed for distribution. The rest of the meeting was spent in considering the preliminary draft of the theological statement as reported by the Rt. Rev. J. Brooke Mosley. A motion was passed that leading Churchmen, theologians, and experts in the field of alcoholism be invited to the next meeting to assist in the completion of the statement.

The third meeting of the Commission was held at Seabury House, May 28-29, 1957. In addition to the members of the Commission, the following resource people were present and assisted in the production of the statement, "Alcohol, Alcoholism and Social Drinking," or what we believe about abstinence, drinking, drunkenness and alcoholism: the Rev. W. Norman Pittenger, Mrs. Theodore O. Wedel, Dr. Selden D. Bacon, Miss Dorothy Stabler, the Rev. David R. Hunter, Mrs. Lois Knowlson, the Rev. M. Moran Weston, the Rev. Almon R. Pepper, the Rev. Quintin E. Primo, the Rev. Jerry G. Carpenter, Dr. Yvelin Gardner, the Rev. A. Donald Davies, Mrs. Arthur M. Sherman, the Rev. Joseph L. Kellerman, and Mr. David Meharg.

The fourth meeting of the Commission was held at Seabury House, December 4-5, 1957. At this session, a subcommittee, composed of Canon Newman, Dr. Hoff and Mrs. Seldon, presented a proposed program on Society and Alcohol for the Protestant Episcopal Church. The Commission discussed the program, approved and recommended that it be submitted to the General Convention to provide the framework for a general program of alcohol education for the whole Church. We also summarized our work and made arrangements for the report to General Convention.

Summary

A. Our Commission joined with the Department of Christian Social Relations in granting scholarships to the Yale Summer School of Alcohol Studies for the summer session of 1956, the Joint Commission contributing $450 for this purpose.
B. Several individual members of the Commission have attended the North Conway Institute. Dr. Hoff is Vice President of the North Conway Foundation.

C. The "Statement," the bibliography and the pamphlet "In Every Parish," have been prepared and distributed for study and program building.

D. We acknowledge with gratitude the pioneer work done by the Joint Committee.

E. We express our appreciation to the National Council's Department of Christian Social Relations and to all the resource people who met with us for their gracious help and advice.

RECOMMENDATION

The Joint Commission recommends that the General Convention adopt the following program:

A PROGRAM ON SOCIETY AND ALCOHOL
FOR THE PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH IN THE U.S.A.

I. Scope and General Principles

a. An effective program for the Church on alcohol and alcohol problems must embrace all problems of alcohol as they affect people, including social drinking, effects of alcoholic beverages on behavior and performance (as on driving), teen-age drinking, problems of inebriety and dependence upon alcohol, the care of alcoholics and their families, and the principles and methods of sound alcohol education. It should be recognized that the problems of alcohol in our society are of such importance that they call for a major effort by the Church, an effort conceived and carried out on the basis of the best possible thinking and study. The need for such an effort is urgent. Genuine concern for these problems is an important part of the Church's legitimate concern for the mental, emotional and social health of people.

b. There should be effective coordination and cooperation in our whole Church life, particularly: the National Council, the Woman's Auxiliary, The Laymen's Committee, Diocesan Organizations, the Theological Seminaries, Episcopal Schools and Colleges, and the local parishes.

II. The National Council

a. It is recommended that a Division of Alcohol and Alcohol Problems be established in the Department of Christian Social Relations of the National Council.

b. The purpose and function of the Division would be to conduct an ongoing continuous examination of alcohol use and alcohol problems; to study the dimensions and characteristics of these problems as revealed by modern research, and to utilize advances in spiritual, moral, social, psychological and medical insight in working for resolution of alcohol problems.

The Executive Secretary of this Division should have a background of skill and competence in the field of social relations, a growing knowledge of modern research in alcohol problems, and should be a person of mature judgment, with intelligent, objective concern for the problems in this field. His duties would be: (1) to coordinate the alcohol program at the national level through cooperation with various departments; (2) to produce and assist in producing source material, discussion guides, bibliographies, and educational material for the use of the Church. He should also collect and make available material from other sources for the use of Church groups; (3) to give help and inspiration to seminaries, church schools and colleges, diocesan organizations, and parish groups in establishing and continuing sound alcohol programs; (4) to attend national and other meetings and conferences concerned with alcohol problems and underlying disciplines, and to become familiar with progress in the study of alcohol by correspondence and visits with professional centers and personnel in these fields.

c. It is appropriate that educational material and resources prepared by the Church should include attention to alcohol problems. These should be integrated into the general teaching materials in such a way as to promote wholesome attitudes and actions regarding these and other personal, social, and medical issues. For instance, in helping young people understand the processes of growing up and becoming mature people, questions about the use of alcohol among others should be raised.

III. The Theological Seminaries

a. It is essential that seminarians be educated in the pertinence and application of their disciplines to alcohol problems. This need not involve adding separate courses, but must involve awareness and appreciation of the significance of alcohol problems by seminary faculties, so that these problems will be illustrated, discussed and integrated into the existing curricula, including clinical training.

b. Seminary faculties should be urged, and helped to develop special interest and competence in alcohol problems so that they may guide and lead the Church in Christian thinking and action.

c. Opportunities should be made available for interested seminary faculty members to secure further training by attendance at the Yale School of Alcohol Studies, the North Conway Institute, and/or other special facilities.

IV. Episcopal Schools and Colleges

a. The Episcopal schools and colleges are in a particularly favorable position to introduce sound teaching about alcohol problems into their curricula in the areas of chemistry, biology, hygiene, psychology, the social sciences, and ethics.

b. Such teaching should be discussed in curriculum committees, faculty meetings, headmasters' conferences, etc.

V. Diocesan Organizations

a. Alcohol problems are the proper concern of Diocesan Departments of Christian Social Relations and Christian Education.
b. We recommend that each diocese have an active committee on alcohol problems in its Department of Christian Social Relations. Some of the functions of such a committee are: (1) to be in touch with the activities of the National Council; (2) to assist parish clergy and lay groups by making available source material and giving information on treatment and educational resources; (3) to provide speakers and help with programs; (4) to organize and sponsor clergy and lay conferences; (5) to assist clergy and directors of religious education in meeting problems of alcohol in parishes; (6) to stimulate interest in and concern for these problems in the diocese.

VI. Parish Churches

a. Clergy, Directors of Christian Education, Sunday School superintendents and other educational leaders should ensure that effective teaching about alcohol problems is incorporated into the educational program for children, young people, and adult groups. This is perhaps best done by introducing such teaching appropriately as it bears upon general principles of spiritual, mental, social and physical health.

b. Teaching and other source material and other guidance should be sought from the Diocesan Departments of Christian Social Relations and Christian Education and from the National Council.

c. With regard to the special problems presented by alcoholics and their families, the rector needs to be familiar with sources of help for them. He is urged to enlist experienced and skilled lay help in guiding the work undertaken in the community. If he is capable, by training and aptitude, of the work of counselling, he may make such work a part of his ministry. But all members of the Church, because of its very nature, can participate in creating an accepting, wholesome environment in which alcoholics and their families may find rehabilitation and health.

VII. The Woman's Auxiliary

While the problems of alcohol do touch upon the whole life of the parish, it is desirable that the Woman's Auxiliary assume these problems as a matter of special concern and action, especially in guiding the community in decisions and practices about the use of alcoholic beverages.

RESOLUTIONS

Your Commission offers the following resolutions:

Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that the report of the Joint Commission to Study the Problems of Alcoholism be accepted and that the Commission be continued under the name of the Joint Commission on Society and Alcohol; and be it further Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that the sum of $3,500.00 be appropriated to the Joint Commission on Society and Alcohol for the continuance and expansion of its work during the ensuing triennium.

Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that the appropriate Departments of the National Council, in cooperation with the Joint Commission on Society and Alcohol, implement such recommendations as are contained in this report.

APPENDIX 2

REPORT OF THE AMERICAN CHURCH BUILDING FUND COMMISSION

The American Church Building Fund Commission reports continuing progress in carrying out its mission to provide financial assistance for the erection, purchase, improvement and repair of Episcopal Church buildings.
AN INSTITUTION OF THE CHURCH

It should be emphasized that the Commission is an institution of the Church, and exclusively for the Church. Recognizing the necessity of providing for the building program of the Church, the General Convention in 1880 appointed a committee to consider the matter. The committee's report included the following statement:

"No necessity is so pressing at this time upon the Church at large as the erection of churches in the newer settlements of our country. There is no question of the importance of forming a Building Fund."

The General Convention, appreciating the report of its committee, thereupon established the American Church Building Fund Commission, and called upon the Church to contribute to the establishment of its capital fund. Thus the Commission was organized, and was incorporated in the State of New York on March 11, 1881.

The gifts and offerings which resulted from the appeal were set apart in a permanent fund from which building loans were made available. The net income could be used for gifts to churches where such assistance was necessary and expedient.

TO GROW, THE CHURCH MUST BUILD

The extent to which adequate building facilities contribute to the Church's growth and progress is receiving wider recognition. What established congregation, be it a parish or mission, can move forward or even maintain its influence in the community, if its facilities for worship, Christian education and parochial activities remain antiquated or inadequate?

Beyond the requirements of established churches, is the urgent need for new churches in the many new residential developments that have sprung up during the past dozen years. Growth in population throughout the country, and an unprecedented exodus of families from city and country to new communities where no established churches existed, have resulted in a church building boom of tremendous proportions.

Recently, the Home Department of the National Council reported that $262,000,000 had been spent by the Church on building projects during the previous 10 years. It predicted that an additional $708,000,000 would be required to provide for the expected growth of the next 20 years.

THE BURDEN IS BORNE BY THE INDIVIDUAL CHURCHMAN

The Home Department's report attributed 90% of the amount spent, to local congregations. The bulk of what has been accomplished is due to their loyalty and sacrifice.

The congregations of our Church today have a keen desire to stand on their own feet and pay their own way. They do not seek charity, but they urgently need assistance and the means of working out satisfactory financial arrangements that will assure the payment of building contracts in full when due.

Few, if any, churches are able to raise the entire cost of construction, to say nothing of furnishings and equipment, in cash at one time, but contracts must be paid on completion. Obviously, the difference between cash in hand and cost, must be borrowed. Many churches have succeeded in ob-containing loans from banks, some from insurance companies or other sources, but many others have not.

A church which cannot obtain financing is faced with a dilemma. To raise the entire cost by subscription would mean years of delay, and the odds are against success. It is an only too well known fact that members lose interest and tire of giving when the prospects of accomplishment are remote.

If the new building or improvement is not forthcoming when needed, it is difficult to attract newcomers and current membership is apt to decline. Under such circumstances, some churches are forced to use what funds they can obtain to do a partial job—perhaps the erection of a temporary structure or the addition of extra rooms to an existing building. Such makeshift arrangements are not a satisfactory substitute for a new building that has been planned with care to meet local requirements, and which could have been erected, if the necessary financing had been forthcoming. Disappointment and discouragement are the natural result, making the raising of additional funds all the more difficult.

On the other hand, churches that have completed new building projects have experienced a rising tide of interest and enthusiasm. Nothing succeeds like success. In many cases, the response in gifts and pledges has made possible the full repayment of loans far ahead of maturity. Growth and progress have been stimulated.

ORDERLY FINANCING WITHIN THE CHURCH

The American Church Building Fund Commission's years of service have demonstrated the advantages of such an institution within the Church, as those whom it has served bear witness.

The Board of Trustees, with a bishop as President, is composed of active and interested clergymen and laymen who bear in mind that the prime function of the Commission is to help congregations to help themselves in the attainment of their building objectives.

A significant advantage is that the use of the Fund returns net earnings which are not lost to the Church, but rather inure to her benefit. A large portion of the interest earned has gone back to the Church in the form of gifts and grants to complete building projects. More recently, due to changed conditions and increased demands, earnings have been transferred to enlarge the Permanent Fund.

The Commission encourages borrowing churches to retire their obligations as rapidly as possible. As a result, loan funds are doing double service. Recent experience indicates a complete turnover of the Fund in four and one-half years—more than double the rate normally expected.

SUMMARY OF SERVICE

An overall view of the Commission's activity is given in the following summary:

In the past 12 years, the Commission's loans financed building and improvement projects costing $7,910,190. The gifts and grants made during the same period, completed projects costing $1,138,303.

This record is noteworthy because it has been accomplished with relatively small working capital that has accumulated slowly over the years.

What the Commission Means to the Church

In the American Church Building Fund Commission, the Church has an existing corporate agency, organized to finance her building projects in an orderly, modern, effective and economical manner.

What this means to the Church is best known by the parishes and missions it has served. As the bishop of a western diocese wrote to his people, urging their support of an offering for the Commission,

"Not many people, except bishops and officials of aided parishes, can fully appreciate how much and how far reaching the Commission helps the Church. I can say without qualification that the Commission has helped us more than any single agency of the Church. Many are the times that I would not have known where to turn for loans, grants and gifts for our work if we had not had such a resource as the American Church Building Fund Commission."

Inadequate Resources a Roadblock to Progress

Since 1945, by actual count, the Commission has received an average of 137 inquiries annually from churches seeking building and improvement loans. Their expressed borrowing requirements averaged well over $1,600,000 annually. This does not include mission projects for which gifts were sought.

Compare the foregoing demand with the Commission's Permanent Fund of $1,170,000, 96% invested in current church loans and the remainder more than offset by approved applications on the waiting list. The Commission's ability to serve new applicants is limited to the money made available by payments on existing accounts, augmented by the offerings, gifts and legacies that are so gratefully received, but which have not kept pace with the demands of the past decade.

That the volume of service rendered in these recent years has been so high in the face of such limited funds, is primarily due to the prepayments that have been made by so many borrowing churches.

Shoulder to Shoulder Cooperation Can Bring About the Solution

The Commission is not in a position to compete with nor does it desire in any way to detract from the appeals of the national Church or the dioceses for capital funds to meet the extra budgetary needs of the Church. It recognizes the very great value of the capital fund drives of Episcopal jurisdictions for projects within their own borders.

The creation of such national and diocesan funds has not lessened the demands upon the American Church Building Fund Commission, and frequently has accentuated them.

_The Commission appeals only for the means adequately to fulfill its purpose and render the service requested by so many._

The American Church Building Fund Commission offers and will always extend

1. Its pledge to administer impartially and faithfully the resources entrusted to it for the benefit of the Church through sound business methods and a never-failing awareness of its Christian stewardship.

2. Its cooperation with the national Church, the dioceses and missionary districts in our common interest and endeavor to extend and upbuild the Church.

3. Its unstinted efforts to render to its client congregations, prompt and efficient service to the fullest extent that its resources will permit.

Given adequate working capital, and in the light of past performance, particularly during the last 12 years, the American Church Building Fund Commission can be a significant factor in resolving one of the most pressing problems facing the Church today.

APPENDIX 3

REPORT OF THE AMERICAN CHURCH INSTITUTE FOR NEGROES

Today, the United States is plunged into a critical period of racial integration. New legislation, renewed social concern, and steady Christian witness seek to heal old wounds that reopen as the nation strives to reconcile its preaching and practice. In spite of these efforts, however, racial tensions continue. Unfortunately, these are focused primarily in the schools. Now, more than ever, it is imperative for the Church to keep open the lines of communication between races.
For more than fifty years, the American Church Institute for Negroes, an agency of the Episcopal Church which has been at work improving educational opportunities for Negroes now operates under the auspices of the National Council. Through amendment of the By-laws, February 18, 1957, the Board of Trustees of the American Church Institute now consists of persons selected from the membership of the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church and/or its officers and staff. The funds of the American Church institute are handled by officers of the National Council. The Director of the Home Department is president of the Board of Trustees of the American Church Institute; the Executive Secretary of the Division of Racial Minorities is secretary, and the Assistant Treasurer of the National Council is treasurer of the American Church Institute.

There are now four schools and one college center in the American Church Institute: St. Paul's College (formerly St. Paul's Polytechnic Institute), Lawrenceville, Va.; St. Augustine's College, Raleigh, N.C.; Voorhees Junior College, Denmark, S.C.; Okolona College, Okolona, Miss.; and Fort Valley College Center, Fort Valley, Ga.

St. Agnes' Nurses' Training School is about to be closed due to the erection of new nurses' training school in the area of Raleigh, N.C., and has been dropped from the American Church Institute for Negroes schools. Fort Valley College Center has named its chapel St. Luke's, and the half of the work designated as college work alone is under the care of the American Church Institute for Negroes.

Each of these schools is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. Each school has an interracial board of trustees which meets regularly. As the schools continue to win respect and enthusiasm, more and more dioceses in which they are located are assuming responsibility for their maintenance. Other foundations are beginning to give financial support. St. Paul's College and St. Augustine's College are members of the United Negro College Fund. Both of these colleges received grants from the Ford Foundation and the Danforth Foundation. Standards are constantly improved in administrative personnel, faculty, buildings and equipment, and scholastic rating. Two of these schools have staffs of mixed racial faculties.

Voorhees Junior College and Okolona Junior College continue to do outstanding work in their respective areas and are rated highest among schools of similar standards.

Through the Institute schools, Negroes have received, not only academic training, but also in trades and industry, domestic science, business and agriculture. Religious life is stressed; there is a chaplain at each school, and many outstanding organizations and movements of the Church are actively functioning, such as the Woman's Auxiliary, the Laymen's League and the Girls' Friendly Society.

Thus, the Church's work moves into a new era. Today, there is an avalanche of college students in the United States. As more and more students in the United States of all races seek advanced education, there is a growing need for qualified institutions, for adequate facilities, consecrated teachers, and study within a Christian framework. In spite of the acceptance of Negroes in formerly segregated schools the American Church Institute schools continue to be of service.

As the nation continues its trend toward integrated education and makes further efforts to ensure equality for all, the Church faces extended opportunity. First, its private institutions are free to determine their own policies, practices, and values in guiding the development of students and ultimately in influencing society. Secondly, there is still a need for wise and compassionate leaders, for teachers, sociologists, medical personnel and clergy. Thirdly, there is an increasing need for colleges that stress high scholastic standards and the development of Christian character. And, finally, there is a prevailing and crucial need in our society to replace materialistic evaluation with Christian commitment. To this end, the American Church Institute for Negroes pledges itself with renewed vigor and enthusiasm.

It is imperative that there be a substantial—over 100 per cent—increase in the financial assistance given these schools through the American Church Institute for Negroes. This critical need threatens the very continued existence of the schools. Unless they are able immediately to meet increased cost of operation, i.e., salary increases and capital expenditures, they will be unable to retain their present academic rating which in turn will eliminate their chances of receiving help from foundations that are presently assisting them, and prospective ones. A number of institutions similar in work to these schools have been forced to close their doors at this time when they are desperately needed. Faithful, devoted, hardworking, deeply rooted teachers, students and parents look for guidance and material support.

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMISSION ON CHURCH ARCHITECTURE AND THE ALLIED ARTS

During this triennium your Commission has held the following meetings: December 21, 1955, September 21, 1956, December 14, 1956, and May 25, 1957. All meetings were held in New York as a means of keeping traveling expenses at a minimum. The attendance has been good with never more than two absent at any meeting.

Drawings of the Church Flag and a copy of the original color folder with data giving the proper locations for the flag in the chancel, and in procession, have been filed in the Library of Congress.

The Commission's ecclesiastical art and architectural library located at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York, has been growing steadily and welcomes appropriate donations of books, photographs or drawings.

The contemplated National Convention on Church Architecture referred to in the report to General Convention in Honolulu had to be abandoned because of the great expense that it would necessitate.

At the same meeting the Rev. Canon Edward N. West was voted the official consultant to advise clergy and building committees on building plans, restorations, and liturgical appointments, to be responsible to the American Church Building Fund Commission for the review of plans on which the Commission purposes to loan money, and to represent the Commission in relation to the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. The total amount of consultation has now become an almost staggering task. It is to be noted, however, that there is a growing tendency to ask for review and suggestions before final plans are drawn. This practice is most desirable, since it conserves effort and reduces costs.

The principal activity of the Commission, subsequent to the meeting of December 14, 1956, was the preparation of a second and more detailed book to succeed the original volume, "Architecture and the Church." Chapters have been written by members of the Commission and it is hoped that Seabury Press will have the book on the market prior to General Convention. In order to keep the cost as low as possible the Commission has assisted with a grant of $750.00. It is hoped that the book can be sold for $1.50, with the Commission receiving a 10 per cent royalty on 3,000 copies—a return of $450.00.

The meeting of May 25, 1957 was spent in more detailed discussion of the subject matter presented for the several chapters so that the combined thoughts and technical experience of all members would be incorporated. It is the feeling of the Commission that such a book will be a means of helping not only the greatest number of our own churches, but that it can also serve in many instances other denominations and the architects. The book will fill a great need since there is nothing quite like it available.

Your Commission offers the following resolutions:

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that the report of the Joint Commission on Church Architecture and the Allied Arts be accepted, and that the Commission be continued.

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that the present sum of $3,000.00 be continued in like amount and appropriated to the Joint Commission of Church Architecture and the Allied Arts for the continuance and development of its work during the coming triennium.

APPENDIX 5

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMISSION ON THE PEACEFUL USES OF ATOMIC ENERGY

The Joint Commission on the Peaceful Uses of Atomic Energy was appointed by action of the General Convention of 1955.
The Commission has held three full meetings of its membership at Washington, D.C., at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and at Philadelphia, Pa. At Oak Ridge we were shown about the installation and we were briefed on the nature and potentialities of atomic energy by leading scientists of the Project. We saw a graphite and a swimming pool research reactor in operation and were given a full description of their use.

We have also consulted the State Department, the Atomic Energy Commission, and other government authorities in this field, receiving full cooperation from them.

Since our thinking early turned towards Japan, we have interviewed and met with the President of St. Paul's University, Tokyo, and other authorities on Japan and the Japanese Church.

The report which follows, a result of these meetings and consultations, is divided into two parts: 1. A series of recommendations, 2. An appendix which seeks to answer questions that may be raised by the recommendations that a gift of an atomic reactor be made to St. Paul's University and St. Luke's Hospital.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The developments in the field of atomic energy are so basic to all human living, and the peoples of the world are becoming so acutely concerned about the fearsome nature of nuclear weapons, that the Commission believes that a group within the Church should be designated to study the peaceful uses of atomic energy and be requested to keep the Church informed of such developments and their significance. To the Commission the best agency so to do is the National Council's Department of Christian Social Relations.

Therefore, the Commission recommends:

Resolved, The House of... concurring, that the General Convention requests the Department of Christian Social Relations to study, through its conferences and all its resources, developments in the field of atomic energy and to keep the Church informed of their nature and significance.

The Commission believes that any study and understanding of the peaceful uses of atomic energy would be furthered, and would require a sharing of the potential and the realized blessings of atomic energy. The most meaningful sharing would be with those peoples who have known little of its blessings but much of its curse—those of the Far East.

The only institutions related to the Church in the Far East possessing trained personnel and able to develop and share the blessings of atomic energy are St. Paul's University and St. Luke's Hospital in Tokyo. The Commission believes that an atomic reactor given to these Christian institutions for peaceful study, research, and medical therapy would be a powerful Christian Witness in Japan. This is confirmed with moving enthusiasm by the Presiding Bishop of the Nippon Seikokai and the missionaries of our Church working in Japan. They believe, with us, that for the Church to take this great new force and use it for good, would witness to God's concern, not only for the spiritual well being, but the total well being, of the whole man as no other missionary effort would. They are convinced that such a
A nuclear reactor is a device in which a nuclear fuel, such as uranium, is arranged in a regular lattice so as to burn or react at a slow and controlled rate in the presence of a gas made up of neutrons. The source of this gas, which plays the same role in nuclear burning that oxygen does in ordinary burning, comes from the burning itself. When uranium reacts with neutron gas one of the by-products of the reaction is about two and one-half times as much new neutron gas as was consumed in the reaction itself.

In a nuclear reactor the uranium fuel is regularly arranged in the form of rods or plates. An external source of neutrons is required for start-up but once started each rod exudes neutrons in proportion to the rate at which the uranium in it is reacting. This by-product neutron gas is produced at very high temperature and must be cooled down by mixing with a suitable material called a moderator. The usual moderator materials are ordinary water, heavy water, and graphite. After passing through several inches of moderator, the cool neutron gas reaches other uranium fuel rods which react with it, liberating more hot neutron gas which on diffusing through the moderator is cooled before reaching other fuel rods. This is the nuclear "chain reaction" on which the operation of the reactor depends.

Q. What are the kinds of nuclear reactors?

A. A nuclear reactor produces two primary products: heat and neutron gas. When the uranium fuel reacts or burns in the presence of cool neutron gas large quantities of heat are liberated so that the uranium metal becomes quite hot. It is necessary to have some means of removing this heat and keeping the uranium metal from exceeding the temperature at which the reactor is designed to operate. When this heat production is the primary purpose for which the reactor is designed and operated, it is called a power reactor. Power reactors must be designed to operate at high temperature so that the heat can be used to generate steam at high pressure.

As soon as the chain reaction has reached a fixed level at which the reactor is operated, the entire reactor volume is filled with diffusing neutron gas which escapes from the surface of the reactor as rapidly as it is being generated by the reaction with the uranium fuel inside. In addition, the products of the uranium burning which stay trapped in the body of the uranium metal itself are highly radioactive and emit penetrating radiation called gamma rays of the same nature as X-rays. The neutrons and gamma rays together make up the radiation generated by the reactor. When the primary purpose of the reactor is to make these radiations available to scientists and physicians for research purposes, it is called a research reactor. This is the type of reactor being proposed for St. Paul's University.

Q. What kind of reactor is proposed to be given to St. Paul's University?

A. Two types of research reactor are presently under consideration with a final decision to be made later on. The one preferred by the staff of St. Paul's University is a type known as a "Pool Reactor." The core consists of a large number of plates of uranium metal regularly arranged in a rectangular box like volume. This chain reacting core is hung from a bridge on the end of an aluminum frame suspension in a large pool of water with the core about 20 feet below the surface of the pool. The water not only acts as moderator for the neutrons, but as the cooling medium for removing the heat from the uranium plates, and as a radiation shield protecting personnel from the intense radiation coming from the core as well. Such a reactor has several advantages. It is the only type in which the reactor core itself is visible while the reactor is in operation. This makes it especially useful for educational purposes. At first the core will generate heat at the rate of 100 kilowatts (about 20 or 30 times that in a household electric hot water heater). Later on facilities can be added for circulating the pool water through a cooling system which will make it possible to operate it at ten times this power level with a proportionate increase in the production of neutrons and other radiation for research purposes. Materials can easily be exposed to neutrons by putting them in sealed, weighted cans and simply lowering them into the pool on the end of a fishing line to a point in the water near the neutron core.

The other type under consideration has the same kind of core but it is placed at the center of a closed tank filled with heavy water. This tank is surrounded by a layer of graphite about one foot thick which is equipped with holes and channels into which materials can be placed for exposure to neutrons. The core is operated at a power level of 25 kilowatts and the heavy water is continuously circulated through a refrigerating system to remove the heat. Because heavy water does not absorb neutrons as light water does, the amount of neutron gas available for research in this neutron is equal to or greater than that from the pool reactor at a power level of 100 kilowatts. Around the outside of the graphite blanket and over the top of the reactor there is a thick concrete radiation shield.

The pool reactor would be constructed under contract with a firm in Japan (FAPIG) while the heavy water tank type reactor would be constructed under contract with the Nuclear Development Corporation of America in this country.

Q. How will St. Paul's University use the reactor?

A. The most important use of the reactor will be in a varied research program for faculty and students in the fields of physics, chemistry, and biology. Research in physics involves the use of beams of neutrons to study the structure of solids, experiments on the way in which different elements absorb or scatter neutrons, and measurements of the radiations emitted by various radioactive materials. In chemistry the reactor can be used to detect and accurately measure minute traces of elements present in a sample of material being analyzed by detecting the characteristic radioactivity of the trace substance after exposure to neutron gas in the reactor. Radioactive isotopes produced in the reactor can be used as "tagged atoms" to trace out in detail intermediate steps in chemical reactions.

In biology there is much research to be done on the effects of all kinds of radiations on living organisms and tissues. Radioactive isotopes used as tracers or "tagged atoms" are a very powerful tool in biological studies. In addition, the close relationship between St. Paul's University and St. Luke's Hospital will permit the reactor to be used for the production of radioactive isotopes for St. Luke's on a regular schedule for therapeutic and diagnostic use in the treatment of patients.

In addition to research uses, the reactor will provide St. Paul's University with a versatile and exceptionally suitable facility for a full training program in nuclear science. Japan is one of the few spots in the world where nuclear power is already economical and urgently needed. A vigorous and rapidly-growing nuclear power industry can, therefore, be anticipated in the years ahead. With the reactor St. Paul's University will be in a unique position to provide the educational program necessary to meet the demands of this new industry for specially-trained personnel.
Q. Is St. Paul's University capable of using the reactor?

A. The University has a very fine faculty in all of the departments whose research programs would make use of a reactor. The Chairman of the Physics Department, Dr. Hidezo Tajima, constructed the first cyclotron in Japan. Recently the department has completed the construction of a high-voltage accelerator which is being used to produce high-energy neutrons from a nuclear reaction between heavy hydrogen nuclei. Thus University scientists are already engaged in some neutron physics research, which the reactor will greatly supplement. Present research programs in biology and chemistry are of a character which would fit well into the expanded research activities which the reactor would make possible. There are physicians on the staff of St. Luke's Hospital who have had experience in this country with clinical applications of radioactive isotopes. Thus there is entirely adequate assurance that the University will be able to make effective use of a research reactor.

Q. Could the reactor be converted to military purposes?

A. A concern which is often expressed about the gift of a reactor to Japan is the possibility that it might at some future time be converted to military purposes. Actually there is no ground whatever for such a fear. The uranium in the reactor fuel elements is insufficient to have military value. The only other way in which the reactor could be used for military purposes is to make plutonium by exposing normal uranium, or U-233 by exposing thorium, to the neutrons in the reactor. However, the total production of either which could be achieved in a reactor of the proposed type is so minute as to make it valueless for military purposes.

Q. How will the problem of disposal of radioactive waste be met?

A. The bilateral agreement between the United States and Japan under which the uranium fuel for the reactor can be exported makes it mandatory that spent fuel elements be returned to the United States Atomic Energy Commission for reprocessing. Thus all radioactive fission products produced by the reactor are required by law to be disposed of in this country in existing government facilities. Under Japanese law St. Paul's could not, even if they wished to do so, reprocess the fuel elements from their reactor themselves.

Q. What is the attitude of the United States Government toward this proposal?

A. While we cannot speak officially for the government, they have given full support to all our work and have expressed unofficially the greatest enthusiasm for what we have been doing. Both the State Department and the Atomic Energy Commission look upon the gift of a nuclear reactor to a Japanese University by the Church in America as a most effective contribution to President Eisenhower's "Atoms-for-Peace" program in which the United States is an active participant.

Q. What is the theological basis for the gift of a reactor by the Church?

A. Normally it is not the business of the Church to apply its limited financial resources to the support of scientific research. There would, for example, be essentially no point in a gift by the Church of a facility for research in rayon chemistry. The basis on which the Joint Commission proposes the gift of a nuclear reactor does not rest, however, on a proposal for the initiation by the Church of a broad program of support of scientific research.

The theological basis for this gift is to be found in the doctrine of creation. In Japan as elsewhere in the Orient there is a widespread and deep-rooted belief in the inherent evil of matter. This view has reached its most virulent form in the case of atomic energy. For what are, certainly, understandable reasons, atomic energy and nuclear phenomena generally are almost universally regarded in Japan as essentially and inherently completely evil. At the same time western science and technology are worshipped in Japan to an extent which goes far beyond the "scientism" which we know in this country. In this environment, the concern of the Church with even nuclear phenomena as a part of God's created world, and its desire to share the benefits of such phenomena with a Japanese university founded by the Church, would have dramatic impact. It is difficult to conceive of a more effective way to teach the Christian concern with the whole of God's creation or one which would speak meaningfully to so great a number of people. The mere fact that the Church could involve itself with a nuclear reactor without any internal contradiction would open the way for a new orientation to the relation between spirit and matter.

Our primary task in Japan is to make manifest the good news of "the Word made flesh and dwelling among us" in an oriental culture in which the idea of flesh stands in radical opposition to the nature of the divine Word. In this culture atomic energy has come to stand as a prime symbol of the opposition between evil on the one hand and good on the other. The possibility of sanctifying even this part of the natural world to serve divine purposes would be powerfully expressed through the proposed gift of a research reactor to St. Paul's University.

REPORT OF THE CHURCH HISTORICAL SOCIETY

When the Church Historical Society celebrates its Fiftieth Anniversary in 1960, three dates will stand out as the most significant in its own history:

1910—The date of its organization, which was effected entirely by laymen.
1940—The date of the General Convention session which adopted the Society as the "official agency of the General Convention for the collection, preservation, and safe-keeping of records connected with the life of . . . [this] Church, and to foster as far as possible the investigation of its history and the development of interest in all relevant research."

1955—The date of the General Convention session which approved of the Society's proposed solution of General Convention's mandate (adopted in 1952) to remedy "the over-crowded conditions and lack of fireproof housing" under which it was then operating as an "official custodian of this Church."

Our Fifth Triennial Report (Journal, 1955, pp. 354 ff.) set forth the terms of the "Agreement between the Trustees of the Episcopal Theological Seminary of the Southwest, of Austin, Texas, and the Board of Managers of the Church Historical Society," whereby adequate, fireproof, and air-conditioned quarters in that Seminary's new library building would be provided to the Society for its library and the official archives of General Convention and the National Council, of which it is custodian.

The General Convention (Journal, 1955, pp. 175-176) approved of this Agreement, and appropriated the special sum of $9,000.00 to meet the cost of removal from Philadelphia to Austin.

Thus it was that four years after the General Convention of 1952 laid upon the Society the mandate mentioned above, and one year after the General Convention of 1955 approved our proposed solution, we can say in all modesty and with thanks to God, "Mission accomplished!" But it was not accomplished without meeting and solving some crucial problems.

First, on March 2, 1956, the Rev. William Wilson Manross, Ph.D., resigned as librarian and treasurer of the Society to accept his election as librarian and member of the faculty of the Philadelphia Divinity School. This was a hard blow, for Dr. Manross, in addition to being a priest, is a professional historian of note, and during his eight years of service (October 1, 1948—August 31, 1956), the Society's work and service made great strides, in spite of increasingly unsatisfactory housing. His successor had to be found as soon as possible.

Second, new library equipment had to be ordered before the library was moved, without knowing how much money would be available for it after paying out of the $9,000.00 appropriation the cost of transportation. In June, 1956, the president and Dr. Manross visited New York and worked out with the Library Bureau of Remington Rand a tentative list of equipment.

In the end, the president had to appeal to the membership of the Society for contributions to the Library Equipment Fund. Over $4,000.00 was given by the members, but this was still not enough. On September 12, 1957, the Society's treasurer had to borrow $1,800.00 from the Capital National Bank of Austin, Texas, to pay our library equipment bills in full. This sum the Society still owes the bank.

Third, the pillars of St. Andrew's Chapel of the Philadelphia Divinity School, in the crypt of which the Society's library had been housed, needed strengthening. This required the library's removal in July instead of August, 1956—two months before the new Library building in Austin would be ready. The Very Rev. Gray M. Blandy, D.D., Dean of the Seminary of the Southwest, who has been a tower of strength to us during this trying period, saw to it that storage was provided in Austin until our collections could be moved into the new building.

The problem of Dr. Manross' resignation was solved by the Board of Managers in the election of the following:

Treasurer: The Rev. Prof. Lawrence L. Brown.

Librarian: Frederick L. Chenery.

Assistant to the Librarian: Martha Newman (Mrs. John H.) Gray.

The work which Dr. Manross formerly did single-handed can no longer be done by one person.

The problems at the Austin end of the removal situation can best be explained in the words of the new librarian, Mr. Chenery.

Report of the Librarian for the Year 1956-57

It has been about a year since the Board of Managers appointed me Librarian, and it has been an exciting and crucial year for the Library now in its new quarters. My primary responsibility as Librarian of the Episcopal Theological Seminary of the Southwest has prevented my full concentration of energy upon the Historical Society's Library, but perhaps my dual responsibility helps to relate the two endeavors. Fortunately we have the services of a superior Assistant Librarian, Mrs. John H. Gray, and she has accomplished more than one could possibly have expected in this one-year period. I sincerely regret that she will not be with us after May.

It is my purpose in this report to summarize the work we have accomplished in the setting up of the Library in its new location, and to suggest areas for future growth. Now that the Library has the space it needs, it is important that all concerned with the Church Historical Society consider the ways by which its Library can be of greater service to those concerned with the history of the Episcopal Church. . . .

When Dr. Stowe telephoned Dean Blandy last July [1956] to say that the collection had been shipped, the concrete floors for the new building had been poured and the exterior walls had been completed; but the interior work had barely been started. Of necessity we arranged for a local moving company to receive the two freight cars at their warehouse, August 3, 1956, and put the thousands of cartons—at least it seemed like thousands—in storage. It was not until October 12, 1956 that the building was ready so that the cartons could be delivered. With only the smallest size passenger elevator in the Library building, the delivery of cartons to the third floor took two full days. For the next four months we had to work with makeshift arrangements and such temporary bookshelves as could be provided while we waited for the delivery of the Historical Society's new furniture and bookstacks, which came on March 25, 1957. It was thus not until early summer that we could finish the work of unpacking all of the cartons.

The new furniture and bookstacks were supplied by the Library Bureau of Remington Rand. We have 2,100 linear feet of shelving for books, journals, and periodicals; 576 linear feet of divider-type shelving for pamphlets and open-shelf filing of some file folders; 4 four-drawer file cabinets for manuscripts, clippings, etc.; display shelving for about 45 periodicals and for the publications of the Society; 50 transfer files for the older file folders which will be less frequently consulted; and desks, reading tables, office files, card catalogs, etc. The new quarters are arranged so that they are spacious and attractive, and convenient for the use of staff members and patrons.

Now that the Library has the floor space it has sorely needed for many years, and superior new equipment, it has been possible to make materials accessible in a way never before possible. I judge that some portion of the materials had never been unpacked in Philadelphia, for it was unsorted when it reached us, I will summarize what we are doing with the various types of materials in order to make them more readily available to our patrons.

MANUSCRIPTS. The important manuscript collections, such as the Ellen Sitgraves Motter, Walter M. Neunam, Pennington-Jarvis, William Ives Rutter, Jr., Wick-Washbon, and Muir collections are being kept intact and filed by collection in the vertical files. These collections had been cataloged, so we already had our key to finding their materials. There are a good many important manuscripts which were not part of these major collections, and which have not been cataloged. More materials are being added, and more should be solicited. It has become clear that these materials will not be organized in usable fashion without the addition of a competent staff member who can devote about half of her time exclusively to this important work.

OFFICIAL PUBLICATIONS. The General Convention Journals, and the Journals of the Dioceses and Missionary Districts are now in order. The reports of the House of Bishops and the House of Deputies, and various National Council reports and publications have received a preliminary sorting.

I am distressed that the files of the diocesan journals are so incomplete, and that we are not on the mailing list to receive journals from all of the dioceses as they are issued each year. I hope in the year ahead that we can request each diocesan secretary to add the Library's name to his permanent mailing list. Many of the older journals in the Library are badly deteriorated, and it would be impossible to obtain all of the missing issues. The durability of microfilm has now been thoroughly tested, and I would hope that at some time the funds might be made available so that a microfilm copy could be made of every diocesan journal that has ever been issued. This undertaking would involve a heavy amount of correspondence in arranging for the filming, and the cost would be high. But such effort and cost would seem justified in producing a permanent record of these primary source materials. Once the negative copy had been produced, positive prints could be made for libraries and diocesan offices which wished to have them.

PERIODICALS. The files of the Living Church, Witness, the Spirit of Missions, and the Churchman have been shelved. Other files will be sorted soon. Our survey indicates that the Spirit of Missions is the only complete periodical file, with many issues lacking from all other files, particularly in recent years. Current issues of the important periodicals have not been coming regularly, and so the files are not being kept up to date. The necessary expenditures for salaries and equipment have not permitted the entering of subscriptions, but we hope we can do so soon. We should also seek to have current issues of all diocesan periodicals sent to the Library.
PAMPHLETS. We are fortunate in having a large collection of important pamphlets. Some of these were grouped in document boxes by subject, but probably the larger number have not been adequately sorted. We have a student assistant who has arranged many of them, but the completion of this important work will require many hours of staff time.

BOOKS. Fortunately, the books had been cataloged before they left Philadelphia. We have arranged them on shelves by general subject matter, and with some searching we can usually find the books patrons need. We have begun a new catalog with entries set up according to the American Library Association Rules for Author and Title Entries, and I shall soon begin a rough classification of the books according to a standard classification schedule. Ultimately, a schedule should be written which would better meet the needs of this specialized collection, but this will be a major undertaking which would require the services of a full time professional librarian.

Before we began the recataloging and the classification, we examined all of the books to consider those which might be removed from this collection. I hope the Board of Managers will determine the policies governing book selection for this Library so that the Librarian may be guided in weeding the collection, and in accepting gifts or making purchases in the future. Since this Library was established for the specific purpose of furthering the study of the history of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the U.S.A., we should guard against developing a general theological collection. Of course, one cannot study the history of the Episcopal Church without considering its relations with other branches of the Anglican Communion. There will be certain official publications of the Anglican Churches in England and other countries which will be needed. I am thinking, for example, of the Lambeth Conference reports, and information about the Church of South India which would be relevant to studying the problem of our relationship to this Church.

If the collection is limited to materials specifically relating to the main purpose of the Library, we should be able to shelve all of the books, and the complete cataloging and classification will be facilitated. As it is, we barely have adequate shelf space for the entire collection now in the Library, and significant additions will not be possible without judicious weeding of the present collection.

Many of the books are in great need of mending or rebinding, and provision needs to be made for this work.

FILES OF THE DOMESTIC AND FOREIGN MISSIONARY SOCIETY AND OF THE NATIONAL COUNCIL. These have been placed in fifty Transfile cases, which serve very well for relatively inactive files. We do not have the floor space to multiply these files indefinitely, and we need additional units of the divider-type stack shelves which provide for a much greater concentration of materials within a given floor space. The materials prior to 1918 are in packets, document boxes, and in some cases not gathered in any fashion. The materials since 1918 are in file folders, most of which have deteriorated badly with many of the labels crumbled off. All of the older materials need to be placed in good quality file folders, and the folders for materials since 1918 need to be replaced. The National Council has not sent materials to the Library for about twenty years, and we anticipate the receipts of large quantities of their files soon. This will present a serious problem to the present small staff, who could hardly be expected to give much time to the adequate sorting of these important primary sources until more progress has been made in organizing the materials already in the Library.

Duplicate Materials. In sorting the materials, we have found extensive duplications of books, periodicals, pamphlets, diocesan journals, and other materials. We have retained in the active collection what would seem an adequate number of copies of each item, according to its relative importance, and the duplicate copies have been segregated in the basement. These duplicates are marked, and it is hoped that the Board of Managers will establish a policy concerning the disposal of such materials. There are many items which could be of value to seminary libraries in this country, and others are being sought by such seminaries as the one in Haiti.

New Acquisitions. Because of the continuing need to spend almost all of our budget allotment on salaries and equipment, we have not been able to purchase many of the new materials being published or the older materials needed to complete the collection. I have already mentioned that we do not have subscriptions to the important periodicals, and are not now in a position to seek back issues. In seeking to build up the collection it would be particularly helpful if we could set up an extensive desiderata file of all known pamphlets and books which have been prepared by dioceses or local churches which would contribute to the study of the history of our Church. We propose eventually to mail press releases to each diocesan periodical (including mat), appealing for diocesan and parish history materials and biographical information about outstanding clerical and lay leaders, and requesting the direct mailing of current diocesan periodicals. When copies of such materials are not available to us, we should at least be able to furnish patrons with information as to their nature and availability.

Another worthy project would be the compilation of a list of all theses and dissertations relevant to the history of our Church which have been presented to seminary and university libraries. The more significant studies should probably be requested in typescript or on microfilm.

The Library should have all publications of The Seabury Press and the National Council, including all of its departments. Since both of these are official agencies established by General Convention, we would hope that they might consider depositing a copy of each of their publications with this Library. We have not been receiving Seabury Press publications. We are receiving some materials from the National Council, but not all of them. While Morehouse-Gorham is not an official agency of the Church, we would hope that they would also consider depositing a copy of each of their publications with us.

We are deeply grateful to our faithful friends who presented significant gifts of books and manuscripts to the Library during the past year.

Recommendations. In this report I have summarized the progress that has been made in the year since the Library was moved to its new quarters. I am impressed by the significant accomplishments which have been made by our small staff, and I feel we are able to render increasingly good service to our patrons. I have also mentioned some of the weaknesses of the present collection, and have suggested those materials which should be sought to make the Library a truly comprehensive center for the study of the history of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Many of the suggestions I have made would require years of work by an enlarged staff, and the heavy expenditure of money for salaries, acquisitions, and equipment. We would certainly not propose that we move immediately into all of the projects suggested above. . . [Mr. Chenery's financial recommendations are covered in the Resolutions presented below.—Editor's note.]

INQUIRIES, LOANS, AND VISITORS. In spite of the Library collection being in cartons for several months, we are happy to report that 203 inquiries by mail have been answered. We can hardly estimate the number of visitors, though it must have been nearly 600. In addition to those who came purposely to visit this Library, we greeted the guests at the Dedication of the Seminary buildings; the enrollees at the Summer School of Church Music and Liturgies; several visitors from the American Theological Library Association who came here after their meeting in Fort Worth; the Austin Library Club; students from the Graduate Library School at the University of Texas; Deans of the Episcopal Seminaries who met on our Campus in December; and the officers of the National Council. We loaned 351 books, including loans by mail. Several patrons spent several days at a time doing research for thesis and dissertation topics.

Several Western dioceses and individual parishes are in the process of compiling histories. We have been able to supply most of their needs after thorough searching to unearth the necessary materials. We have filled orders for microfilming and photostating certain journals and manuscripts.

CONCLUSION. While the Library remained in its former inadequate quarters, it was not possible to arrange and shelve all of the materials, and there was not space for significant expansion of the collection. The Library now has the space it needs, and we must consider what policies should govern the operation of the Library. As Librarian, I am responsible to carry out the policies set by the Board of Managers. I am hopeful that with the possibility of growth, the Board will consider the policies to be established so that the Librarian will know better what is expected of him. In this report I have suggested many areas in which policies are needed, and have tried to indicate what would be involved in carrying them out.

It is clear that we cannot expand our services significantly with the present size staff, and I hope serious consideration may be given to our requests for more money for salaries. The Board of Managers will also want to consider the definition of the position of the Librarian. I have been happy to serve this past year, and understand why it seemed necessary to appoint someone who was already at work at the Seminary to help with setting up the Library in its new quarters. The Board will want to consider whether it is wise to continue the employment of one whose primary obligations are to other work, or whether they should not think of the appointment of a man who could give full attention to the affairs of the Church Historical Society.

FREDERICK L. CHENERY.

A Special Committee of the Board of Managers (the President, the Secretary, and the Rev. Dr. C. Rankin Barnes) visited Austin, December 2-5, 1957, and in cooperation with the Librarian and Treasurer drew up a "Statement of Functions of the Society," which was adopted at the Annual Meeting, January 30, 1958, and which is as follows:
Resolved: That the Board of Managers hereby adopts the following Statement of Functions of the Church Historical Society and directs that it be made known to the Church at large:

The functions of the Society shall be:

1. To receive, select, and preserve the archival records of the General Convention, together with those of its major committees and commissions, and the archival records of the National Council.

2. Wherever possible, to receive, select from, and preserve all archival records of the dioceses and missionary districts of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, including parochial histories.

3. To receive and preserve publications of the unofficial institutions and voluntary associations of the same Church and to maintain records of their activities.

4. To collect and preserve periodicals, both past and current, bearing upon the same Church.

5. To encourage use of the Society's Library as a depository for books, manuscripts, and photographs bearing upon the history of the same Church.

6. To collect, so far as may be feasible, biographical and bibliographical materials on the clergymen and lay leaders of the same Church.

7. To receive and preserve books and pamphlets about the same Church and those on whatever topic by Episcopal authors.

8. To maintain a small, carefully selected collection of general works regarding the Anglican Communion beyond the United States of America.

9. To receive and preserve, so far as may be feasible, records of organizations in which the same Church participates, such as the National Council of Churches and the World Council of Churches.

10. To publish such scholarly works in Church history and biography as editorial facilities and financial resources may permit, especially those based on archives in the custody of the Society.

Publications During the Triennium

In spite of the upheaval caused by the removal of the Society's headquarters and library from Philadelphia to Austin, the Society has added six publications to its growing list since the General Convention of 1955:

Bound Volumes

Parsons, Edward Lambe, The Diocese of California, A Quarter Century, 1915-1940 (Publication No. 46, 1958). [This volume, by the Retired Bishop of California, will be on sale at the Church Historical Society Booth at Miami Beach.]

Rightmyer, Nelson Waite, Maryland's Established Church (Publication No. 45, 1956), pp. 239, $5.00.
BROCHURES

Murphy, DuBose, From "Churches" To "Church" (Publication No. 43, 1956), 20 cents.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The Directors of the Church Historical Society recommend the adoption of the following resolutions:

Resolution No. 1

REPORT OF THE CHURCH PENSION FUND

A Plan Whereby Pensions May Be Increased as an Offset to the Rise in Cost of Living

The increase in minimum pensions authorized by the General Convention of 1949 created an accrued liability of $15,000,000. This has now been fully
The rise in living costs that goes along with inflation hits pensioners hard. All pension systems are faced with the problem, which has been acute since the start of World War II. The adjustment in the Fund's pensions beginning in 1950 was an effective step forward at that time. But living costs have gone up about 20% in the last eight years, and this means that the purchasing power of one dollar has in this period dropped to 83 cents. The time is ripe for another forward step.

It is with this in mind that the Trustees recommend to General Convention the plan described herein.

The plan is that the extra 3% assessment be continued, on top of the permanent 12% assessment, and so enable the Trustees to increase all pensions by 20%—retirement and disability, widows and orphans, the pensions in force now and the pensions to be granted eventually to present active and to those to be ordained in the future. The whole pension structure will be lifted by 20%. Each dollar in pension will become $1.20, compensating for the decline in its purchasing power since 1949.

The breakdown of the cost of this step is a permanent 2 1/4% assessment plus an accrued liability of $12,000,000. A part of this accrued liability will be funded by applying as an initial reserve the $1,500,000 which the Fund will have received from the 3% assessment in the last half of 1957 and the year 1958. The remaining $10,500,000 is equivalent to and can be fully funded by an assessment of 3/4 of 1% for fifty years. The total assessment for the step is therefore 3% for fifty years, dropping then to the permanent 2 1/4%.

As to income and outgo, the 3% assessment will bring in $1,000,000 a year, and $600,000 a year of this will at the start go out as pensions, this $600,000 being 20% of the present pension roll of $3,000,000. This will leave $400,000 a year to be retained in reserve and invested, along with the $1,500,000 received as income from the 3% assessment in the last half of 1957 and the year 1958. Eventually the reserve so accumulated will bring the fully funded condition referred to above.

In the normal operations of the Fund a surplus income emerges each year from excess interest earnings and other favorable elements. It varies in amount from year to year. In the past it has been used to build up a permanent surplus, to increase pensions, to fund the $1,000 grant to widows, and to help in the funding of the accrued liability created in the 1950 increase in minimum pensions.

In this new plan the surplus income will be used to the extent practicable, as in 1950, to aid in the earlier funding of the accrued liability with the hope of a further upward adjustment in pensions at some future time to help meet the further inflation of living costs that is likely to occur. The investment policy will continue to be under the close supervision of the Finance Committee.

It will have to be understood by those receiving pensions that until the accrued liability is fully funded the increases to them will not be guaranteed by funds in the hands of the Trustees, but will depend in large part on the full support of the parishes in continuing to pay the extra 3% assessment.

Canon 7 (Of The Church Pension Fund) carries the following clause:

Sec. 4. The pension system shall be so administered that no pension shall be allotted before there shall be in the hands of The Church Pension Fund sufficient funds to meet such pension, except as directed by the General Convention in 1949.

The exception with respect to the 1949 action now no longer has meaning. If the plan proposed herein is adopted "1949" will need to be replaced by "1958."

APPENDIX

DISCUSSION OF THE PENSION STRUCTURE

The present pension structure is realistic and effective as to relation between the different types of pensions. For the man ordained at a normal age, the retirement and total and permanent disability pensions are one-half of the average annual salary over his ministry, with a minimum pension of $1,500 a year; the widow's pension is somewhere between one-quarter of his average salary and a minimum of $750 a year, depending on her years of marriage in his active ministry; the allowances for dependent orphan children under age twenty-one are $300 to $500 a year depending on age of child; and the lump-sum payment to widows is $1,000. For men ordained at later ages the pensions are graded down proportionately, the full minimum applying however to those ordained before age forty.

The assessments from all the parishes and other units are taken into a common "pool." From the pool the pensions are paid to the clergy, widows and children as they qualify, in amounts governed by the formulas and minimums and not by the specific assessments received on his stipends. Actuarial balance is maintained only for the group as a whole. No actuarial balance is maintained on the level of the individual. The assessments that a parish pays represent its contribution to the pool. These may be more or they may be less than what its clergyman and his family eventually receive as pension.

The minimum pensions benefit mainly those whose active ministry is cut short by disablement or death and those whose stipends have been on the lower side, and are paid for mainly by the parishes that pay the medium and larger stipends. Yet the pensions received by the clergy who have served the medium and larger parishes bear a reasonable relation to their stipends.

This balance in the system between special "weighting" in favor of the lower paid and pensions viewed as reasonable by the medium and larger parishes for their clergy gives the system a strength it would not otherwise have—in the interests of the whole Church.
An increase of 20% in all pensions would maintain this desirable balance along with the present relation among the different classes of benefits.

THE RETIREMENT PENSION

The retirement pension is based on average annual salary over the clergyman's entire ministry. Industrial pension systems commonly base pensions on final salary, for instance salary in the final year or final five years or final ten years of work. The Fund's arrangement is both necessary and best for the Church.

It is necessary because only by averaging salary over entire ministry can future costs be anticipated with the accuracy needed for proper funding and guarantee. Appropriations to adjust to unanticipated costs, as in a period of steeply rising salaries such as the present, can readily be made by an industrial company simply by action of the board of directors, but could not be expected of the seven thousand "employers" making up the Church. The arrangement is best because averaging salary over entire ministry rather than using final salary avoids a heavy favoring of the higher paid clergy in relation to the lower paid. This favoring would result from the fact that the spread between average salary and final salary is disproportionately greater for higher salaries than lower.

The extra cost if final salary were now substituted for average would be over $20,000,000 in accrued liability plus over 3% in annual assessment.

The normal retirement pension is 50% of average salary. The 50% level was arrived at originally as reasonable along with the disability and widows' pensions geared to it, and as within the ability of the Church to carry cost-wise. Changing to a higher figure than 50% for the retirement pension without proportionately higher disability and widows' pensions would not be desirable.

The formula for the retirement pension, by which the figures are adjusted down for those with less than forty years of ministry, is 1 1/4% of average salary multiplied by years, but not more than forty years, from ordination. This formula without the forty years limitation would yield a pension figure of more than 50% of salary for men ordained before age 28 and retiring at 68 or for men ordained before 32 and continuing active to 72. The pension in these cases is, however, limited to 50%. Occasionally this limitation of 50% is questioned. It is nevertheless a wise limitation. Without it the disability and widows' pensions and the minimum pensions could not be as high as they are and retirement pensions of over 50% of salary would be out of line with them as they are. The limitation plays an important part not only in keeping the proper relation but also in the "sharing" principle of the Fund. A 20% increase in all pensions would of course bring the retirement pensions themselves to 60% of salary.

Social Security gives the aged couple 50% more than the single retired worker, for the same wage scale. Accepting that expenses are higher for a couple than a single man, an arrangement of this sort would not be suited to the Fund, for in the long run it would mean smaller retirement pensions for widowers and the unmarried than otherwise. The Fund's benefit for widows and children is substantial, and it is reasonable to expect that the married clergyman should himself make what supplemental provision he thinks necessary from the fact that he is married, through Social Security or otherwise.
The minimum pension of $1,500 will be brought to $1,800 by the 20% increase. This will fully restore the purchasing power of the 1950 minimum pension of $1,500. And there will be later increases in prospect.

Social Security pensions are weighted in favor of the lower salaried group. This fact along with the Fund’s minimum pension produces a very heavy weighting for those, who are covered by Social Security, in the medium to low salary range. The grading is brought out in the table below listing pension as per cent of average salary. The percentage figures would of course be smaller if based on final salary.

The across-the-board increase now being proposed will improve the minimum pension along with all others. In fact in terms of average salary it improves the minimum pension more, as the table indicates. To increase only the minimum pension now, by more than 20%, would result in unfairness to the remaining pensioners.

It must be recognized that parishes look to the Fund for pensions for their clergy in amounts which they consider to be in reasonable relation to the salaries they pay their men. This is specific in the system. They contribute to the pool, the medium and larger parishes more than their share for the minimum pensions, and expect this of the pool. In the adjustment now being considered to offset a presumably permanent depreciation of the dollar all parishes are entitled to have their clergy participate. Clergy salaries now average about $5,400. The great number of parishes paying these average salaries, and many paying salaries less than this, should not be asked to accept the principle that their clergy cannot be a part of this adjustment to inflated living costs. Each dollar needs refurbishing whether it is a dollar in a $300 child’s allowance or a dollar in the pension of the retired Presiding Bishop.

THE DISABILITY PENSION

For those ordained by the time they reach age 28, the disability pension is 50% of average annual salary, brought up in 1956 from 40%, with the minimum of $1,500 a year. The formula for those ordained later is 1/4% of average salary multiplied by years, but not more than forty years, from ordination to age 68. The disability pension dovetails well with the retirement pension.

The disability pension applies only to disability which in the opinion of the Fund’s Medical Board is total and permanent. These are men who are permanently disabled from working and earning. They are retired and the pension gives them a degree of support.
Some of these disabled men have heavier medical expenses than others, and a few might benefit by a rehabilitation process if the costs could in some way be met. The Fund's support, however, is non-discretionary, and does not and should not call for evidence of need. These additional relief needs are matters for diocesan consideration.

The Fund does not provide for disability that is partial or temporary. Men whose disability is partial (e.g., a mild heart condition, or temporary (curable illness) characteristically continue to hold their cures and receive salary. Expense of sickness that is not total and permanent disability is in the field of hospital and medical expense insurance. This is a field better handled by dioceses, some of which have local group plans, or by individual policies. For the pension system, taking care of those totally and permanently disabled from earning clearly takes precedence.

THE WIDOWS AND ORPHANS PENSIONS

The widow's pension is in the range from one-quarter of the husband's average annual salary, for the widow who spent forty years or more with her husband in the active ministry, to the minimum of $750 a year. Widows with dependent children have allowances for them. The provision for the widow bears a reasonable relation to the retirement and disability pensions.

The widow's pension represents about one-half the costs of the system. There are at all times many more widows than retired and disabled clergy together, reflecting the facts that, on the average women are several years younger than their husbands and women live several years longer than men.

It is likely that most clergy widows who are not elderly and do not have small children are employed. The $750 pension as a minimum ($900 if pensions are increased by 20%) added to earnings would seem to be in reasonable relation to the structure as a whole. Social Security provides no widow's pension under age 62, unless she has children under age 18 and at the same time is not herself working, on the assumption that she should be a part of the work force and contributing taxes rather than drawing benefits.

Clergy widows who are elderly, and unlikely to be employed, include (1) those whose pensions are above $750, often much higher, because they participated with their husbands in a long ministry, and (2) those who have only the $750 because their husbands died years before at early or middle age or because they married late or because of low salary history. Social Security, for those who choose it, will come in for both groups of widows at age 62.

The widow's pension is related to years of marriage if marriage was later than ordination, thus reflecting the shorter period she participated with him in his active ministry. Occasionally, though rarely, is question raised on this score of smaller widow's pension where her marriage was later. But the arrangement is a realistic one along with the undergirding minimum of $750, and consistent with relating the retirement pension itself to years of ministry.

The dependent orphan's allowance at $300 up to age 7, $400 from 7 to 14, and $500 from 14 to 21 is at a realistic level in relation to the other benefits. It is very close in level and gradation with age to some recently published data on basic costs of raising children. A 20% increase in it would help the families.
A lump-sum payment of $1,000 is made to widows whose husbands had been in the active ministry within six months of retirement on pension or death. This payment started as a help to widows at a time when they are faced with removal from the rectory, often with small children, to settle elsewhere. It was not thought of by the Trustees as for funeral expense.

Getting annual pensions up to where they ought to be by across-the-board increases is clearly more to be desired than expanding the lump-sum grant. Death benefits are better left to the individual clergyman to work on if he so desires, or to dioceses by group insurance, which Church Life Insurance Corporation issues.

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMISSION TO STUDY CLERGY PENSION PLANS AND CLERICAL SALARIES

General Convention in 1955 provided for continued study of pension plans and salaries by resolution directing the appointment of a Joint Commission to Study Clergy Pension Plans and Clerical Salaries during the triennium 1955-58. (Journal, 1955, p. 188)

Pursuant to that resolution, members were appointed as follows:
The Rev. Canon Heber W. Becker, of Harrisburg.
The Very Rev. Frederic W. Litchman, of Salina.
Mr. Clifford C. Cowin, of Ohio.
Mr. John H. Foster, of West Texas.
Mr. Ernest W. Greene, of Washington.
Mr. Walter C. Loecher, of Albany.
Mr. B. Allston Moore, of South Carolina.
Mr. Frederick G. Stuart, of Newark.

Six of the appointees had served continuously on this Joint Commission since it was first established in 1949.

Bishop Goodwin was elected Chairman, Clifford C. Cowin Vice Chairman, and Ernest W. Greene Secretary.

Mr. Clifford C. Cowin died on January 20, 1958. The Joint Commission, in its meeting on February 26, 1958, by unanimous vote adopted a resolution, as follows:

Resolved, That, as we open this meeting, we sorely miss our late colleague, Clifford C. Cowin, whose death on January 20, 1958, removed from our group a true and valued friend, an indefatigable worker who served this Joint Commission faithfully and well as its Vice Chairman, a wise counselor, and a devoted follower of our Lord and Master. His dedicated service was of the greatest value to this Joint Commission, to the Diocese of Ohio and to the National Church; and be it further

Resolved, That this resolution be embodied in the records of this Joint Commission, and that a copy be sent to the widow.

The Joint Commission held two full-scale meetings during the triennium, two meetings of sub-committees, and carried on extensive correspondence between the members.

The assistance and counsel of The Church Pension Fund, particularly its President, the Rt. Rev. Benjamin M. Washburn, D.D., and its Executive Vice President, Mr. Robert Worthington, have been of inestimable value to this Joint Commission. Mr. Worthington has attended, and made a great contribution to, all meetings of the Joint Commission and its sub-committees.

General Convention referred to the Joint Commission the following matters:

1. Continue the study of clergy pension plans and clerical salaries. (Journal, 1955, p. 188.)

3. Extend the Immediate Death Grant of $1,000.00 to cover, in addition to the widow of a clergyman, the mother or sister of an unmarried clergyman, or the estate of an unmarried clergyman, or, in certain circumstances, the daughter of a clergyman. (By Dean Moore, of Dallas; Journal, 1955, p. 238; and also Part 2 of the resolution by Mr. Peter Day, of Milwaukee, Journal, 1955, p. 239.)
4. Permitting clergy to retire at age 65, or after forty years in the ministry. (By Mr. Steiger, of Fond du Lac, Journal, 1955, p. 238.)

5. Study of possible means of pension protection, outside The Church Pension Fund, for mothers or sisters of unmarried clergymen, or the daughters of clergy. (By Mr. Day, of Milwaukee. Journal 1955, p. 239.)

On May 8, 1957, the Secretary of the 173d Convention of the Diocese of Pennsylvania referred to this Joint Commission a resolution which was adopted by that Convention on May 6 and 7, 1957, as follows:

"WHEREAS, The General Convention has ruled that all clergymen must retire at the age of 72; and

"WHEREAS, The Pension Fund has ruled that if a clergyman should act as a supply for more than three months in a year in one place, he must surrender his pension for the period of over three months if he continues in that one place of supply; and

"WHEREAS, The Social Security of the United States Government permits a person over the age of 72, receiving Social Security, to earn as much as he is able without affecting his Social Security grant; therefore be it

"Resolved, That the 173d Annual Convention of the Diocese of Pennsylvania request the Joint Commission on Clergy Pension Plans and Clerical Salaries of General Convention to consider and recommend to The Church Pension Fund, that all clergy reaching the age of 72, receiving a pension from the Fund, be permitted to earn any sum in ministerial work over and above his pension and that such earnings are not to jeopardize his pension providing he is not returning to the work from which he retired."

(Signed) CHAS. H. LONG, Secretary of the Convention.

This resolution was considered in connection with Item 2, above.

1. Of the Designation and Limitation of the Groups to be Covered by The Church Pension Fund.

"The Church Pension Fund ... is hereby authorized to establish and administer the clergy pension system of this Church substantially in accordance with the principles adopted by the General Convention of 1913 and approved thereafter by the several Dioceses and Missionary Districts, with the view of providing for the clergy disabled by age or other infirmity and for the widows and minor children of deceased clergy." (Canon 7, Section 1, of General Convention.)

"The enactment of this Canon put into operation the fairest and the soundest pension system passed by any Church in this world." (White and Dykman, Annotated Constitution and Canons, 1954 Edition.)

The Canon, as quoted above, clearly distinguishes the groups for which The Church Pension Fund is to provide. The Trustees of the Fund, throughout the years since it was established on March 1, 1917, have consistently adhered to their responsibility to administer the Fund in accordance with the Canon, and within the four corners of the field as laid out therein. The members of this Joint Commission believe, as a result of their independent studies, that the Trustees have been, and are, correct in following this course.
The enactment of Canon 7, and the establishment of The Church Pension Fund was the direct outgrowth of the masterly and far-seeing "Preliminary Report of the Joint Commission on the Support of the Clergy (Pensions)," which had been constituted by General Convention of 1910, and of which the Rt. Rev. William Lawrence, Bishop of Massachusetts, was Chairman. That report said:

"The Commission is clearly of the opinion that the pension system of the Church cannot be confined to superannuation alone, but must also provide against total disability at any age, and must take care of widows and minor orphans. This makes the family the basic principle of the pension system, which is peculiarly appropriate in the Church. Only through such an extended provision is the entire problem solved, and the necessity for appeals to charity obviated.

"On the other hand, the Commission cannot admit an obligation to extend the benefits beyond the classes enumerated above."

A long history of concern about the financial plight of the "aged, infirm and disabled clergy, and the widows and orphans of deceased clergy," and of well-meant but ineffectual efforts to do something about it, lay behind the appointment of the Joint Commission by General Convention of 1910.

The first official record having to do with this matter appears in the Journal of General Convention of 1853, which authorized the establishment and incorporation of a fund to be 'Supported by voluntary contributions for "the relief of aged, infirm and disabled clergymen, and of the widows and children of deceased clergymen,"' (Message No. 42 from the House of Clerical and Lay Deputies to the House of Bishops. Adopted by the House of Bishops.)

The groups specified are the same as those recommended in the Report of 1913, and set forth in Canon 7. The language is almost identical. The subject appears, in one form or another, in the Journals of General Conventions of 1856, 1859, 1862, 1868, 1871, 1874, 1880, 1883, 1889, 1892, 1898, 1904, 1907 and 1910. In each case the same groups, and only those groups, are mentioned.

Voluntary contributions did not materialize in any adequate amount, and the number and variety of diocesan relief organizations created confusion without solving the problem. After sixty years of such experiences, the time was ripe, in 1913, for the establishment of The Church Pension Fund, to cover the whole Church, and supported by assessments. The fact that 100 per cent of the parishes and missions of the Episcopal Church in the U.S.A. participate in the Pension Fund proves that the founders and their successors have builded well, and have hewn to the line.

It is only natural that sympathy and concern for the problem of groups other than those enumerated in the Canon should lead to suggestions that the benefits of the Pension Fund ought to be extended to such other groups. However, it is the considered judgment of the members of this Joint Commission that this can not properly be done. It is their duty to say so, and this they have done, despite the desire which all share that distress, wherever it may exist, should be relieved by suitable means.

2. Retired Clergy Re-entering Service.

General Convention requested the Trustees of The Church Pension Fund to give consideration to revising their Rules to permit a clergyman who, in retirement, is receiving a pension from The Church Pension Fund to re-enter active service, subject to the provisions of Canon 45, as amended, for a period of longer than three months in any one place in any twelve month period without suspension of such pension; and to make such revision of their Rules unless the actuarial provision for any pension would thereby be impaired. This Joint Commission was also requested to study and report on this matter. The Convention of the Diocese of Pennsylvania requested that a retired clergyman over age 72 be permitted, under any circumstances except violation of Canon 45, Section 8, as amended, to serve longer than three months in any one place in any twelve month period and receive for such ministerial service any amount of money without suspension of his pension.

At present a clergyman returning to active work in one place continues to receive his pension during the first three months and it is then suspended until the work terminates.

In the opinion of the members of this Joint Commission the benefits of the Pension Fund are reserved to the retired clergy. A clergyman, regardless of age or the amount earned, cannot be both "active" and "retired." Therefore, a pension cannot properly be paid to a formerly retired clergyman during a period of resumed active service.

This Joint Commission accepts the judgment of the Board of Trustees of The Church Pension Fund with respect to paying pensions to active clergy, as expressed in its statement of April 27, 1956. Excerpts from that statement are as follows:

"The responsibility of the Trustees has always been and continues to be to provide for widows and minor children and for retired and disabled clergy as much income as possible when clerical salaries have ceased. The actuarial base of the system is designed to this end.

"Payments to clergy in regular active ministry, whatever their age, were not contemplated when the Fund was established. To begin such payments now would be unwise and unsound.

"Almost every pension which the Fund is now paying, to clergy and widows and children, is higher than it would be had the distinction between retired and active not been made.

"Limiting payments to those earning not more than $1,200.00 a year would not avoid the above inequity and discrimination. The misapplication of funds would still be involved.

"The Trustees believe what Bishop Lawrence said in his 1929 report as President of the Fund continues to be valid: 'Many of the difficulties of a pension system will pass away with time, but there is one which probably always will remain. The Church Pension Fund, by its original calculations, and by constant repetition in its official documents, only grants pensions and continues to pay pensions where the clergyman is not engaged in active service in the Church. This is fundamental. This will always assure a certain amount of irritation and will always be one of the things it is desired to have changed. For my part, I do not see how it ever can be changed without disrupting the entire pension system ... I doubt if this fundamental provision that pensions and salaries cannot both be received will ever secure complete acquiescence.'"

(See Appendix II for the complete text of this statement.)
3. Extend the Immediate Death Grant of $1,000.00 to Cover, in Addition to the Widow of a Clergyman, the Mother or Sister of an Unmarried Clergyman, or, in Certain Circumstances, the Daughter of a Clergyman.

General Convention, by resolution, requested The Church Pension Fund to consider the extension of the $1,000.00 death grant which is now paid to the widow of a clergyman to cover the mother or sister of an unmarried clergyman, who, for at least three years next previous to his decease, has kept house for such clergyman.

In another resolution, this Joint Commission was directed to study and report on the question of making the immediate death grant available to the estate of an unmarried clergyman, as well as to the widow of a clergyman.

This Joint Commission, as hereinabove set forth, believes that Canon 7 provides, and was intended to provide, that The Church Pension Fund is to extend its benefits exclusively to the retired and disabled clergy, and to the widows and minor orphan children of deceased clergymen.

The Church has historically considered these groups to be its particular concern. Inclusion of other groups would violate both the letter and spirit of Canon 7, and would mean lower pensions for the groups specified in that Canon.

The Joint Commission subscribes to the views set forth in the statement of the Board of Trustees of The Church Pension Fund on April 26, 1956. The complete text of that statement is to be found in Appendix II hereof.

In any event, prompt relief would not be effected by payment to the estate of an unmarried clergyman, because, in most jurisdictions, six months or more elapse before an estate is settled.

4. Study of Protection, outside The Church Pension Fund, for Mothers and Sisters of Unmarried Clergymen, and the Daughters of Clergymen.

General Convention, by resolution, directed this Joint Commission to study, and report on, the problem of pension provision for mothers or sisters of unmarried clergymen, and the daughters of clergymen, through annuity contracts outside The Church Pension Fund.

Intensive and protracted study has not disclosed any means of pension protection for these groups which could be applied on a national scale within the Church. Such persons do not constitute a group which has any clearly defined relationship with any central agency, and therefore, they would not qualify for any group annuity plan administered by an insurance company. Furthermore, the group is constantly changing in membership. It does not appear to be within the bounds of practicality under these circumstances, to suggest the inauguration of any funded plan to accomplish the foregoing ends, even if it were deemed to be feasible to raise such a fund.

This matter might well be referred by General Convention to the several dioceses and missionary districts for such action as they may wish to inaugurate. Two methods of dealing with this problem on a diocesan scale would appear to be feasible, namely:

1. The diocese or missionary district might provide group insurance, on a non-contributory basis, for all of its active, canonically resident clergymen, regardless of marital status, who are devoting full-time services to parishes, missions or departments of such diocese or missionary district. The unmarried clergyman, by designating his mother or sister as his beneficiary, would provide a considerable amount of protection, even though it would not be equivalent to a pension. (See Appendix I for further information about group insurance).

2. The vestry of a parish which has an unmarried clergyman might provide on its own account, or with diocesan assistance, an annuity policy to cover the situation.

5. Permitting Clergy to Retire at Age 65, or after 40 Years in the Ministry.

General Convention, by resolution, directed the Trustees of The Church Pension Fund to study the effect on the Pension Fund of permitting the clergy to retire at age 65, concurrent with Social Security, or after 40 years in the ministry.

This is a question which can only be answered on the basis of an actuarial study. The Church Pension Fund caused such a study to be made, and included a summary of the results in the statement of the Trustees on April 26, 1956. Excerpts from that statement are as follows:

"Costwise, it takes about a 30 per cent higher contribution rate to provide the same annuities at age 65 as at age 68; the period of accumulation is three years less, the period of annuity payments three years longer, and interest would otherwise be compounding on a smaller accumulation for a long period.

"Conversely, for a given contribution rate, an annuity starting at age 68 can be about 24 per cent larger than one starting at 65.

"Any attempt now to adjust to a lower retirement age would have unhappy effects in these elements of cost and adequacy of benefits, and would introduce serious inconsistencies in the relation among the several benefits.

"The age for the retirements is now 68. A clergyman unable to work from disability receives a pension on these grounds before 68.

"... experience had shown the clergy to retain their abilities for a constructive and satisfying ministry to a later age than did factory workers, carpenters, etc., in their work (all of whom, with women workers, are now a part of Social Security)."

This Joint Commission accepts the judgment of the Trustees that experience has proved it distinctly wise to use age 68 for the Church's pension system, and that lowering the age would be retrogressive as to the effectiveness of both the Church's ministry and its pension system.

The statement of the Trustees on this subject is quoted in full in Appendix II.

6. Clerical Salaries and Allowances.

Of all the subjects assigned to the various joint commissions and committees for study, there is none that more closely touches the clergy of the Church in their daily living than the matter of clerical salaries. And yet there is little the General Convention can do about this important subject beyond presenting certain facts and hoping that vestries and diocesan authorities may be encouraged to review again their particular responsibilities regarding clerical salaries and take action where such is needed.

How are the salaries of our clergy faring in these days of steadily increasing taxes and cost of living? Are salaries keeping up in this race?
In 1953 The Church Pension Fund made a study, diocese by diocese, of the average and median salary figure. The median salary is the fairer index. Again in November, 1957, a similar study was made. Thus we have a basis of comparison for the last four years. These figures take into consideration only the dioceses and continental missionary districts. The figures given are the cash stipends. Housing, travel allowances, pension premiums or other fringe benefits, important as they are to the recipient, are not included since they vary so from diocese to diocese. What do these figures show?

To interpret these figures briefly, they mean that in the $5,000 group, Alabama, for example, there are as many cash salaries below $5,000 as there are above. And that in the last category there are as many salaries below $4,000 as there are above.

What has been referred to above as "fringe benefits" should not be too lightly dismissed. Pension premiums are constant throughout the Church, and their incalculable benefits are a tremendous factor in every clergyman's personal and family security. Rectories, or the provision therefore, are again a very central rather than a fringe benefit. Some parishes and even dioceses pay for household utilities—a considerable help with the income tax calculations. At least one diocese, and possibly more, makes an automatic increase of $200 in basic cash stipend for every minor child through the fourth one. After that the parson is on his own. Some dioceses provide definite scholarship aid for children of clergy in college. These and other benefits are of course of great help, often providing just that margin that prevents financial insolvency. But for our basic, common denominator figure we must return to the cash stipends.

And here we find, as noted above, an average increase of $600 in the last four years in median salary figures. This indicates that bishops and other diocesan authorities and parish vestries have been awake and have been making efforts to look out for their parsons and their families. But constant reviewing is necessary. As salaries move upward, income tax payments become larger and larger. A few years ago the income tax, Federal and State, was a small factor in the average minister's budget. More and more it is becoming a very considerable item.

Further, the index of the cost of living continues to rise, not always, however, at any even rate. It did not rise materially from the beginning of 1953 to the end of 1955. Thus, when you compare the situation that existed in November, 1953 (Cost of Living Index 115.) with that which existed in November, 1957 (Cost of Living Index 121.6) you will not get a picture that is thoroughly realistic in relation to what is now going on with regard to the cost of living and what seems to be certain into the indefinite future. The position of all persons on salaries is deteriorating quite rapidly under the double pressure of increasing taxes and increasing cost of living.

One firm of economic experts reports that, taking these two factors into consideration, the $600 average increase in median salaries is worth $453.96 cash in hand, after deducting the Federal Income Tax and allowing for the increase in the cost of living. This, of course, is a generalized figure, since income tax deductions vary from individual to individual, and state income taxes are not included because of their variation from state to state.

The formula for any specific case is: Deduct the cash stipend of the fall of 1953 from the stipend of the corresponding date of 1957. Take 22 per cent of the difference, then deduct this 22 per cent from the difference, and take 97 per cent of the result of that deduction. The 97 per cent will be the disposable income actually available to the recipient after deducting the Federal Income Tax and adjusting for the increase in the cost of living.

The median salary figure for 1953 and for 1957, together with the application of the above formula to the increase as shown, will be sent to each bishop for his own information and use.

For some reason, diocesan authorities and parish vestries seem to have more difficulty facing squarely the matter of fair travel allowances than they do in considering adequate salaries. Perhaps something of the old idea that automobiles are luxuries still lingers. But under present conditions an automobile is just as essential to a clergyman's work as his salary or rectory, so that when inadequate provision is made for his travel allowance in parish work and the minister has to pay the balance out of his own pocket, it is as if the vestry said to him about the rectory: "We are sorry, but we must charge you rent for the rectory, not full rent, but about half."

The fact remains that travel allowance is the factor in a clergyman's compensation that is least satisfactorily and fairly met. The crucial question is: "How much does it actually cost per mile to operate a car and allow for depreciation and other expenses, such as insurance?"

To this question no single answer can be given. The figure will vary for different parts of the country, for different driving conditions, and according to the number of miles per year the car is driven.

The American Automobile Association reports that for "fairly new, low-priced" cars the cost of driving a car 10,000 miles in 1958 would be $1,078, an increase of $76 over 1957. This includes all costs, such as insurance, depreciation, gas and oil, tires, etc. An allowance of 10 cents a mile almost, but not quite, covers the real cost.

When we examine the travel allowance of various dioceses we discover some interesting facts, of which the following are fair samples:

$200 per year for depreciation.

Diocese 2:

6 cents a mile, limited to driving between churches.
CLERGY PENSIONS

Diocese 3:

$200 per year for depreciation.

Such allowances are just not based on reality. Family use of the car should not of course be charged to the parish or to the diocese. But when the parson is about his work as a priest of the Church, he certainly should not be required to pay so large a part of his unavoidable travel expense.

In concluding this part of the Joint Commission's study of clerical salaries, we would like to summarize our position by repeating four reasons we have set forth before as to why diocesan authorities, especially bishops, and parish vestries should regularly review the salary, the travel allowance and other phases of compensation they provide for their clergy. We repeat these reasons again:

1. The cost of living is still advancing and will continue to do so. The clergyman's dollar is not worth as much today in purchasing power as it was one, four, five or ten years ago.

2. The cost of automobile operation and replacement is not only increasing but not all in authority have candidly faced and adequately met this large item of unavoidable expense.

3. The Social Security benefits, made available to clergymen three years ago, while bringing great benefits after retirement, also require the payment of a tax of considerable size year by year until retirement.

Both Church Pension Fund and Social Security benefits to be received on retirement are in direct relationship to the salary figure of the clergyman's active ministry. The best way to take care of the future is to be fair with the present.

Public Law No. 85-239; 85th Congress, was approved on August 30, 1957. It extends until April 15, 1959, the period within which a clergyman who failed to elect coverage under Old Age and Survivors insurance, Social Security, before the former deadline of April 15, 1957, may now qualify if otherwise eligible.

The new Act also provides that a clergyman must henceforth include the rental value of the rectory or vicarage provided for his use, or rent for living quarters paid on his behalf, as part of his self-employment earnings for Social Security credit, and pay the Social Security Tax (but not the Federal Income Tax) thereon. This was neither permitted nor required under the former Statute. It will affect only those whose cash stipends are less than $4,200.00 per annum.

Reports indicate that a large majority of the clergy have already elected coverage. However, this extended opportunity to do so should be brought to the attention of the clergy, with special attention to the younger clergy, who, at present, may not fully appreciate what Social Security will really mean to them after they retire.

There are more than 400 local and regional offices of Social Security throughout the country, and further information regarding this important matter may be obtained from any one of them.
8. Recommendations of the Trustees of The Church Pension Fund that the 15 per cent Rate of Contribution Be Continued, and that All Pensions be Increased by 20 per cent.

The Trustees of The Church Pension Fund have issued a report to General Convention, 1958, which contains the information that the increases in minimum pensions of all classes which became effective on January 1, 1950, by action of General Convention in 1949, have now been fully funded.

It will, therefore, be possible to apply a portion of the 15 per cent assessment, if that rate is continued, so as to provide an increase of 20 per cent in all pensions, minimum and otherwise, to clergymen, widows and minor orphans.

This Joint Commission recommends to General Convention that the 15 per cent rate of assessment for The Church Pension Fund be continued, and that the increased benefits which can thereby be made possible should be distributed proportionately among all of the groups which are presently covered.

The Trustees have stated the case for the present pension structure clearly and cogently, as follows:

"The present pension structure is realistic and effective as to relation between different types of pensions. For the man ordained at a normal age, the retirement and total disability pensions are one-half of the average annual salary over his entire ministry, with a minimum pension of $1,500.00 a year; the widow's pension is somewhere between one-quarter of his average salary and a minimum of $750.00 a year, depending on her years of marriage in his active ministry; the allowances for dependent orphan children under age twenty-one are $300.00 to $500.00 each, depending on age of child; and the lump sum payment to widows is $1,000.00. For men ordained at later ages the pensions are graded down proportionately, the full minimum, however, applying to all ordained before age forty.

"An increase of 20 per cent in all pensions would maintain this relation between the different types."

9. Continuation of Joint Commission to Study Clergy Pension Plans and Clerical Salaries.

It is deemed to be important that studies of clergy pension plans and clerical salaries by an arm of General Convention shall continue without interruption. To that end it is recommended that a Joint Commission to carry out such studies shall be appointed to serve for the triennium 1958-61, and to report to General Convention.

RESOLUTIONS

The following resolutions are commended to the consideration of General Convention:

Resolution No. 1

Of the designation and limitation of the several groups which are covered by The Church Pension Fund

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that this General Convention recognizes that Canon 7 specifically limits The Church Pension Fund to providing for the clergy disabled by age or other infirmity, and for the widows and minor children of deceased clergy.

Resolution No. 2

Of retired clergy re-entering service

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that General Convention hereby supports and approves the Rule of The Church Pension Fund whereby, in the event that a clergyman, being retired, re-enters service in any one place for more than three months in any twelve month period, the pension payments to such clergyman shall be suspended during the time, in excess of three months, which he spends in such service.

Resolution No. 3

Of the payment of the Immediate Death Grant of $1,000.00 to others than the widow of a clergyman

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that The Church Pension Fund, under the provisions of Canon 7, cannot properly pay the Immediate Death Grant of $1,000.00 to any one other than the widow of a clergyman—e.g., the mother or sister of a deceased unmarried clergyman, or the estate of a deceased unmarried clergyman.

Resolution No. 4

Of the advantages of, and the need for, a diocesan plan of group insurance for the clergy

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that Dioceses and Missionary Districts be urged to give consideration to the advantages of, and the need for, a Diocesan plan of non-contributory group insurance for all of its active, canonically resident clergymen, regardless of marital status, who are devoting full-time services to parishes, missions, and departments of such Diocese or Missionary District.

(The unmarried clergyman may then achieve a considerable degree of protection for a mother or sister by naming her his beneficiary.)

Resolution No. 5

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that, since lowering the age of retirement under The Church Pension Fund from 68 to 65 would involve either a radical increase in the assessment to maintain the present level of pensions, or a material reduction in the amounts of all pensions if the present rate of assessment were maintained, such a step would be unwise and retrogressive as to the effectiveness of both the Church's ministry and its pension system.

Resolution No. 6

Of Clerical Salaries and Allowances

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that it will be desirable for Dioceses to appoint committees of laymen, where such committees do not now exist, to study the whole matter of clerical salaries with special attention to the adequacy and equity of such salaries, and to report their findings for the information and guidance of Vestries and Mission Committees; and be it further Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that similar study should be given to allowances, especially the allowances to the clergy for operation and replacement of the automobile, without which a clergyman can not fulfill his pastoral duties in this day; and in all cases, allowances should be realistic and equitable.

Resolution No. 7
Of Social Security coverage for the clergy

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that suitable steps should be taken to bring to the attention of the clergy, especially those who may heretofore have failed to qualify within the former time limit, and to the younger clergy who may not at present fully appreciate what Social Security will mean to them in retirement, the extension of time which was granted by a recent amendment of the Statute, and the great advantages of Social Security coverage for clergymen and members of their families.

Resolution No. 8
Of the full funding of the increases in minimum pensions, and the possibility of increasing all pensions provided the 15 per cent rate of assessment is continued.

WHEREAS, The increases in minimum pensions of all classes which became effective on January 1, 1950, by action of General Convention in 1949, have now been fully funded; and

WHEREAS, The Church Pension Fund has determined that, in the event that the 15 per cent rate of assessment is continued, it will provide for an increase of 20 per cent in all pensions, minimum and otherwise, to clergymen, widows and orphans; therefore be it

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that the present rate of 15 per cent for assessments for The Church Pension Fund be continued, and that the pensions, minimum and otherwise, presently paid to clergymen, widows and minor orphans, be increased, respectively, by an amount equal to 20 per cent thereof.

Resolution No. 9
Of the Continuation of the Joint Commission to Study Clergy Pension Plans and Clerical Salaries

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that a Joint Commission to Study Clergy Pension Plans and Clerical Salaries be appointed to serve during the triennium 1958-61, and to report to General Convention.

Resolution No. 10
Appropriation

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that the sum of $2,500.00 be, and hereby it is appropriated for the expenses of the Joint Commission to Study Clergy Pension Plans and Clerical Salaries during the coming triennium.

Appendix I

Group Insurance for the Clergy

Several Dioceses now have in force Group Insurance covering the clergy of such Dioceses, and a number of others have such insurance under consideration.

The relationship of present-day clerical salaries to the current level of cost of living makes it difficult for a clergyman to make adequate provision for the surviving members of his family in the event of his death. Such provision is necessary as a supplement to the amounts of the pension available to a widow and dependent minor children under The Church Pension Fund.

Further, the unmarried clergyman, whose relatives, e.g., a mother or sister, are not covered under The Church Pension Fund, could, by designating such relative as his beneficiary, provide a considerable amount of protection even though it would not amount to a pension.

Group Insurance is best adapted for operation by the individual Diocese or Missionary District. Varying conditions in different sections of the country would indicate different amounts of insurance coverage as being locally suitable. Insurance regulations permit recognition of the Diocese in the guise of the "employer" of the active, full-time, canonically resident clergy serving the Parishes, Missions and Departments of the Diocese; and the group, to be eligible for coverage, must be employees of one employer. It is, of course, recognized by all concerned that the conventional employer-employee relationship does not exist in the case of the clergy, either with respect to the Diocese or to the Parish.

It would be difficult, if not impossible, to secure recognition, under insurance regulations, of any relationship between the clergy and General Convention which would make possible Group Insurance on a national scale.

Under a Diocesan arrangement, in the event that the group coverage of a clergyman terminates due to removal from the Diocese, retirement, or any other cause, such clergyman may, under the provisions of the usual insurance contract, at his own expense, and without medical examination, promptly exchange the group life insurance, or any portion thereof (usually in units of not less than $1,000.00), for permanent, individual insurance by paying the premium required therefor.

There are many advantages in a non-contributory plan of group insurance covering all of the active, full-time, canonically resident clergy serving the Parishes, Missions or Departments of the Diocese. The total amount of the premium is paid to the insurance carrier by the Diocese. The Diocese recovers the respective amounts of premium paid on account of parochial and mission clergy either by including the amount of the total premium in the assessments for the Diocesan Fund, or by the laborious process of collecting from each parish and mission. Inclusion of the amount of the premium in the assessment for the Diocesan Fund greatly simplifies the administrative work in the Diocesan Office, and is to be recommended. One Diocese which collects directly from each parish and mission has found the administrative work, and the follow-up of delinquencies, so onerous that an annual charge is made to each unit for such services.

One hundred percent of the eligible clergy are automatically included in a non-contributory plan, and this is a requirement for this type of coverage. A contributory plan may have some appeal, but it is more complicated. In such a plan seventy-five percent of all of the eligible clergy must participate, according to insurance regulations, a voluntary relationship is involved, and there is the problem of collection from individuals.

The non-contributory plan is not only more practicable, but it appears to satisfy more realistically the purposes which group insurance is intended to serve.

The amount of the annual premium to be paid will vary comparatively little as between insurance carriers who are authorized to write insurance in any State, including the States which enforce the strictest regulation. The annual cost per thousand dollars of coverage will depend principally upon the ages of the group to be covered, and to a small degree upon the aggregate amount of coverage. For example, a Diocese which inaugurated Group Insurance on January 1, 1958, to cover one hundred clergymen ranging from age 68 to the mid-twenties, in the amount of $10,000.00 each, paid a first year premium at the rate of $12.50 per thousand dollars of insurance. The premium is refigured on each anniversary date in accordance with the then existing ages of the insured. A "dividend" or "refund" is usually paid annually after the first year, depending upon the experience record with group insurance in the particular Diocese in relation to the experience record of the insurance carrier with all of its insurance in this category.

The Church Life Insurance Corporation, which writes Group Insurance, may be consulted without obligation for further information.

APPENDIX II

THE CHURCH PENSION FUND

Statement of the Board of Trustees as to Paying Pensions to Active Clergy

General Convention has asked the Trustees to consider the possibility of paying pensions to retired clergy who return to regular active work if the stipend from the place served is not more than $1,200 a year. At present a clergyman returning to active work in one place continues to receive his pension during the first three months and it is then suspended until the work terminates.

Requests for an extension of the three months period under special circumstances, such as a very limited and temporary ministry, are passed upon by a committee of three Bishops on the Board.

The responsibility of the Trustees has always been and continues to be to provide for widows and minor children and for retired and disabled clergy as much income as possible when clerical salaries have ceased. The actuarial base of the system is designed to this end.

Payments to clergy in regular active ministry, whatever their age, were not contemplated when the Fund was established. To begin such payments now would be unwise and unsound. The reasons are as follows:

1. Payments to active clergy would mean smaller pensions to those who are actually retired, whose income is restricted at best.

2. And it would mean discrimination in favor of the parishes and missions served by them because those places and the missionary societies that support them would be relieved of a part of their financial responsibility. It would mean discrimination against other places which have to pay full salaries to provide adequately for their clergymen. A pension system cannot use its resources to this end without loss in effectiveness.

3. And it would mean discrimination also in favor of the men so serving actively as opposed to those incapable of serving. The former would be receiving money from the Fund that ought to go to the retired, most of whom are unable to do even incidental supply work and thus gain the limited earnings that might go with it. The men so serving actively are likely eventually to be in the ranks of those whose physical limitations will not let them do even supply work.

Almost every pension which the Fund is now paying, to clergy and widows and children, is higher than it would be had the distinction between retired and active not been made.

Limiting pension payments to those earning not more than $1,200 a year would not avoid the above inequity and discrimination. The misapplication of funds would still be involved. In fact these effects would be aggravated, for the tendency would be for the congregations by the force of circumstance to let pensions carry more and more of the salary load. The end result in many cases would be for the clergyman with a pension to serve without any stipend, thus relieving the place of all responsibility.

The Trustees are aware that the Federal Social Security system pays its pension to workers earning not more than $1,200 a year. They call attention however to the obvious fact that a course followed by the government is not necessarily a wise course for the Church, even in pensions. The long-term effect of depressing pensions to the retired, or conversely the higher cost of the system, which is inherent in this feature of Social Security is obscured by its method of financing, wherein the costs are being passed on to future generations to cope with.

year and Social Security pension of $1,302 ($1,953 for the eligible couple) would have cash income of $2,502 ($3,153) a year. Adding a Church Pension Fund pension of $1,500 would bring income to $4,002 ($4,653); or adding a Fund pension of $2,000 would bring income to $4,502 ($5,153). These cash income levels are higher than the stipends of over half the regularly active clergy.

The Trustees believe what Bishop Lawrence said in his 1929 report as President of the Fund continues to be valid: "Many of the difficulties of a pension system pass away with time, but there is one which probably always will remain. The Church Pension Fund, by its original calculations, and by constant repetitions in its official documents, only grants pensions and continues to pay pensions where the clergyman is not engaged in active service in the Church. This is fundamental. This will always assure a certain amount of irritation and will always be one of the things it is desired to have changed. For my part, I do not see how it ever can be changed without disrupting the entire pension system... I doubt if this fundamental provision that pensions and salaries cannot both be received will ever secure complete acquiescence."

April 27, 1956.

THE CHURCH PENSION FUND

Statement of the Board of Trustees as to Payments to Estates and Survivors of Unmarried Clergy

General Convention has asked the Trustees of The Church Pension Fund to consider the extension of the lump-sum grant of $1,000, which is now paid to the widow of a clergyman, to cover the mother or sister of an unmarried clergyman who for at least three years next previous to his death has kept house for him. It also has asked the Joint Commission to Study Clergy Pension Plans and Clerical Salaries to consider the advisability of making the grant available to the estates of unmarried clergy.

We can only repeat our belief as quoted on page 185 of the 1955 Journal of the General Convention:

Resolved, That the Church Pension Fund believes that the decision of the Church in 1916 to accept responsibility in its pension system only for the retired and disabled clergy and the widows and minor orphan children of clergy continues to be a wise one and that the following are pertinent to this question:

1. The Church has historically, through the several general and Diocesan relief societies which pre-dated The Church Pension Fund, considered these groups to be its particular concern;

2. Canon 7 (Of The Church Pension Fund) authorizes the Fund to provide "For the clergy disabled by age or other infirmity and for the widows and minor children of deceased clergy," and for no other groups;

3. Provision for others, viz: mothers, sisters, adult children and estates of deceased clergy, would have meant lower pensions for the clergy, widows and minor orphans, or a larger contribution by the Church;
4. The clergy active in this Church, unlike those of other Communions, are not called upon to contribute to the system and therefore are better able to make supplementary provisions;

5. Provision for mothers, sisters, adult children and estates falls properly within the responsibility of the individual clergyman, whether married or unmarried, rather than upon the Church.

THE CHURCH PENSION FUND
Statement of the Board of Trustees as to Retirement Age

General Convention has asked the Trustees of The Church Pension Fund to study the effect on the Fund if the clergy were permitted to retire at age 65, concurrent with Social Security, or after forty years in the ministry. The age for the retirement pension is now 68. A clergyman unable to work from disability receives a pension on these grounds in the years before 68.

Costwise, it takes about a 30 per cent higher contribution rate to provide the same annuities at age 65 as at age 68; the period of accumulation is three years less, the period of annuity payments three years longer, and interest would otherwise be compounding on a smaller accumulation for a long period.

Conversely, for a given contribution rate an annuity starting at 68 can be about 24 per cent larger than one starting at 65.

It was these considerations of cost and adequacy of pension, along with the fact that experience had shown the clergy to retain their abilities for a constructive and satisfying active ministry to a later age than did factory workers, carpenters, etc. in their work (all of whom are, with women workers, now a part of Social Security), that led to setting the age at 68. Once set, a benefit structure was adopted whereby the disability pension and widow’s pension formulas were put in equitable relation to the retirement pension formula.

Any attempt now to adjust to a lower retirement age would have unhappy effects in these elements of cost and adequacy of benefits and would introduce serious inconsistencies in the relation among the several benefits.

It is questionable whether the Church has a responsibility to pay pensions to clergy in the years before age 68 who are disinclined to work though able to do so, particularly when the Church has work to be done. Offering them pension support to add to Social Security at 65 would in fact be a stimulus toward retired status. The new compulsory retirement at 72 is bound to create shortages of clergy. The Church needs more workers. Should it take a step that will cut the number down? We raise these questions.

We believe it pertinent that present-day thought in industry and social science is that physical capabilities are being retained to higher and higher ages, and that a longer work-span is generally desired. There is a growing tendency for companies to move their retirement ages up.

We believe that experience has proved distinctly wise the use of age 68 for the Church’s pension system, and that lowering the age would be retrogressive as to the effectiveness of both the Church’s ministry and its pension system.

The General Convention of 1955 adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, That a Joint Commission on the Work of Deaconesses be created, to consist of three Bishops, three Presbyters and three lay persons."

There were appointed:

The Rev. Earl S. Estabrook.
The Rev. Dr. Otis R. Rice.
The Rev. Dr. Killian A. Stimpson.
Mr. Walter S. Underwood.
Mrs. Alfred M. Chapman.
Deaconess Ruth Johnson.

The Bishop of Connecticut was convener. At the first meeting, held in New York, March 6, 1956, the following officers were elected: The Bishop of Connecticut, Chairman; the Rev. Dr. Stimpson, Vice Chairman; Deaconess Ruth Johnson, Secretary-Treasurer.

Meetings were held subsequently in New York on March 15, 1957 and on December 5, 1957.

The Commission was divided into various sub-committees to study the varying questions which were raised.

The bishops of the Church were circularized to secure their opinions on various questions, questionnaires being sent to 126 bishops. The questionnaire stated, "If no reply is received, it will necessarily be counted as indicative of a lack of interest in the whole subject and listed accordingly." 67 replies were received, and no replies were received from 59 bishops.

It was immediately pointed out by some bishops that it is incorrect to refer to the "Order of Deaconesses" since the preface to the Ordinal in the Prayer Book states, "... that from the Apostles' time there have been these Orders of Ministers in Christ's Church,—Bishops, Priests, and Deacons." Deaconesses are not mentioned. Furthermore, it was pointed out that the Canons nowhere refer to the deaconesses as being an "order," and the Book of Offices omits any reference to "order" or "ordained." This is mentioned in our report because some American bishops and others feel that deaconesses are and should definitely be recognized as being ordained persons, as they are at present in the Church of England, that the Canon should so state, and that a Service of Ordination of Deaconesses should be included in the Prayer Book.

1. To the question "Should the Order of Deaconesses be continued on the present basis without changes in the canon covering the subject?" 44 bishops replied "yes" (though generally suggesting changes), 16 "no," and 7 were uncertain.
The strongest arguments for continuance were that deaconesses had served effectively in various fields, and also that the Church should seek to make maximum use of all potential workers.

2. To the question "If the Order is to be continued but changes made in the canon, what changes do you suggest?" the following are representative replies:

- "Educational standards should be higher."
- "There should be more careful screening before acceptance."
- "Deaconesses should be duly ordained and recognized as being ordained persons."
- "Uniform should be modernized."
- "Should be included in The Church Pension Fund."
- "Should not be suspended or removed from office by the Bishop without the advice and consent of the Standing Committee."
- "There should be canonical clarification as to whether deaconesses are to be 'seated' in Diocesan Conventions."

3. The third question was the following: "If you feel that the Order should be discontinued, what are your reasons for this? What are your suggestions as to procedure of discontinuance?" Typical replies are the following:

- "Conditions have changed."
- "Gone out of fashion—young women who want to enter into Church work prefer to be D.R.E.'s or parish secretaries."
- "The Order of Deaconesses does not appeal to women today."
- "Women who wish to serve the Church as a lifetime vocation may better enter one of the religious orders."

From the foregoing it is clear that one-third of the bishops desire to have the office of deaconess continued with changes. Your Commission feels that in view of the strong support given by so many bishops, and statements as to the effectiveness of many of the deaconesses, we are not in a position to recommend that the office be discontinued. Rather, it would seem that more effective use should be attempted. We do, however, have the following specific recommendations to make:

1. We feel that the educational standards should be higher and that a deaconess should be required to conform to the same educational requirements as men who become deacons. Therefore we recommend the adoption of the following resolution:

   Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that Canon 51, Sections 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 shall be repealed and instead there shall be adopted the following as Section 3: "A Deaconess shall comply with the requirements of Canons 26, 27, 28 and 29 in so far as they relate to Candidates for Ordination to the Diaconate, and where properly applicable to women and to persons not seeking advancement to the Priesthood." The remaining sections of Canon 51 shall be re-numbered in appropriate fashion.

At the time this report is being prepared one deaconess is in training, another has passed her canonical examinations and is waiting to be set apart, and a third is understood to be studying under private tutelage.
2. The Commission recommends that the deaconesses give consideration to the modernizing of their garb.

3. It is recommended that the following resolution be adopted:

Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that Canon 51, Section 11, be amended by the addition of the following, which should become the second sentence of Section 11 immediately following the words "canonically attached": "Each Deaconess shall report annually to the Bishop of her diocese in the form prescribed by the Bishop."

4. The matter of pensions for deaconesses is one which has been the subject of frequent discussion. Deaconesses do not come under The Church Pension Fund. Provision for them is at present made in varying ways including that provided by the Retiring Fund for Deaconesses, which has assets which are understood to be approximately $300,000, and also by the Deaconess Retiring Fund Society with offices in Philadelphia. In addition, deaconesses serving under the National Council have annuities in the form indicated below, and perhaps provision is made for annuities in other instances with which your Commission is not familiar. Social Security is provided in certain instances but not, we believe, in all. Your Commission has endeavored to find out the facts of the situation from competent sources, principally The Church Pension Fund who have been most helpful, and the report given us as on March 20, 1958, is as follows:

Group 1 do not need attention. They have annuities under the lay missionary plan of National Council, with Church Life Insurance Corporation, which will give them $1,250. a year at age 65, after 25 years' duty, graded down proportionately for shorter duty. They also have Social Security. Their $1,250. annuity plus Social Security in the $900-$1,300. range will give them $2,150. to $2,550. a year at retirement at 65. Their present ages are 46-64.

Group 2 are active with units of the Church other than National Council. Their ages run up to 75. They are probably under Social Security. We do not know what the organizations they are working with may be doing for them in preparing for retirement. Annuities at $1,250. a year at age 65 after 25 years of deaconess duty are desirable for them, as for the National Council group. Their Social Security will be in the $900-$1,300. a year range, which with $1,250. annuity would total $2,150.-$2,550.

Because of the advanced ages of many of these 31 deaconesses in Group 2, annuities of $1,250. will be extremely costly to build up if it all has to be done within the few remaining years of work. Some are already over age 65 and their retirement now would mean a large single premium to provide the annuity.

For those of these 31 who are under age 60 the best approach would be for the employer to arrange an annuity related to years of duty with the employer, maximum of $1,250. a year for 25 or more years of duty, graded down for less duty. There will be many for whom the premium cost of this may be prohibitive, nevertheless it is the desirable approach. For those now age 60 and over each case should be studied to see what can be done by the employer.

The 15 retired deaconesses in Group 3 received payments in 1957 from the Retiring Fund for Deaconesses, ranging from $300. to $1,200. a year, averaging $656. a year, and aggregating $9,693. To provide these payments of $9,693. a year by guaranteed annuities would call for single premiums totaling about $99,000. If these 15 were provided with $1,250. a year annuities the single premiums would total about $181,000.

The 15 deaconesses in Group 4 receive retirement income from the National Council in amounts of $350. to $1,250. a year.

The 27 inactive deaconesses in Group 5 receive no retirement income from either the Retiring Fund or the National Council. If their age distribution is like that of Group 3, the single premiums required now to give them $1,250. a year annuities would total about $325,000.

We are informed that the cost of providing a $1,250. annuity income for all deaconesses not cared for by the National Council would be about $500,000. This is more than we understand to be the assets of the two retiring funds mentioned above, and the use of even all those funds by the purchase of a single insurance premium contract would not be sufficient to make provision of a $1,250. annuity income. We can therefore only recommend that the two funds mentioned continue to provide to the best of their ability for the deaconesses now retired and those not otherwise covered in the future. However, we would urge that parishes and organizations now employing deaconesses should endeavor to conform to the lay missionary plan of the National Council and provide an annuity at the rate of $1,250. a year effective at age 65 after 25 years' duty, graded down proportionately for shorter duty, and that also Social Security be provided. It seems impracticable to require this by canon; but we would lay it upon the parishes and organizations concerned as a matter of simple duty, with the further suggestion that definite policies be secured with the Church Life Insurance Corporation or some comparable insurance company.

5. Because request has been made of us by representatives of the deaconesses that it would be helpful to them to have some representative body with which to deal in their relationships with the General Convention of the Church as well as other bodies, your Commission requests that it be continued with such changes in personnel as may seem to be advisable.

APPENDIX 12

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMISSION ON ASSISTANCE TO THE EASTERN ORTHODOX CHURCHES

The Joint Commission has made regular examination of material which has become available in regard to the position of the Eastern Orthodox Churches, and has given consideration to the needs which have been brought to its attention. The position of some of these Churches may be considered quite satisfactory, whereas there are others which are in real need of financial assistance. All have been very responsive to the friendship of the Protestant Episcopal Church which has been shown by the visits, books and magazines, or financial assistance provided through the Joint Commission. The Churches in Communist dominated countries have made no request, but the Patriarchs or other Heads of these Churches have written with great appreciation of the theological books and magazines which have been sent to them.
A review of the situation, as it appears in the spring of 1958, was made at the meeting of the Joint Commission on April 14, 1958. The salient features of this review are as follows:

Patriarchate of Constantinople—Recovering from the losses of the events of September, 1955. A linotype machine being installed by the World Council of Churches, largely as a gift from our Church. Theological school at Halki operating as usual.

Patriarchate of Alexandria—Facing difficult times because of departure of many Greeks. Maintains an excellent modern library and research center under Dr. Mosconas, with periodical publications.

Patriarchate of Antioch—Theological school (middle school grade) at Tripoli. Several students sent to St. Sergius, Paris. Receives subsidy from income of Priory in Moscow. Active youth movement of increasing importance in vitalizing life of the Church in the Lebanon and Syria.

Patriarchate of Jerusalem—Needs the assistance provided through the Anglican Archbishop in Jerusalem, largely from Protestant Episcopal Church, for maintenance of schools and parishes impoverished because only part of income from endowment properties in Israel can be collected. Theological training in Athens.

Church of Greece—In strong spiritual and cultural position, with widespread religious education and with active lay organizations. Theological faculties at Athens and Thessalonika universities. Numerous theological and popular journals and many books published.

Church of Cyprus—Church life strong under difficult political circumstances. Theological training in Athens.

Patriarchate of Moscow—Adequately supported by the faithful. Two higher theological schools (Moscow and Leningrad) and eight seminaries, besides effectively organized re-training courses for priests ordained before theological schools were reopened. One official monthly (probably 25,000 copies). Pulpit Bible published in 1956. Occasional volumes of sermons of Patriarch or Metropolitan Nicholas. Several monasteries and convents, but no organized religious education of children. No organizations of youth, women, or laity. Increasingly interested in relations with other Churches.

Patriarchate of Bulgaria—Active local and national church life. Theological faculty. Church periodicals.

Patriarchate of Roumania—Monastic life especially strong. Several theological schools. Theological and popular periodicals. Financially weaker than Moscow, but not in need.

Patriarchate of Serbian Church—Inner tensions and governmental restraints have left their mark on the Church. One theological school. Periodical published by Union of Priests. Assistance in theological training and textbooks for religious education provided by World Council of Churches.

Orthodox Church of Czechoslovakia—Consists of combination of (1) formerly independent Czech Orthodox, (2) the Orthodox in Czechoslovakia who were under the Serbian or Moscow Patriarchates, and (3) the ex-Uniats who returned to Orthodoxy in 1946. Self-supporting. Theological courses. Church periodical.
Orthodox Churches in Estonia and Latvia—Autonomy annulled, and these Churches integrated into the Russian Orthodox Church.

Polish Orthodox Church—Formerly independent, but now related to Moscow Patriarchate.

Orthodox Church of Finland—In 1957 reached agreement with Moscow providing for recognition of independence. Self-supporting. Monks of Varlaam moved to interior of Finland.

Orthodox Church of Japan—Administered under the jurisdiction of Metropolitan Leonty, Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic Church of North America. Priests being trained at St. Vladimir's Seminary, New York, under scholarship grants made by the Episcopal Church.

Russian Church in Western Europe—Metropolitan Wladimir in Paris, temporarily under the jurisdiction of the Patriarch of Constantinople. Increasingly difficult position of parishes owing to aging of clergy and impoverishment of parishes. Active parish organizations. St. Sergius Theological Institute with 35 students. (Regarding assistance, see below). Numerous theological works of high order published.

Russian Orthodox Church Outside Russia—Headquarters in New York, under Metropolitan Anastassy. Monastery, theological school and publishing house at Jordanville, New York.

Russian Orthodox Greek Catholic Church in North America—Metropolitan Leonty, St. Vladimir's Theological Seminary, New York, and St. Tikhon's Seminary (middle school grade) at South Canaan, Penn. Active Federation of Russian Orthodox Clubs (young people's organization) and other societies. Self-supporting, except for aid in theological education.

The triennium has seen marked changes in the Orthodox world and in relationships with the Western Churches. All the major Patriarchates are now in touch with each other, with a good deal of inter-visitation. Metropolitan James of Melita, Constantinople's representative at the World Council of Churches, visited Roumania; and a delegation from various Patriarchates, including Constantinople, took part in the celebrations of the Fortieth Anniversary of the Reestablishment of the Patriarchate in Moscow, in May, 1958.

The relationships between the Moscow Patriarchate and the Anglican Communion have been greatly strengthened by the participation of the Presiding Bishop and Dr. Paul B. Anderson in the Deputation of the National Council of Churches to Moscow in March, 1956, and by the Conference of Anglican theologians, under the Archbishop of York, and Russian Orthodox theologians, which took place in Moscow in July, 1956, Dr. Anderson attending as observer on behalf of Bishop Sherrill. The report of this Theological Conference, published by Faith Press, London, indicates the progress made in relationships and points to matters requiring further mutual consideration.

These conferences revealed some aspects of both strength and weakness in the Russian Church. There is evidence of vibrant spirituality and firmly organized parish life, with a well-established national hierarchical structure. The high spiritual and intellectual quality of leadership is to be noted. There seems to be greater demand for theological education on the part of young men than there are places in the theological schools, although these provide for more than a thousand students. The weaknesses, however, are also apparent. For one thing, the ban on distribution, production and publishing of religious literature ("propaganda") still exists, stultifying both popular and academic work in this field. Many manuscripts have been written, but cannot be published. Thus the intellectual life of the Church is restricted and prevented from finding a relationship with the cultural life of the people. A second factor is the, perhaps natural, persistent promotion of the peace movement by the Patriarchate along lines laid down by the Communist Party, without consideration of the independent non-partisan position which a free Church would normally be expected to take. This is not to criticize the Russian Church, but to note an aspect which indicates a degree of restriction on its outlook and activity.

Apart from the cooperation with Orthodox Churches by the Joint Commission, the National Council's Committee on World Relief and Church Cooperation helps to support the relief program of Church World Service, which sends large quantities of food, clothes, medicine and other supplies to Greece, Yugoslavia, the Holy Land, France, Germany and Hong Kong, where there are large numbers of the Orthodox in Diaspora; it also has made the following financial grants during the triennium:

A distinction can be drawn between the needs of the Churches as national organizations and the needs of parishes and persons. The Joint Commission has restricted its activities to the former; on the other hand, some part of the money which the Committee on World Relief and Church Cooperation sends to the World Council of Churches, and part of the Good Friday Offering, which goes to the Anglican Archbishop in Jerusalem, is used for the latter. Both are valid needs.

As we face the matter as a whole, three points become apparent: (1) the experience of assistance and cooperation with the Orthodox Churches has been highly fruitful in developing the bonds of peace and fellowship which the world sorely needs, (2) the Eastern Orthodox Church is also becoming Western (five million adherents in the United States), and (3) for the first time in history we are on the threshold of a period in which the Eastern Orthodox and the Western Churches can begin to take realistic steps to heal the breach of 1054. The potential benefit to the world of such cooperation in matters of faith and public life cannot be exaggerated.

A striking fact is that the Orthodox Churches themselves are finding a greater degree of unity.

Deputations have been mentioned. Correspondence on matters of mutual concern and policy is drawing these Churches together. There is a good deal of exchange of theological students. The Russian St. Vladimir’s Theological Seminary in New York and the Greek Theological Seminary at Brookline have good working relationships. All the Orthodox Churches in North America share in a carefully prepared Annual Conference and Training Course on Religious Education, which is doing a great deal to help these Churches educate young people in the faith.

Perhaps even more impressive is the way in which the Orthodox in Paris are leading off in meetings and discussions in which Anglicans, Lutherans and Roman Catholics come together. This was begun in the 1930’s on the initiative of an Orthodox layman, Nicholas Berdyaev. It has been systematized and made increasingly effective under the leadership of the Very Rev. Professor Archimandrite Cyprien, who has organized four Liturgical Conferences at St. Sergius Theological Institute, Paris, with a fifth prepared for 1958. These meetings bring together outstanding theologians, who take their meals together for five days. The record of papers read is as follows:

A total of 67 papers has been read by 52 individual theologians, with about 125 different individuals taking part in discussions. They come from Scotland, England, Germany, Sweden, France, Belgium, Holland, Italy, etc.

Perhaps it could have been done elsewhere, but it has been done by the Russian Orthodox at St. Sergius. The influence of these scholars on the developing relationships between East and West is a precious thing. It is something for which to thank God and for which to pray, that their fruits may become even greater.

Priests from St. Sergius Theological Institute are serving on all five continents, some of them in the Soviet Union or behind the Iron Curtain. The Institute continues to be outstanding not only as a center where 25-35 theological students from various Orthodox Churches are trained annually, and where ecumenic work of great significance is conducted, but also where scholarly research is favored. The Rector, Bishop Cassian, and six of the staff have been on the Commission making a modern Russian translation of the New Testament and the Four Gospels being published by the British and Foreign Bible Society in 1958. Professor Zenkovsky's "Apologetics" has just been published by the Russian YMCA-PRESS in Paris, and Professor Kartashoff has turned over to this publishing house the manuscript of his four-volume History of the Russian Church. Thus St. Sergius and its related undertakings in Paris are doing what cannot be done under Soviet conditions—relating the Christian faith to modern culture.

The work of the Joint Commission becomes evident in light of this report. For twenty-one years it has served our Church not only in giving assistance but in friendly personal contacts with the Eastern Churches. In recent years this has included the Armenian and Coptic as well as the Orthodox Churches. As efforts at rapprochement increase, such assistance, contacts and practical expressions of friendship will become increasingly important.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The Joint Commission draws from its experience and observations in recommending the following resolutions for General Convention:

Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that the Joint Commission on Assistance to the Eastern Orthodox Churches be continued, to survey the need for aid among the Eastern Churches, to provide assistance in the measure of funds available, and to make recommendations to the Presiding Bishop on matters affecting these Churches; and be it further

Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that the title of the Joint Commission on Assistance to the Eastern Orthodox Churches be changed to read "Joint Commission on Cooperation with the Eastern Churches."

Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that the person or persons charged with the responsibility of determining the distribution of the Good Friday Offering be instructed to appropriate 15% of the offering for the use of the Joint Commission on Cooperation with the Eastern Churches.

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMISSION ON ECUMENICAL RELATIONS

Survey of Responsibilities

During the past triennium the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations has had four major areas of responsibility.

In its liaison capacity with the National Council of Churches it has kept up with all of the representatives of the Episcopal Church on the various Boards, Divisions, Departments, Commissions and Committees of the Council; provided for travel expenses when necessary and possible; kept in touch with those who attended meetings and those who did not; and in general seen to it that the Episcopal Church was represented in all phases of the work of the Council. This was particularly important in the selection of 31 official delegates to its triennial meeting held in St. Louis December 1-6, 1957. (See Appendix).

Acting in a similar liaison capacity with the World Council of Churches, the Joint Commission has kept in touch with all phases of its activities. While fewer people have been involved in the work of the World Council, there have been many major responsibilities over the past triennium ranging all the way from the attendance at regular meetings of our official representatives on various Departments and Committees of the World Council, including the Central Committee, to a full participation in the North American Regional Conference on Faith and Order held in Oberlin, Ohio, September 3-10, 1957. (See Appendix).

In the field of Anglican relations, a special committee of the Joint Commission was appointed to explore the whole area of Anglican relations and to report back on the best possible way to strengthen our relationships with other parts of the Anglican Communion. This committee made a study of the opportunities and needs, concentrating mainly on the areas of further knowledge and information, and participation in exchanges between the several parts of the Anglican Communion, and formulated the recommendation that an Advisory Committee on Anglican Relations be named by the Presiding Bishop and responsible to him, as a permanent body dealing with Anglican relations, functioning in close relation to the Presiding Bishop's office and keeping in close touch with the ecumenical movement through the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations. There has been increased cooperation with the Pan-Anglican. In response to Bishop Gray's request, the Joint Commission has made suggestions for subjects which might be covered, and several members of the Joint Commission have accepted assignments for articles on the Lambeth Conference for the Fall, 1958 issue. The Secretary of the Joint Commission was appointed an Associate Editor, with the responsibility for providing articles on ecumenical relations. One Faith and Fellowship, a book on the Anglican Communion by the Rt. Rev. John S. Higgins, was written at the request of the Joint Commission, and was published by The Seabury Press in April. The Joint Commission also advertised and made available in this country various study materials to be used in preparation for the Lambeth Conference. The Very Rev. Alden D. Kelley became Sub-Warden of St. Augustine's College, Canterbury, England, and there have been some excellent representatives from this country attending as students.
The Joint Commission has tried to keep the Church informed on all matters of ecumenical importance, and is constantly seeking new and better ways for reaching down into the dioceses, parishes and missions of the Church, especially through the Ecumenical Bulletin and annual Provincial conferences. The Secretary is involved in a stream of correspondence and seeks to keep in touch with what is going on at the local level. In almost every diocese the bishop has appointed a Diocesan Chairman for Ecumenical Relations whose duty, along with that of the Woman's Auxiliary Representative for Ecumenical Relations, is to see that ecumenical news reaches the parishes and missions. A few dioceses have Committees on Ecumenical Relations, often within the framework of the Committee on Social Relations, and one Province has such a committee.

The Joint Commission has tried to fulfill all of its responsibilities as adequately as possible with only volunteer help. It has found the administrative responsibilities that have fallen to it are of dimensions beyond the capacity of the Commission to discharge satisfactorily. The Joint Commission believes there is an urgent necessity for someone attached to the Presiding Bishop's office who would be responsible for ecumenical relations. Therefore, the Joint Commission requests through General Convention that the Presiding Bishop provide for an Ecumenical Relations Assistant in his office, or in some other way incorporate the administrative responsibilities for ecumenical relations within the National Council.

Einar W. Jacobsen resigned from the Commission in 1957 and was replaced by Paul B. Anderson.

The Church of South India

As a result of the actions of the last General Convention with respect to the Church of South India, the Commission was responsible during the past triennium for the production and distribution of a study course on the Church of South India (Empty Shoes, A Study of the Church of South India), the nomination of the members of a delegation to visit the Church of South India, the evaluation and publication of their report (Report of the Delegation Sent to the Church of South India by General Convention), and the presentation of recommendations to this General Convention. Through the work of the Theological Committee, the Delegation and the members of the Joint Commission, this has been done, and appears in a separate report which has been available to the entire Church since the last of March (The Report of the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations on the Church of South India). This report was adopted unanimously by the Commission as an integral part of its triennial report to General Convention.

Ecumenical Relations at General Convention

There are three opportunities at General Convention to learn about the ecumenical movement and our Church's part in it. The first is an exhibit showing some of the major fields of action of both the World Council of Churches and the National Council of Churches, and the work of the Joint Commission. Part of this exhibit is planned so that it may be sent around the Church for display at diocesan and parish meetings, with bookings accepted at the Ecumenical Booth or sent in writing to the Secretary of the Joint Commission, the Rev. James W. Kennedy, 12 West 11th Street, New York 11, New York. There are also pamphlets available at the exhibit booth.
Secondly, an Ecumenical Dinner will be held on October 8 at 7:00 p.m. for approximately 300 persons. The Bishop, the Diocesan Chairman and the Woman's Auxiliary Representative from each diocese and missionary district (or appointed substitutes), as well as the members of the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations and the Committee on Ecumenical Relations of the National Council, and special delegates to W.C.C. and N.C.C. meetings, will be given priority. Bishop Dun, Chairman of the Joint Commission, will preside; the Presiding Bishop will speak; and ecumenical relations as it emerges at the local level, with special emphasis on what is being done and how, will be presented. This dinner will be in place of the usual Provincial meetings on ecumenical relations for 1958. A special Handbook on Ecumenical Relations at the Local Level will be distributed at the dinner.

Thirdly, an Ecumenical Mass Meeting will be held on Sunday, October 12 at 8:00 p.m.

FINANCIAL REPORT

The General Convention, through its triennial budget, provides for travel and the expenses of three annual meetings of the Joint Commission. The total budget for the triennium was $4,500 spent as follows:

- 1957: Both World Council and National Council... 9,483.51
- 1958: Both World Council and National Council... 10,000.00 (estimated)

For the administration budget of the World Council of Churches, the Protestant Episcopal Church's quota has been $35,000. Of this $22,000 has come from the National Council Budget, and the rest is raised from other sources.

For the administration budget of the National Council of Churches, the Protestant Episcopal Church's quota is $30,000, all from the National Council budget.

For the past three years the Annual Appeal for Ecumenical Relations to the dioceses and parishes has been made at Whitsuntide. Each year the Joint Commission has provided a leaflet describing the work of the World Council and National Council of Churches. These three leaflets ("Your Part in World Christianity," "A Movement and an Attitude," and "Ecumenical Relations in Miniature") are available free of charge in any quantity from The National Council, 281 Fourth Avenue, New York 10, New York.

The annual appeal has produced the following amounts for both the World Council and the National Council of Churches:

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMISSION ON ECUMENICAL RELATIONS ON THE CHURCH OF SOUTH INDIA

PREAMBLE

The General Convention of 1955 adopted the resolutions presented by the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations asking that the entire Church study the Church of South India during the triennium, and that a Delegation visit the Church of South India for a first-hand observation of that Church. The Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations was charged with the responsibility of producing a study outline, together with informative literature, and to implement this study project, as well as receive the findings of the Delegation and prepare an evaluation and appropriate resolutions for presentation to General Convention.

In 1956 Empty Shoes, A Study of the Church of South India, was published, which has been read and studied throughout the Church. In 1957 Report on South India, Being the Report of the Delegation to the Church of South India, With Certain Recommendations and Theological Comments, was published. Both of these documents have been as widely distributed as possible, and the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations, through its Diocesan Chairmen and Women's Auxiliary Representatives, has kept the subject before the Church.

Now, with the help of the Theological Committee, after careful study and discussion, the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations presents its Report to the General Convention, and commends it to the Church for serious consideration and appropriate action. This entire report comes with the unanimous recommendation of both the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations and the Theological Committee.

REPORT OF THE THEOLOGICAL COMMITTEE

Appointed to act in an advisory capacity to the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations in the matter of relations between the Protestant Episcopal Church and the Church of South India.

INTRODUCTION

In January, 1957, the Theological Committee submitted to the Joint Commission its preliminary report, a brief statement consisting chiefly of interpretative comments on the recommendations made by our visitors to South India. At that time we indicated substantial agreement with the basic action proposed by the members of the delegation to the Church of South India. We believed, and still believe, that full intercommunion with the CSI must await further developments within the life of that Church. Nevertheless, some steps might now be taken, consistent with our Anglican principles, to achieve a substantial measure of recognition and closer Christian fellowship.

1 See Report of the Delegation, pp. 77-84.
The acknowledgment of the bishops, presbyters and deacons of the CSI, consecrated or ordained at or after the inauguration of that Church, as "bishops, priests and deacons in the Church of God" is the basic recognition proposed by our visitors in their Report. With that significant action we unanimously concur in this final report as in our preliminary comments, though we suggest several changes in the consequent resolutions designed to implement that action.

Our careful examination and reconsideration of the whole matter during the past year has been the result of directives given us by the Joint Commission. In January, 1957, it was voted that the work of the Theological Committee "be continued in the light of the Joint Commission's discussion, and that their supplementary report (to the delegation's report) be considered as a first interim report. This committee will continue to act in an advisory capacity and will be called in consultation for producing a final set of recommendations for presentation to General Convention." In October, 1957, this directive was further detailed by instructions received from the Secretary of the Joint Commission "to consider the large number of criticisms already on the record, and in the light of them to reconsider the recommendations already prepared . . . with a recommendation either to present them as they stand, or to make whatever changes seem to be needed to present them as a final set of recommendations for presenting to General Convention by the Joint Commission."

In this report we have sought to discharge the responsibilities thus laid upon the Theological Committee. The concluding pages of the report proper (before its appended material) contain the resolutions we submit to the Joint Commission for consideration when formulating resolutions that may be placed before the General Convention. We are unanimous in our conviction that these resolutions do no violence to principles cherished by the Protestant Episcopal Church, and embody the fullest measure of Christian fellowship that may be established at the present time by such means.

I. THE CHURCH OF SOUTH INDIA

The negotiations which led to the formation of the Church of South India began at Tranquebar in 1919 at a conference under the presidency of Bishop Azariah of Dormakal. From the beginning the union that engaged the attention of the Church of India, Burma and Ceylon and the South India United Church (composed of former Presbyterian and Congregational missions) and later, of the Methodist Church, was proposed on the basis of the four points we call the Lambeth Quadrilateral. By 1930 these negotiations had crystallized in a "Scheme of Union" which was considered by the Anglican bishops then assembled at Lambeth. Despite the fact that there were serious questions to be settled before any final judgment could be given, the Lambeth Conference of 1930 expressed the bishops' "strong desire that, as soon as the negotiations are successfully completed, the venture should be made and the union inaugurated." At this stage it was hoped that, although full intercommunion between the united Church in South India and the Churches of the Anglican Communion would not be possible at the outset, a limited measure of intercommunion might be established and the episcopally ordained ministers of the united Church recognized by the several Anglican Churches.

Between 1930 and 1947 the "Scheme of Union" was twice revised, not wholly satisfactorily to many Anglicans. Yet in January, 1945, the General

Council of the Church of India, Burma and Ceylon gave its assent to action which would allow its four dioceses in southern India—Madras, Travancore and Cochin, Tinnevelly and Dornakal—to enter the union, a permission that was reaffirmed in 1947. On September 27, 1947, the Church of South India was solemnly inaugurated at a service held in St. George's Cathedral, Madras, the ex-Anglican bishops of the four former dioceses of the Church of India, Burma and Ceylon conveying episcopal orders to the newly-consecrated bishops of the united Church.

The Lambeth Conference of the next year, therefore, was confronted with a union no longer in stages of negotiation, but already a reality. In view of this the Anglican bishops at Lambeth gave “thanks to God for the measure of unity locally achieved by the inauguration of the Church of South India,” looking forward “hopefully and with longing to the day when there shall be full communion between the Church of South India and the Churches of the Anglican Communion.” Though the bishops in their resolutions refrained from using the striking phrases of their Committee on the Unity of the Church which said that “In Madras on that September day a union was brought into being between the heirs of the Protestant Reformation and a Church which retained the Catholic tradition as it is known in the Church of England,” still the Encyclical Letter affirmed the same idea: “For the first time since the great division of Christendom at the Reformation, an act of union has taken place in which episcopal and non-episcopal traditions have been united. By that act four dioceses of the Church of India, Burma and Ceylon, speeded by the consent and prayers of that Church, and encouraged by the advice of the last Lambeth Conference, have joined with former Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists in a more comprehensive expression of the Universal Church.”

But there were serious questions and uncertainties in the minds of many of the bishops at Lambeth, centering chiefly on (1) the six points raised by the report of a committee of theologians appointed by the Archbishop of Canterbury in 1946 to examine the final form of the “Scheme of Union”; and (2) the status to be accorded the clergy of the CSI who were episcopally consecrated or ordained at or after the inauguration of that Church. On the first of these, the Lambeth Conference resolved that the six points of the Derby Report should be communicated to the authorities of the CSI with a request that there be a reconsideration of such provisions in its Constitution as gave rise to these questions, with a view to their amendment. On the second matter—that of the status of the episcopally ordained clergy of the CSI—there was a difference of opinion among the bishops at the Lambeth Conference, a majority being willing to acknowledge them as “true bishops, presbyters and deacons in the Church of Christ,” and a substantial minority of the opinion “that it is not yet possible to pass any definite judgment upon the precise status of such bishops, presbyters and deacons.”

Recommending some lines that might be followed by Anglican Churches in their future relations with the CSI and its members, the Lambeth Conference of 1948 left to the separate Anglican Churches or provinces the responsibility of such study, consultation and prayer as might help to bring about closer contacts between them and the CSI.

A decade of development has now passed since the inauguration of the CSI, followed by these initial Lambeth reactions. On one hand these ten years have witnessed the continued growth and strengthening of those Catholic elements in the CSI which were contributed to its life largely out of the Anglican tradition. On the other hand, careful study of the CSI and increased knowledge of its ethos and spirituality have resulted in at least interim action by a number of Anglican Churches on the questions that were left unresolved by the Lambeth Conference a decade ago.

"We suggest," resolved the Anglican Congress of 1954, "that an early evaluation be made by an officially appointed body in each member Church of the Anglican Communion of the situation as it is developing in the Church of South India, so that the Anglican Communion as a whole may have an informed understanding of this courageous venture in reunion. Both to those who have entered the Church of South India from our own Communion, and to those who have joined with them from other Communions, we would affirm our continual fellowship in prayer and in the service of Jesus Christ. We look forward to the day when full communion with them may be realized . . . " Even before the Minneapolis Congress discussed the South India matter sympathetically, the Church of England had appointed its Joint Committees of the Convocations of Canterbury and York to give further consideration to the relations between that Church and the CSI, with particular reference to the status of the episcopally ordained ministers of the CSI. This action was in accordance with a directive of the Convocation of Canterbury in 1950 that a report be presented for the guidance of Convocation in 1955. Our own Church in 1955, at its first General Convention after the Anglican Congress and with specific reference to the suggestion of that Congress, directed a church-wide study of the CSI during the triennium 1955-58, and authorized the Presiding Bishop to appoint a delegation to visit the CSI and report their findings to the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations.

In addition to the action of the Church of England in its Convocations of Canterbury and York in the early summer of 1955, four other Anglican Churches have taken action favorable to the recognition of the episcopally ordained ministers of the CSI, thus accepting the majority opinion expressed at the Lambeth Conference of 1948. With this similar basic acknowledgment each Church has passed additional resolutions implementing in different ways and under different conditions the consequent relations with the CSI ministers whose status is so recognized, and providing for limited intercommunion on the lay level.

Very much the same reasons have prompted the several Anglican Churches to this course of action. Increasing contacts between the clergy and people of the CSI and those of Anglican Churches make some action, even if it be only of an interim character, highly desirable. Ecclesiastical confusion and pastoral bewilderment are the results of conflicting local policies where general agreement or action officially taken by a Church or province is lacking. Moreover, the wide and commendable desire for parallel action within all the Churches of the Anglican Communion has at least dictated that the matter be thoughtfully considered by all the Anglican Churches at this time.

Many feel that Anglican responsibility towards former Anglicans now within the CSI prompts the most generous measure of favorable action towards the establishment of some relations with a Church that now claims their full and loyal membership. Considerable numbers of Anglicans conscientiously feel that the general Anglican encouragement given to the South India union throughout the years of its planning demands at the very least long and serious consideration of any favorable action, however partial or short of the final goal of complete intercommunion, that does not do violence to Anglican principles.

The results of the years of development and growth within the CSI have allayed much of the fear of a decade ago that the sacramental and institutional life of the CSI might move away from the principles and practice that Anglicans hold essential to the well-being of the Church. Both the study of the English Joint Committees and the Report of our own visitors to the CSI indicate that the elements in the life of that Church which Anglicans may identify as similar to basic elements of their own church life have grown stronger through the years. The continued strengthening of those elements which we believe the Anglican tradition may properly convey to areas of reunited Christendom would seem to many to be assisted by the establishment of such relations with the CSI as may be possible at the present time.

Finally, the CSI should not be regarded as an experiment in church unity. It is a Church, and a Church on the precarious missionary frontier of Christianity. It is a Church of Indians in India, a tiny Christian bastion surrounded by millions of non-Christian peoples, themselves today exposed to the forces which militate strongly against a Christianity still identified with the European and western powers. It is not at all unlikely that in the years ahead the natural way for us to share in the effort of Christian evangelization in southern India will be through the CSI. In the face of this urgency, where principle will permit it, it would seem that the missionary imperative of our faith dictates the maximum effort to establish relations as will permit the lending of such spiritual and physical resources as we may have to the task of Christianity in this critical area.

One other point should be noted. The favorable action taken by several Anglican Churches and similarly proposed in this report does not necessarily imply that the way to union taken by the CSI establishes a proper pattern for the union of episcopal and non-episcopal traditions. That is a wider question than the one we are considering, yet some of us wish to assert our strong agreement with the counsels offered by the Lambeth Conference of 1948 to guide Anglican Churches in future approaches to reunion. In particular, we would agree with the bishops that "unification of the ministry... is likely to be a prerequisite to success"; that "the goal in any steps towards a united Church within a given area should always be a Church with which the Anglican Churches could eventually be in full communion"; and that "a part of our Communion contemplating a step which would involve its withdrawal from the Anglican family of Churches should consult the Lambeth Conference" or other Anglican Churches "before final commitment to such a course."

Doubtless these counsels were in part learned from experience with the formation of the CSI. Their application, however, in the future might make easier the establishment of full intercommunion between Anglican Churches and any reunited Churches to which they have brought essential elements of the Anglican tradition, thus avoiding the interim character of the partial intercommunion which represents the extent to which Anglican Churches have been able at the present time to establish relations with the CSI.

II. THE EPISCOPALLY ORDAINED MINISTRY OF THE CSI

However explicitly the formularies of the CSI exclude the necessity of holding any particular interpretation of episcopacy, yet those same formularies assert that "as Episcopacy has been accepted in the Church from early times, it may in this sense fitly be called historic," and "it is needed for the shepherding and extension of the Church in South India." Therefore, "continuity with the historic episcopate will be effectively maintained," and "all consecrations of bishops shall be performed by the laying on of hands at least of three bishops." Minimal though these statements may seem, they constitute a plain declaration of the CSI in respect to episcopacy. The CSI has carefully maintained the episcopal succession by the participation of Anglican bishops in its first consecrations, using for that act, and incorporating into its ordinal, a form so similar in essentials to those in use in the Anglican Communion that any suggestion of inadequacy of form cannot be sustained.13

The formularies of the CSI assert also that "every ordination of presbyters shall be performed by the laying on of hands by the bishop and presbyters," and "Deacons shall be set apart for their ministry by the laying on of hands by the bishop of the diocese." To this rule of episcopal ordination of all ministers ordained within the CSI there has been undeviating adherence during the years since the inauguration of the Church, testifying to the integrity of the constitutional affirmation that "it is the intention and expectation of the Church of South India that eventually every minister exercising a permanent ministry in it will be an episcopally ordained minister."14

Moreover, it is plain that the CSI intends a real continuity with the historic threefold ministry that has been received and continued within the Anglican tradition. The character of its ministry is described in the basic constitutional assertions that "the ministry is a gift of God through Christ to His Church." All members of the Church "according to their measure, share in the heavenly High Priesthood of the risen and ascended Christ," and "all alike are called to continue upon earth the priestly work of Christ by showing forth in life and word the glory of the redeeming power of God in Him."15

"But in the Church there has at all times been a special ministry, to which men have been called by God and set apart in the Church. Those who are ordained to the ministry of the Word and Sacraments exercise their office only in and for the Church, through the power of Christ the one High Priest." The CSI "believes that in ordination God, in answer to the prayers of His Church, bestows on and assures to those whom He has called and His Church has accepted for any particular form of the ministry a commission for it and the grace appropriate to it."16

13 CSI Constitution II, 11. 14 CSI Constitution, II, 11 and V, 12. 15 CSI Constitution, II, 7. See also the statement "General Principles" in the CSI Ordinal.
The functions assigned to the bishops, presbyters and deacons by the Constitution of the CSI and in the forms of consecration and ordination in use, make plain that the particular forms of ministry for which appropriate grace is given are a continuance of the historic threefold order. The several pastoral, teaching, evangelistic, disciplinary and sacramental functions which the Catholic Church has entrusted to its bishops, priests and deacons, and which are assigned to those respective orders by the Ordinal and Office of Instruction in our Prayer Book, are similarly assigned in the formularies of the CSI.\textsuperscript{13}

The initial acceptance of non-episcopally ordained presbyters within the CSI, and the continued practice during the interim of 30 years after its inauguration of receiving ministers of its parent Churches without episcopal ordination, create for Anglicans a difficult and anomalous situation. We are forced to describe the ministry of the CSI as divided between an increasing majority of ministers in episcopal orders and a decreasing minority non-episcopally ordained. Our acknowledgment of a ministry akin to our own is necessarily limited to the former group. The presence of non-episcopally ordained ministers among the presbyters of the CSI, and the constitutional statement that after the period of 30 years "the Church of South India will determine whether there shall continue to be any exceptions to the rule that its ministry is an episcopally ordained ministry" both limit the extent of relations now possible between our Church and the CSI and give to the resolutions embodying such relations an interim character. But we believe that these difficulties do not constitute sufficient grounds for either denying or postponing a favorable judgment on the episcopal consecrations and ordinations of the CSI. We agree with the conclusions expressed in the report of the Joint Committees of the Convocations of Canterbury and York, and already embodied in the action taken by a number of Anglican Churches.

"The recognition of CSI orders is no betrayal of principle. The decision is based on theological grounds in accordance with Western opinion."\textsuperscript{14} This judgment appears to us to be a correct one. To require anything more of the intention of the CSI in respect to its episcopal consecrations and ordinations would be to impose a strictness contrary to the main theological tradition of Western Christendom.\textsuperscript{15} Our recommendations for action, therefore, contain a resolution that the bishops, presbyters and deacons consecrated or ordained in the Church of South India at or after the inauguration of that Church be acknowledged as true bishops, priests and deacons in the Church of God.

A number of other difficulties and questions remain, themselves contributing to the interim character of this basic acknowledgment and such further resolutions as may be designed to implement it in terms of the fullest fellowship possible now with the clergy and laity of the CSI.

First, the results of the determination in 1977 by the CSI of the conditions under which it will receive ministers from other Churches into its ministry may be such as to affect relations established with any other Churches.

Furthermore, some of the questions raised in the Derby Report of 1946 and echoed in the Lambeth Conference of 1948 have not yet received their final answer. It is evident, however, that not all these points have the same force today which they had a decade ago. The ambiguities, for example, in the constitutional statement on the Sacraments of the Church have been at least partially clarified by the sacramental doctrine and practices embodied in the CSI liturgies of Baptism and the Holy Communion, both authorized in 1954. The use of Confirmation, an order for which was authorized in 1950, is fast becoming the general practice of the Church. Our own visitors have testified “There is a growing appreciation of sacramental worship. . . . We noted with approval the reverent devotion with which the Holy Eucharist was invariably celebrated and received, and the increasing frequency with which the service is being used.”

The question of proper safeguards for the responsibility which rests upon the bishops in matters of faith and order would appear to be open to future settlement. At present no actual provision in the Constitution of the CSI safeguards the independent functioning of the episcopate in the Synod as a distinct and separate order, but the extremely difficult process of overruling the bishops, as well as the spiritual authority secured to the bishop within his diocesan jurisdiction, seem to provide adequate practical protection for the responsibility which the authorities of the CSI plainly acknowledge “rests upon the Bishops in matters of Faith and Order.”

Finally, and perhaps most important, it would appear clear now that despite the constitutional statements thought necessary a decade ago at the outset of the union regarding the use of the Creeds and a reasonable liberty of interpretation in respect to their words or phrases, the CSI intends to adhere firmly to the historic faith of the Catholic Church. “The Church of South India is part of the One Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church, confessing the historic faith of the Church and seeking to proclaim that faith throughout South India. We have not departed and, God helping us, we shall not depart from that faith. . . . We affirm that we accept the Apostles’ and Nicene Creeds as witnessing to and safeguarding the historic faith of the Church.” Events of the past decade and the character of Christian life and faith evident within the CSI appear to substantiate without question the orthodoxy of that Church. On this point our visitors had no hesitancy in affirming “the credal orthodoxy of the Church of South India.” It should be further noted that in the Ordinal of the CSI the Nicene Creed is required to be recited in the course of the ordination services, and afterwards the Bishop in “The Examination” of those to be ordained presbyters declares: “We act and speak as part of the One, Holy, Catholic, and Apostolic Church, and in the faith which we have now with united voice declared in the words of the Creed.”

III. THE ANGLICAN CHURCHES AND THE CSI

No Church or Province of the Anglican Communion is, of course, bound by the actions of another. The Lambeth Conference of 1948 recognized that there might be differences of attitude among the Anglican Churches regarding the status of clergy consecrated or ordained within the CSI, expressing the hope that such differences might never in any part of the Anglican Communion be made a ground for condemnation of action taken in another part. Yet among the Anglican Churches, united as they are in common traditions of faith, order and worship that have linked them to-

Together in firm bonds of full communion, the last decade has brought a heightened sense of the strength that lies in the closest common action in ecumenical concerns as well as in missionary strategy, evangelistic activity, and other areas of work and witness shared by the entire Anglican Communion. The action of any one Church or Province is of importance to the whole Communion.

In framing the resolutions suggested to the Joint Commission we have kept before us the actions of other Anglican Churches, as we have sought to shape recommendations that might rightly implement the conviction we share with the visitors to the CSI that "we ought to enter into the fullest possible fellowship with the CSI consistent with our Anglican principles and the Faith and Order of the universal Church as received and practiced in our communion."

Seven Anglican Churches or Provinces have taken some action in respect to the CSI. The action of one of these, the Province of the West Indies, affirms that "the Church in the Province of the West Indies is not in communion with the Church of South India." Definite judgment on the status of CSI clergy is deferred until the end of the 30-year interim, or until the Constitution of the CSI has been amended. The Province of the West Indies makes no provision for former Anglican laity now in the CSI to be admitted to Holy Communion. Former Anglican clergy of whose orthodoxy the Bishop is satisfied may be allowed to exercise their ministry, provided they do so in Anglican churches only. This action was taken in the West Indies in 1949, and we have no knowledge that the Province has undertaken any recent reconsideration.

The Church of the Province of South Africa governs its relations with the CSI by a set of "interim regulations" adopted by the Episcopal Synod in 1948. These permit sacramental ministrations by former Anglican clergy only, requiring of them the same engagement made in the West Indies, i.e., that they will minister in churches of the Province only. Permission may be given, however, to all clergy of the CSI to preach, and lay members of the CSI, temporarily resident in South Africa, may be admitted to Holy Communion if they agree to exercise that privilege in Anglican churches only. In 1955 the South African Provincial Synod requested that opportunities be afforded to study the whole question at the diocesan level before any alterations were made in these "interim regulations." We have no information on the progress of that study.

Two of the seven Churches, therefore, which have taken any action regarding the ministry of the CSI, have accorded recognition only to ex-Anglican clergy. Five Churches or Provinces have recognized the bishops and episcopally ordained presbyters and deacons of the CSI: England, Wales, Ireland, Scotland, and India.

Each of these five Churches makes its basic recognition in virtually the same form, acknowledging the bishops, presbyters and deacons consecrated or ordained at or after the inauguration of the CSI as "true bishops, priests and deacons in the Church of God." There are some slight verbal differences in the form used by the Church of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon; and the Episcopal Church in Scotland includes references both to the intention of the CSI in respect to an episcopal ministry, and to the form and practice of consecration and ordination in use.

All five Churches implement this basic acknowledgment with a set of regulations governing ministrations by the clergy thus recognized, and permitting a limited measure of intercommunion. Many of these regulations are very similar. All five Churches, for example, permit invitations to preach to be extended, under proper authority, to CSI clergy. Four of them allow their own bishops and priests to accept the hospitality of the CSI for celebrating Holy Communion within it. Similarly, four Churches make provision for episcopally ordained CSI clergy to officiate as ministers of those Churches, becoming thereby subject to the ordinary discipline governing their ministry. A study of the complete resolutions of the several Anglican Churches may easily be made by reference to Appendix I of this report.

Further comment should be made here, however, on at least three matters which have been the subject of extended discussion in the Churches that have adopted resolutions establishing relations with the CSI, and in our own Church since the publication of the Report of the Delegation.

1. In the matter of extending permission to bishops and episcopally ordained presbyters of the CSI to celebrate the Holy Communion in Anglican churches, four of the five Churches have made this permission subject to the willingness of CSI clergy to celebrate in Anglican churches only: England, Wales, Ireland and Scotland. The fifth—India—has expressed its restrictions differently. In the territory of the CIPBC episcopally ordained clergy of the CSI are allowed to celebrate the Holy Communion only when exceptional local conditions of pastoral urgency make it desirable (a circumstance quite clearly applicable to the local Indian situation only); and on special occasions, one of which is specified as an occasion of ecumenical significance.

The request made of CSI clergy to confine their celebrations to Anglican churches is not, despite an impression to the contrary, primarily due to the provisions of the English Colonial Clergy Act. The precise application of that Act to the peculiar problem of those ordained by the bishops of the CSI is said to be a matter of some difference of opinion among English lawyers, though undoubtedly it could be made a legal barrier to anyone licensed to officiate in the Church of England ministering in England other than by forms provided in the Prayer Book. In any event, the Colonial Clergy Act applies only to England and Wales. The Anglican Churches in Ireland and Scotland were free of any possible legal constraint when imposing their request upon the CSI clergy. The primary motive for the restriction was made plain by the present Archbishop of York when, as Bishop of Durham in July, 1955, he moved the English resolutions in the Convocation of York. "The Colonial Clergy Act," said Dr. Ramsey, "probably makes impossible the ministration of any ministers from overseas in the Church of England, unless they conform entirely to the Church of England in this country. That is a legal point, but I would emphasize that this legal technicality is not the chief reason for the line which the report here takes—far from it. The reason is a pastoral one which needs no elaboration, and it arises from—" to quote the report—"the present irreconcilability of the two principles of a unified ministry and of full communion with the non-episcopal Churches."
The problem dealt with by asking the CSI clergy to celebrate in Anglican churches only, arises because the ministers of the CSI have a relationship with their parent bodies which is inherent in their Constitution and inseparable from their determination to maintain full communion and fellowship with all the Churches with which constituent groups of the CSI have had that relation. A CSI minister, is, therefore, “at liberty to minister and to celebrate the Holy Communion in any church of a Church with which any of the uniting Churches have enjoyed relations of fellowship, if he is invited to do so.”\footnote{CSI Constitution, II, 15.} Many of them consequently feel bound to retain the freedom to celebrate in any appropriate church when so invited, regarding the acceptance of a limiting condition to be inconsistent with “the obligations of fellowship between the Churches.”\footnote{1950 Report of the Joint Committees of the Convocations, p. 67.} Indeed, they often feel so strongly the scandal of divisions among their parent Churches that the liberty they possess to transcend barriers among us is the more jealously guarded.

No one can come into contact with the CSI without realizing the strength of its conviction that it has entered into a new and rich experience of unity in Christ. Nor would we deny in any way the reality of that experience or seek to limit permanently its expression. Yet the Anglican Churches are not in communion with non-episcopal Churches in their countries. They still maintain the ancient principle that the Sacraments are duly administered under the authority of, and in communion with, the bishop. By attaching a request to celebrate in Anglican churches only, the Anglican Churches are asking the CSI charitably to recognize and accept for the present a limitation of its claim of freedom in the interests of unity as it exists in conditions outside southern India. The problem is not only a pastoral one; it involves principle for many Anglicans as it does for members of the CSI. It may be, however, that principle on both sides can be affirmed and pastoral perplexity and confusion avoided, by asking of the CSI clergy a willingness to limit their freedom, that may be subject, as is somewhat the case of the resolutions of the Church of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon, to dispensation by the bishop on occasions of major ecumenical significance.

Our difficulties at this point illustrate sharply the limits of unilateral action in ecumenical relations. The one-sided consideration of matters relating to the CSI inevitably lacks that element of Christian fellowship and understanding which accompanies mutual encounter and discussion when representatives of separated Communions meet face to face. Some of the resolutions of the Anglican Churches might have been framed differently, even as interim arrangements, had they been the result of continuing conference with official representatives of the CSI. It is earnestly to be hoped that some effective means of liaison and mutual discussion might be devised for the future, and we have included a suggestion to this end in our recommendations to the Joint Commission.

2. The second point of special concern does not perhaps require such full discussion. Three of the five Churches (England, Wales, and Scotland) which have recognized the episcopal orders of the CSI have included in their resolutions permission for the bishop to authorize the use of a church within his jurisdiction for the celebration of the CSI Liturgy by a bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter of that Church. The only prolonged discussion on this point has centered around the possibility that such as occasion might be made a means to easy intercommunion among Anglicans and different groups of non-Episcopalian groups, for according to the rule of the CSI, all would be welcome to receive at celebrations of its Liturgy.

The Church in Wales has precluded this possibility by allowing such a celebration only "for communicants of the CSI resident in the province." The Episcopal Church in Scotland permits the celebration "on the definite understanding that such celebrations would not be used for purposes of a demonstration to which Episcopalians and members of other Churches would be invited to communicate indiscriminately." It has been pointed out that the Scottish phraseology is perhaps too rigorous, while that of Wales, strictly applied, would make such occasions rare in the extreme.

The English resolution contains no phrase indicating the use of such authorization, but the Archbishop of Canterbury spoke strongly to this question when the resolutions were before the English Convocation. "There is an obstacle," he said, "in the fear that the procedure authorized in this paragraph might be used in an undesirable way, so as to invite a demonstration of some other nature than simply sharing in a celebration by a priest of the Church of South India in the course of our own domestic life. So long as it is within our own domestic life, we feel that there is no kind of objection to it, but that there is a danger of its being used outside. No member of the Upper House would wish to contemplate any use outside our own domestic use . . ."

Clearly the reasons for including such a provision (apart from the desirability of giving CSI communicants opportunity to assist at their own Liturgy) are to permit Anglicans to witness the Liturgy of the CSI and to participate in it, and to provide opportunity for a bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter of the CSI to celebrate the Holy Communion by his own Liturgy from time to time. These purposes are achieved on occasions which are—to use the Archbishop's word—"domestic," that is, within an Anglican church's normal life. In framing our resolution at this point we have sought to indicate the domestic character proper to these celebrations. We would further point out that the Archbishop of Canterbury continued in his comments, "On such an occasion, without disturbing the domestic character of the occasion, it might be found that some from outside might be present and share in the service. To that we see no objection at all."

3. Finally, in the matter of regulations that provide some measure of limited intercommunion on the level of lay members there are the widest variations in the resolutions of the several Anglican Churches. A number of Churches (including South Africa) have provided for members of the CSI to receive Holy Communion when temporarily within areas of their jurisdiction. There are, however, some differences in their regulations. Wales and Scotland, for example, extend this hospitality only to episcopally confirmed members of the CSI, Scotland adding the requirement of individual willingness to refrain from communicating outside the Episcopal Church. South Africa welcomes to its altars all CSI communicants, for at least a limited period, and with the same proviso that they receive the Sacrament only in churches of the Province.

England and Ireland allow communicant members of the CSI to receive Holy Communion with no further restriction than such provisions as are made to apply to CSI members who purpose to become habitual communicants instead of temporary visitors, namely, acceptance of normal Anglican discipline.

No extended comment is necessary on these practices. The resolutions of England and Ireland appear to be in accord with the recommendation of the Lambeth Conference of 1948 that “recognized communicants of the Church of South India should, in the Churches of the Anglican Communion, subject to the approval of responsible authority and to any such regulations as may locally obtain, be admissible to communion by an exercise of the principle of ‘economy’.” This is, of course, in line with the Lambeth resolution in 1930 whereby bishops might give permission that, “baptised communicant members of the Churches not in communion with our own should be encouraged to communicate in Anglican Churches, when the ministrations of their own Church are not available, or in other special and temporary circumstances.”

It is the other side of this limited intercommunion that poses the greater problem—that of allowing or encouraging members of Anglican Churches to receive the Sacrament within the CSI. Indiscriminate reception, in a Church where there are celebrants both episcopally and non-episcopally ordained, presents a real and considerable problem of conscience to many Anglicans. On this point there has been prolonged discussion in our Church. Four Anglican Churches have adopted resolutions touching this matter: England, Wales, Scotland and India. Three of these Churches, in different degrees of emphasis and restriction, permit the reception of Holy Communion at the hands of CSI celebrants who have been episcopally ordained. For example, the Church of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon enjoins its members visiting southern India “whenever practicable receive Holy Communion only when the celebrant is an episcopally ordained minister.” The Church in Wales permits its members to receive “provided that they have no reason to believe that the celebrant has not been episcopally ordained.” The Episcopal Church in Scotland includes the clause “provided that the celebrant is a bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter.” The fourth Church, that of England, includes in its resolution only such restrictive implications as are contained in the word “within,” and discussion in England has indicated a concern to protect the consciences of many Anglicans by pointing up those implications.

It would seem clear that it is not the mind of the Anglican Churches to relax the Anglican rule and practice that the Holy Communion should normally be received only at the hands of episcopally ordained clergy. It was this normal practice of receiving the Sacrament from those episcopally ordained that prompted the Lambeth Conference of 1930 to point out that even while specifying circumstances under which Anglicans might receive in other Churches when the ministrations of their own Church were not to be had, “the very special circumstances and the very strict regulations specified in this Resolution of themselves show that we are not departing

45 Lambeth Conference, 1930, p. 52.
46 South Africa and the West Indies grant no permission for their members to receive in the CSI churches. Ireland, however, might well be included among those Churches that make provision for this reception, for the Irish resolutions allow members “who may go to South India to be free, if so disposed, to participate in the life and worship of the Church of South India.” Presumably the point in question is covered in these phrases, but their vagueness avoids a direct confrontation of the issue.
from the rule of our Church that the minister of the Sacrament of the Holy Communion should be a priest episcopally ordained."

It is difficult to see that the "very special circumstances," under which relaxation of the usual rule was admitted by the Lambeth Conference of 1930 to fall within the discretion of the bishop, are ordinarily present today in the CSI. With episcopal ordination the invariable rule within the CSI and the consequent gradual increase in the number of episcopally ordained presbyters (who already constitute the larger number of clergy) the special conditions recognized by Lambeth Conference are increasingly unlikely to be present. It would seem unwise, therefore, to frame an interim resolution in such fashion as to burden Anglican consciences or to appear to ignore the implications of the acknowledgment of the episcopal orders of the CSI. On the other hand, to express a resolution in terms of exclusive restriction, or in such phrases as would exclude the exercise of individual responsibility in special circumstances, would do violence both to the way in which the normal Anglican rule is asserted and to the statement of the Lambeth Conference on this point. It is possible to guide our people in respect to the usual and desirable practice without excluding the unusual circumstances or the episcopal discretion attached thereto by the Lambeth Conference of 1930.

The relationship established between the CSI and the several Anglican Churches that have adopted the series of resolutions we have been discussing is one best described as partial or limited intercommunion. While considerable difference of opinion exists in respect to the use of these terms, the distinctions made by the Archbishop of Canterbury in the Convocation of July, 1955, provide at least a workable definition and help to clarify the extent of the relations which are established between Anglican Churches and the CSI.

"Full communion," said the Archbishop, "means to me the communion of the Anglican Communion." It is a term properly applied only where the unity of fellowship is complete in every respect. Churches in such communion share so fully in common traditions of worship, similar principles of church order, and a complete doctrinal consensus that they may be spoken of as one Church or one Communion. Thus, for Anglicans, "full communion" exists only among the several Churches of the Anglican Communion.

"Intercommunion" signifies, through the implications of its prefix, a state of fellowship between Churches where each retains its full and separate identity, and where, though a sufficient similarity exists to permit some degree of recognition and sacramental hospitality, the two Churches are yet not of the same world family or Communion. This relation, obviously, may vary in the degree of recognition and in the consequent practice of sacramental fellowship. "Full intercommunion," for example, would indicate an... unrestricted relation established between two Churches where, while not belonging to a single world Communion, nevertheless "each believes the other to hold all the essentials of the Christian Faith." Such is the kind of intercommunion between Anglicans and Old Catholics.

What is established between Anglican Churches and the CSI by the several resolutions is something short of full intercommunion—a relation best termed that of "limited intercommunion." Furthermore, the resolutions themselves are necessarily interim measures. Until further development has taken place within the life, worship and church order of the CSI, and its own acknowledged interim period has passed, the question of full intercommunion is not raised. Yet it is through a relation that has its beginning in limited intercommunion, establishing now the fullest possible fellowship with the CSI which is consistent with Anglican principles, that the Churches may gradually grow into that closer unity in which, as the last Lambeth Conference put it, "there shall be full communion between the Church of South India and the Churches of the Anglican Communion."

IV. RECOMMENDED RESOLUTIONS

The foregoing sections of this report endeavour to make plain the grounds upon which we have based the resolutions that follow in this section. We have altered in some significant details the original resolutions suggested by our visitors to the CSI, but not without some hesitation lest it be thought that we have failed in gratitude for the immense amount of time and thought given by them to their responsibilities. The fact is that without the selfless generosity and tireless work of the members of our delegation to the CSI, both during their visit to India and subsequently, we should not now be able to recommend measures that promise a closer fellowship with the people of that Church. The changes we suggest are the result of a prolonged study of the whole matter in the light of the discussion throughout the Church during the past year. We have worded our resolutions somewhat differently from those of other Anglican recommendations on the same points, chiefly because of the distinctive character of the American scene to which they are intended to be appropriate.

In commending these resolutions to the consideration of the Joint Commission we are aware that they do not exhaust the responsibility of our Church towards the CSI. We hope that the Joint Commission will feel it proper to supplement them with further resolutions, or other appropriate action, designed to move the people of our Church to closer ties of interest in and prayer for their brethren in the CSI; to facilitate assistance to the CSI from such resources of our Church as may properly be so employed; and generally to advance the efforts towards that full intercommunion which we hope one day may exist between the CSI and all the Churches of the Anglican Communion.

We also recommend to the Joint Commission that consideration be given to the establishment of a "Committee of Liaison" with the CSI (by special permission or authorization of General Convention if necessary), responsible to the Joint Commission on Ecumenical Relations and in contact also with the Joint Commission on Approaches to Unity. We urge that the CSI be requested to establish a similar committee, their joint function being generally to interpret the position of each Church to the other, to explore and discuss areas of fellowship that might be established by these or other resolutions, and to serve as a continuing instrument of official contact between the Protestant Episcopal Church and the CSI.

Finally, we would note that we have reached unanimous agreement on the resolutions offered herewith. While each of us feels that in some particulars the resolutions might have been differently worded, yet we are convinced that this unanimity represents a convergence of differing points of view on a level above that of compromise, and one where we might expect a genuine and favorable response from the mind of our Church.

This report, therefore, is respectfully submitted, together with the resolutions that follow.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The Joint Commission unanimously recommends the adoption of the following resolutions:

1. Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that having considered the form and practice of consecration and ordination in use in the Church of South India and the intention explicitly asserted in its Constitution "that eventually every minister exercising a permanent ministry in it will be an episcopally ordained minister" (CSI Constitution, II, 21) we acknowledge the bishops, presbyters and deacons consecrated or ordained in the Church of South India at or after the inauguration of that Church as true bishops, priests and deacons in the Church of God.

2. Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that

a. A bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter of the Church of South India when temporarily within a diocese or district of the Protestant Episcopal Church may be invited to celebrate the Holy Communion in churches of the diocese or district in accordance with the Order for the Administration of the Holy Communion in the Prayer Book of this Church, with the permission of the Bishop, provided that he be willing while within that diocese or district to celebrate in Protestant Episcopal churches only except upon occasions recognized by the Bishop as having major ecumenical significance.

b. An episcopally ordained deacon of the Church of South India when temporarily within a diocese or district of the Protestant Episcopal Church may be invited to assist at services of the Holy Communion in churches of the diocese or district, with the permission of the Bishop.

c. Bishops, presbyters and deacons of the Church of South India may be invited to preach in churches of the Protestant Episcopal Church, with the permission of the Bishop of the diocese or district.

d. A bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter or deacon of the Church of South India may be granted license or permission for a stated period of time to act and officiate as a bishop, priest, or deacon of the Protestant Episcopal Church, and such bishops, presbyters and deacons shall be thereupon subject in all respects to the canons and other regulations governing ministers of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

e. The Bishop of a diocese or district may upon special occasion authorize the celebration of the South Indian Liturgy (An Order for the Lord's Supper, or the Holy Eucharist, approved by the Synod of the Church of South India, January, 1954) in a church within his jurisdiction for the congregation of that Church by a bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter of the Church of South India.

f. Bishops and priests of the Protestant Episcopal Church who visit the territory of the Church of South India may accept the hospitality of that Church for celebrating the Holy Communion within it.

g. Communicant members of the Church of South India when temporarily within the dioceses or districts of the Protestant Episcopal Church may receive Holy Communion in Protestant Episcopal churches. Members of the Church of South India who desire to become habitual communicants or communicant members of the Protestant Episcopal Church shall be required to conform to the regular discipline of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

h. Members of the Protestant Episcopal Church who visit the Church of South India may accept the hospitality of that Church for receiving Holy Communion and other sacramental ministrations at the hands of its bishops and episcopally ordained presbyters.

Appendix I

Actions in respect to the CSI taken or proposed by other Churches or Provinces of the Anglican Communion.

As far as is known or can be ascertained at this time (December, 1957), seven Churches or Provinces of the Anglican Communion, not counting the Protestant Episcopal Church, have taken no action in respect to relations with the Church of South India. They are:

The Anglican Church of Canada
The Church of England in Australia and Tasmania
The Church of the Province of New Zealand
The Nippon Seikokai
The Chung Hua Sheng Kung Hui
The Church of the Province of West Africa
The Church of the Province of Central Africa

In one or two instances correspondence with responsible officials of these Churches indicates that the question of relations with the CSI will probably be considered in the near future.

Seven Anglican Churches have taken some action already. The full text, or relevant portions thereof, is given below in the following order:

The Church of England
The Church in Wales
The Church of Ireland
The Episcopal Church in Scotland
The Church of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon
The Church of the Province of South Africa
The Church of the Province of the West Indies

THE CHURCH OF ENGLAND
Provinces of Canterbury and York

[Resolutions passed by the Convocations of the Provinces of Canterbury and York, July, 1955:]

1. That this House, while appreciating the difficulties which have hitherto stood in the way of a unanimous decision, is now agreed, both on theological grounds and in the light of the further development of the Church of South India, that it is no longer necessary to postpone a definite judgment concerning the status of the bishops, presbyters and deacons consecrated or ordained in the Church of South India at or after the inauguration of that Church, and acknowledges such bishops, presbyters and deacons as true bishops, priests and deacons in the Church of God.

2. That this House further resolves that:

a. Members of the Church of South India who are communicants in that Church may, when in England, receive Holy Communion in the Church of England.

b. Members of the Church of South India who become permanently resident in England and desire to be habitual communicants in the Church of England shall be required to conform to the regular discipline of the Church of England.

c. Bishops, presbyters and deacons of the Church of South India may be invited to preach in churches of the Church of England with the permission of the bishop of the diocese.

d. Any bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter of the Church of South India may be free to celebrate the Holy Communion in a church of the Church of England at the invitation of the incumbent, with the permission of the bishop of the diocese, subject to his willingness, while in England, to celebrate in Anglican churches only, and where these apply, to the provisions of the Colonial Clergy Act.

e. The bishop of a diocese may at his discretion authorize the loan of a parish church in his diocese from time to time for the celebration of the liturgy of the Church of South India by a bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter of that Church.
f. A bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter or deacon of the Church of South India who desires to officiate as a bishop, priest or deacon of the Church of England, whether for a limited period or permanently, may be allowed to do so, provided that he has received such permission as may be required under the Colonial Clergy Act. Such bishop, presbyter or deacon becomes subject in all respects to the rules and regulations of the Church of England.

g. Other ministers of the Church of South India who desire to enter the ministry of the Church of England shall be subject to its rules and regulations regarding admission to its ministry.

h. Bishops and priests of the Church of England who visit the territory of the Church of South India may accept the hospitality of that Church for celebrating the Holy Communion within it.

i. Members of the Church of England who visit the territory of the Church of South India may accept the hospitality of that Church for receiving the Holy Communion within it.

3. That this House respectfully requests His Grace the President to take appropriate action to give effect to the recommendations contained in this Report concerning practical help for the Church of South India, and, in view of the paramount importance of prayer, to take special steps, through whatever agencies he prefers, to ensure persistent and informed prayer for that Church.

[The English resolutions are taken from The Church of South India, being the United Report of the two Joint Committees of the Convocations (Church Information Board, Westminster, 1955)]

THE CHURCH IN WALES

[The following action was taken by the Governing Body of the Church in Wales at its annual meeting in 1957:]

Relations with the Church of South India

a. The Church in Wales acknowledges the bishops, presbyters and deacons consecrated or ordained in the Church of South India at or after the inauguration of that Church as true bishops, priests and deacons in the Church of God.

b. Any bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter of the CSI may be free to celebrate the Holy Communion in a church in the province of Wales at the invitation of the incumbent, with the permission of the bishop of the diocese, subject to his willingness, while in Wales, to celebrate in churches of the Church in Wales only, and, where these apply, to the provisions of the Colonial Clergy Act.

c. The bishop of a diocese may, at his discretion, authorize the loan of a church in his diocese from time to time for the celebration of the Liturgy of the CSI by a bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter of that Church for communicants of the CSI resident in the province.

d. A bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter or deacon of the CSI who desires to officiate as bishop, priest or deacon of the Church in Wales, whether for a limited period or permanently, may be allowed to do so, provided that he has received such permission as may be required in the Colonial Clergy Act. Such bishop, presbyter or deacon becomes subject in all respects to the rules and regulations of the Church in Wales.

e. Other ministers of the CSI who desire to enter the ministry of the Church in Wales, shall be subject to its rules and regulations regarding admission to its ministry.

f. Bishops, presbyters and deacons of the CSI may be invited to preach in churches of the Church in Wales with the permission of the bishop of the diocese.

h. Members of the Church of Wales who visit the territory of the CSI may accept the hospitality of that Church for receiving the Holy Communion within it, provided that they have no reason to believe that the celebrant has not been episcopally ordained.

i. Members of the CSI who have been episcopally confirmed may receive Holy Communion in any of the Churches of the Church in Wales.

j. Members of the CSI who become permanently resident in Wales and desire to be habitual communicants in the Church in the province of Wales shall be required to conform to the regular discipline of the Church of Wales.

[The text of the action of the Church in Wales was taken from The Church Times, October 4, 1957.]

THE CHURCH OF IRELAND

[The following resolutions were accepted by the General Synod of the Church of Ireland in May, 1956:]

1. That the Church of Ireland recognizes the bishops, presbyters and deacons consecrated or ordained in the Church of South India at or after the inauguration of that Church as true bishops, priests and deacons in the Church of God.

2. That lay communicants who in the Church of South India have received episcopal confirmation should, in the Church of Ireland, be received as communicants.

3. That other communicant members of the Church of South India may, when in Ireland, be welcomed as visitors from a Christian Communion overseas to Holy Communion in the Church of Ireland at the discretion of the Bishop. But if such persons become habitual communicants, the claim of the Church to full conformity with its requirements should be pressed upon their conscience.

4. That bishops, presbyters and deacons of the Church of South India may be invited to preach in churches of the Church of Ireland with the permission of the Bishop of the diocese and subject to the provisions of the Constitution of the Church of Ireland, Chapter 9, Canon 1.
5. That any bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter of the Church of South India may celebrate the Holy Communion in a church of the Church of Ireland at the invitation of the incumbent with the permission of the Bishop of the diocese, subject to his willingness while in Ireland to celebrate in Anglican churches only.

6. That a bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter or deacon of the Church of South India who desires to officiate as a bishop, priest or deacon of the Church of Ireland, whether for a limited period or permanently, may be allowed to do so provided he has received the permission of the Bishop of the diocese for the time being. Such bishop, presbyter or deacon becomes subject in all respects to the rules and regulations of the Church of Ireland.

7. That other ministers of the Church of South India who desire to enter the ministry of the Church of Ireland shall be subject to its rules and regulations regarding admission to its ministry.

8. That members, whether clerical or lay, of the Church of Ireland, who may go to South India, should be regarded as free, if so disposed, to participate in the life and worship of the Church of South India.

9. That clerical members of the Church of Ireland visiting the territory of the Church of South India should be free to accept the hospitality of that Church for the performance by them of episcopal or priestly functions respectively.

[Resolutions of the Church of Ireland provided by the Assistant Secretary of the General Synod, November, 1957].

THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH IN SCOTLAND

[The following action was taken by the College of Bishops of the Episcopal Church in Scotland, March, 1956:]

Relations between the Episcopal Church in Scotland and the Church of South India

1. The Bishops of the Episcopal Church in Scotland, having considered the form and practice of consecration and ordination now in use in the Church of South India, and in the belief that it is the sincere intention of the whole Church of South India to establish as soon as practicable a ministry all of whose members have been episcopally consecrated or ordained, acknowledge the bishops, presbyters and deacons consecrated or ordained in the Church of South India at or after the inauguration of that Church, and according to the forms prescribed in the Ordinal of that Church, as true bishops, priests and deacons in the Church of God.

2. The Bishops of the Episcopal Church in Scotland further resolve that:

a. Members of the Church of South India who are communicants in that Church, and episcopally confirmed, may, when in Scotland, receive Holy Communion in the Episcopal Church in Scotland, subject to their individual willingness while in Scotland to communicate in the Episcopal Church only.
b. Members of the Church of South India who become permanently resident in Scotland and desire to be habitual communicants in the Episcopal Church shall be required to conform to the regular discipline of the Episcopal Church.

c. Bishops, presbyters and deacons of the Church of South India may be invited to preach in churches of the Episcopal Church in Scotland with the permission of the bishop of the diocese.

d. Any bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter of the Church of South India may be free to celebrate the Holy Communion in a church of the Episcopal Church in Scotland at the invitation of the incumbent, with the permission of the bishop of the diocese, subject to his willingness while in Scotland to celebrate in Episcopal churches only.

e. The Bishop of the diocese may at his discretion authorize the loan of a church under his jurisdiction from time to time for the celebration of the liturgy of the Church of South India by a bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter of that Church, on the definite understanding that such celebrations would not be used for purposes of a demonstration to which Episcopalians and members of other Churches would be invited to communicate indiscriminately.

f. A bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter or deacon of the Church of South India who desires to officiate as a bishop, priest or deacon of the Episcopal Church in Scotland, whether for a limited period or permanently, may be allowed to do so. Such a bishop, presbyter or deacon becomes subject in all respects to the rules and regulations of the Episcopal Church in Scotland.

g. Other ministers of the Church of South India who desire to enter the ministry of the Episcopal Church in Scotland will be subject to its rules and regulations regarding admission to its ministry.

i. [Sic] Bishops and priests of the Episcopal Church in Scotland who visit the territory of the Church of South India may accept the hospitality of that Church for celebrating the Holy Communion within it.

j. Members of the Episcopal Church in Scotland who visit the territory of the Church of South India may accept the hospitality of that Church for receiving Holy Communion, provided that the celebrant is a bishop or episcopally ordained presbyter.

3. This closer relationship into which the Episcopal Church in Scotland is entering with the Church of South India is dependent upon recognition of an episcopal ministry within the Church of South India; and therefore may not be held to imply a change of mind or policy by the Episcopal Church in Scotland in respect to those Christian Communions in which it does not recognize an episcopal ministry.

4. The Bishops of the Episcopal Church in Scotland cordially endorse the appeal of the Convocations of Canterbury and York for "persistent and informed prayer" for the Church of South India.

[The text of the Scottish statement was provided in May, 1956, by the Most Rev. the Bishop of Argyll and the Isles, Primus of the Scottish Episcopal Church. Earlier statements issued by the Scottish College of] Bishops may be seen in the 1950 Report of the Joint Committees of the Convocations, App. II (a).

THE CHURCH OF INDIA, PAKISTAN, BURMA AND CEYLON

[In January, 1950, the General Council of the Church of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon approved regulations under which former Anglican clergy who had entered the union forming the Church of South India might be permitted to return to become ministers of the Church of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon. Former Anglican clergy then members of the CSI who visited the Church of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon, might receive permission from a bishop to exercise their ministry there temporarily, provided that they performed sacramental acts only in churches under his jurisdiction.]

[The same General Council further acknowledged the bishops, presbyters and deacons consecrated or ordained in the Church of South India at or after the inauguration of the Church as “true Bishops, Presbyters and Deacons in the Church of Christ, and recognises them as such in this Province . . .” Provision was then made for the acceptance of such clergy as clergy of the Church of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon in the event of their coming to work in that Province. Further provision was made in the event of bishops and episcopally ordained clergy of the CSI visiting dioceses of the Church of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon temporarily. In that event they “shall not normally celebrate in Anglican churches except on occasions of a Council or Conference in which members of several Churches are taking part, or where, in the opinion of the Bishop, exceptional local conditions of pastoral urgency make it desirable.”]

[Regulation (4) of this same General Council reads in part:] Members of the CIBC visiting South India should wherever practicable receive Holy Communion only when the celebrant is an episcopally ordained minister.

[The General Council of the Church of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon held in January, 1953, re-worded the conditions under which bishops and episcopally ordained presbyters, visiting the northern Province, might be permitted to celebrate the Holy Communion as follows:] 1. Bishops and Presbyters of the Church of South India consecrated or episcopally ordained before, at or after the inauguration of the Church of South India may be permitted, with the approval of the Bishop of the Diocese, to celebrate the Holy Communion in the churches of the Church of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon:

   a. On occasions of a Council or Conference in which members of several Churches are taking part.

   b. On other special occasions.

   c. When exceptional local conditions of pastoral urgency make it desirable.

[Permission was also given in this General Council for any minister of the CSI to preach in the Church of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon, upon invitation, and subject to provincial regulations about visiting preachers.]
[The text of the regulations of the Church of India, Pakistan, Burma and Ceylon is given in The Church Times, January 27, 1950, and extracts from the 1953 regulations are printed in Appendix II of The Church of South India, being the Report, etc. (Church Information Board, Westminster, 1955). The full text of early statements made by the CIPBC may be seen in the 1950 Report of the Joint Committees of the Convocation, App. II (D).]

THE CHURCH OF THE PROVINCE OF SOUTH AFRICA

[In 1948 the Synod of Bishops of the Church of the Province of South Africa issued a set of “interim regulations” governing relations with clergy and members of the Church of South India. In 1955 the matter came before the Provincial Synod of South Africa and again before the Synod of Bishops. At that time both synods decided to make no change in the 1948 “interim regulations” for the time being. The statements of 1948 and 1955 are as follows:]

Resolutions Adopted by the Episcopal Synod of the Church of the Province of South Africa, November, 1948:

In the light of Resolution 54 of the Lambeth Conference 1948, the Synod of Bishops issues the following interim regulations:

A. No Bishop of the Church of South India, who had not been validly consecrated before the Inauguration of that Church can be permitted by the Bishop of a Diocese to confirm on his behalf.

B. Any Bishop or Presbyter of the Church of South India who had been ordained by an Anglican Bishop before the Inauguration of the Church of South India may be invited to celebrate the Holy Communion, or to preach in our churches, provided that while so ministering in the Province he confines himself to ministering in the Church of the Province of South Africa.

C. A Minister of the Church of South India who has not been episcopally ordained when visiting this Province should not be invited to preach without the previous permission of the Bishop of the Diocese.

D. In regard to Bishops and Presbyters consecrated or ordained in the Church of South India at or since the Inauguration of that Church, the Synod of Bishops is unable to recommend that they be allowed to celebrate the Holy Communion in the churches of the Province. But they may preach by permission of the Bishop of the Diocese.

E. Lay members of the Church of South India who are visiting Southern Africa may be admitted to Holy Communion provided that they are communicants and in good standing in their own Church and are willing to restrict their occasions of communion to churches of the Province. Those members of the Church of South India who intend to settle permanently in Southern Africa shall not be allowed this privilege beyond one year, if they have not been confirmed or are not prepared to be confirmed in the Church of the Province.

Resolution Passed by the Provincial Synod, November, 1955:

This Synod taking note of the Resolutions of the Convocations of the Provinces of Canterbury and York concerning the Church of South India respectfully requests the Bishops of the Province to see that opportunities are given for Clergy and Lay-people to examine the said Resolutions at a Diocesan level before any alterations are made to the interim regulations at present governing the relation of the Church of the Province with the Church of South India.

Resolution Passed by the Episcopal Synod, November, 1955:

No action with reference to the Church of South India is to be taken for the present, but the matter should be placed on the agenda for the next Episcopal Synod.

[This transcript of the official action of the Church of the Province of South Africa was provided by the Most Rev. the Archbishop of Cape Town in March, 1956]

The Church of the Province of the West Indies

[The Provincial Synod of the Province of the West Indies issued a series of declarations in January, 1949. Following are quotations on some points and summaries of others:]

This Synod of the Province of the West Indies declares that:

A. The Church in the Province of the West Indies is not in communion with the Church of South India.

B. The Synod of the Province of the West Indies cannot form any definite judgment on the scheme as a whole or the status of particular bishops, priests and deacons until the end of the 30-year period, or, alternatively, until the Constitution of the Church of South India has been amended in accord with the following paragraphs from page 44 of the Lambeth Conference report . . .

[The paragraph then quoted from the Lambeth Conference Report 1948 refers to the "Six Points" of the Derby Report.]

[Declarations (C) and (D) express the concurrence of the Synod with other statements raising questions about the catholicity of the CSI and the validity of its orders.]

[(E) and (F) concern admission of CSI laity to communion in the Province. Former Anglican laity who have been confirmed may be admitted; former non-Anglicans, clerical or lay, are excluded.]

[(G) provides for former Anglican clergy who have joined the CSI to exercise their ministry in the Province. A man may so do if (1) "the Diocesan is satisfied of his orthodoxy" and (2) "he gives an undertaking to minister only in Anglican churches."]

[The full text of the declaration of the Synod of the Province of the West Indies is reprinted in The Living Church, Vol. cxviii, No. 8, February 20, 1949. See also the 1950 Report of the Joint Committees of the Convocations, App. II (c); and The Church Times, February 18, 1949.]

Extracts from the Ordinal of the Church of South India.

[Extracts from the CSI Ordinal in use before 1958 may be found in Appendix I (pp. 22-25) of The Church of South India, being the United Report of the two Joint Committees of the Convocations of Canterbury and York (1955).]

[In January, 1958 the Synod of the CSI adopted and ordered to be used a revised Ordinal from which significant extracts are here given. By way of preface the following is said:]

GENERAL PRINCIPLES

'The Church of South India believes that the ministry is a gift of God through Christ to His Church, which He has given for the perfecting of the life and service of all its members' (Constitution II. 7). The Church as a whole is a priestly body, since it is the body of Christ the great High Priest. All its members, according to the measure of the gift of Christ, share in its priestly nature. Yet from the beginning God has entrusted particular ministries to particular persons within it, and these have, through the Church, received the commission of Christ. The ordained ministry of the Church of South India consists of Bishops, Presbyters and Deacons. In accepting this ministry the Church of South India desires to maintain continuity with the historic ministry of the Church as it has come down to us from early times through the uniting Churches . . .

[The ordinations take place within the framework of the Eucharistic Liturgy, with the Presentation coming before the Collect and the ordination itself after the Creed.]

[In the examination of those to be ordained Presbyters, or of a Bishop-elect, the questions are prefaced by a statement of intention as follows:]

The Bishop [Moderator] says:

In the name of the Lord Jesus Christ, the King and Head of the Church, who, being ascended on high, has given gifts unto men for the building up of his body, we are met here to ordain you Presbyters [to consecrate you Bishop in the One, Holy, Catholic and Apostolic Church], by prayer and the laying on of hands.

In this act of ordination [consecration] we believe that it is God who gives you grace and authority for the office and work to which you are called, and that he does so in answer to the prayers of his Church and through the actions and words of his appointed ministers. We act and speak as part of the One, Holy, Catholic, and Apostolic Church, and in the faith which we have now with united voice declared in the words of the Creed.

[The questions and answers follow. After the examination, the ordination formula is combined with the ordination prayer; for Presbyters as follows:]

We glorify thee, O God, most merciful Father, that of thine infinite love and goodness towards us thou didst choose a people for thine own possession to be a royal priesthood and a holy nation, and has given thine only Son Jesus Christ to be our great High Priest and the Author of eternal salvation. We thank thee that by his death he has overcome death and, having ascended into heaven, has poured forth his gifts abundantly upon thy people, making some apostles, some prophets, some evangelists, some pastors and teachers, for the building up of his Body the Church, until his coming again in glory; and, we humbly beseech thee,

_The Bishop lays his hand upon the head of each person to be ordained in turn, the Presbyters also laying on their right hands; and the Bishop repeats the following words:_

Send down thy Holy Spirit upon thy servant . . . whom we, in thy name, and in obedience to thy most blessed will, do now ordain presbyter in thy church, committing unto him authority to minister thy word and sacraments, to declare thy forgiveness to penitent sinners, and to shepherd thy flock.

_The people each time repeat: Amen._

_And the Bishop continues, praying for all those ordained:_

Give them grace, we beseech thee, O Lord, to offer spiritual sacrifices acceptable to thee. Enrich them in all utterance and all knowledge, that they may proclaim the gospel of thy salvation. Make them watchful and loving guardians over thy flock, as followers of the Good Shepherd who gave his life for the sheep. Enable them in all things to fulfill their ministry without reproach in thy sight; so that, abiding steadfast to the end, with all thy faithful servants they may be received into thine eternal joy: through Jesus Christ our Lord, who liveth and reigneth and is worshipped and glorified with thee, O Father, and the Holy Spirit, one God, world without end. Amen.

[At the consecration of a Bishop, the consecration formula is similarly combined with the prayer, the opening section of the prayer being the same as for Presbyters; then:]

_Here the Moderator and the Bishops (and Presbyters) lay their hands upon the head of the Bishop-elect._

Send down thy Holy Spirit upon thy servant . . . whom we, in thy name, and in obedience to thy most blessed will, do now ordain and consecrate bishop in thy church.

_The people say: Amen._

Give him grace, we beseech thee, to be a faithful ambassador of Christ to the world, to offer spiritual sacrifices acceptable to thee, to feed and govern thy flock as a true shepherd, and to promote love and unity among all thy people. Deliver him from all assaults of the devil, and grant that in all things he may fulfill his ministry without reproach in thy sight, and abiding steadfast to the end, may be received with all thy faithful servants into thine eternal glory; through Jesus Christ our Lord, who liveth and reigneth, and is worshipped and glorified, with thee, O Father, and the Holy Spirit, one God, world without end. Amen.

[The ordination of Deacons likewise takes place within the context of a prayer appropriate to the office, the ordination formula recited by the Bishop being:]

Send down thy Holy Spirit upon thy servant . . . whom we, in thy name, and in obedience to thy most blessed will do now ordain deacon in thy church.

[Presbyters and Deacons are given the Bible and the right hand of fel-[Proper Prefaces are appointed for use as the Holy Eucharist is continued, that for Deacons being:]

Through Jesus Christ our Lord, who came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and give his life a ransom for many. Therefore with angels, etc.

[And that for Bishops and for Presbyters being:]

Through Jesus Christ our Lord, who gave authority to his disciples, saying, As the Father hath sent me, even so send I you. Therefore with angels, etc.

APPENDIX 15

REPORT ON FORWARD MOVEMENT PUBLICATIONS

Canon Symons, reporting to General Convention in 1946, prepared a history and description of Forward Movement, calling it "Twelve Years of the Forward Movement Reviewed." Now, twelve years later, it is appropriate to make a similar review, as a new editor begins his work, and this unique organization approaches the mystic quarter-century year of its existence.

"To reinvigorate the life and to rehabilitate the work of the Church" ... was the original purpose of the Commission established by the 51st General Convention in 1934, to help the Church move forward in difficult times. And surely, under the guidance of the Rev. Gilbert Symons and Bishop Hobson, it did just that, through a major depression and a major war. In his report in 1946 the first editor divided the first twelve years into two phases. From 1934 to 1940, the original Commission worked in a variety of ways, through conferences and meetings, by addresses and publications; after 1940, placed by the action of General Convention under the supervision of the Presiding Bishop, Forward Movement continued as a publishing house. Each phase of the Movement made notable contributions to the life and vigor of the Church, as many can testify. If one considers only the publications of those years, it is evident that the achievement was enormous. Forward day-by-day, first issued in October, 1935, after the success of the Lenten issue of Discipleship in that year, was published five times a year in editions of approximately 400,000. In 1946, the editor reported that some 65 other titles had been published. During the war years, great quantities of literature were used by the Armed Forces. The Braille edition of Forward day-by-day was sent free to a long list. Summing up the experiences of those first twelve years, Canon Symons said, "The Church ought to broadcast her literature as a maple does its seeds. Therefore it ought to be brief and inexpensive but well written. . . . Many a conversion and commitment is made by a chance look at a stray bit of paper."
In 1950, the Rev. Francis John Moore, D.D., became editor, and the work of publication continued and expanded. The list of pamphlets increased in number and covered a wide range of topics. By 1957, there were 192 separate publications, some of them reprinted from previous years because of a continuing demand, others prepared for new needs and current problems. For these, and for Forward day-by-day, Dr. Moore came prepared with a broad experience of the Church in this country, Canada, and England, and like his predecessor he combined scholarly wisdom and the practical experience of a parson. The new publications expressed the original purpose of Forward Movement, and strengthened the spiritual life of the Church by speaking to the new needs of the times, and, as the use of color and design on the covers of Forward day-by-day and of many pamphlets witness, in the modern idiom. He has fulfilled the hope that he expressed in his first report (1952), that his work be worthy of that of his predecessor. In 1957, Dr. Moore resigned as editor, having reached the statutory age for retirement.

Since last General Convention, approximately 6,000,000 copies of Forward day-by-day have been issued, and in the same period a total of approximately 5,500,000 copies of pamphlets.

Throughout these 24 years, a pleasant alternation of giving and receiving has characterized the work of Forward Movement. For the first few years, financial assistance was received by grants from the Church; since 1941 it has been self-supporting. A steady stream of pamphlets has been given free: all Braille publications, copies of publications to the Armed Forces, to hospitals and other institutions, sample copies to all the clergy of new publications, and a collection of them to every seminary senior. This work has so steadily increased that funds for the maintenance of it are requested, but such funds only partially cover the cost. The Braille edition of Forward day-by-day is issued six times a year to a long list of subscribers whose names are recommended by the clergy, and a Braille edition of the Holy Communion, with Collects, Epistles, and Gospels, is also available.

As the 25th year approaches, a new editor contemplates this record of great service to the life of the Church with admiration and humility. At the same time, he feels an obligation to look forward to the next quarter century and to assume the responsibility of extending the usefulness of this unique institution in the future so that it may remain true to the principle on which it was founded, for only that can invigorate which is itself alive.

The experience of these years has shown how great a need there is for brief, clear material that speaks the mind of the Church. A new seriousness, a new spirit of anxiety makes this need greater that ever; it must be met with realism, in a language understood by the people and in a form attractive to the eye as well as persuasive to the mind. It must be met with nothing less than the Faith once delivered to the Saints, yet presented in a way to win sinners, and in an age that is experiencing a revolution in the arts of communication as great as the invention of printing itself.

The many letters received by the editors, past and present, reveal how these publications have reached those who stand at the fringe of Christianity; a pamphlet picked up by the curious may prove to be his only point of contact with organized religion. The Church, as it increases its efforts to minister to the unchurched, needs material designed to implement this effort, translating its message into terms of utmost simplicity. Many people come to the Church with little or no preparation in the ideas of religion, and often Finally, the new editor expresses with gratitude his indebtedness to many who work with him: to Bishop Hobson, the wise director of Forward Movement from its beginning; to Mr. Glenn Biggs, Treasurer, and Mr. Hal D. Balyeat, Business Manager, who give their time from other activities with devoted care; to the Rev. Robert Mason, for many years the editor's secretary; to Mrs. Ruth Dotzauer and her staff for the administration of the business office; to the printers of Forward Movement, the J. W. Clement Co., Buffalo, whose help goes far beyond the limits of a business association. Together with the many devoted readers of these publications, they form a family unique in the life of the Church.

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMITTEE ON STRUCTURE AND ORGANIZATION OF THE GENERAL CONVENTION

BACKGROUND OF THE WORK OF THE COMMITTEE

General Convention in 1937 adopted a resolution that a Joint Committee be appointed to study the Structure and Organization of General Convention "in order to simplify its methods, hasten its procedure, lessen its expense and free it from features that add to its length and make it cumbersome." The Joint Committee was duly appointed.

1940 came, but no report from the Joint Committee. It was, however, continued, with instructions to report in 1943. Again no report was forthcoming, but it was voted that the Committee should again be continued.

At the Convention of 1946 the Committee reported that memorials had been received from Massachusetts and Virginia dealing with the matter of proportionate representation. The Committee believed that another three years should be spent in consideration of this problem, and made no recommendation.

The 1949 Convention ordered that six matters which had been referred to the Joint Committee for study be first brought to the attention of the several diocesan conventions and district convocations for consideration, and further that the report of the Joint Committee on these matters should be an order of business as early as possible at the 1952 Convention.
Between 1949 and 1952 the Joint Committee held two meetings, and at the latter Convention offered several resolutions. Two of the resolutions were adopted with amendments. The first of these provided that henceforth a host diocese would be reimbursed from the budget of General Convention for half of the Convention expenses provided this assistance should not exceed $25,000. The second resolution was the recommendation of a canonical amendment requiring each diocese and missionary district to pay to the Treasurer of General Convention each year a sum not to exceed ten cents per communicant in order to meet the General Convention budget. Instead of the amendment recommended, the Convention adopted a substitute providing that for this purpose each diocese and missionary district should pay to the Treasurer a sum not to exceed twenty-two dollars per canonically resident clergyman.

Other resolutions adopted provided for amendments to the Rules of Order concerning the early notification of those appointed as members of Joint Commissions or Committees, the printing and distribution of the reports of such Commissions or Committees in advance of the meeting of General Convention, and the listing of special skills and abilities of those elected as deputies to the Convention.

Several recommendations failed to receive approval. These included the rotation of meetings of General Convention among the eight Provinces, the equalization of the travel costs of bishops and deputies with the payment of the same by the Treasurer of General Convention, and the appointment of a Joint Committee on Constitution and Canons.

Another recommendation failing of adoption was an amendment to the Constitution providing that the equally divided vote of a deputation should be counted as one-half vote in favor and one-half vote against the proposed action.

The Joint Committee also recommended an amendment reducing the representation of each diocese in the House of Deputies to three Presbyters and three laymen. After some discussion this was referred to the Joint Committee for further consideration. Such reference was, however, to be ineffective, for the House of Bishops declined to concur with the House of Deputies in continuing the Joint Commission to Study Structure and Organization of the General Convention.

During the following triennium there must have been a change of heart for the 1955 Convention adopted the following resolution:

Resolved, That a Joint Committee on Structure and Organization of General Convention is hereby established to consist of three Bishops, three Presbyters and three laymen to consider and report at each meeting of General Convention on ways and means of improving the structure, organization and procedures of General Convention and expediting its work, to which Joint Committee shall be referred all resolutions coming within its scope and functions; and be it further

Resolved, That the sum of $1,500.00 be appropriated for the expense of the Joint Committee on Structure and Organization of General Convention during the next triennium.

In accordance with this resolution, our Joint Committee reports to this 1958 Convention.
ORGANIZATION OF THE COMMITTEE

The original members of the Joint Committee were:
The Very Rev. John P. Craine, D.D., Dean, Christ Church Cathedral.
Jackson A. Dykman, D.C.L., of the Diocese of Long Island.
Mr. George L. Bortz, of the Diocese of Michigan.

At the first meeting Bishop Penick was unanimously elected Chairman, Dean Craine of Indianapolis, Vice Chairman, and Mr. George L. Bortz, Secretary.

It is with regret that we must record the death of two of our members, Mr. Ringe on May 30, 1956, and Mr. Bortz on January 21, 1957, both of whom were very helpful to the Committee in the initial stages of its work.

The Joint Committee has had four meetings during the triennium: January 19, 1956, June 13, 1956, February 14, 1957, and December 10, 1957. All of the meetings were held in New York City.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The Joint Committee has been very much aided in its work by the many proposals and suggestions which have been forwarded to it. All of these have been carefully considered. Many of them concern matters, which, while interesting in themselves, were considered beyond the scope of the terms of reference provided by the General Convention; therefore our failure to make recommendations as to such matters does not mean that they might well not be brought up before the Convention through other processes. Our recommendations below deal with matters which we believe fall within our province.

While some of the proposals speak for themselves, others, particularly those involving major changes, require some statement of the reasons for their proposal. Among these are the following:

Explaining the polity of the Protestant Episcopal Church, we customarily make much of analogy between our government and that of the United...
States. However, while the latter certainly sets no absolute norm for us, we do believe that the contrast between the representation in the Senate and House of Representatives presents a sound principle, which—in spite of the frequent comparisons made between our Church and the Nation—does not obtain in our Church. In effect, the House of Deputies is not like the House of Representatives but is like the Senate, with equality of representation, in spite of vast differences of church population within the respective dioceses. Therefore we are proposing a modest revision in the scheme of representation in the House of Deputies which will somewhat more nearly reflect the differences in the proportion of church membership. We say "modest" because the "curve" is considerably "flattened," in order to reduce by no more than one the representation in the smaller dioceses and to increase by no more than two the representation in the largest dioceses. There will be some who feel that this proposal is too conservative; but we feel that a conservative change is in order, since the Church has been so long under the other system.

Our reasons for the recommendation are these:

a. Those dioceses which contribute more fully to the life, work and support of the Church should, in equity, have a somewhat larger voice in the decisions made which affect the clergy and communicants of the Church,

b. We feel that the House of Deputies itself is strengthened by the availability in the House of Deputies, for deliberation and committee work, of presbyters and laymen of proven ability, of the larger dioceses who, under the present system, are not sent to General Convention.

c. Generally speaking, the larger dioceses are in a better position to defray the expenses of deputies to the Convention than the smaller dioceses.

It will be noticed that the plan does not greatly reduce the number of deputies. This will be a disappointment to some. But the objective of studying this plan was not primarily the reduction of the size of the House, although this is doubtless a concern widely felt. However, we are glad that, as an incidental result, some reduction is effected under the proposal.

To those in whom a quite natural "States' rights" reaction results from examining the proposal, we have this answer: The House of Bishops seems to be a sufficient representation of this interest, just as the United States Senate is in our Federal Government.

The way that the plan would work out, under present figures as to the size of each diocese (symbolized by the number of its active clergy—omitting 47 National Council officers) is as follows:

2. Election of Deputies one year earlier.

For the most efficient advance work of Committees of the House of Deputies it is important that appointment thereto be made earlier than has been possible in the past. Accordingly, at its first meeting our Committee voted to recommend to the dioceses and missionary districts that deputies be elected one year earlier than has been customary. In response to this recommendation 67 jurisdictions elected their deputies to the 1958 Convention in 1957. This has been very helpful to the President of the House of Deputies in connection with the present Convention; but of course the full effectiveness of the plan will await its implementation in all dioceses and districts.

3. Limitation of Vote by Orders in the House of Deputies.

The Joint Committee did not consider the wisdom of vote by orders: we assumed its value. However, we were concerned with saving time on non-essentials so that more time during the Convention could be devoted to essentials. The fact is that from time to time a vote by orders has been called for for quite trivial matters. Hence we felt that a vote by orders could be always assured for any essential matter by a provision that deputations from at least three dioceses ask for the vote. If the representatives from less than three dioceses are interested in requiring this time-consuming procedure as to a measure, then the matter would not seem to be very essential.

4. The Deputies to General Convention as Deputies to the Synods.

Whenever the Joint Committee has been studying the role of the Provinces and Provincial Synods, they have not sought to explore that area. However, looking at the matter from the point of view of General Convention, we have concluded that the deputies to General Convention would be better prepared for their role, particularly in the light of the rapid turnover of such deputies in recent Conventions, were they to attend the Synod meetings immediately previous to the General Convention. An incidental result should be to strengthen the effectiveness of the Synod, by adding to the present Synod deputies an additional group in whom the diocese has expressed enough confidence to send them to General Convention. If this plan could be adopted, we would hope (though this is not a recommendation strictly within the competence of our Joint Committee) that part of the program of the Synods would be the presentation of aspects of the program of the National Council and of various issues likely to come before the forthcoming General Convention.

5. Study Committees in the House of Deputies.

We believe that too few deputies are involved in a substantial way in the study of the program and budget of the Church, and since only about half of the deputies are involved in the special work of the Committees of the Convention, we thought it would be wise to organize the other half into Study Committees as to the various aspects of the work of the Church so that, as the Convention proceeds, they are becoming more and more informed about these respective phases of our Church’s work and thus will serve as a “leaven” for the deputies for “corridor conversation” and discussion on the floor when the budget is under consideration by the Convention. We have been informed that problems of space for meetings makes our recommendation unfeasible for the 1958 Convention. Therefore, we have recommended action in relation to the Conventions of 1961 and thereafter.
Tied to this general consideration are certain proposals we have made as to the time schedule of the Convention. In this general connection, we have made a number of suggestions to the Committee of Arrangements, some of which have been accepted and some of which have been rejected or deferred. In either case, these have no direct bearing on matters before this forthcoming Convention and are not included in our report, except insofar as they are repeated in terms of proposed legislation for the future.

Now we turn to the specific proposals which we recommend for the consideration of the 1958 General Convention:

A. Recommendations Requiring no Legislative Action.

1. We recommend (through the President of the House of Deputies) to the General Convention Committees on Dispatch of Business, Christian Social Relations, National and International Problems, the Commission of Social Reconstruction that they bring to the floor resolutions in the area of the relation of Christian doctrine and ethics to other questions at better intervals, so that there may be more adequate time for debate and a better "spacing" for the purpose of press relations.

2. We recommend (through the Presiding Bishop and the President of the House of Deputies) that all Committees bring into their consultations the appropriate members of the National Council staff.

3. We recommend that the President of each House arrange that the Public Relations Division of the National Council have available in each House a summary of the previous day's action in both Houses; that there be available each morning a mimeographed summary of the forthcoming calendar of business; and that important resolutions be mimeographed and be made available to the members of the appropriate House as soon as possible after the introduction of these resolutions.

B. Recommended Action for the House of Deputies.

1. The Joint Committee recommends that Rule of Order 28 be amended to allow a vote by orders only when "required by the entire Clerical or Lay Representation from at least three Dioceses, before the voting begins."

2. The Joint Committee recommends that Rule 26, paragraph 4, (Journal, 1955, p. 543) of the Rules of Order of the House of Deputies be amended by adding words analogous to the last sentence of Rule 22 of the House of Bishops, namely: "Further, the Chairman of any Standing or other Committee shall have full authority, either alone or with members of the Committee, to confer with the Chairman of any Committee of the House of Bishops having duties and responsibilities, the same or similar to those of the Committee of the House of Deputies chaired by him," in order to provide better liaison between the work of the two Houses.

3. The Joint Committee recommends the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That at the General Conventions of 1961 and thereafter, the President of the House of Deputies appoint Study Committees for the consideration, without action, of the projected program and budget of the various Departments of the National Council.
4. In order to implement the proposal above, that important resolutions be mimeographed and distributed, the Committee recommends that Rule 15 (Journal, 1955, p. 541) in regard to submission of resolutions be amended by the addition of the words "in duplicate, one copy to be furnished to the President of the House and one to the Secretary for duplicating."

C. Recommended Action for the House of Bishops.

For the reason just mentioned above the Joint Committee recommends that the House of Bishops amend its Rule IV (Journal, 1955, p. 526) by adding the words "in duplicate."

D. Recommended Action for the General Convention (matters requiring concurrent action of both Houses).

1. The Joint Committee recommends that a joint resolution of the General Convention of 1958 adopt for the Convention of 1961, the following time schedule for each day, Tuesday through Saturday, the first week:

   8:30 a.m. to 10 a.m.: Meetings of Standing, Special and Study Committees.

   10 a.m. to 11 a.m.: Call to order and presentation in each House of a Department of the National Council.

   11 a.m. to 11:20 a.m.: The Order of Daily Morning Prayer, or other appropriate service.

   11:20 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.: Discussion of particular Department Reports.

   Note: For the purpose of the daily presentation, it is suggested that the Promotion and Finance Departments be combined on one day, each of the other Departments being assigned a single day.

2. The Joint Committee recommends that Canon 8, Sec. 7 be amended by adding the following sentence at the end thereof: "The clerical and lay Deputies to General Convention of each Diocese and Missionary District within the Province shall be members of the Provincial House of Deputies."

3. The Joint Committee recommends the adoption of the following resolution:

   Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that there be constituted a Joint Committee on Commissions and Committees in order to consider the function and need of all existing and contemplated commissions and committees of the General Convention, and that $1,500.00 be provided in the budget for the work of this Joint Committee during the triennium.

4. The Joint Committee recommends that Article I, Sec. 4, par. 1, of the Constitution be amended to read as follows:

   Sec. 4. The Dioceses shall be represented in the House of Deputies by Presbyters canonically resident in the Diocese and laymen who are communicants of the Church and who are domiciled in the Diocese, in the following proportions: Dioceses with under 50 active clergy shall have 3 deputies in each order; Dioceses with between 51 and 125 active clergy shall have 4 deputies in each order; Dioceses with between 126 and 200 active clergy shall have 5 deputies in each order; Dioceses having over 200 active clergy shall have 6 deputies in each order. The date for the determination of the category in which a given Diocese falls shall be January 1st of the year of General Convention.

5. The Joint Committee recommends the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that each Diocese and Missionary District in its next annual Convention or Council be asked to consider the revision of its Canons to provide for the election of its Deputies to General Convention at the meeting one year preceding the meeting of said Convention.

6. The Joint Committee recommends the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that the Joint Committee on the Structure and Organization of the General Convention be continued during the next triennium and that the sum of $1,500.00 be provided in the budget for its work.

In accordance with Article II of the Constitution of the General Theological Seminary, the Board of Trustees respectfully submits herewith to the General Convention copies of the Proceedings of the Board for the past three years. In fulfillment of the requirement that report also be made "of the state of the institution," the Board presents the following statement.

The printed Proceedings will show that the Trustees and Faculty have taken measures to meet what Dean Fosbroke spoke of in his last report to the Board as "the pressing need of a new library building;" he spoke of the opportunity this need presented to Church people to "make outstanding contribution to the welfare of the Seminary by giving the money to erect a modern building to house one of the best theological libraries in the country and provide the attractive center for the intellectual life that an institution of learning ought to have." In that very year, 1946-47, architects were engaged in studies of the Seminary's property to determine the best solution of this problem. Other pressing needs, however, such as the building up of the Seminary's endowment and current support and the provision of housing for a greatly expanded staff, have claimed prior attention; and makeshift measures have been resorted to in shelving of books and providing for their use, to a point where further postponement of a real solution would represent serious dereliction in duty on the part of the administrative officers and Trustees of the Seminary.

Plans have been drawn by the firm of O'Connor and Kilham, Architects, and approved by the Trustees which, it is confidently expected, will allow for the proper development of the Seminary's library for several generations to come. Since the solution agreed upon involves the demolition of buildings housing not only the library but the administrative offices, book store, four families of staff members and several students, construction projected is of major scope, and will mean the expenditure of upwards of three million dollars.

For the raising of this sum, the Seminary has been engaged since the autumn of 1957 in a national campaign, appealing to the whole Church for subscriptions and gifts on a scale never before attempted in the history of the institution. In the days of its first establishment, just 140 years ago, agents for the Seminary did canvass the dioceses from South Carolina to Massachusetts, and raised the sum of $29,690 in three years. Those were days when, to all intents and purposes, the General Theological Seminary was the only institution for theological education in the Episcopal Church. Its foundation by the General Convention of 1817 at the instance of Bishop Dehon of South Carolina to be "a general theological Seminary, which may have the united support of the whole Church in these United States, and be under the superintendence and control of the General Convention" (1817 Convention Journal) had given the Seminary an initial command of the field and claim upon the Church that yielded wide support and gradually attracted the benefactions necessary to its existence and growth.

It is something of an historical accident, centering round the interpretation of a curious will, that gave firm foundations to the Seminary and enabled it to survive in its earliest years as a seminary of and for the whole Church. Whatever may have been in the minds of those who sponsored the General Theological Seminary in its unique relationship to the General Convention, the needs of the growing Church in an expanding nation could not long be met by a single institution in New York and the nineteenth century saw the establishment of many seminaries across the country. All but one of the other theological schools of our Church were founded in that century. These had their origin in the initiative of individuals or dioceses and in concern for the life of the Church in particular areas or for emphasis upon one or another of the constituent elements in the rich tradition of the Anglican Communion. There is none of them, however, that has remained merely local in scope and importance or merely particular in emphasis, and especially by reason of the adoption of the Canon "Of Theological Education" in 1940 with its provision for recognition of institutions of learning as theological seminaries of this Church, all have properly become in some real sense "general" to the Church as a whole.

Yet for 141 years the General Theological Seminary has alone been under the direct "superintendence and control" of the General Convention, and that remains its status today. From the point of view of those who are charged with the conduct of the affairs of the institution this has sometimes operated to impose certain handicaps. For although the founding resolution did propose that the Seminary might have the united support of the whole Church, and although General Convention did in the earliest years sponsor collections in the various dioceses for its establishment, the institution has never received support for its operations from the budget of the national Church. And the special status has, as the current campaign for funds has borne in upon the Trustees and Faculty, precluded the cultivation of any local constituency upon which the Seminary might press a rightful claim for support. Failing the munificence and energy of a Eugene Augustus Hoffman (Dean, 1879-1902), who, with his relatives and friends rescued the place from near bankruptcy for the turn of the century and equipped it for the service it has since given to the truth and purposes of God, no choice has been left to the Trustees but to appeal to the Church throughout the nation and to make this appeal the chief burden of their report to the Convention this year. It is a deep conviction, however, that support thus elicited for theological education in this General Theological Seminary cannot fail to work advantage to the whole cause and to any institution that represents it anywhere.

By the same token, the Trustees have been constrained as perhaps never before to give serious thought to the status and function of an institution that bears the title The General Theological Seminary of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States and to the special responsibilities entailed by our constitution. Time was when every member of the House of Bishops was ex officio a Trustee of the Seminary, and in the year that Dean Hoffman took office there were 62 bishops, 237 presbyters and 134 laymen on the board—a total of 433 members. Reorganizations since 1879 have reduced the Trustees to less extravagant proportions, but they have not compromised the relationship of the General Convention to the Seminary, more than two-thirds of the membership of the Board still being elected by the two Houses, and the requirement of a special report to each Convention from the Board still being in force. Nor may any change be made in the Seminary's Constitution without action by the General Convention. Three areas of responsibility, and equally of opportunity, seem to be involved in this relationship, and their realization is inevitably relevant to the justification in fact of the Seminary's formal position in the life of the Church.
I. In this Seminary the Church as a whole owns control of an institution wherein, through its central governing body, it may exert its influence directly to maintain the standards of theological education specified in Canon Law and required by the life of our Church in the changing world. Here is a center where the Church may directly seek to guarantee that the fulness of the Anglican tradition and ethos should constantly find vital expression in the present and faithful transmission to the future. Theologically this means the maintenance of high and normative standards of academic discipline whereby candidates for the ministry may be brought to face in all their stringency the intellectual demands involved in relating the Gospel and the Church's faith to the lives of men. Devotionally and liturgically it means on the one hand a strict and loyal adherence to the authorized forms of the Book of Common Prayer, "the public prayer," Richard Hooker called it, "of the people of God;" on the other hand it means provision for the Seminary community of the fullest possible use of the Church's prescriptions in those forms. Standards which aim at bringing into one obedience the belief, the prayer and the living thought of those called to the ministry are made the Church's business here, by the constitution of the Seminary.

II. The Seminary's resources for the enterprise of theological education constitute the second area of opportunity for fulfilment of its peculiar responsibility to the Church. Among those resources must be reckoned the context of the community's life. Before embarking upon the major rebuilding project now planned, the Trustees faced and formally decided that it was in the best interests of the institution to remain in its present location, a focus of some of the acutest social and human problems of our age, with the vast educational and other resources of New York close at hand.

One deficiency involved in the General Theological Seminary's location has recently found a remedy. The great increase in the numbers of married students, until, in 1956-57, 46 per cent of all undergraduates in our schools were married, found the institution unable to attract and provide for those married students who would naturally have applied, and unable, by the same token to assume its rightful share of either the special advantage or the special burden of educating married candidates for the ministry. Only 15 or 16 per cent of the Seminary's undergraduates were married in the year cited. The purchase in 1956 of a 47-unit apartment building directly across the street from the Chapel of the Good Shepherd gives promise, when possession can be fully obtained, of enabling the decent housing at moderate charge of married students, undergraduate and graduate. Unrestricted endowment funds were used for this purchase and for the necessary reconditioning; and the cost is a charge against the current campaign. The alternative of new construction would have been vastly more expensive; and both Faculty and Trustees deemed it essential that the Seminary be in a position to accommodate a greater number of the promising young men whose call to the ministry has found them married.

It has been possible to increase the Faculty until last year there were eleven persons of professorial rank, three ranking as resident instructors, ten Fellows serving as tutors, and five part-time instructors or lecturers. The Seminary's curriculum of prescribed and elective courses, with the large enrolment of students, now requires two full-time instructors in each of the main departments of study. And the tutorial method not only brings the focus of the educational system to bear upon the individual student in his particular capacities and needs, but also gives a significant number of young scholars a highly responsible part and experience in the process of theological education.
A further prime resource for Faculty and students is the magnificent treasury of Christian scholarship and thought bequeathed to the Seminary's custody in the library. Its 120,000 volumes constitute it the first-ranking theological collection of the Episcopal Church, and place it among the four or five top theological libraries in the country. It has probably no equal in the matter of Bibles and biblical studies nor in Anglican history and theology, and few comparable collections in Patristics and Liturgies. As a whole, one of the leading authorities on seminary libraries rates it ahead of all denominational libraries save one. Its acquisition, especially in respect to its well-nigh incomparable collection of Bibles, may have been accidental or providential, but its maintenance as a resource for Christian scholarship is an inescapable responsibility of a Seminary that belongs to the whole Church, justifying the budget of nearly $50,000 annually for administration and new purchases alone, justifying too the national appeal for funds to give the collection adequate and safe housing such as will arrest further deterioration and make this resource for Christian learning accessible to reader use and enjoyment.

III. Closely dependent upon the tradition of notable scholarship and high academic standards that owes so much to Dean Fosbroke, who died in 1957, and upon the resources acquired through the years in physical equipment, Faculty and library is the third area of responsibility bearing upon the institution controlled by the General Convention. Reference is here made to the program of graduate studies that has seen significant development in recent years and calls for increased attention in the future.

The Episcopal Church has made very slight provision in the past in its own institutions for advanced study and research in Theology. The Church owes a great debt to the large interdenominational seminaries in university areas and to the English universities, to which young scholars have repaired as, in colonial times, our ordinands went to England for ordination. There has long been an obvious need for a graduate center in which clergy of the Episcopal Church might develop more intensively the resources of their own tradition, and in areas of peculiar strength in that tradition make a distinctive contribution to Christian scholarship in this country. The hope that the General Theological Seminary might render in this way an important service to the Church led in 1954 to the appointment of a Director of Graduate Studies to coordinate and supervise what had been highly personal and rather uneven direction of a very modest program. Today graduate students make up a quarter of the Seminary's total enrollment, and their contribution to the intellectual life of the community has proved stimulating to the Faculty and highly profitable in its effects on undergraduate life and studies.

In the last ten years the degree of Master of Sacred Theology has been earned by thirty-five men, and of Doctor of Theology by six. It seems worth while to record the fact that sixteen of these men in 1957-58 held positions on faculties of seminaries other than the General. There were enrolled in that year eight candidates for the doctorate, thirty-two for the Master's degree, and twelve in post-graduate study for the S.T.B. All applicants to the program for the advanced degrees are required, before admission, to pass comprehensive qualifying examinations. There is happily no great preponderance of graduates of this Seminary in the program, and students are encouraged to avail themselves of the resources of other seminaries and the universities of the area in their work.

The steady increase in the number of inquiries and applications is evidence that the graduate department is meeting a genuine need in the life of the Church. One of the elements in the projected new building is an attractive dormitory section for the increasing membership in this department, and it is intended that some of the units in the newly acquired apartment building be normally available to married clergy whose calling may be to scholarly pursuits. As the work develops in scope and quality there is reason to believe that the General Theological Seminary, without detriment but rather with advantage to its primary function of equipping men for the parish ministry, will make notable contribution to the Church in training scholars and teachers for intellectual leadership in the Church.

Justification for maintenance of a seminary in the special relationship this institution owns to the whole Church through the General Convention rests, it is believed, in the extent to which responsibility is fulfilled and opportunity realized in these three areas: standards of excellence in inculcation of the elements of our Anglican theological, devotional and liturgical heritage; faithful stewardship, use and development of the resources, especially in the Seminary's library, committed to us; and maintenance of a program of advanced study and research in no narrow focus but broad in scope and exacting in its requirements in the search to apprehend the truth of God and commend it to men. It is on these grounds that the Trustees base their appeal for understanding, prayer and support for the immediate purposes of the campaign now in progress, which is regarded as essential to fulfilment of the Seminary's task.

All of which is respectfully submitted to the General Convention in confidence that the General Theological Seminary is performing and will continue to perform a service of central importance to the whole enterprise of theological education in the Episcopal Church and to the cause of Christ.

LAWRENCE ROSE, Dean of the Seminary.
HERBERT S. BROWN, Secretary, Board of Trustees.

APPENDIX 18

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMISSION ON THE HISTORICAL MAGAZINE

HISTORICAL MAGAZINE published its 25th volume during the year 1956, and with its publication fulfilled the prophecy of its editors that this would bring the total number of pages of history and biography in its twenty-five volumes to over 10,000. (The total number was, in fact, 10,064.)

As stated in our 1955 Report, the Commission and the Editors had been struggling with the problem of the "very stiff increase in the cost of printing HISTORICAL MAGAZINE," which had gone into effect in September, 1953. We were, however, maintaining the domestic subscription rate of $4.00 per year, which had been in effect ever since the depression days of 1932, when the Magazine began, but then a far worse blow fell. The Richmond Press, Inc., of Richmond, Va., which had printed HISTORICAL MAGAZINE from the beginning, announced in the summer of 1957 that it was going out of business, and that the September, 1957 issue would be the last it would print.
A canvass of printers competent to succeed the Richmond Press quickly showed that the cost of printing the Magazine, beginning with the December, 1957 Number, would be from one-third to one-half more than it had been. An increase in the subscription rate, beginning January 1, 1958, was imperative. Accordingly, the rate for domestic subscriptions is now $5.00 per year, for foreign subscriptions, $6.00 per year. But this increase, which is thoroughly reasonable in view of the increased cost of publishing the Magazine, has led to cancellations or refusals to renew in such number as to jeopardize the continuance of the Magazine—unless the General Convention is willing to increase the subsidy for the ensuing triennium, and thus give the Editors an adequate opportunity to make good the current losses in subscriptions. These facts will explain the increased asking in the resolution at the end of this Report.

SPECIAL NUMBERS DURING THE TRIENNIIUM

Financial stringency has necessarily reduced the number of "Special Numbers" during the triennium, but the three we have published have been concerned with worthy subjects, ably expounded:

VARIETY OF SUBJECTS COVERED

Various phases of the Church's history from colonial times to the twentieth century have been covered during the triennium.
The Colonial Church in (1) Maryland (September, 1955, and September, 1956), (2) North Carolina (June, 1956), and (3) Virginia (March and June, 1957) has been well written up by Spencer Ervin, the Rev. George B. Scriven, and Prof. Robert L. Hilldrup—in addition to the Special Virginia Number of March, 1957, already mentioned, and the "Anglican-Congregationalist Tensions in Pre-Revolutionary Connecticut" (September, 1957) by Prof. Glenn Weaver.

Recruiting the ministry and theological education were represented by centennial anniversaries of two institutions: (1) "The Society for the Increase of the Ministry" (December, 1957) and (2) "The Philadelphia Divinity School" (September, 1957).

Aspects of the relations of this Church with Russia were expounded in two articles: "Bishop Satterlee's Mission to Russia, 1896" (September, 1956) and "The Moscow Conference of 1948" (June, 1957).

The post-Civil War history of the Freedman's Commission (December, 1957) might well be contrasted with the Church's reactions following World War I, as illustrated in the "Social Attitudes . . . 1919-1939" (June, 1956). Illuminating interpretations of Church history are to be found in two short articles by two of our Associate Editors: "From 'Churches' to 'Church'" (June, 1956) by the Rev. Dr. DuBose Murphy, and "Patterns in Formation" (December, 1957) by the Rev. Dr. William Wilson Manross.

Further examples of the variety of subjects expounded are the devotional writings of Bishop Charles Henry Brent (December, 1956; June 1957; June, 1958); the Crapsey Case (September, 1958); the French Revolution from a Christian standpoint (December, 1956); the stained glass windows of Washington Cathedral (September, 1956); and bibliographical materials on the Episcopal Church (June, 1957), compiled by the librarian of the General Theological Seminary.

The following bishops have had more than casual treatment:

| Charles Henry Brent | Matthew Parker (Canterbury) |
| Philander Chase     | Henry Yates Satterlee        |
| Henry Compton (London) | Hugh Miller Thompson     |
| John Henry Hobart   | Henry Benjamin Whipple      |
| Frederic Dan Huntington | John Whitgift (Canterbury) |

Eighteen presbyters have had considerable light shed on their careers, and in some cases the accounts in HISTORICAL MAGAZINE are the definitive biographies to date:

| Thomas Bray          | Robert Hunt                  |
| William Chaderton    | William Reed Huntington     |
| Adam Cloud           | Joseph Holt Ingraham         |
| John Wyrts Cloud     | William Thomas Manning      |
| Frederick Daleho     | John McCarty                |
| St. Michael Fackler  | Flavel Scott Mines           |
| John Murray Forbes   | William Augustus Muhlenberg |
| John Frederick Haeger| Edgar Gardner Murphy        |
| Richard Hakluyt      | Franklin Samuel Rising      |
SOme Unsolicited Testimonials

In view of the financial crisis facing \textit{HISTORICAL MAGAZINE} and the question of its continuance, we commend to the attention of the Convention some of the unsolicited testimonials received during the past triennium. These have come not only from professional historians, but also from laymen and women of the Church who are not professional historians. To win encomiums from both groups is no small feat.

Professor Frank J. Klingberg, of the University of California at Los Angeles, writes: “Surely you must swell with pride as year after year you get out these fine historical magazines, second to none in the country . . .”

The Rev. William H. Baar, Ph.D., Director of Brent House and Episcopal Representative at the University of Chicago, writes: “I did my Ph.D. work at Yale, specializing in Nineteenth Century Anglican Church History . . . I read your fine publication with a great deal of interest, and am constantly amazed at the fine quality which you are able to maintain.”

H. Peers Brewer, under recent date, writes: “For the past two years, I have had the pleasure and enlightening experience of reading your magazine. At the present time, I am a Middler at Harvard Divinity School, with Diocesan residence in Washington, D. C. And it is, perhaps, with an inordinate amount of pride that I tell my colleagues of such a journal within the Church’s circle.”

Ernst E. Schnabl, layman of Omaha, has written, under date of June 20, 1958:

“I enjoy your Magazine immensely, and always look forward most eagerly to its arrival.”

Two women, one on the Atlantic Coast and one on the Pacific, have expressed themselves very forcefully about the Magazine.

Mrs. Charles L. Giveans, of Vernon, N.J., sent in her original subscription with the statement:

“I picked up your Magazine after lunch during a Quiet Day . . . I was completely carried away by the whole set-up. I can hardly wait to get that September [1956] Number and really have time to read it. It is just what a lot of people are looking for. Good luck to you! Why have I not seen it before?”

Mrs. Rex B. Christensen, of Los Angeles, is not a member of the Episcopal Church, but her opinion is all the more weighty because she is thoroughly competent to judge its quality, as this Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Salute to the \textit{Magazine} will clearly show:

“The Compton study in the March [1956] number was long overdue but worth waiting for. Professor Brown should be commended for his work, and you and the \textit{Magazine} should be praised for providing a place for the publication of such material. (I also detect the fine hand of J. Harry Bennett, Jr.)

“After a quarter-century of publication, the \textit{Historical Magazine} seems to be taken for granted and does not receive all the support and recognition it deserves. As a graduate research historian working closely with Dr. Frank J. Klingberg, I would be lost without a run of the \textit{Historical Magazine} at my fingertips.”
"We receive numerous requests for all kinds of information, and so many times our answers are replete with references to the Historical Magazine. We could not do without the Magazine. Its storehouse of information is indispensable for all who would know the present and past history of the Episcopal Church.

"Because I am not a church member, I wonder at my high regard for the Magazine. However, its consistently high quality reflects the deft hand of an able editor who does an amazing job on a modest budget. Also the contents are such that its audience appeal isn't too narrow. So I salute you and the Historical Magazine."

OUR NEW ASSOCIATE EDITORS:
DR. BARNES AND DR. ECKEL

Early in 1957, the Rev. C. Rankin Barnes, S.T.D., and the Rev. Edward H. Eckel, S.T.D., were elected as Associate Editors by the Joint Commission. Both gentlemen are well known in the Church. Dr. Barnes is Secretary of the General Convention and Secretary of the National Council; Dr. Eckel is Rector of Trinity Church, Tulsa, Okla., which, under his leadership has become one of the great parishes of this Church. Further information about them will be found in the editorial in the June, 1957 Number, pp. 118-120.

RESOLUTIONS

Your Commission recommends the adoption of the following resolutions:

Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that the Joint Commission on the HISTORICAL MAGAZINE be continued.

Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that a sum not exceeding one thousand five hundred ($1,500.00) dollars per year, or a total sum not exceeding four thousand five hundred ($4,500.00) dollars for the triennium, be appropriated to cover the ensuing three years, to be expended under the direction of the Joint Commission on HISTORICAL MAGAZINE for the purpose of aiding in research and in the publication of material relating to the history of this Church.

APPENDIX 19

REPORT OF THE HISTORIOGRAPHER

On several counts, the past triennium was probably the most important of any during which the present historiographer has exercised, or will exercise, his office.

I. In 1956, HISTORICAL MAGAZINE published its 25th volume, and it is currently (1958) publishing its 27th volume. The total number of pages of history and biography published to date by this invaluable journal now totals over 10,500. The Magazine is face to face with a financial crisis, due to the rapid increase in the cost of printing, which necessitates greater support from the Church. The Report of the Joint Commission on the HISTORICAL MAGAZINE, published elsewhere in this Journal, should be consulted.

Your historiographer will complete this year (1958) a quarter century of association with HISTORICAL MAGAZINE as associate editor, managing editor, or editor-in-chief. Because of the pressure of too much work—in addition to his primary responsibilities as a parish priest—your histori-Historiographer is resigning this particular association, which began in 1934 when the Magazine was entering its third year of publication, as of December 31, 1958.

During the past three years, he has edited 12 quarterly issues of Historical Magazine, and has administered its business affairs—subscription lists, promotion and advertising.

II. As president of the Church Historical Society, your historiographer has presided over its affairs during a triennium notable for the fact that the Society has carried out the mandate of the General Convention as outlined in its sessions of 1952 and 1955, namely:

"Resolved, That the Managers of the Church Historical Society proceed by all proper means and with all possible speed to remedy the over-crowded conditions and lack of fireproof housing under which it now operates as an official custodian of the Church."

During the summer of 1956, the Society's headquarters, library and archives were removed to Austin, Texas, and they are now housed in the fireproof and air-conditioned library building of the Episcopal Theological Seminary of the Southwest.

For more details, the Report of the Church Historical Society, published elsewhere in this Journal, should be consulted.

As editor of the Society's publications, your historiographer has edited three issues of The Historiographer, official organ of the Society, which is to be distinguished from the Historical Magazine; four brochures—Nos. 41, 42, 43, and 44—one of which (No. 42) he wrote; and one cloth-bound volume, No. 46: The Diocese of California—A Quarter Century, 1915–1940, written by the Rt. Rev. Edward L. Parsons, D.D. Also, the Society is sales agent for another cloth-bound volume: No. 45, Maryland's Established Church, by the Rev. Dr. N. W. Rightmyer.

III. As a member of General Convention's Jamestown 350th Anniversary Committee, your historiographer participated in all meetings of that committee in preparation for the Episcopal Church's proper participation in that notable anniversary.

Whatever may have been wanting in this Church's participation therein, it was by far the most worthy observance of the beginnings of this Church in North America which has ever been realized during the past three and one-half centuries. Your historiographer has only one wish to the future, namely, that those who are charged with the observance of the 400th anniversary in 2007 A.D. will surpass our best efforts in 1957.

The Report of the Jamestown 350th Anniversary Committee, published elsewhere in this Journal, should be consulted for details.

Your historiographer personally participated in the special religious services as follows:

1. Delivered the meditations for the Brotherhood of St. Andrew in Bruton Parish Church, Williamsburg, Va., on Saturday, June 15, 1957.

2. Assisted the Chaplain, the Rev. Dr. Churchill J. Gibson, in the early morning celebration of the Holy Communion outside the Jamestown Church on Trinity Sunday, June 16, which was attended by a large congregation.
3. At 9:30 a.m., preached in Bruton Parish Church, Williamsburg; and later attended the special eleven o’clock service outside the Jamestown Church—both on Trinity Sunday, June 16.

IV. The correspondence of your historiographer is still "heavy and time-consuming," as stated in the last triennial report. Much of this correspondence is concerned with (1) requests for historical data, and (2) requests for help in getting historical and biographical books published. This latter division of the correspondence indicates the need of a substantial publication fund. Because a historical book or biography is not a "best seller" is no sound argument against its worth or usefulness. It is to be hoped that laymen with an interest in Church history will remember this need in their wills. The Church Historical Society is the proper agency for expending the income from such a fund.

V. Webster's Dictionary defines "historiographer" as "a historian; a writer of history; especially, one appointed or designated to write a history."

Unfortunately, your historiographer is so burdened with editing and publishing the writings of others that he has no time for research or writing of his own. He is therefore seeking relief from some of his editorial and administrative responsibilities that he may better fulfill the traditional function of his office.

WALTER HERBERT STOWE, Historiographer.

APPENDIX 20

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMISSION TO SURVEY THE MISSIONARY PROBLEMS IN INDUSTRIAL AREAS

The General Convention in 1952 created the Commission for the obvious reason that many churches in industrial areas were in a state of crisis. As we pointed out in our report to the Convention in 1955, the various waves of population had created problems of church survival in the older urban industrial communities. The maintenance of effective church life in industrial communities make it necessary for the Church to give leadership in other related areas. One is the working life of people as it pertains to their worship life. Another is the whole matter of Christian conscience in connection with the rapid industrialization of America.

Effective church life in industrial communities cannot be maintained apart from the factory life which confronts the people of these communities, nor can the local church anywhere in America be effective outside of the periphery of concern for the economic orientation of the nation.

REVIEW OF RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE JOINT COMMISSION REPORT OF 1955

1. The Commission recommended that the number of Research Centers being operated by the National Council's Division of Urban-Industrial

1 Only a few dozen of the 1955 reports were left over at the close of the Convention in Honolulu. Ever since that time we have had requests from educational institutions, research groups, labor unions, management groups, clergy and others for copies. Some of these requests have come from abroad. All we have now are a few file copies.
Church Work be increased, if possible, two or three times over. This research project got started when a foundation in 1953 granted to the Division the sum of $125,000.00, payable at the rate of $25,000.00 a year for five years. This foundation has no administrative or organic connection with the Episcopal Church. It insists, understandably, upon complete anonymity but its interests obviously are to assist the Churches to be more effective in meeting the problems of our culture. Following the recommendations of the Joint Commission that this research project be increased, four other foundations gave grants for specific experimentation and demonstration.
Receipts from the Birthday Thank Offering of 1955-56-57 made possible a three-year program of experimentation in four cities in which the evangelism of children and youth is the major emphasis. The Youth Offering proceeds of 1956 made possible some special work in the Missionary District of Nevada. Seventeen projects are now in operation.

The Division voted at its meeting on February 7, 1958, not to add any more centers to the existing project. This does not mean that the Division is abandoning its research emphasis. This action means that as these grants terminate and the whole project comes to an end, the results will be studied and evaluated and, in proper form, made available to the Church. The research activities have become so well known that applications have been received or inquiries made from every Province. Pursuant to action by the Division the staff, with professional consultation, is exploring further possibilities and planning a continued program of research. While there will be some variations, due largely to lessons which have been learned in operation, the basic idea will be the same; that is, local churches will be couraged to experiment and cash grants of from $1,500 per year to $5,000 per year will be given for that purpose. Six of the existing projects are in those areas which the Commission refers to as "time-clock communities."

2. Even though the Commission acknowledged "the difficulties faced by our hard-pressed seminaries," we did say that in connection with the needs of the ministry in industrial areas we "hope that the seminaries can supply their students with an enrichment of the skills which are basic and valuable in effective pastoral ministry." In line with this recommendation the Lilly Endowment, Inc., has given to the National Council a grant for the Project for Seminary Cooperation in Urban Industrial Church Work. The grant is in the amount of $36,500 per year for three years, after which it is to be reviewed as to a further two-year extension. The basic idea of the project follows an observation made in our report of 1955, as follows:
"Those who are responsible for the curriculum in our seminaries can best work out a specific program which would help fill the urgent need for an effective industrial ministry." Therefore, following the principle laid down by this Commission the Project for Seminary Cooperation in Urban Industrial Church Work is bringing to seminaries, on a continuing basis, facts about the Church's attempt to have an adequate program in industrial areas.

A constant flow of reports on research, experimental and pioneering parish programs is fed into the seminaries. One consultant in each of our recognized seminaries is invited to attend conferences and other meetings which, it is hoped, will enrich the teaching process. Here again the Church, through its National Council, is following a suggestion of this Commission.
The professional responsibilities of the seminaries are honored. The project to Show," is a 73-page multilithed document. Single copies are available on request to any member of the General Convention.

is expected to help seminaries make suggestions for more effective training of clergy in our urban industrial civilization.

3. We recommended that a series of conferences—preferably, one a year for the triennium—be conducted by the Division of Urban-Industrial Church Work. Two such conferences have been held. Planning for the third is in a preliminary stage.

Sponsored jointly by the Urban-Industrial Committee of Province III, the Society for the Promotion of the Industrial Mission, and the Division of Urban-Industrial Church Work, with program planning as the responsibility of the Division, a conference on Winning the Wage Worker was held in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., September 24-27, 1956. Attended by 25 clergy from nine dioceses, its work was not to issue a statement or to pass resolutions, or even to agree on strategy principles, but to act as consultant for the Commission and the Division.

Some conference highlights were requests that there be clinics on preaching to the American worker, that further study and leadership must be undertaken to relate the worship situation with the work situation, and that many of the clergy should have more factual data about unions. Included in the request for action to our own Commission, it was said that this is "more than a problem of heavily industrialized areas. This is a problem of an industrial civilization." Affirming that we "need to do a lot of testing to get know-how," it was suggested that there be developed "clergy specialists" who can lead in such matters as evangelism of the wage worker. Again the clergy affirmed the need for the Church to make "better provision for post-graduate and refresher courses, especially of a practical nature." It was affirmed that "the Church's concern for the worker does not indicate that the Church thinks the worker to be a particular kind of pagan. The Church is deeply concerned about winning the wage worker because of the increasing leadership of the worker and the need for that leadership to be Christian." We emphasize the fact that the report of the conference was not in the nature of an agreed-upon statement but a sharing of some of the discussions. None of the conferees are in any way bound by anything in the report, although none to date have entered any exception.

At the request of several delegates of Province IV who attended the Wilkes-Barre Conference, a conference on Evangelism in the Industrial Civilization was held in Camden, S. C., May 29-31, 1957. It was attended by 36 clergymen from 16 dioceses. As in the case of the Wilkes-Barre conference, those attending were selected by their bishops. It was apparent at both conferences that the conferees considered the conditions to be much more serious than is generally assumed and that they felt themselves to be in need of a great deal more training, more leadership, and more assistance than they now have. A 16-page evaluation sheet was sent to all conferees. Two-thirds responded, many of them with extended observations. By far the majority signified a desire for continued training, and half suggested that

5 "At Halfway Mark," a report of the Project for Seminary Cooperation in Urban Industrial Church Work dated July 1, 1958, is available upon request to the Division of Urban-Industrial Church Work.

6 "Winning the Wage Worker," the Christian Social Relations Bulletin of November 15, 1956, gives an account of the conference and, as well, sets forth some interim insights about the ministry in industrial areas. It can be secured on request to the Division of Urban-Industrial Church Work.

The reports of this conference are contained in the Christian Social Relations Bulletin of October 15, 1957, entitled "Evangelism in the Industrial Civilization." It is available without charge upon request to the Division of Urban-Industrial Church Work.
discussion of this sort be carried out soon on a diocesan basis. Most believed that similar conferences should be held in other provinces, and two-thirds believed that a similar but larger conference should be held in 1958 in Province IV.

In the Camden conference there was interest that a strategy of evangelism be created, especially as it relates to the growth of the Church in rapidly urbanizing and industrializing areas. The Mayor of the city, in his address of welcome, remarked that “with the tremendous shift in the work forces will probably come new orientations.” He predicted that before long the South will be “on an industrial par with the country as a whole.”

Again it should be noted that this report is not binding upon any of the conferees and is not in the nature of an agreed-upon statement. It does contain many interesting comments, among them that there is a need for “Bible study helps for the Bible Belt.” Further motivational research was requested, and there was much discussion as to the stand to be taken by the clergy in crisis situations. In the already highly industrialized Province III and the rapidly industrializing Province IV, the general sense of need was the same. In Province III the clergy generally had had more experience in the ministry in strongly unionized situations. Many of the clergy in Province IV, on the other hand, were in communities where union organizing drives were in progress.

The Commission at its meeting on January 30, 1957 in Pittsburgh recommended that a conference be held in that area running a thousand miles along the Ohio River south of Pittsburgh in what Fortune Magazine has dubbed, “The Boiling Ohio.” This would involve four provinces and some eleven dioceses. It is claimed that the area will increasingly become the greatest industrial concentration in America. It certainly already is a section of the country which could qualify as an industrial area within the definition as made by the Commission in its report of 1955. At the writing of this report—Eastertide, 1958—no formal plans for the conference have been made, but the Division is having a meeting before the General Convention to plan in more detail for this, the third conference of the triennium.

4. We recommended extreme caution in the matter of industrial chaplaincies. At that time this type of industrial ministry was very much in favor and very popular. Since then the situation has changed somewhat. While none of the major denominations have, as far as we can ascertain, issued any statements of approval of factory chaplaincies, there have been press and other reports expressing reservations on the part of leaders of the Church and labor and industry. However, there are sections of the country, notably in the South and Southwest, where the term, “industrial chaplaincies,” continued to be synonymous with the Church’s concern for adequate ministry in industrial areas. We do not want to labor the point, but we consider it unfortunate that this condition exists. It means many times that when the Episcopal Church does not cooperate in the matter of factory chaplaincies it is assumed that we do not want to win the workers.

What we are affirming is that the industrial chaplaincy or, as it is called at other times, the factory chaplaincy or the industrial pastorate whereby the work force in a certain factory becomes the parish or the particular pastoral responsibility of a certain clergyman, is only one technique—and a questionable one at that—for the implementation of the Church's interest in relating the worship and the work scene. Therefore, in response to many requests, we are outlining some of the major reasons why we have taken this firm position.

A. Administratively, the chaplain will find himself in an awkward position. Who is to supervise his work? Who finances his work? All sorts of arrangements seem to have been tried but complications in his position continue to arise.

B. There is an almost inevitable tendency for the factory clergyman to be pushed into the position of either being on the staff of the personnel division or doing work much along the lines of a personnel or morale officer.

C. The moral question arises as to whether it is right to ask management to assume the cost of factory prayer meetings and other services of worship. The amount of paid non-working time has already reached high proportions in industry. While we would not in any way become involved in any controversy as to this rather troublesome area, we do want to point out that if the Church expects worship and prayer time to come out of the work day then this is going to be an added cost for somebody. Our purpose is to ask that the cost of the factory ministries in terms of cash be realistically faced and reciprocally agreed upon.

D. The factory chaplain will almost of necessity be forced into an innocuous theological position because of the various denominational affiliations of the work force. We noted in many places where the factory chaplaincy continues with some success that it is almost invariably a place where the work force has had an immediate rural background with almost monolithic theological orientation. For instance, one of the projects which is often quoted as being a successful one is in a plant in the Southwest where the work force below supervision level is nearly entirely from the rural areas and some 85 per cent of the work force have denominational affiliations typical of right-wing Fundamentalism in the Bible Belt. It is obvious that as larger work forces assemble and become more diverse in type the existence of a minister with a particular denominational affiliation in a factory may actually increase the potential tension.

E. As far as we know, leaders of organized labor have not issued any negative statements. However, we do know from many personal connections with them that a number of labor leaders are inclined to resent the factory chaplains. They feel its implication is that the American industrial worker is a particularly troublesome moral problem and therefore we have to evolve some particular kind of ministry to meet his needs.

We must emphasize again that all this does not mean that we are not interested in the problems connected with working in factories. What we are saying is that, in the long run, these problems will not be adequately met by clergymen whose parishes are the factories.

Changing Conditions in the Urban Industrial Area Since the 1955 Convention

Our previous report pointed out that neither management nor labor in

1. The so-called fringe benefit payments are steadily increasing and have, according to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States as quoted in Nation's Business, risen from 1c in 1929 to 25c in 1955 and the prediction as estimated is that these costs will reach $1 per hour in 1957. Rest periods and paid lunch periods alone now amount to 4.5c per hour.
America was basically hostile to the Church, nor did the Church need to ingratiate herself by any special techniques in order to win a hearing. In the English and in the European scene there does seem to be a gulf between the worker and the Church which, in many cases, amounts to outright hostility. And, as well, there does seem to be a sense of separateness between the management group and the Church. One recent world study has this to say about the English and European scene: "If the Churches are to move outside their own little circles and do anything more than capture a few prisoners from the outside world, there must be a radical change in all the departments of the Church's life." This document closed with the comment that there are "five areas where there has been a breakdown and where restoration is needed... First the worship of the Church, which has become largely unintelligible. Second, the fellowship of the Church, which was once its glory and now has become its reproach. Third, the ethical attitudes of the Church, which once helped Christians to stand out as those whose lives were governed by clear principles but now have become a tangled mass of customs and habits. Fourth, the witness of the Church, whereby it speaks to those outside its borders, a witness which in our day has become either unintelligible or ambiguous. Fifth, the basic beliefs of the Church which are required of a man when he is asked to join. Apart from the difference between different denominations, the world is confused by what it is asked to believe in the Christian faith, and the Church itself is not always sure as to why it should ignore those beliefs."

This Commission would not in any way ally itself with any particular diagnosis of the now almost endemic dichotomy which seems to be evident in other parts of the world. Thoughtful students of the American scene appear to agree that, as of now, the situation is more favorable here. Of course we would not assert that the total operation of American industry is up to all Christian standards any more than any segment of American life! But the Church no longer has to plead for a hearing. Its advice is being asked by many labor, management and stockholder groups.

In his article, "Board of Ministers Working with Labor and Management," (released February 20, 1958) Victor Reisel, well-known labor columnist, had this to say: "Today's column is a sermon for skeptics and cynics. Its genesis is the belief of one man, not unfamiliar with industrial wars, that the bitterness of picket lines can be banished by voices from the pulpit. It is the tale of one industrialist turning quietly, with deliberate stilling of the many available trumpets, to ten clergymen for advice on the moral, ethical and philosophical relationship with his thousands of workers belonging to Walter Reuther's embattled union. Thus opens an entirely new saga of the executive suite—this one being the office of George Romney, President of American Motors, whose idea it was to turn to churchmen for moral guidance."

The United Automobile Workers, through its President, Walter P. Reuther, requested similar services from the same panel of clergymen.

8 A limited number of this mimeographed document, entitled "The Church in the Industrial World," which was produced by the Rev. E. H. Robertson, Study Secretary, United Bible Societies, Geneva, Switzerland, are on hand at National Council offices and may be secured in single copy upon request to the Division of Urban-Industrial Church Work.

9 A new development in this present attitude to ask for the insights on Churches is the action by American Motors Corporation in calling in ten clergymen representing the Jewish, Roman Catholic, Episcopal, and Protestant traditions to obtain their ethical and moral insights in the labor-management bargaining situation in the automobile industry. One of our bishops, Bishop Emrich of Michigan, served on the panel, as did the Secretary of this Commission.
Here in America the door to the labor-management scene is open to the Church. The question is: how capable will the Church prove itself in giving specific pastoral insights to the situations which are almost universally characteristic of the industrial areas?

Observations

1. There seems to be a tendency on the part of the industrial worker to shut off his work experience from the balance of his life. We have no explanation for this, nor are we ready at this time to make evaluations as to this tendency in various types of industrial operations. It is more easily observable in mass industries where factory workers are employed in the assembly-line type of production. Clergymen report to us that when they try to organize study groups around such subjects as, "The meaning of work," or "The Church and the factory," they find their parishioners are not interested and often express an active hostility. It is reported to us that sermons on similar subjects meet with little response and bring forth exhortations to the clergy to "stop preaching about that sort of thing." This had been reported to us from many parts of the country. In the heavier industries parishioners are inclined to tell their priests that life in the factory is so obnoxious that they resent being reminded of it in church. This may or may not be part of the American tendency to fragmentize or departmentalize life. We do think that such an attitude requires more thorough study and definition from the standpoint of the Church than it is now getting.

We are grateful for the attempts made in our Church during the past triennium to relate man's worship life to his working life. For instance, there was a Church and Work Congress in Albany, New York, in 1955. A similar program was undertaken in the Diocese of Olympia in 1956. Here and there in dioceses and various industrial centers there have been attempts to work out the vocational implications of the Christian religion. All of this represents a trend in the right direction.

2. Dwellers in the "time-clock communities" are shopping for religions just as they shop for detergents, drugs, automobiles and cosmetics. As successive waves of immigration brought various groups of workers into the industrial areas people had a tendency to polarize around institutions with which they had been affiliated in the countries from which they came. This trend toward polarization on an ethnic basis, as far as the Church is concerned, has weakened considerably with the passage of time and after families have changed their places of residence several times. People join or do not join the Church in the industrial community on the basis of criteria evaluations in which denominational loyalty, ethnic or cultural polarization, tradition and custom seem to have less and less importance.

Historically, when masses of people change their places of residence and their means of making a living, they tend to re-evaluate their institutions. The institutions of religion are no exception. America is a nation on the move. No other nation in the history of time has ever achieved the degree of orientation around the means of production. It seems quite probable that, in view of the massive changes in places of living and in earning their livelihood, Americans are—on an accelerated pattern—using their right of free choice not only in accepting or rejecting religion but in choosing churches in the neighborhoods into which they move. Considerable work has been done in exploring the criteria by which certain groups of citizens "shop for a church," but much remains to be done to determine the criteria by which the industrial worker chooses a church.\textsuperscript{22}

3. It has been our observation that the conditions which determine so much of church location and program have to do with where people live and not where they earn their living. We plan to build churches in areas where the church building will be surrounded by the maximum number of types of people upon whom we can depend for an adequate and a stable constituency. We do not plan, for instance, to put a church in the midst of a factory area.

We bring out these points because we believe that it is necessary for the Church somehow to think through its entire message in all the areas of people's activities.

4. We must be especially alert for those cases where people and movements are propagating hatred against others on the basis of their particular orientation in their places of work.

The person who creates discord on the basis of religious beliefs is justly considered by right-thinking Americans to be dangerous. If it is wrong to incite hatred on the basis of race or creed, how can it be other than wrong to stir up hatred on the basis of class? Hence, for labor leaders to use hatred as a weapon against employers is wrong. It is equally sinful for employers to stir up resentment against the worker as a person or against organized labor as a movement on the basis of hate-producing arguments. The Churches must close ranks and take a stand against intolerance on the basis of the time clock equally as firm as that against bias on the basis of race or creed.\textsuperscript{23}

5. We must warn the Church against any casual methodology. Methods have been and always will be important everywhere—including church life. No methodology can take the place of redemptive service in the community and pastoral work which is intelligent as well as concerned. We feel compelled to warn the Church against an easy assurance that religion somehow fits into the American scene and that all we have to do is build enough churches in enough favorable locations to win America for Christ. Indications of increasing hostility toward organized religion are already clearly observable. Even the most optimistic figures indicate that more than fifty million Americans do not even claim affiliation with any organized religion. In many American cities there are an increasing number of people who reject organized religion entirely.

6. We are making very poor headway indeed against secular paganism in America. Church accessions seemingly tend to rearrange, on a new basis, those who are in some ways participants in a religious heritage. We know very little about the process of winning the hostile pagan. Militant secularism continues to defy a strategy which implies that if the geographical location is good and the architectural result pleasing the secularist will drop his false gods and hurry into the House of the Lord!\textsuperscript{24}

7. The clergy themselves present one of the greatest problems in the in\textsuperscript{22}Forth Magazine, May 1958, carries an article entitled "The Urban Church in the Present Hour" in which there is a discussion of these criteria as they have been partially developed in the field of motivational research.

ustrial areas. In the conferences and the various contacts we have had with the clergy, we are impressed all over again with the emotional erosion which takes place in the life of the average clergyman. Clergymen whose personal and parish lives are overshadowed by the factory and whose people's lives are likewise dominated by "the plant" seem to suffer most. What Dr. Samuel W. Blizzard calls "the desperate need for self-maintenance" is a most pressing problem. It is not enough to expect a new heroism from the clergymen who feel they have vocations to the depressed areas of the great cities and to the least promising industrial regions. We must provide them with special techniques for spiritual refreshment. They need the kind of professional recognition that lifts from them the implied stigma that they are in the mill towns because they haven't the qualities necessary for the more pleasant places.

8. Ministers in industrial areas request over and over again that more scholarly literature be made available on the problems of mill town living. They not only need resource material for their own intellectual and spiritual enrichment, but they need, as well, readable and popular type literature for general distribution.

The semantic overtones of so much that is published by and for the Church continue to imply a middle-class Church. The point is not whether or not we are such a Church, but that so many people seem to think we are. At several of the meetings of the Commission there have been discussions as to the image of the Episcopal Church as held by the industrial worker of America. One of the members of the Commission, an advertising executive, suggests that there be a professionally directed opinion sampling program in various industrial areas to determine the image profile of the Episcopal Church as it is held in the minds of the wage worker. This suggestion is based upon the fact that the most intelligent overtures by institutions and marketers are made with such image surveys as a basis.

9. One of the most bothersome missionary problems in industrial areas is the tendency of the workers to think of the Episcopal Church as management's Church. The myth of an enslaved pulpit persists, especially in areas which are becoming newly industrialized. Hard work is required to correct this error.

RECOMMENDATIONS

1. We recommend that the seminaries and all those concerned with and responsible for the training of the clergy be encouraged to bring about such changes in seminary training as will make the clergyman more adequate to serve in our urban industrial civilization. In one way or another the 13 Those who want to pursue this matter further can read a 74-page mimeographed preliminary manuscript entitled "The Urban Parish Minister and His Training Needs," produced by Dr. Blizzard. As a Consultant to the Division of Urban-Industrial Church Work he gave permission to us to reproduce this for use of scholars and people particularly interested in this problem. Single copies are available from the Division without cost, although it is again stressed that this is a preliminary manuscript.

14 Forward Movement Publications has signified its interest in publishing such needed pamphlets and reading matter which are geared to the Church's ministry in the industrial scene. The problem now, of course, is to get them written.

15 Forth Magazine of Christmas, 1956 carries an article by Miss Julia R. Piggin entitled, "God's Church or Management's." This is a staff writer's account of the Wilkes-Barre conference on Winning the Wage Worker in which there was complaint—as there so often is—that despite attempts of churches in mill towns to win the workers the worker frequently continues to feel unwanted, even in the face of some sincere and interesting overtures on the part of the congregations.
INDUSTRIAL AREAS

seminaries are trying to make adjustments to give more realistic training to students.

2. We recommend that the series of conferences begun at our request and carried on through the triennium be continued and wherever possible the cooperation of the provincial synods be enlisted. The conferences should now move on from the fact-finding, attitude-measuring phase to more emphasis on communicating to the clergy and others the developing insights which have begun to emerge from the research and experimentation going on in the Church.

3. We recommend that the Department of Christian Social Relations take continued responsibility for the study of the problems of missionary work in the industrial areas and for evolving an adequate missionary strategy in those areas.

4. We recommend—and this we believe to be the most important recommendation we are making—that the Church undertake, during the next triennium, a thorough study of the whole subject of evangelism in our urban industrial civilization.

By this we do not mean simply a rehash and further discussion of the various methods and techniques which are dealt with so extensively in books on evangelism. What we do mean is:

A. There should be an adequately financed survey to determine the opinions which people in different parts of the country have about the Church and its leadership and the mental images they hold of the Church.

B. A thorough study should be made of the adult accessions to our Church, Episcopal Church. Such a study could reveal the motivations which led them into the Church.

C. There should be a study of motivations—a painstaking study in accordance with the techniques of motivational research. It must be determined with accuracy to what motivations the Church now appeals, how successful these appeals are, and by what the modern person is motivated as he looks toward the Church. For instance, the ideological motivation may be much more significant than is assumed by the present strategy of the Church. It may well be that the great new thrust of evangelism will come about as people are enlisted in the building of a new kind of world, rather than by some of the other motivations which are currently in use by the Church.

5. We recommend that the Ministry of the Laity in the missionary work in industrial areas and in the total relationship of the Church and industrial civilization be strengthened and expanded. We believe, for instance, that there is too much of an idea that the missionary work is the clergyman's business. We call attention to the following observation from the Second Assembly of World Council of Churches at Evanston in 1954:

"The real battles of the faith today are being fought in factories, shops, offices, and farms, in political parties and government agencies, in countless homes, in the press, radio, and television. . . . Very often it is said that the Church should 'go into these spheres;' but the fact is that the Church is already in these spheres in the persons of its laity." To this end we recommend that the theme for the annual coordinated emphasis in Social Education and Action during 1958-59 entitled, "The Social Responsibility of Christians in Daily Work," as produced by the National Council of the Churches of Christ, Department of Church and Economic Life, be widely used.

[In The Organisation Man by William H. Whyte, Jr. (Simon & Schuster) there is an interesting treatment of this subject as it is related to church life in suburbia. Mr. Whyte, Assistant Managing Editor of Fortune Magazine, is a member of the Division of Urban-Industrial Church Work and has given invaluable assistance to the Church in this field.

Study materials for this purpose are available through the Division of Christian Citizenship of our own Department of Christian Social Relations. We urge that every church and mission everywhere make the study of this theme a priority.

6. The Commission recommends the adoption of the following resolution:

Resolved, That the House of . . . concurring, the Joint Commission to Survey the Problems of Missionary Work in Industrial Areas be continued, and that the sum of $1,500.00 be appropriated to the Commission to provide for its work during the coming triennium.

APPENDIX 21

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMITTEE ON THE JAMESTOWN 350TH ANNIVERSARY

This Joint Committee was named by the 1955 General Convention and given the mission to "insure the full participation by the Episcopal Church of the United States in the 350th anniversary celebration of the settlement of Jamestown, Va, in 1957." It further was charged with responsibility of presenting to the Archbishop of Canterbury and the Bishop of London invitations from the General Convention to participate in various phases of the Jamestown activities and to make necessary arrangements therefor. A sum of $2,000 was appropriated by General Convention for these duties.

After several meetings to organize, and to discuss with the Virginia and Federal officials for the Jamestown Festival, various ways in which the Church might participate, the Committee finally established its objectives as these:

First, to utilize the Jamestown Anniversary Festival as an opportunity to inform and teach all Episcopalians of the great tradition their Church enjoys in its early beginnings in Virginia.

Second, to correct the historic misconception then widespread among American people regarding the birth of Christianity in the United States and to claim the credit due, for the remarkable accomplishments and contributions of the Anglican Church.

It was quite obvious that these objectives could not be obtained, nor could any significant participation in the celebration be had, without funds considerably in excess of the $2,000 appropriated. The Committee therefore voted to raise $35,000 and assigned the task to the lay members. The money was raised and an active program was pursued.

The Jamestown Church

Perhaps the most important event in the program was the successful arrangement made with the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities for the operation of the old Jamestown Church. This old edifice and the original graveyard have been preserved and maintained for over a half century by this Virginia organization which now has title to the property. Graciously, the organization agreed to let the Episcopal Church operate it as an active mission church throughout the period of the Jamestown Festival, April 1, 1957 to November 30, 1957. Management of the property was turned over to the Bishop of Southern Virginia, and he promptly installed the Rev. Churchill J. Gibson, D.D., as Chaplain.

Dr. and Mrs. Gibson moved to Jamestown and occupied a home provided by the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities. The old church lived again. For the eight months of the Festival, it proclaimed the vibrant faith of the great world-wide Church which had its beginning there 350 years earlier. Two services were held daily as had been done originally in 1607.

Close to a million people are estimated to have gone through the church, which had been completely re-equipped and made ready for the event. The Joint Committee is thoroughly indebted to the Old Dominion Foundation, which made $20,000 available for fixing up the church, employing guides who told the visitors our Church story, the printing of a four-page "give-away" booklet entitled "The Founding of Jamestown and the Church," and for the printing of a booklet which was sold for fifty cents and was titled "The Church Comes to America."

National Promotion

In addition to the activities at Jamestown, the Committee did what it could to stimulate national interest in the Anniversary. Here it was blessed, as elsewhere too, with most effective cooperation from National Council, especially from the Promotion Department. In this connection several radio programs and one TV program were arranged, posters proclaiming Jamestown Year were mailed to every parish, two layreaders' sermons were prepared, and those local parishes which subscribe to the National Council Sunday bulletin service found the bulletins on one Sunday devoted to the Jamestown theme. A motion picture was also made available to those who could use it. All of this was financed with National Council funds.

There developed many worthwhile means of promoting Jamestown Year in which the Promotion Department of National Council could assist with its personnel but for which it had no available money for expenses. This Committee then found the money and the following promotional materials were created and put to use:

1. Film strips for use in Sunday Schools.
2. Jamestown exhibits in the National Cathedral, Washington, D.C., and the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, New York.

The Archbishop of Canterbury

The Archbishop of Canterbury was invited to participate in the opening events of the Jamestown Festival at both Cape Henry, and on Jamestown Island, and elaborate arrangements were made for his visit. At the very last minute, however, illness necessitated his cancelling the trip. Gloom and disappointment were heavy in Virginia. But the Presiding Bishop assented to fill the Archbishop's appearances and speeches for the four day period, and more than restored the high spirits of all. When he departed from Virginia, Anglicanism was in its fullest flower.

Queen Elizabeth II

A high spot in the Festival of Jamestown was the visit to the Jamestown Church by Queen Elizabeth II, and Prince Philip. Her Majesty was presented there a reproduction of the communion silver used in the early days of the colony. The British Ambassador wrote our Committee: "The Queen and Prince Philip were particularly pleased to be able to begin their visit to the United States by a moment of worship on that historic site, which has such significance in the development of our two countries."

The Committee concluded its normal work with a balance of $707.40

Jamestown Episcopal Committee of Virginia for the purpose of continuing to stress the interest of the Protestant Episcopal Church in its first parish in America. Wherever the owners of the Jamestown property might desire some participation from the Episcopal Church, the Jamestown Episcopal Committee of Virginia expects to be ready to provide the assistance. It is therefore believed it is the logical beneficiary for the funds we had left.
Cooperation from all sources, organizations and jurisdictions has been uniformly outstanding in the Jamestown project. The Committee is grateful to all, especially to the Historical Magazine of the Protestant Episcopal Church, the Rev. Dr. A. Pierce Middleton, and the Rev. Dr. G. MacLaren Brydon for historical assistance. Then, too, the Committee wishes to record with deep regret that one of its most valued members, Mr. Thomas B. K. REPORT OF THE STANDING LITURGICAL COMMISSION

I. MEMBERSHIP AND MEETINGS

The Rev. Messrs. Morton C. Stone, Churchill J. Gibson, and Walter Williams, whose terms expired in 1955, were replaced by the Very Rev. Francis B. Sayre Jr., the Rev. Bertram L. Smith, and the Rev. Dr. Charles W. F. Smith. The vacancy caused by the lamented death on April 27, 1957, of the Rev. Dr. Bayard Hale Jones was filled ad interim by the appointment of Frank Stephen Cellier, Ph.D., of Evanston, Illinois, to serve until this Convention.

A tribute to Dr. Jones, Vice Chairman and long a member of the Commission, which was entered on the minutes of the Commission and given to the Church Press, is printed as an appendix to this report.

The Commission met in January 1956, October 1956, June 1957, and January 1958, each time for two full days. The vacancy in the office of Vice Chairman caused by the death of Dr. Jones was filled by the election of the Rev. Massey H. Shepherd, Jr., Ph.D.

II. MATTERS REFERRED BY THE HOUSE OF DEPUTIES, 1955.

1. A request for the addition of St. Timothy's Day to the Calendar and to the Holy Days, with provision of a special Collect, Epistle and Gospel. (Journal, p. 240).

The Commission's proposals in its recently published Calendar (Studies IX) and Collects, Epistles and Gospels for Holy Days (Studies XII), meet this request, subject to what is stated at the conclusion of this section of this report.
2. A request for the provision of a form of service for the readmission of lapsed communicants. (Journal, p. 243).

The Commission deems such a service unnecessary, since all that the lapsed communicant need do to be restored is to obtain absolution, and receive Holy Communion. Moreover, restoration is a personal matter, and the Prayer Book services are for public worship.

3. A request that the King James version of the 23rd Psalm be used in the Prayer Book in place of the version now provided.

The Commission desires to defer consideration of this request until it has occasion to take up the entire matter of the selection of versions for the Prayer Book. Meanwhile it begs to refer to its statement at the conclusion of this section of this report.

4. A request for the provision of a "form for the solemnization of Matrimony appropriate for use when a Christian is to marry an unbaptized person." (Journal, p. 229).

The "unanimous, favorable recommendation" of this request by the House of Deputies, at the instance of its Committee on the Prayer Book, had careful consideration by the Commission, which nevertheless found itself unable to comply.

The relation of an unbaptized person to the Christian Church is so variable that no form could possibly cover all situations. Moreover provision of such a form amounts to revision of the Prayer Book, because it would provide a marriage rite to be used as an alternative to that now provided. The Liturgical Commission has no authority to provide forms of service as substitutes for those in the present Prayer Book.

The Book of Offices, however, provides a form: The Blessing of Married Persons, specifically designed for the case here in question. We believe that the use of this form will solve many of the difficulties which led to this request.

The Commission begs to remind the members of the General Convention that requests for or even implying revision of the Prayer Book are beyond the province of the Commission, whose function regarding revision is merely to make recommendations to Convention. Observation of the Journals shows that such requests are not infrequently made, and are referred to the Committee on the Prayer Book of one or the other House, which then submits them to the Commission with or without recommendation.

A shorter course might be for the President of each House, by means, if necessary, of some standing order, to refer resolutions embodying such requests directly to the Commission, whose duty it is to receive and consider all proposals relating to the Prayer Book. However, the Commission is of course happy to receive any communication from either House of Convention, or from the Houses jointly.

The supply of the last edition of A Book of Offices, published in 1949, being now nearly exhausted, a further supply is required. The Commission desires to take advantage of this circumstance to make some needed changes, and submits a resolution (appended) authorizing it to prepare and publish a new edition with such changes as it may deem advisable.

IV. TRIAL USE

The Commission submitted in its report to Convention of 1955 the following which is now reprinted, (with appended resolutions slightly amended) because Convention of 1955 did not act upon it. The Journal of the House of Bishops shows (p. 25) presentation of the recommended resolution (with the unfortunate omission of mention of the section, X, of the Constitution to be amended), and reference to the Bishops' Committee on Constitution, but no further action on it is noted in the Journal. The Commission is credibly informed that the House of Bishops was prevented from acting upon the resolution by receipt of word that the Deputies' Committee on Constitution had completed its work. We now reprint our recommendations of 1955, with a reminder that the dates 1955 and 1958 should now read 1958 and 1961.

"The Commission believes that the Constitution of the General Convention, as it now stands, does not permit, or can reasonably be argued not to permit, trial use of a revised Prayer Book, or of sections or Offices thereof. Therefore, while fully in sympathy with the policy represented by the action of the House of Bishops at its special meeting in Williamsburg, November 12, 1953, providing for a restricted trial use of the first draft of a Eucharistic Liturgy, and believing it desirable that the Bishops should have power to authorize trial use of any proposed section or Office, the Commission submits herewith an amendment which, if adopted in 1955 and again in 1958, will make trial use under whatever safeguards Convention or the Bishops thereto authorized by it, may adopt, unquestionably lawful. By 1958 existing drafts of sections and Offices, and other drafts to appear, should have had sufficient consideration in the Church at large to warrant the Commission, if Convention so desires, in submitting a complete revision incorporating all the suggestions which the Committee has felt able to recommend. The Convention of 1958, after passing the second reading of the proposed amendment, will be free to adopt such provisions for trial use as it may desire, and thereby afford the best tests of the value of the revision. In saying this the Commission wishes to dissociate itself from any idea that it hopes for or presses a revision for adoption at any particular date. All that it now proposes is to clear the way for the most effective testing of such a revision if and when Convention may see fit to submit it to the Church.

"The relevant Constitutional provisions now in effect are in Article X. This has but one section, to which are appended two provisos. Lines 11 to 26 of the main text prohibit any alteration of or addition to the Prayer Book except by action of two successive Conventions, with interim consideration by the dioceses and missionary districts.

"It is arguable that an experimental Book is not an alteration or amendment, since it is not offered as such and does not displace the established Book save on occasions when the experimental Book is used. Against this, however, may be adduced the provision in the first ten lines of the main text that the established Book 'shall be in use in all the Dioceses and Missionary Districts of this Church.' This reasonably means that the established Book shall be in continuous, not merely in intermittent use, and this if so, prevents occasional use of an experimental Book.

"Glancing now at the two provisos, the first one, allowing amendment of 'the Table of Lessons and all Tables and Rubrics relating to the use of the Psalms' by action of only one Convention, obviously has no application. Nor has the second, excepting special forms of worship prescribed by the Bishops. 'Special forms of worship,' reasonably interpreted, applies only to forms for rites not provided in the established Book. The so-called Jus Liturgicum of a bishop or bishops does not extend to the authorization of substitutes for rites prescribed by the provincial or national Church in its manual of worship.

"We are therefore faced by the fact that a good argument can be made for the proposition that the Constitution at present excludes experimental or 'trial' use of rites alternative to those prescribed in the established Book. Accordingly we propose an amendment to Article X to make trial use, under whatever safeguards may be adopted, unquestionably lawful.

"One method for such an amendment is to add to the two existing provisos a third. It would be better, however, because less clumsy, to recast the first existing proviso to include the amendment, thus:

'But notwithstanding anything hereinabove contained, the General Convention may at any one meeting, by a majority of the whole number of Bishops entitled to vote in the House of Bishops and a majority of each Order in the House of Deputies:

'(a) Amend the Table of Lessons and all Tables and Rubrics relating to the Psalms;

'(b) Authorize for trial use throughout this Church, as an alternative at any time or times to the established Book of Common Prayer or to any section or Office thereof, a proposed revision of the whole Book or of any portion or portions thereof.'

"The present second proviso may remain as it now stands, except that the word further might be deleted."
V. FINANCES

Of the appropriation of $4,000 made to the Commission by Convention of 1955 (Journal, pp. 227, 283) $490.08 remains unspent. For the triennium 1958-61 the Commission needs $4,500, and submits a resolution (appended) for an appropriation in that sum. The Commission is handicapped by not having sufficient funds to permit the members of sub-committees to confer except by correspondence, yet the nature of its work in this next triennium will require meetings of several sub-committees. Further, one additional meeting of the full Commission in the last triennium would have brought the expenditure to $4,500 or more. If the work of the Commission is important to the Church it would be well to give it this small leeway.

VI. RESOLUTIONS

1.Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that the first proviso of Article X of the Constitution, be and it is hereby amended to read as follows:

   But notwithstanding anything hereinabove contained, the General Convention may at any one meeting, by a majority of the whole number of Bishops entitled to vote in the House of Bishops and a majority of each order in the House of Deputies,

   a. Amend the Table of Lessons and all Tables and Rubrics relating to the Psalms;

   b. Authorize for trial use throughout this Church, as an alternative at any time or times to the established Book of Common Prayer or to any section of Office thereof, a proposed revision of the whole Book or of any portion thereof, duly undertaken by the General Convention.

2. Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that the second proviso of Article X of the Constitution be and it is hereby amended by deletion of the word further.

   (NOTE: This deletion is required because the preceding amendment, by removing the words Provided, however, makes the second proviso the only one)

3. Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that the Standing Liturgical Commission is hereby authorized to prepare and publish a Book of Propers for the Minor Holy Days, embodying the proposals of its Prayer Book Studies IX and XII, on the Calendar and the Propers of the Minor Holy Days, respectively; and be it further Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that the said Book, when duly published with the approval of the Standing Liturgical Commission, is hereby authorized for optional use, subject to the direction of the Ordinary, in any Parish or Mission of this Church, Provided, that the said Book not be used for services of worship in this Church on any Sunday or Holy Day of the year for which the Book of Common Prayer specifically provides a proper Collect, Epistle and Gospel.

4. Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that the Standing Liturgical Commission is hereby authorized to prepare and publish a new edition of
5. Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that the sum of $4,500.00 be and it hereby is appropriated for the regular expenses of the Standing Liturgical Commission for the ensuing triennium.

DEATH OF THE REV. BAYARD HALE JONES, D.D.

Excerpt from the Minutes of the Standing Liturgical Commission of June 25–27, 1957

At the meeting of the Standing Liturgical Commission of June 25–27, 1957, the following was ordered placed upon the Minutes:

The Standing Liturgical Commission records with profound sorrow the death of its Vice Chairman, the Reverend Bayard Hale Jones, D.D., on April 27, 1957, in Sewanee, Tennessee. He had served continuously and faithfully as a member of the Commission since 1934, and for the past seven years he had acted as editor of its publications. His manifold contributions to the deliberations and work of the Commission cannot, in the truest sense, be replaced.
LITURGICAL COMMISSION

A life-long interest in liturgical studies, supported by an unusual equipment in languages both ancient and modern, gave to Dr. Jones a competence in his special field of learning, which in the annals of our Church, has been unexcelled. In collaboration with the Right Reverend Edward L. Parsons, the Chairman of the Commission at the time, he produced in The American Prayer Book (1937) the standard manual on the history and rationale of our liturgy—a volume of such excellence it may well need only to be supplemented, not replaced, for many years to come.

From 1934 to 1943, Dr. Jones was chiefly responsible for coordinating and developing the work of the Commission on the revision of the lectionary of the Daily Offices. When the General Convention met in October, 1943, Dr. Jones was accorded the unusual honor of being invited to address that body, though he was not a deputy, concerning the principles and values of the lectionary upon which he had devoted such indefatigable labor and care. After the Convention had approved the work, he published in 1944 The American Lectionary, an indispensable guide to its rationale and effective use.

In the work of preparation and editing of the Prayer Book Studies, begun by the Commission in 1950, Dr. Jones' contributions have been in calculable. His peculiar genius may be particularly noted in the second and fourth of the Studies, on the Eucharistic Lectionary and Rite respectively, for he had the major responsibility in drafting the learned introductions to these volumes. At the time of his death, he left the Commission with extensive materials in hand for other projected Studies, especially an able and exhaustive draft on the propers for the minor Holy Days.

Dr. Jones' learning was matched by an unusual power of expression both in his speech and his writing—lucid, well-organized, trenchant and vivacious. He knew how to give clarity and life to complicated and technical subject matter. In his approach to liturgical questions he was never doctrinaire, nor partisan, and though he had strong convictions, based upon his extensive knowledge of facts, he was always reasonable, open-minded and fair in discussion, afraid neither of altering his views, nor of admitting his persuasion when convinced by the arguments of others. Questions submitted to him received thorough and prompt attention; his letters are testimony to the labor he exacted from himself to provide accurate and detailed information for those seeking his help and advice. He had little patience with obstructionist tactics or captious judgments; but his generous nature and keen sense of humor often cleared the atmosphere of tense situations. In all that he did for the Commission, Dr. Jones kept ever in mind the needs of the whole Church. His sympathy for divergent points of view, when honestly held, was one of his most unusual qualities, and few men have had so intelligent a grasp of both the extent and the limits of comprehensiveness in the Church. Above everything else, he never sought advantage for himself, much less advantage for any party or partisan group, but worked only for the good of the Church in all its wholeness and fullness of truth.

The Commission is deeply grateful to God our heavenly Father for the association and friendship with this gifted and devoted priest, and for the benefits of his many talents spent generously and unreservedly in its service. With all his colleagues and friends, it extends to his bereaved widow a warm and heartfelt sympathy in her sorrow, and assures her of our continuing prayers for God's peace and comfort.
On the sixth day of the General Convention held at Honolulu in 1955, the following motion was presented and adopted in the House of Bishops:

"Resolved, The House of Deputies concurring, that the Joint Commission to Report Recommendations as to Amendments to Canons on Holy Matrimony be reconstituted by the appointment of four Bishops, four Presbyters, and four lay persons, and that it be designated as a Joint Commission on Holy Matrimony."

The House of Deputies concurred.

On the ninth day, the House of Deputies adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that the Joint Commission on Holy Matrimony be instructed to study all canonical provisions relating to Holy Matrimony, hold hearings and take testimony thereon, and report fully thereon to the General Convention of 1958."

The House of Bishops concurred.

On the fifth day, the following resolution was presented in the House of Deputies:

"Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that the Joint Commission on Holy Matrimony be requested to draw up a statement on Holy Matrimony in harmony with The Form of Solemnization of Matrimony in The Book of Common Prayer; that this statement include the principle of nullity and how it may be safely applied; that it shall call upon many others, i.e., bishops, scholars, priests, chancellors, etc., to aid in the formulation of this statement which shall be presented to the next General Convention and to the Lambeth Conference."

The House of Bishops concurred, and the resolution was referred to the Joint Commission on Holy Matrimony.

The first meeting of this Joint Commission, as appointed by the Presiding Bishop and the President of the House of Deputies, was convened by Bishop Lawrence at Calvary House, New York City, May 23, 1956. It was organized with Bishop Lawrence as Chairman; Dr. Denney as Vice Chairman; the Rev. Dr. Mabry as Secretary. The names of the other members of this Joint Commission are given at the end of this report.

Acting on the instructions of General Convention, to "study all canonical provisions relating to Holy Matrimony, hold hearings and take testimony thereon," the Joint Commission set up hearings to be held in each Province, assigning the following responsibilities to members of a Province or those nearest, to save travel expense:
Province 1......Bishop Lawrence, Rev. Dr. Ferris, Dean Esquirol.
Province 2......Rev. Dr. Mabry, Mrs. Hannah.
Province 3......Dr. Denney.
Province 4......Bishop Carruthers, the Rev. Dr. Henning.
Province 5......Bishop Kirchhoffer.
Province 6......Bishop Kirchhoffer.
Province 7......Mr. Dilworth.
Province 8......Bishop Bayne, Mrs. Verleger.

This was made necessary because only $300.00 had been allocated to the Joint Commission by the Committee on Expenses of the General Convention—an amount insufficient to pay the travel expenses of all the members of the Commission to even one meeting. We would call strongly to the attention of the General Convention the importance of providing adequate funds for the Joint Commissions which it sets up and to which it assigns such impossible responsibilities as the above within the amount of funds allocated; and we sincerely hope that the minimum request which this Joint Commission will make to the Committee on Expenses will be placed in the budget for 1958. Fulfillment of responsibilities given to the Joint Commission by the 1955 Convention would have been impossible had it not been for the self-sacrifice of many members in paying their own expenses, in combining our meetings with meetings of the House of Bishops or with other meetings of Joint Commissions on which some of our members also served, and, more especially, through the generosity of the Presiding Bishop in covering our minimum needs from his discretionary funds.

To meet the second responsibility assigned to the Joint Commission, namely, "to draw up a statement on Holy Matrimony in harmony with The Form of Solemnization of Matrimony in The Book of Common Prayer", and that "this statement include the principle of nullity and how it may be safely applied", and to "call upon many others, i.e. bishops, scholars, priests, chancellors, etc., to aid in the formulation of this statement which shall be presented to the next General Convention and to the Lambeth Conference", —the Rev. Dr. Henning was requested to seek out the assistance of such persons, and to draw up such a statement for presentation at the following meeting.

Also, Bishop Carruthers was requested to send an appropriate questionnaire to all Bishops with jurisdiction, concerning their experience with the Marriage Canons during the previous triennium, and to report on same at the next meeting of the House of Bishops.

The second meeting took place at Pocono Manor Inn, Pocono Manor, Pa., on November 16, 1956.

At this meeting, Bishop Carruthers gave a summary of the results of his inquiry, and he was asked to put this into writing and submit it to the National Church Press for publication. This was done.

Dr. Henning reported on the replies made to his inquiry to "bishops, scholars, priests, chancellors, etc."
As a result of this report, a strong Statement on the Church's teaching on Holy Matrimony was drawn up, which was submitted to the House of Bishops at Sewanee for their consideration, as the Joint Commission did not wish to submit this Statement to the Lambeth Conference on its own authority.

The House of Bishops asked that the Canons in full be presented as such a Statement. This the Joint Commission did, together with an informal statement which was prepared by Bishop Bayne as a sort of preface.

As a result of the answers to the questionnaires sent by Bishop Carruthers, the Joint Commission discussed various suggested amendments and additions to, and interpretations of, the Canons. The Commission requested Mr. Jackson A. Dykman, Chairman of the House of Deputies' Committee on Canons, to edit the Impediments. This he has done, and the result will be presented as a resolution at the end of this report.

Mr. Dykman was also asked to reword the "duration of time" clause, in an effort to avoid the injustice now created by differences in State laws covering divorce and remarriage. He replied that he thinks the dilemma can not be resolved because of the different and changing laws of the states.

Bishop Bayne was requested to develop a "Case Book" in consultation with other bishops, for the guidance of bishops and other clergy. He did so, and this was presented, in preliminary form, at the meeting of the House of Bishops in Sewanee.

Dr. Henning was requested to compile a selected list of books and pamphlets on Christian Marriage. This has been done, and has been publicized through the Church Press.

Also, in order to meet a request for pre-marital instruction, the Joint Commission would again call attention to the pamphlet publicized by the Forward Movement, entitled, "Marriage in the Episcopal Church."

An outline for post-marital instruction was also prepared, and is being made available, as well as an "Instruction on Christian Marriage and Family Life", to be used with the Church School children and young people generally.

The Joint Commission recommends a renewal of marriage vows on the Third Sunday after the Epiphany, or some other convenient occasion; and an appropriate service has been prepared for use either as part of the morning service or as a separate service.

Bishop Kirchhoffer has drawn up a standardized "Form of Application for a Judgment on Marital Status in the Eyes of the Church", and this has been approved by the Joint Commission.

Bishop Scarlett was asked to put into writing the Statement he had made at the meeting of the House of Bishops at Pocono Manor. This was mimeographed and sent to the Bishops of the Church, as well as to the Church Press.

The Joint Commission voted to memorialize General Convention to drop Canon 18, Sec. 2 (d).
A third meeting was held, following the adjournment of the House of Bishops at Sewanee, Tennessee, on September 18, 1957.

Various suggested Canons were considered; and questions which had been asked by members of the Joint Commission, voted on and answered.

At this time, Bishop Lawrence submitted his resignation as Chairman of the Joint Commission, in view of his resignation as a diocesan; and Bishop Kirchhoffer was elected Chairman in his place.

A fourth meeting was held in New York City on Wednesday, March 26, 1958.

Every communication with suggestions as to changes was considered and acted upon, but the most important business accomplished was the following:

Bishop Bayne read his Statement which the Sewanee meeting of the Commission requested him to draw up, to be used at Lambeth unofficially with the report as requested by the House of Bishops. It was the consensus of the members present that it was the best analysis and explanation of our Marriage Canons which has yet been made, and after thorough discussion and editing the meeting adopted it, ordering that it be made an appendix to the Commission's Report to General Convention, and Bishop Bayne was requested to have sufficient copies of it printed to send to each member of the Lambeth Conference and to distribute to all members of General Convention. (Statement attached).

The Chairman reported on the Standardized Form of Application which the Sewanee meeting requested him to compile and circulate among the bishops. He reported that it had been well received. He was requested to submit it to one or more of the Church publishing houses for publication, designating that it had been prepared by this Commission.

The Chairman was requested to organize a workshop on Bishop Bayne's "Case Book", to take place early during the Convention (the first or second day). It aroused such interest at Sewanee, but there was not sufficient time to make an adequate presentation then.

Resolutions

Based on information gathered through hearings at the Provincial Synods, the questionnaires submitted to the diocesan bishops, and the replies made by representative "bishops, scholars, priests, chancellors, etc." in preparation of the proposed Statement for presentation to Lambeth, the Joint Commission is still of the opinion that, although there are many objections to the present Marriage Canons, and it is possible that some further editing and changing should be done, that by and large, the bishops and other clergy, and people of the Church wish to continue to use these Canons substantially as they stand, as an expression of the pastoral concern of the Church for all its members—sinners as well as saints—and especially toward those whose marriage for one reason or another has failed to realize the Church's ideal of Christian Marriage as set forth in The Book of Common Prayer. The Commission therefore presents only one resolution as a change in the Canon, having to do with the number of Impediments, which are to be renumbered.
We therefore present the following resolution:

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that Canon 17, Sec. 2 (b), shall be re-numbered, as follows:

1. Consanguinity etc. (to remain as at present)
2. Failure to reach puberty, (to remain as at present)
3. Concurrent contract (to remain as at present)
4. Lack of free will and competent consent on the part of either party (including fraud, duress, mental deficiency or insanity, and such defects of personality as to make such consent impossible).

Other resolutions were voted by the Joint Commission on Holy Matrimony, as follows:

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that Sec. 2 (d) of Canon 18 be deleted.

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that the Third Sunday after the Epiphany be observed as Marriage Renewal Sunday.

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that the Joint Commission on Holy Matrimony be continued.

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that the minimum sum of $2,500.00 be appropriated for the expenses of the Joint Commission on Holy Matrimony for the next triennium.

FINANCIAL REPORT

Attention is called to the totally inadequate allotment made by the last meeting of the Convention for our work. Our membership comes from the West Coast, the South West, the Middle West, the South, and the East, as it should, and the allotment of $300 would not cover the travel expense of half the members for even one meeting. The only way the Commission could carry out its assignments was to arrange gatherings in conjunction with meetings of the House of Bishops, through members paying their own expenses, and through the generosity of the Presiding Bishop and Bishop Lawrence. We earnestly hope that in the future the Committee on Expenses will make an allotment commensurate with the assignments given the Commission. This Commission has been embarrassed and hampered by such thoughtless unreality. The minimum requirement for the next triennium is $2,500.00.

APPENDIX

The Teaching of the Episcopal Church with Respect to Holy Matrimony

(A Statement adopted by the Joint Commission on Holy Matrimony, March 26, 1958, to accompany Canons 16-18, for presentation and discussion at the Lambeth Conference.)

The doctrine and discipline of Holy Matrimony in the Episcopal Church is contained chiefly in the Book of Common Prayer and in Canons 16, 17 and 18. The form of Solemnization of Matrimony parallels other Anglican forms, and expresses the general line of Anglican doctrine. In particular, the vows exchanged by the two persons are clear statements of what we hold to be Christ's doctrine of marriage—"I take thee... to have and to hold from this day forward, for better for worse, for richer for poorer, in sickness and in health, to love and to cherish, till death us do part, according to God's holy ordinance; and thereto I plight (or give) thee my troth."
Every person desiring to marry in the Church must also sign the following declaration (Canon 17) which expresses the Church's teaching even more fully:

"We, . . . and . . ., desiring to receive the blessing of Holy Matrimony in the Church, do solemnly declare that we hold marriage to be a lifelong union of husband and wife as it is set forth in the Form of Solemnization of Holy Matrimony in the Book of Common Prayer. We believe it is for the purpose of mutual fellowship, encouragement, and understanding, for the procreation (if it may be) of children, and their physical and spiritual nurture, for the safeguarding and benefit of society. And we do engage ourselves, so far as in us lies, to make our utmost effort to establish this relationship and to seek God's help thereto."

Thus, the teaching of the Episcopal Church follows, in basic structure, classic Western moral theology. The ministers of the marriage are the husband and wife, who freely enter into a lifelong contract into which they are competent to enter, and receive God's blessing through His Church as a social and visible witness that their marriage is begun without impediment or doubt, and both requires and will have, if they seek it, God's gracious help in establishing and fulfilling it.

It may be noted, in passing, that the Episcopal Church apparently breaks some new ground, in its statement of the ends or purposes of marriage and the order in which they are stated. The "procreation (if it may be) of children" is not held to be necessarily the primary end of marriage; it is the second of three such ends stated; and it is clear from this ordering that it is not the doctrine of the Episcopal Church that the procreation of children must necessarily override the other purposes expressed in marriage. This reordering of the purposes of marriage has an important bearing on the moral theology of contraception and family planning and of the due relationship of husband and wife.

Canon 17 sets forth that the minister solemnizing a marriage is required to assume responsibility for establishing the civil and ecclesiastical right of the parties to marry. In particular, he is required to establish that none of nine impediments exist. They include (1) a limited consanguinity (extending only to natural parents, siblings, aunts, uncles, nieces and nephews), (2) the traditional impediments to consent, i.e. mistaken identity, mental deficiency, insanity, non-age, fraud and coercion (including undisclosed sexual perversion or venereal disease as a specific form of fraud), and bigamy, (3) a concurrent contract inconsistent with the marriage vow and, finally, (4) "such defects of personality as to make competent or free consent impossible."

The minister must also ascertain that at least one of the parties has been baptized. He must instruct them personally in the nature of Holy Matrimony, requiring them to sign the declaration quoted above. He must have three days' notice of any marriage save for weighty cause, when he may dispense from this requirement on adequate proof of responsibility, in which case he must immediately report the action to the Ecclesiastical Authority. He may decline, at his discretion, to solemnize any marriage; he may not solemnize any marriage except in accordance with the canons; and he must not solemnize any marriage where either party has been the spouse of anyone else now living, except where the Ecclesiastical Authority has specifically permitted it.

Canon 18 contains the provisions governing such permission. In brief, under this canon, any member of the Episcopal Church in good standing may apply for judgment as to marital status, or for permission to marry, despite any previous marriage by either party, regardless of whether the previous spouse is still living, and regardless of the nature or cause of the dissolution of the former marriage. The Ecclesiastical Authority, if satisfied that the parties “intend a true Christian marriage” and that at least a year had elapsed since the final decree of divorce or annulment, may, either personally or through a court, examine the case. If any one of the imped­i­ments is found to exist or to have existed which “manifestly” establishes that “no marriage bond as the same is recognized by this Church exists,” a judgment to that effect may be issued and the marriage may then be solemnized in that jurisdiction, or in any other if the judgment is approved by the Ecclesiastical Authority concerned.

In basic structure, this is “an annulment canon.” The impediments listed are, in the main, the familiar ones—fraud, incompetency, coercion, etc.— which are inescapably impediments wherever the freedom and competence of the parties to a marriage are regarded as essential. Consanguinity, although not an impediment of this character, is clearly forbidden by both natural and divine law. Two new impediments appear, however, which deserve mention. One is a “concurrent contract inconsistent with the contract constituting canonical marriage”, of which examples might be (1) a mutual agreement not to procreate children even though there was no adequate reason for such action, or (2) a mutual agreement to seek divorce after a trial period of married life. This impediment requires little justification where the existence of such an agreement can be established. It could, perhaps, be taken as an instance of mutual fraud.

The second impediment is the much-discussed “defects of personality such as to make competent or free consent impossible.” This ground was developed by the Joint Commission on Holy Matrimony in the draft canon presented in 1946. Although the draft was radically reworked before adoption by the Convention, this impediment was included as presented. It was intended to open new ground, to permit examination of deep-seated emotional disorders and deficiencies as a cause of marital failure. It was the feeling of the Commission in drafting it that freedom and competence to marry were matters profoundly affected not merely by impediments clearly to be established in legal terms, such as insanity or fraud, but also by emotional and psychological impediments which were not susceptible of legal definition at all.

There are no precise tests which can establish such a psychological impediment, (if one exists); and this difficulty has beset both the interpretation and the application of this Canon. Few would deny that such personality defects—in the form of the persistence of infantile patterns of conduct, over-dependence on parents, inability to accept marital responsibilites, and the like—exist. Many more, however, would feel that to establish such defects with certainty is an impossibility (at least in our present stage of psychological knowledge), and that a judgment based on such a ground must necessarily be so subjective and vague as to rob the law of the clarity any honest law requires. Many others, however, feel that it is of great importance for the Church to recognize frankly that such psychological impediments do exist, often manifesting themselves long after the marriage is solemnized, when the tensions of children or of job insecurity and the like take their toll.

Most debated of all the provisions of this canon, however, is the celebrated ambiguity, under which an impediment must be established “to exist or to have existed,” in order for a favorable judgment to be given. At first glance, at least, this ambiguity seemed to cut at the nerve of traditional annulment procedure. On this ground, many bishops will refuse to give favorable judgment except where the impediment can be certainly shown to have existed at the time of marriage. Others have welcomed the flexibility which the phrase grants, since it permits them to deal with personality defects which often are latent at the time of the marriage and only appear later in life. Still others welcome the ambiguity because it permits them, in effect, to apply a doctrine of "spiritual death" (or a variation of it) in place of the traditional, legal, Western procedure of annulment.

Certainly a doctrine of "spiritual death" has a legitimate place in Christian moral theology, although it is not commonly found outside of the Orthodox Churches. It is, however, new in Anglicanism, which has generally followed the "Western" line; and much discussion has been aroused, and much negative criticism as well, because the doctrine seems to some to slip into Canons by ambiguity rather than by frank debate and adoption.

The ambiguity has also given rise to a popular impression that there are two schools of thought among bishops—one loosely called "a legalistic attitude" and the other "a pastoral approach." Actually, no such distinction is valid nor could it be; every judgment under this canon is given by a pastor acting under law, and therefore must of necessity be both pastoral and legal. But the distinction reflects the major difference between those who hold to a strict annulment procedure, and those who prefer a procedure based on a belief in what is traditionally called a doctrine of "spiritual death."

It has been notable that, in practice, there seems to be little difference in the judgments given by bishops, in similar cases, regardless of which school of thought they follow. Comparisons of cases have been made by the Commission, most recently in 1957; and it was clear that applicants would have had much the same answers no matter to which of perhaps 60 or more diocesan bishops they applied.

Other, less celebrated ambiguities also appear in the Canon. The most annoying, apparently, is also the least significant—that is the phrase "in intention lifelong" (Canon 18, Sec. 2 (b)). The interpretation of such a phrase must clearly be governed by the far more sharply defined terms of the pre-marital statement in Canon 17, "a lifelong union of husband and wife as it is set forth in the ... Book of Common Prayer." Thus, the ambiguity seems to be no more than an infelicity of phrase.

More significant, perhaps, is the difficult phrase, "that no marriage bond as the same is recognized by this Church exists." In one sense, this might seem to make each bishop a sole authority for determining the validity of any marriage. In another sense, it simply begs the question. It may be hoped that future Conventions will work to clarify this sentence or else establish more satisfactory criteria for such a judgment.

The canons do not, at any point, now recognize adultery as a sufficient cause per se for either divorce or the remarriage of the "innocent party" following divorce. The reasons for this omission were two-fold. One was the general feeling of the Commission, apparently shared by the Church, that adultery was usually a symptom and only rarely if ever a cause of marital discord. The other was the commonly shared suspicion that the exception in St. Matthew was of most doubtful textual authenticity, and ought not to be recognized in contemporary canon law.

The canons do not bar from the Holy Communion those who divorce. Canon 16, however, states (Section 3 (a)) that the communicant status of any person married otherwise than as the two following Canons permit is in abeyance until the bishop gives judgment; and further states that such marital irregularity is a barrier to Baptism, Confirmation and the Holy Communion, unless the bishop judges otherwise. Provision is made for the quieting of uneasy consciences, by appeal to the bishop by the persons affected as well as by the clergyman.

Finally, although the great bulk of the three Canons refer to the duties of the ministers and bishops, Canon 17 does specifically enjoin obedience on the laity as well. Not only may their marriage be not blessed, but they may not marry except in accordance with the disciplines the Canons establish. Nor may they approach legal action to dissolve a marriage without first bringing their difficulties to a minister, for his efforts at reconciliation.

The principal provisions of the doctrine and discipline of the Episcopal Church with respect to Holy Matrimony have been outlined, and some indication given as to the more debatable, and debated, sections. From this, it should be clear that there is no reluctance on the part of the Episcopal Church to declare its firm adherence to the traditional and Biblical standards of marriage as Christians understand it. There is a considerable measure of dissatisfaction with the present form of our Canons, for the reasons indicated—chiefly that they are imprecise, offer too much latitude of interpretation, rely too much on subjective judgment, and seem to give away with one hand what they claim with the other.

Further criticism might well be made that they do not deal directly with some of the most pressing marital situations, such as that of the adult convert, who comes later in life and perhaps after one or more unsuccessful marital experiments, to a working faith, or to the still deeper and more troubling situation of the growing lack of any real understanding or expectancy of what marriage is and can be. To call the ignorance of a young couple, who have been drenched in secularism all their life, a “concurrent contract inconsistent with the contract constituting canonical marriage” is probably a correct judgment; but it is one difficult to establish, and failing to meet the actual situation of a great multitude of people in our society. A more direct and sharper attack would be welcomed by many.

So too do many look for second thoughts about baptism as a necessary prerequisite for both parties. Most of us would agree in a distaste for baptism under pressure, or enforced by canonical requirements. Yet it is manifestly unfair to expect the fulfillment of Christian standards from those who are not Christians and indeed may not even wish to be.

There is also no little dissatisfaction with the requirement that the minister must himself establish the freedom of applicants for marriage from any of the impediments listed. It is manifestly impossible for any minister, however gifted, to plumb some of the depths suggested by the impediments mentioned in Canon 17; and there is corresponding hope that the consciences of the clergy may be relieved from so sweeping an obligation.

It is, perhaps, unfair to generalize. Yet, it would be agreed by the great majority of the bishops who administer the discipline of the Church, that the present Canons, imperfect as they are, do permit a positive and redemptive approach to the heavy problems of marriage and divorce in our society; that they do permit approximate justice to be done without corroding our witness to Christian standards; and that, perhaps most important of all, they permit the accumulation of a store of experience which will, in due course, enrich and purify our moral theology in this area. This last is, perhaps, the most important function of any canonical legislation.
Six meetings of the Commission have been held during the triennium for the purpose of developing the program outlined by the Commission in its twelfth report to the General Convention of 1955.

Efforts have been made to organize Diocesan Music Commissions by sending letters to all Diocesan Bishops asking their cooperation. To the best of our knowledge 61 Commissions have been formed and are operating. General advice on the music of the Church, lists of publications, records, music and pamphlets are periodically sent to the heads of these commissions with requests to communicate the contents to all of their parishes. In cases where there is no commission, the letters are sent to the Bishop of the Diocese. Some of these commissions are doing excellent work with monthly publications of their own. In fact we learn from them.

The list of some 700 recommended anthems and services has been published since our last report was printed and distributed throughout the country. This is proving very helpful especially to small parishes who do not have professional choirmasters. The numbers are listed according to the church year and graded for the benefit of those training the choirs. Your approval of this list of anthems is requested.

Since our last report was written, Summer Music Schools have been held in Trinity College, Hartford, Conn.; Trinity Church, Columbia, S.C.; and Shattuck School, Faribault, Minn. Approximately 200 organists and choirmasters from many states were enrolled. At these summer schools, each lasting a week, members of the Commission serve as the faculty on a volunteer basis. The concept of the school is one that will authoritatively set forth the standards of good church music, chanting, organ accompaniment, congregational singing, and the relation of music to the worship of the Church. Since it is not designed to compete with existing conferences, it is moved each year to a different locale, according to invitations received. Some of the schools pay for themselves and give a small balance which is used another year in a less populated diocese, which otherwise could not produce enough students to make the work possible. Plans have been made for a school in August, 1958 in Garden City, New York.

The new Columbia Record "Hymns of the Church" made by two New York choirs will be out this summer. It is designed to familiarize choirs and congregations with examples of the fine hymnody gathered from many sources and periods in the 1940 Hymnal.

For some years work has been progressing on "A Handbook of the Music of the Episcopal Church" for church musicians and clergymen which will cover all phases of the music and its place in the service. This book will be of great help to all. It is just about finished and should be available directly after this Convention.

Plans have been started for a revision of "The Choral Service" and additions to the pamphlets on "Wedding Music" and "Funeral Music." There will also be additions to the list of "Service Music and Anthems" before the next General Convention.
The new Supplement to the Service Music of the Hymnal containing three simple Communion Services and a few chants will be available this fall. This will be printed in pamphlet form to be added to Hymnals already purchased. New printings of the Hymnal will contain this supplement.

A revision of the Liturgical Index (Hymns suggested for the Services of the Church Year) and the Topical Index is nearing completion and will be included in the new printings of the Hymnal.

Due to the increase in the demands of time put upon the members of the Commission and due to the fact that the Bishops are usually too busy to give much of their time to the work of the Commission, it is the belief among the members that more could be accomplished by a change in the membership of the Commission; two bishops, four clergymen, six organists, instead of the present membership of four bishops, four clergymen and four organists.

The widely scattered membership of the Commission causes a large travel expense for each meeting, nearly $800.00. If all members came to all meetings it would cost $4,800.00. The attendance is between nine and eleven and runs the expense account well over the $1,500.00 allotted for the three years work. If it were not for the royalty from the publications and the surplus from some of the summer schools, the work could not be continued as in the past.

We submit the following resolutions:

Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that the thirteenth report of the Joint Commission on Church Music be accepted.

Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that the Joint Commission on Church Music be continued, to consist of two Bishops, four Presbyters, and six laymen who are church organists.

Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that the sum of $3,500.00 be appropriated to the Joint Commission on Church Music for its work during the next triennium.

Bishop Sherrill, Right Reverend Fathers in God, Members of the House of Deputies, Ladies and Gentlemen:

As this will be my last appearance before you as Treasurer of the Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, I should like to take this opportunity to say what a great privilege I consider it to have had the honor of occupying that office for the last seven years. More important perhaps, and the most rewarding phase of the job has been the friendships that I have enjoyed with so many of the dedicated men and women, both clerical and lay, throughout the Church. I was going to say both high and low, meaning from the Presiding Bishop down, but it occurred to me that "high" and "low" might be given a connotation I did not intend. Although the job comes to an end, the friendships are permanent.

It will be my purpose in this report to point out some of the things that have been accomplished from a financial or material point of view during the time that Bishop Sherrill has been Presiding Bishop.

On January 1, 1947, the Right Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill, D.D., became Presiding Bishop. The Annual Report of the National Council for 1946 contained two vital financial statistics that are set forth below—at the time of his accession—compared to the corresponding figures for the year in which he retires as Presiding Bishop.

The budget income in 1946 was $2,755,036, whereas in 1958 it was over $7,050,041. The market value of the Trust Funds in the same period increased from $14,727,149 to $23,385,135.

The Annual Report for 1957 with all its detailed figures has had fairly wide distribution, but in case you do not have a copy, extra ones are available.

Seabury House

In 1947 we acquired Seabury House as the National Conference and Hospitality Center for the entire Church. The property was purchased with generous gifts from more than 500 Episcopalians. In addition to the Conference Center, Seabury House furnishes a home for the Presiding Bishop and six other officers of the National Council. There is an endowment fund at the present time of more than $300,000, which will insure the continuance of this Church Center. Quoted from the By-laws, the object of the corporation is as follows:

"To encourage, develop and promote the performance of the religious work of the Protestant Episcopal Churches in Connecticut and elsewhere by providing the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America with an appropriate centre for conference and meetings of the clerical and lay members of the Church and a residence or residences for its officiating clergymen and particularly the Presiding Bishop."
During the year 1957, 84 meetings were held at Seabury House with more than 4,000 persons in attendance, and there were 11,700 meals served to these conferees. The House is supported by income from the Endowment Fund, the General Convention, residents, conference guests, and gifts. The National Council has no capital investment in Seabury House.

The Episcopal Church Foundation

Bishop Sherrill, with the approval of the General Convention at San Francisco in 1949, established The Episcopal Church Foundation as a laymen's organization for the purpose of securing special gifts and for the administration of those gifts beyond the regular Church budget.

Since that time, over $3,300,000. have been given to The Episcopal Church Foundation.

Part of the money has been designated for The Seabury Press, for the Good Shepherd Mission, Fort Defiance, Ariz., for training of seminarians, for urban church work, for seminaries and elsewhere. The major portion has been for the Revolving Loan Fund through which, in 1957 for example, loans have been made to more than 45 dioceses for more than 60 parishes or missions for necessary construction work. In every case, these loans made by The Episcopal Church Foundation have been the final amount after dioceses, parishes and missions have done all they possibly could for themselves.

Eventually, The Episcopal Church Foundation will be one of the great monuments to Bishop Sherrill.

Emergency Loan Fund

The Emergency Loan Fund was established by action of the National Council from funds raised through the Reconstruction and Advance Fund set aside for work in China. As these funds could not be used for the purpose for which they were originally raised, the sum of $1,500,000. was set aside for this Fund.

This Fund, which has loaned a total of $2,716,100., has been distributed among 52 dioceses as of April 30, 1958. We estimate that $5.17 worth of construction has been done for each dollar loaned, which would mean that the total construction costs sparked by these loans were $14,042,237.

Construction Loan Fund

The National Council authorized the sum of $130,000. to be used as equity for bank loans by special arrangements to the parish. This Fund was established in order to aid parishes to build immediately upon completion of a building campaign. The bank makes loans on building fund pledges for a period of one to three years. This fund has been a great help to the Church in that buildings were not delayed in construction until all pledges, usually on a two or three year basis, were collected.

Tucker House

To provide adequate quarters for the increased activities of the National Council's operations, a building in Greenwich, Conn., was purchased in the spring of 1951, and the Department of Christian Education was moved to the newly acquired building. Funds for the purchase and alterations, amounting to $213,219.36, were provided from budget surplus. At the October, 1951 meeting of the National Council, a resolution was adopted officially naming the building, "Tucker House," in honor of the Right Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, D.D., who served as Presiding Bishop of the Church and as President of the National Council from January 1, 1938 to December 31, 1946.

The Seabury Press

The October, 1951 meeting of the National Council adopted a resolution authorizing the establishment of a publishing house, to be known as The Seabury Press, Inc., an agency of the Department of Christian Education. Funds to operate this new agency were provided by loans from the National Council and special gifts of generous friends through The Episcopal Church Foundation, and The Seabury Press is now a successful publishing house operating at a profit.

Builders for Christ

At the 1953 meeting of the House of Bishops held in Williamsburg, Va., the first presentation of the plans for the Capital Funds Campaign, known as "Builders For Christ" was made. A goal of $4,150,000. was set, and the total sum of $4,475,000. was raised.

Church School Missionary Offering

At the last General Convention it was decided that the Church School Missionary Offering be used as it was originally meant to be, as a special for work above and beyond the regular program for capital expenditures. The result is that in the last two years a little less than $1,000,000. has been spent from this source for capital needs in our missionary fields at home and abroad. A detailed report of these expenditures is available.

Reserve Fund

In order to protect the Society against any operating deficiencies that may occur in the future, the National Council at the April, 1957 meeting, adopted a resolution creating a Reserve Fund of $1,000,000. Funds for this purpose were created by transfer from Undesignated Legacies and Reserve for Contingencies.

I would like to remind you that the 1934 General Convention passed the following resolution:

"Resolved. That in case it later becomes evident that actual receipts will fall short of the budget total, the National Council shall under no circumstances incur debt to meet the shortage but shall make such reduction in appropriations as may be necessary to bring them within expected receipts reduced by a reasonable factor of safety."

This very wise directive leaves the National Council no alternative to reducing the budget across the board to the extent that the dioceses report “Expectations” less than their respective assigned quotas. But then there still remains the possibility that Expectations might not be realized. Notwithstanding recent favorable experience in this connection, it was with that possibility in mind that we have this reserve fund of $1,000,000, so that we would have some place to go in the event of a catastrophe. Personally, I do not think that this is a nearly adequate cushion for an operation of the magnitude of the work of the National Church. On a parish level, in the case of financial emergency, there may be wealthy parishioners from whom aid can be enlisted, but on a national level I know of no such potential “angels.”

Therefore, I believe that we should have a reserve fund of at least twice the size of the present one. I admit that this amount must be a matter of judgment. It should be borne in mind, however, that this reserve fund is not sterile money but is invested and the income used for the work of the Church. I might also mention that to the extent that we can stimulate additions to the trust funds, the income therefrom can be used for the work of the Church and toward offsetting increased capital requirements.

Trust Funds

You may be interested to know that our Trust Funds celebrated their 100th anniversary last year, having been initiated in 1857 with a principal of $25,000, which still appears as Fund No. 1, The Jane Bohlen Fund, in our present list of 697 different funds.

Approximately 60 per cent of the annual income from trust funds is credited to budget receipts. Thirty-seven per cent is used for missionary work in the Home and Overseas Departments and for institutions outside of the budget, and 3 per cent is added to the principal of funds as directed by the terms of the fund.

The number of trust funds has increased from 679 separate funds as of December 31, 1955 to 695 as of December 31, 1957. The book value of the funds as of December 31, 1955 amounted to $18,544,250.60 with a market value of $24,333,019.00, and as of December 31, 1957 the principal of the funds amounted to $19,322,684.80 with a market value of $23,385,135.00.

Among the trust funds there are a total of 74 individual funds, the income of which is designated for work at various institutions in China. As we were unable to use the annual income for the purposes designated, the National Council directed that the income should accumulate and be invested. The National Council also directed the Treasurer’s office, through our General Counsel, to institute a proceeding in the Supreme Court of the State of New York to invoke the application of the cy pres doctrine to the accumulated income and current income of these funds. On December 6, 1956, the court issued an order approving the Society’s petition and authorized it, until such time as conditions in China should permit the resumption of work on the mainland of China, to apply such income for work among the Chinese of the dispersion and people of Chinese ancestry wherever they may be.

In 1957 we withdrew from the principal of the trust funds over $230,000 of accumulated income on these China funds which has been made available among the Chinese of the Dispersion in accordance with the court action.
In addition, in 1957, the principal of Fund No. 601, designated for the Bishop Payne Divinity School and amounting to $192,000, was withdrawn and a check sent for that amount to the Protestant Episcopal Theological Seminary in Virginia in accordance with a resolution of the National Council.

In the years 1955 through 1957, legacies totaling nearly $2,000,000. were received, of which $1,266,264.54 were undesignated, $153,908.45 designated for work within the budget, and $437,851.68 designated for definite purposes.

Re-examination of Operation of Departments

Under date of September 9, 1955, the Joint Committee on Program and Budget made the following statement:

"We recognize that we have among our officials in the National Council and its Departments men of wide experience and great skill. Nevertheless in view of the growth of the work of the National Council we wonder whether it might not be exceedingly valuable to re-examine the operation of our various Departments. We believe there is evidence of need for more extensive job analysis, for closer relationship between various diocesan officials and officials of the National Council, for additional man power in key positions and for closer supervisory relationships where large appropriations or cooperating agencies and activities are involved."

As pointed out in my report to the General Convention of 1952, we conducted then and have been running what might be called a continuous review of our operations ever since with the aid and advice of our outside auditors, Price Waterhouse & Co. Many changes in the interest of economy and efficiency have been and are being effected.

Some of the additional things that have been done since the last Convention include the appointment of a Traveling Auditor for Overseas Missionary Districts. Surveys were also made by the Unit of Research and Field Study of The Church Army and Brent House, and a series of management studies were undertaken.

In view of the very rapid expansion of the activities of the Department of Christian Education, the Right Rev. Walter H. Gray, the Chairman of that Department, requested the firm of McKinsey & Company, Inc., Management Consultants, to make a review of the operations of the Department of Christian Education.

Their report under date of October 4, 1957 was most constructive and most of the suggestions contained therein have been adopted. In order to have a similar review of the operations of the entire National Council, McKinsey & Company were engaged to review all the other Departments and provided us with a report under date of April 14, 1958, containing many constructive suggestions, some of which have been and many of which I hope will be adopted. This report has been distributed to the members of the National Council and the members of the Joint Committee on Program and Budget.

Housing National Headquarters

I would like to point out that while the acquisition of Tucker House was a temporary expedient to house the rapidly expanding Department of Christian Education, one of the major problems of the National Church is the need for additional office space to conduct its operations. The Presiding Bishop appointed a committee which has made careful study of this subject and has reported from time to time to the National Council. Presumably the new administration will appoint a committee to follow through in this connection. As you know, our business operations are now conducted from 281 Fourth Avenue, New York, a warehouse on East 23rd Street, New York, Tucker House in Greenwich, Conn., and various agencies are housed in various parts of the city. As pointed out in the McKinsey report, the efficient and economical operations of the National Church could best be accomplished if all of its business activities are under one roof.

Clerical Salaries

Those of you who were present at the last General Convention may remember that I said, among other things, "we should adjust our sights to a higher level of salary . . . for the gentlemen of the cloth who are devoting their lives to the work of our Church from the Presiding Bishop down through the ranks of bishops and other clergy to the most humble curate or missionary. We laymen realize, of course, that these men did not go into the Church for material rewards, but we should not lose track of the fact that with a few, and a very few exceptions, they are notoriously underpaid. As practical businessmen, we should recognize that no one can do his best and most effective work if he is faced with economic and financial personal problems."

I would like to close this, my valedictory, with the comment that in the case of the highest and most exalted office in our Church, namely the Presiding Bishop, in my opinion, the financial remuneration he receives now is a blot on the escutcheon of our great Church. A top executive officer with all his great responsibilities, he receives in salary and allowances a sum less than some clergymen receive and less than some members of the House of Bishops. Certainly, the Presiding Bishop's emolument should be materially increased to make it have some adequate relationship to the dignity, the duties, and the responsibility of that great office—the highest in the Church.

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMISSION TO STUDY THE PROVINCIAL SYSTEM

The General Convention of 1955, meeting in Honolulu, created the Joint Commission to Study the Provincial System; which Commission herewith presents its report to the General Convention of 1958.

As the result of surveys, conferences and discussions with Church leaders and in several of the Synods, it became evident that one of the basic needs of the Church in dealing with this subject is to have a definite statement of the purpose of the Province. There seems to be a lack of understanding on the part of both the clergy and laity. Hence one of the first tasks which we assumed was to determine, if possible, the answer to this question; for upon the answer would rest the decision of the Commission to recommend either the continuance or the elimination of the Provincial System.

It is our considered opinion that the following reasons offer the most adequate answer to the question:

1. The Province constitutes a manageable area in which the several dioceses and missionary districts may look to a central body through which the common interests of the member groups may be discussed and dealt with. The common interests of the South, for example, differ today from those of other areas of our country; but there are also differing needs between New England and the Pacific Coast.

2. The tremendous growth of the Church since the creation of "The Presiding Bishop and the National Council" makes imperative the existence of an intermediary group between the Council, on the one hand, and the 102 dioceses and missionary districts, on the other, that the "grass roots" point of view of more than 8,000 parishes and missions may be known to and understood by the central executive body. Under existing conditions liaison between the Council and the parishes, dioceses and missionary districts with reference to matters of budget, program and certain other administrative functions is almost impossible. Proper use of the Provinces would extend the effectiveness of the National Council officers. They need the counsel and help of men in the field, who, day by day, do the work of the Church at the parish and diocesan level. The Province can really serve the Church when the officers of the National Council will discuss, in the formative stages, the program they are projecting for the welfare of the Church.
3. It is the opinion of the Commission that the definite delegation of certain duties and responsibilities to the Provincial Synods would give them adequate reason for their existence and would greatly strengthen the acceptance and program of the General Convention.

The Provinces of the American Church were created as areas in which the missionary work of the Church could be furthered by stimulating interest and gaining support. The first suggestion was for seven areas with one or more salaried field officers and the choice of seven district secretaries who should work without pay in the interests of the missionary program. Later an eighth area was created with the same purpose in mind. A quick glance at the map of the Provincial System will demonstrate to and convince anyone that, as they stand, these areas present serious difficulties for effective cooperation and certainly in some areas do not have a community of interests. It is our opinion that there is serious need for the realignment of the present Provinces and the creation of additional ones in the interests of economy of both time and money as well as the development of the community of interests.

Canon 4, Sec. 6(a), governing Program, Budgets and Apportionment provides:

"In connection with the preparation of such budget the National Council shall, at least fifteen months before the session of the General Convention, transmit to the President of each Province, a statement of its existing appropriations for the Dioceses and Missionary Districts within such Province, showing the items for which such appropriations are expended, for the purpose of obtaining the advice of the Province as to changes therein. The Synod, or Council, of each Province shall thereupon, in such manner as the Synod shall determine, consider such budget and report its findings to the National Council for its information. After the preparation of the budget the National Council shall, at least four months before the session of General Convention, transmit to the Bishop of each Diocese and Missionary District a statement of the existing and proposed appropriations for all items in the budget." (Italics ours).

It is the opinion of the Commission that what is really needed is an opportunity for each Province, as such, to have knowledge of the program and budget proposed for the succeeding triennium previous to the meeting of General Convention. The Province, either through a special meeting of the Synod or by reference to the Provincial Council, or by a meeting of the Clerical and Lay Deputies elected to General Convention, would thus have an opportunity to consider the Program and Budget; and have time to consider the proposals of the National Council relative to the whole program of the Church. We therefore recommend that Canon 4 be amended to require such action.

While our Presiding Bishops have admirably fulfilled the ever increasing duties of their office, we can no longer close our eyes to the fact that the task of the Presiding Bishop is enormous. One of its most wearing aspects is officiating at the consecration of bishops. The structure of the Provincial System offers a means by which some of the burden can be relieved. We are this year electing a new Presiding Bishop and in our opinion this provides the logical time to make a change which will eliminate some of the burden of the office and at the same time give greater importance and purpose to the Provinces. We therefore are proposing that Canon 39 be amended to permit any President of any Province to take order for the consecration of a bishop elected for any work within the Province. This does not prevent any bishop-elect from asking for any other bishops whom he may desire to have officiate at his consecration.

The Commission also believes that the Province should have more representation upon the National Council. We therefore recommend that each Province be allowed two representatives; one of whom shall, ex officio, be the Provincial president. In this connection we feel that the General Convention might well take canonical action to provide that the Presiding Bishop take counsel with the President Bishops of the Provinces immediately prior to the meeting of the National Council at which programs are to be formulated and budgets established, or at any such time as he may designate.

We respectfully call attention to the missionary activity in the Second Province where an effort is being made to acquaint the dioceses, parishes and missions with the work being done in the Caribbean area. Through the visits of the bishops and the president of the Provincial Auxiliary first hand information of the needs and opportunities in that mission field are being made known and, in several instances, have been met by the churchmen of that Province.

We believe that the Personnel Information Service being organized in the First Province under the direction of the Rt. Rev. W. Appleton Lawrence, is another area in which the Provincial system can be helpful. A two year pilot project has been undertaken to meet the needs of parishes and clergymen when changes occur. This is not a "placement bureau"; it is a service and not a mere registry. A special committee from the Synod is working with Bishop Lawrence and it is understood that, if the project proves successful, it will be taken over by Province I as one of its functions.

We also call the attention of the Provinces to the various types of programs being developed in several areas of the Church and suggest that an exchange of Journals and other printed material might prove mutually helpful.

During the triennium the Commission lost the services of the Very Rev. Clarence R. Haden who resigned from the Commission following his election as bishop coadjutor of Sacramento. The Rev. Thomas R. Carson, S.T.D., of the Diocese of Dallas, was appointed to fill the vacancy.

In conclusion we offer the following resolutions and move their adoption:

Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that the Joint Commission to Study the Provincial System be continued with instruction to report a plan for the realignment of the Provinces and the creation of new provinces to the next General Convention.

Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that Canon 4 Sec. 6 (a) be amended as follows: In line 10 following the word "Province" substitute: "a copy of its proposed Program and Budget for the next triennium for the purpose of obtaining the advice of the Province as to changes therein. The Province, by such means as it shall determine, shall thereupon study the proposed program and budget and shall report its findings to the National Council in time for consideration at the spring meeting of that body. After the National Council has acted upon the suggestions from the Provinces, it shall at least four months . . .

Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that Canon 39 Sec. 1 (b) be amended to read: Line 6: . . . notify the President of the Province of which the Diocese electing is a part, and said President shall take order for the consecration, being assisted by two other Bishops of this Church. The consecration may be by any three bishops of this Church to whom the President of the Province may communicate the testimonials.

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that Canon 2, Sec. 4 be amended to read: (After the comma, Line 2) "And shall receive consents of the Bishops and of the Standing Committees to the election of any Priest of this church as Bishop, and upon receipt of the consents from a majority of the Bishops having jurisdiction in this Church and the Standing Committees shall notify the President of the Province who shall then take order for the consecration of said Priest or shall delegate, upon request, a Bishop of this Church to act as consecrator.

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that a new section, to be number Section 10, be added to Canon 8 and that the present Section 10 be numbered Section 11. Section 10 to read: "Whenever the General Convention shall appoint a Joint Commission, each and every such Joint Commission shall report its findings and proposed recommendations to each Province of the Church prior to the first day of September in the year preceding each triennial meeting of General Convention. Each Province, on the receipt of the proposed Joint Commission reports shall study them either in its Synod or in its Council or by a Special Committee of the Province, if such are established by the Province; and report their findings and recommendations to each Joint Commission not later than January first of the year in which the Joint Commissions are to present their reports at General Convention.

Resolved, That the sum of $2,400.00 be designated for the expenses of this Commission during the next triennium.

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMITTEE TO STUDY THE APPORTIONMENT OF QUOTAS

This Committee appointed under a resolution of the General Convention of 1955, first met at the Church Missions House in New York, May 23-25, 1956.

In addition to the Bishop of South Dakota, who acted as Convener, there were present the Very Rev. David de L. Scovil, D.D., of Los Angeles, the Rev. Canon Ralph D. Read, S.T.D., of Connecticut, Mrs. John W. Gregg of Minnesota, and Mr. Howard T. Tellepsen of Texas. The Bishop of Tennessee was unable to attend.

The committee organized by the election of the Bishop of South Dakota as Chairman, Mr. John W. Gregg as Vice Chairman, and the Rev. Canon Ralph D. Read, S.T.D., as Secretary.

At the 1955 General Convention, Mr. Theodor Oxholm of New York called attention to the improvement in the record of giving by the Dioceses and Missionary Districts for the program of the National Council of the Church since the adoption of the present plan of apportionment by the General Convention of 1952 and offered the following resolution:

"Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that in the apportionment of quotas for the next triennium, the National Council be instructed to use such 'weights' in making calculations as shall have the effect of reducing the spread between percentages levied on dioceses having small average parochial current expenses, by approximately the same percentage as was effected by the change in 'weights' approved by the convention in 1952."

The Special Committee on the Apportionment of Quotas to which the above resolution was referred reported to the Convention that, "In view of the many complications, both technical and otherwise, involved in the apportionment of quotas to the Dioceses and Missionary Districts of the sum needed to carry out the work and program of the National Council of the Church, and in the light of the equities and results accomplished during the past triennium through the actions taken by the General Convention of 1952 in making certain changes in the mathematical formula used in determining said apportionments, as recommended by a Joint Committee of the Convention appointed by the previous Convention (1949) to study and report on the whole matter; and further,

"With the time limitations necessarily imposed upon not only a special Committee of this Convention, but indeed, the Convention itself, to do justice to a problem so complex and of such magnitude during the sessions of the Convention:

"The Committee, therefore, offers the following substitute resolution:

"Resolved, The House of Bishops concurring, that a Joint Committee of the General Convention be appointed, consisting of two Bishops, two Presbyters, and two laymen, to give further study to the whole matter of apportionment of quotas during the next triennium, and submit its report to the National Council, Provinces, Dioceses and Missionary Districts, at least one year prior to the next General Convention; and further, that the sum of $2,000.00 be appropriated from the funds of General Convention to defray the expenses of the said Committee."

This substitute resolution was adopted and the aforesaid Committee appointed.
To assist the Committee in the study, Mr. James E. Whitney, Assistant Treasurer of the National Council, at the request of Bishop Gesner, had sent to each member, prior to the initial meeting of the committee, a great amount of pertinent material including the following:

1. A listing of several Convention actions since the establishment of the National Council.
2. Report of the Joint Committee to Study the Apportionment of Quotas—1952.
3. The Quota Study prepared in 1951 by the Finance Department and submitted to the General Convention.
4. The Plan of Apportionment approved by the National Council and submitted to the General Convention of 1952.
5. General Church Plans of Apportionment of Quotas 1952.
6. How the 1956 Quota for the General Church Program is Figured.
7. General Church Program—Quota Payment study.
8. Trends in Giving.

Mr. Whitney and Mr. Lindley M. Franklin, Jr., Assistant Treasurer of the National Council, met with the Committee and provided additional statistical data and background information as it was requested. Mr. H. M. Addinsell, Treasurer of the National Council, and Dr. Lewis B. Franklin, former Treasurer, were also helpful in appearing before the Committee to answer questions of a technical nature.

Following the first meeting of the Committee, the Secretary notified the Bishop and Treasurer of every Diocese and Missionary District of the Committee's deliberations, its plans for a second meeting at the Church Missions House, May 23-24, 1957, its hope of receiving comments and suggestions, and its readiness to hold hearings. In response, communications were received and studied from the following Dioceses and Missionary Districts: Albany, Bethlehem, Los Angeles, Louisiana, Maryland, New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, the Philippines, South Florida, Southern Ohio, Western Massachusetts and Western New York.

The Rev. George F. O'Pray, Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Diocese of Western New York, and Mr. Theodor Oxholm, Treasurer, and Mr. Harrison Fiddesof, Chairman of the Department of Promotion of the Diocese of New York, appeared in person before the Committee at its second meeting, explained various difficulties faced by their respective dioceses and offered several suggestions.

The following matters were discussed by the Committee in varying detail during its meetings:

1. Consideration was given to the suggestion that clergy salaries be omitted from the list of current expenses from which the quota base is determined, in order to encourage the provision of more adequate salaries for the clergy. Information provided by The Church Pension Fund on this subject revealed that the total clergy salaries paid in 1956 exceeded $35,000,000, or approximately six times the total National Church budget. A complete re-thinking of the manner of computing assessments would have to be evolved if this figure were to be deleted.

2. The question of making modifications in expense items, such as heat, for certain sections of the country were discussed. It was found that such items in one section were offset by the cost of other items, for instance, air conditioning, in other sections, and that any such modifications were impractical and on the whole not justifiable.
3. Careful consideration was given to the possibility of using income rather than disbursements as a basis upon which to figure the apportionments. The conclusion was reached that such a plan would present many problems in securing uniform and accurate figures, and that no real gain in equity would evolve.

4. In light of the fact that the purchasing power of the dollar has so greatly decreased since 1920 when the present classifications used in figuring the apportionments were set up, consideration was given to the possibility of proposing a change that would bring them more in line with today's financial situation.

Tables showing the effect of possible changes in the classifications, and also in the use of income rather than disbursements as a base, for figuring quotas, revealed that by and large the changes thus produced were so small that the present method for figuring apportionments seems to be completely adequate.

5. The Committee pondered the problem of the metropolitan Dioceses, especially those in the Second Province, which are having difficulty in meeting their quotas. The conclusion was reached that this is a problem which must be wrestled with on a diocesan level. It is not likely that much further relief can come from changes in the method of apportionment since the present system is working so well in the Church at large.

6. The Committee was greatly impressed with the improvements which have evolved from the changes adopted in the method of apportionment adopted by the Convention of 1952 and the fact that never before has the National Council of the Church come so near raising the full quota.

The Treasurer of the National Council reported to the Committee that whereas in 1950, 33 Dioceses and Missionary Districts failed to meet their quotas as assigned, in 1956 only 14 failed to meet their quotas in full. In 1956, 96.8% of the Assigned Quotas, were met, as compared with 86.5% in 1950.

These facts seem to indicate that the present method of apportionment of quotas is equitable and practical. In support of this conclusion the committee received the following resolution passed by the Executive Council of the Diocese of Maryland on March 11, 1957:

"Resolved, By the Executive Council of the Diocese of Maryland, that Bishop Powell and Mr. Waters, the Treasurer of the Diocese of Maryland, should express to the General Convention Joint Committee on the Study of the Apportionment of Quotas, an approval of the existing method of apportionment used by the National Council, and request that it be retained and applied to the Budget to be approved by the next General Convention."

7. The importance of securing a complete and accurate report of all income and disbursements for parish purposes was also discussed with special attention to Item K in the Parochial Report Form which as the record of the total disbursements of the parish for current expenses serves as the quota base. The Committee believes that all monies collected within the parish expense items should be disbursed through the parish treasurer and be included in his report. The Committee has in mind such things as church school and altar guild funds handled by treasurers whose accounts are separate from that of the parish treasurer; also guilds or clubs whose income provides the salary of a curate, director of religious education, or some other member of the parish staff.

Due to the current interest in many sections of our Church in the plan of proportionate giving, considerable time and thought were given to this
The Committee believes and recommends that further study be given through the Church to the stirring facts of the Church's mission at home and abroad, to the duty and privilege of tithing, and to other forms of proportionate giving as the primary expression of our stewardship. If we are true to our calling ultimately the day should come when from the level of the parish, the diocese, and the Church at large, we will have a consecrated people concerned not with formulas and quotas but with bringing the Good News of Christ's Love and Peace to God's children everywhere.

As a result of its study the Committee unanimously recommends the adoption of the following resolutions:

WHEREAS, The Joint Committee to Study the Apportionment of Quotas is concerned with the methods and techniques developed for the Church by General Convention for raising the budget authorized by General Convention; and

WHEREAS, The National Council, in determining Quotas for the several Dioceses and Missionary Districts, is governed under Canon 4 by methods prescribed by General Convention; and

WHEREAS, The Joint Committee to Study the Apportionment of Quotas finds that the present system is in most instances fair and equitable if all Dioceses and Missionary Districts operate on the same basis; therefore be it Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that for the next triennium the 'Current Expenses' of each Diocese and Missionary District in the Continental U. S. for a three year period (i.e., the last three years available) be continued as the primary basis for determining its apportionment and that the present mathematical formula, which includes weights of 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12, be used in making the calculations.

Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that a simpler method of reporting comprehensive parochial expenses be established so as to determine more accurately and uniformly the total amount of current expenses for computing quotas, and that more detailed instruction be provided with the Parochial Report Form in explanation of the items of parochial expenses used in determining the quota base.

INDEX

N.B.—All serial numbers prior to 19085 are to the Priesthood. The names of Bishops are in capitals, and the letter "S" after their serial numbers indicates the number comes from the list as given by the Rev. Dr. William Samuel Slack. Capital letters before and after a serial number are used for those ordained in Foreign Jurisdictions; and small letters indicate a name inserted, for various reasons, after the basic numbering. No number following a name signifies that such name may be found under the heading of Suspensions, Depositions, or Restorations.

SERVICES AND DEVOTIONS

I. As an indication of our humble dependence upon the Word and Spirit of God, and following the example of Primitive Councils, a copy of the Holy Scriptures shall always be reverently placed in view at all meetings of this House.

II. On each day of the Session of the House, the meeting shall be opened with prayer and the reading of the Holy Scriptures.

III. At the hour of noon on each day of the Session, there shall be a short devotional service, including prayers for Missions and other appropriate prayers.

IV. The daily session of the House shall be closed with the Benediction pronounced by the Bishop presiding.

V. At every session of the House of Bishops there shall be a daily celebration of the Holy Communion at such time and place as the Presiding Bishop or Vice Chairman of the House shall appoint.

VI. Preceding the balloting for the election of a Missionary Bishop, or on the proposed transfer of a Missionary Bishop from one District to another, there shall be a celebration of the Holy Communion, with a special prayer for the guidance of the Holy Spirit.

VII. The opening service of the General Convention and selection of the preacher shall be in charge of the Presiding Bishop, the Vice Chairman of the House of Bishops, and the Bishop of the Diocese wherein the Convention is to be held. The sermon shall be delivered by the Presiding Bishop, unless he shall elect to appoint some other Bishop as Preacher.

FIRST DAY OF SESSION

I. The House of Bishops shall meet for business at such time and place as shall have been duly notified by the Presiding Bishop, or the Vice Chairman of the House, to the members of this House, and shall be called to order by the Presiding Bishop or the Chairman, or, in their absence, by the Senior Bishop present.

II. The House shall then proceed to elect by ballot a Secretary. He shall continue in office until the triennial Convention following his election. With the approval of the Presiding Officer, the Secretary may then, or later, appoint an Assistant Secretary.

III. The roll of members shall be called by the Secretary. On the second and third days the Secretary shall call the names of those only who were not present on the preceding day or days, omitting those whose absence has been excused or accounted for. After the third day the roll shall not be called unless by the order of the House.

The minutes of the last meeting shall then be read by the Secretary and acted upon by the House. Such reading may be dispensed with by a majority vote of the House.
IV. Bishops appearing in the House for the first time after their Consecration shall then be presented to the President by one or more Bishops who took part in their Consecration; or in the absence of such Bishops, by one or more other Bishops.

V. The Presiding Bishop shall then announce, without word or comment, the fact and the date of the death of any members who have passed away since the last preceding meeting; after which he shall lead the House in prayer.

VI. The House shall then proceed to elect by ballot a Vice Chairman of the House, who in the absence of the Presiding Bishop, or at his request, shall be the presiding officer of the House. He shall continue in office until the triennial General Convention following his election. He shall be eligible for re-election at such General Convention, but shall not be eligible for subsequent re-election except after an interval of at least three years.

VII. As soon as the House shall have been organized by the election of its Secretary and Vice Chairman, it shall be the duty of the Presiding Officer to instruct the Secretary to communicate to the House of Deputies the fact of its organization, and that it is ready to proceed to business.

IV. On the days when the House of Bishops is expected to meet with the House of Deputies and others in Joint Session, the first order of business shall be the consideration of such matters as the Committee on Dispatch of Business shall report as urgently demanding attention. Then shall follow consideration of messages from the House of Deputies not disposed of, reports from Standing Committees, and other business for which time shall remain. If the Joint Session shall adjourn before the customary hour for adjournment of the House of Bishops, the House shall resume its sitting. Any part of this rule may be suspended by a majority vote.

V. The Secretary shall keep a Calendar of Business, on which shall be placed in the order in which they are presented, reports of Committees, resolutions which lie over, and other matters undisposed of, indicating the subject of each item. A copy of which Calendar shall be furnished to each member of the House. It shall be the duty of the Secretary to prepare and distribute each morning after the opening of the House, a Calendar of all Orders of the Day not yet discharged.

XI. On motion duly put and carried, the House may resolve itself into a Committee of the Whole, when a Chairman of the same shall be elected. The junior Bishop present shall act as Clerk of the Committee, and make a record of its action.

XII. On motion duly put and carried, the House may go into Executive Session at which only members of the House shall be present. The same provision for Executive Session shall extend to the House when resolved into a Committee of the Whole.

XIII. Reports of Committees shall be in writing, and shall be received of course. Reports recommending or requiring any action or expression of opinion by the House shall be accompanied by specific resolutions.

XIV. Reports of Committees appointed to sit during the recess, if not acted upon at once, shall, when presented, be made the Order of the Day for a time fixed. Printed committee reports which have been delivered to and circulated among the members of the House of Bishops in advance of the making of such reports upon the floor of the House, shall be presented by Title and the Chairman or Committee member presenting said report shall be allowed five minutes for summarizing the same, which time may be extended only by a two-thirds vote of the House.

XV. When a report (or reports) of a Joint Committee or Joint Commission is referred to the Committee on Constitution and Canons, it shall be within the province of such Committee to pass and report only on the canonical form and not on the contents of such report or reports.

XVI. All questions of order shall be decided by the Chair without debate, but appeal may be taken from such decision. The decision of the Chair shall stand unless overruled by a two-thirds vote of the members present. On such appeal no member shall speak more than once without express leave of the House.

XVII. Amendments shall be considered in the order in which they are moved. When a proposed amendment is under consideration, a motion to amend the same may be made. No after-amendment to such second amendment shall be in order, but a substitute for the whole matter may be received. No proposition on a subject differing from the one under consideration shall be received under color of a substitute.

XVIII. A question being once determined shall stand as the judgment of the House, and shall not be again drawn into debate during the same session of the House except with the consent of two-thirds of the House. A motion to reconsider can be made only on the day the vote was taken, or on the next succeeding legislative day; and must be made and seconded by those who voted with the majority.

XIX. Except by a vote of two-thirds of the members present, no new business shall be introduced for the consideration of the House after the fifth day of the Session, and for the purpose of this rule all days shall be counted excepting Sunday.

XXI. Committees from the House of Deputies shall be admitted immediately. Messages from the House of Deputies shall be handed by the Secretary of this House to the Presiding Officer, to be laid before the House as early as may be convenient. However, consideration of such message shall be subject to a motion for the appointment of a Committee of Conference as hereinafter provided in these Rules. All such messages communicating any legislative action on the part of the House of Deputies shall, without debate, be referred to the proper Committee, unless without debate the House shall decide to consider such messages without such reference. When the consideration of such message shall have been begun, it shall continue to be the Order of the Day until final action thereon. The final action of this House upon any message from the House of Deputies shall be by vote upon the question—"Shall this House concur in the action of the House of Deputies as communicated in their Message No. ?"

XXII. If, during the consideration by this House of any action taken by the House of Deputies, a motion is made stating the position of this House and requesting a Committee of Conference, such motion shall have precedence and be put to a vote without debate, and if passed by a majority of the members of this House then present, a Committee of Conference shall be appointed. A Committee of Conference shall also be in order with or without motion (1) in cases where the House of Deputies has concurred, with amendments, in action taken by this House, or (2) in cases where this House has concurred, with amendments, in action taken by the House of Deputies. When a Committee of Conference has been appointed, final action upon the matter under consideration shall be deferred until the Committee of Conference shall have reported to this House; provided such report shall be made not later than the next business day or within one hour after the convening of the last Session of this House in Convention Assembled, whichever event shall first occur. Further, the Chairman of any Standing or other Committee shall have full authority, either alone or with members of the Committee, to confer with the Chairman of any Committee of the House of Deputies having duties and responsibilities, the same or similar to those of the Committee of the House of Bishops chaired by him.

XXIII. Two Bishops shall be appointed by the Presiding Officer to act with the Secretary in preparing daily reports of the action of this House, and furnishing them, at their discretion, to the public press.

XXVI. At each General Convention this House shall elect a Committee of three Bishops who shall prepare a Pastoral Letter to be presented to the House at the General Convention following their appointment.
XXVII. Additions and amendments to, or suspension or repeal of, these rules shall require a vote of two-thirds of the members present.

XXVIII. These rules shall be in force in subsequent sessions of this House until otherwise ordered.

BISHOPS IN COUNCIL

I. It shall be competent for the House of Bishops to convene as, or being convened to resolve itself into, a Council of Bishops, at which only members of the House of Bishops and elected officers of the Council shall be present. One of the members of the Council, chosen for that purpose, shall act as Clerk.

II. The body known as the Bishops in Council, as an assemblage of Catholic Bishops, and considering and acting upon matters of duty or responsibility resting on them as a portion of the universal Episcopate, may be convened at any time, suitable notice being given by the Presiding Bishop or the Vice Chairman of the House of Bishops. Words spoken by anyone in Council shall be held by all as strictly confidential, and no proceedings shall be known to others than Bishops, save by order of the Council.

III. The body known as the Bishops in Council, when considering matters which are subject to the authority of the House of Bishops in its constitutional and canonical capacity, shall be guided by the following rules:

1. Such meetings shall be for mutual counsel and consideration only.

2. In such meetings no resolutions shall be adopted, except to adjourn, to rise, to report to the House of Bishops, to recommend to the House of Bishops, to take order for the giving out of information, or to commit; Provided, that no Committee or Commission of the Council shall be clothed with any power beyond the promotion of considerations, the preparation of reports, or the furthering of recommendations, to be submitted by the Council to the House of Bishops for action by the latter.

MISSIONARY BISHOPS

I. 1. When a vacancy occurs or is about to occur in the Missionary Episcopate, it shall be the duty of the Presiding Bishop to investigate the situation existing in the District, to consult with those persons in the field and at home best fitted to advise as to the conditions in the District, and to submit to the members of the House such information as he may secure.

2. Before any vacancy in the Missionary Episcopate is to be considered or filled at any special meeting of the House, notice to this effect shall be given in the call of such meeting, together with an invitation to the Bishops to send to the Secretary of the House any names of persons suggested for the vacancy. In such case, three weeks before the special meeting, the Secretary shall notify confidentially each Bishop of the names so suggested. The ballot for the choice of any such vacancy shall not, without unanimous consent, be taken at a special meeting until at least the first day, nor at a meeting of the General Convention until at least the second day, after such names and any others which may be offered

In the event of the occurrence of a vacancy in a Missionary District, or the resignation of a Missionary Bishop, between the issuance of the call for a special meeting of the House of Bishops and the meeting thereof, the House by a two-thirds vote of those present and entitled to vote, shall be competent to fill such vacancy, or to act upon such resignation.

II. Further proceedings for the election of a Missionary Bishop shall be as follows:

The Committee on Domestic Missions shall serve as a Nominating Committee to fill vacancies in Domestic Missionary Districts; and the Committee on Overseas Missions shall serve as a Nominating Committee to fill vacancies in Overseas Missionary Districts; and may make nominations for such vacancies.

2. The Presiding Bishop may at his discretion, make nominations for such vacancies.

3. Opportunity for further nominations from the floor shall be given, but without the calling of the roll.

4. The Bishops making nominations, and others having knowledge of the persons nominated, shall give to the Committee on Domestic Missions or the Committee on Overseas Missions, as the case may be, full information regarding the nominees, and such Committee having secured such further information as may be possible, shall report to the House in Executive Session. Such further information shall include information concerning the intellectual, moral, and physical qualifications of the persons nominated, with dates of birth, graduation, and specific statements as to theological attainments, proficiency in languages, ancient and modern, and as to any specialty in sacred duties to which he may have devoted himself. Questions may be asked and other information given by the Bishops, but no nominating speeches shall be made.

5. All nominations for vacant Missionary Districts and for Presiding Bishop shall be made only in Executive Session, and the names of nominees shall not be made known to the public until after the elections have been confirmed by the House of Deputies.

6. The election shall, if possible, be held in the Church, following a celebration of the Holy Communion, and, if possible, completed before other business is taken up.

7. Prior to the balloting for the election of a Missionary Bishop, the Secretary of the House shall prepare a list of Bishops present and entitled to vote, in the order of their consecration. At the time of the first ballot taken at such election, each Bishop depositing his ballot shall announce his name to the Secretary, or Assistant Secretary, who shall check such name on the prepared list of Bishops.

8. In the case of a declination, or of another vacancy, another election can be held from the same names without further formality than re-nomination; but if new names are introduced, the order prescribed above shall be repeated.

9. In the case of the proposed transfer of a Bishop in charge of a Missionary District to another District, action shall be as in the case of the election of Missionary Bishops.
STANDING ORDERS

The said book of record shall be the official Register of this House, and the roll of the House made up therefrom by the Secretary shall be by him certified to its Presiding Officer, who shall at each regular or special session of the House communicate the same to the House, as its official roll, as soon as he shall have taken the chair. Such roll shall be subject to change only by vote of the House.

VI. In making up the list of the Bishops who have retained their constituted rights to seats in this House, the Secretary is instructed to leave the name of any Bishop resigned in the place which he occupies in the order of his consecration, with the addition of the word "Bishop," which shall be considered as the sufficient official title of such resigned Bishop.
VII. In the event of the loss by any Bishop of his seat in the House of Bishops, with the consequent omission of his name from the roll, and his return to the House, his name shall be entered on the roll at the place corresponding with the time of such return.

JOINT RULES AS TO JOINT COMMITTEES

1. Joint Special Committees, having made their final report, are to be considered as having exhausted their functions, and can only be revived by the concurrent action of the two Houses.

2. It shall be the privilege of either House to refer to a Joint Committee any matter relating to the subject for which it was appointed; but neither House shall have the power, without the consent of the other, to instruct the Joint Committee as to any particular line of action.

3. The Secretaries of both Houses, in accordance with present practice shall, not later than the month of January following the meeting of General Convention, notify the members of the respective Houses who have appointments upon Joint Commissions and Joint Committees of such appointment and their duty to present a report to the next Convention; and shall remind them one year prior to the opening day of Convention of this duty.

4. When, in the judgment of any Joint Committee or Joint Commission, it is deemed advisable that its report should be sent to the members of the General Convention prior to its meeting, such report shall be sent by the first of June prior to said Convention to the Secretary of the House of Deputies, who shall print and distribute the same, as far as practicable, to all members of said Convention.
5. No Joint Committee or Joint Commission shall be deemed to have performed the duty assigned to it, until it shall have presented its final report. Any Joint Committee or Commission which shall not have reported to the General Convention following its appointment shall be discharged at the termination of that Convention unless action is otherwise ordered.

6. Vacancies in Joint Committees and Joint Commissions occurring during the recess between General Conventions shall be filled by the Chairman of the House of Bishops on the part of that House and by the President of the House of Deputies on the part of that House.

7. The report of every Joint Committee and Joint Commission presented at the General Convention shall set forth the names of its original members, any changes in membership, the names of all those who concur in and all those who dissent from its recommendations, and shall further state, if less than a majority of its entire membership sign the report, their authority for presenting it.

8. Every Joint Committee and Joint Commission shall be convened by the Bishop first named, and when convened shall elect a Chairman, a Vice Chairman, and a Secretary. The Chairman shall be a Bishop. The Vice Chairman and the Secretary shall be a Presbyter or a layman. In the event that the Committee is not organized as above provided within one year from the date of adjournment of the Convention which created or continued the Committee or Commission, any three members may take such action as may be necessary to organize the Committee. After the Committee or Commission shall have been convened, and officers chosen, the Chairman or the Vice Chairman shall be empowered to call a meeting at a time to be fixed by him on the signed request of three members.

9. The report of every Joint Committee and Joint Commission presented at the General Convention shall include a detailed report of all receipts and expenditures, including moneys received from any source whatsoever, during the preceding triennium, and its estimated requirements for the coming triennium.

The name of the member or members of the particular House upon whom such authority has been conferred, and the limitations of authority, shall be communicated in writing by the Chairman of such Joint Committee or Commission to the Presiding Officer of such House not later than the presentation of such report in that House. The application of this Rule in either House may be suspended, in any particular case, by the majority vote of the members of such House.

THE EPISTLE

Acts 13:1-5

Now there were at Antioch, in the church that was there, prophets and teachers, Barnabas, and Simeon that was called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manaen, the foster-brother of Herod the tetrarch, and Saul. And as they ministered to the Lord, and fasted, the Holy Ghost said, Separate me Barnabas and Saul for the work whereunto I have called them. Then, when they had fasted and prayed and laid their hands on them, they sent them away. So they, being sent forth by the Holy Ghost, went down to Seleucia; and from thence they sailed to Cyprus.

THE GOSPEL

St. John 15:12-17

This is my commandment, that ye love one another, even as I have loved you. Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends. Ye are my friends, if ye do the things which I command you. No longer do I call you servants; for the servant knoweth not what his lord doeth; but I have called you friends; for all things that I heard from my Father I have made known unto you. Ye did not choose me, but I chose you, and appointed you, that ye should go and bear fruit, and that your fruit should abide; that whatsoever ye shall ask of the Father in my name, he may give it you.

The following Report of the Committee on Religious Services was adopted by the House of Bishops on October 14, 1919 (page 79 of the Journal):

Inasmuch as the English Version of the Holy Scriptures commonly known as "The Marginal Readings Bible" has special authorization from the Church for use in public worship, your Committee recommends that this Version be used for reading the Lessons at all services arranged by the House of Bishops.

When a question is under consideration, no motion shall be received except (1) to adjourn, (2) to lay it upon the table, (3) to take a vote thereon immediately or a time certain, (4) to extend limits of debate, (5) to postpone to a time certain, (6) to commit or to recommit it, (7) to amend it, (8) to postpone it indefinitely or, (9) for a Committee of Conference.

Motions for any of these purposes shall have precedence in the order herein named.

18. If a motion be carried to lay on the table an amendment or a substitute, the matter before the House shall be proceeded with as though such amendment or substitute had not been offered.

The following questions cannot be laid on the table, viz., the motion (1) to adjourn, (2) to lay on the table, (3) to take from the table, (4) to take a vote immediately or at a time certain, or any questions as to (5) the Order of the Day, or (6) the priority of business.

Upon the arrival of the time when a vote is to be taken pursuant to a previous vote, the main question (including all amendments then pending) shall be put, and no debate shall then be in order nor any motion except that to adjourn.
The motion to adjourn shall always be in order, provided that the same shall not be offered when another member has the floor.

19. When a motion is pending the following amendments shall be in order: (1) one amendment may be made to each independent or separable portion thereof, and (2) one motion to amend that amendment shall be in order; and it shall be in order also (3) to offer a further amendment by way of substitute to which may be offered (4) one amendment.

No proposition not germane to the subject under consideration shall be received under color of an amendment or a substitute.

Neither the substitute nor its amendment shall be voted on (except to lay on the table) until the original matter is perfected. An amendment or a substitute may be withdrawn by the mover with the consent of his seconder before amendment thereof or before decision is had thereon.

The amendment or the substitute shall be debatable only when the main question is debatable.

The adoption of an amendment by way of substitute or otherwise shall not displace the main resolution, which, after being so amended, shall be the question before the House.

The following questions cannot be amended, viz.:

(1) The call for the Order of the Day, (2) an appeal from the decision of the Chair, (3) an objection to consideration, or the motions (4) to adjourn, (5) to lay on the table, (6) to take from the table, (7) for leave to continue speaking, (8) to postpone indefinitely, (9) to reconsider, (10) to suspend rules, (11) to take up business out of order, or (12) for leave to withdraw a motion.

20. When a substitute is pending the motion to postpone indefinitely shall not be in order, but unless otherwise therein provided the motion, (1) to postpone to a certain time, (2) to commit or to recommit, (3) to take a vote immediately or at a certain time, or (4) to extend limits of debate shall cover both the substitute and the main question.

NON-DEBATABLE QUESTIONS

21. (a) There shall be no debate upon any of the following motions, viz.: (1) to refer any matter or resolution to a standing committee, (2) to recommit, without instructions, any pending committee report, (3) to lay on the table, (4) to take from the table, (5) to take a vote immediately or at a fixed time, (6) to adjourn unqualifiedly, (7) to extend limits of debate, (8) of an objection to consideration, (9) for a recess, (10) to permit a change of vote, (11) to permit the withdrawal of a motion.

(b) Any member may speak, not more than two minutes, on the following motions, (1) to adjourn to a time certain, (2) to fix a time at which to adjourn, (3) to postpone to a definite time, or (4) to take up a question out of its order, (5) to suspend the Rules.

22. All questions of order shall be decided by the President, without debate; but any member may appeal from such decision, and on such appeal any member may speak, but not for more than two minutes, nor more than once without express leave of the House. On such appeal the vote shall be upon the question, "Shall the decision of the Chair be sustained?"

Consideration or Reference of Motions

23. Every resolution offered for the immediate action of the House shall be considered at once unless reference be requested, or objection be made as next provided.

If, before consideration of the resolution be begun, reference thereof be requested by any member, such resolution shall be referred to the appropriate Standing Committee, or if, in the opinion of the President, there be no appropriate Standing Committee, then to a Special Committee of such number as shall be designated by the President.

If no reference be requested, but timely objection be made to immediate consideration, then without any reference, the resolution shall lie over, and come up the next day as unfinished business.

But by a vote of two-thirds of the members present, the House may at once consider the resolution.

24. When memorials or petitions are presented, their contents shall be stated concisely by the Deputy presenting them, and they shall be referred, unless by a majority vote the memorial or petition shall be ordered to be read.

25. Reports of Committees appointed to sit during the recess, if not acted upon at once, when presented, shall be made the Order of the Day for a time fixed.

Messages from the House of Bishops

26. Messages from the House of Bishops shall be handed by the Secretary of this House to the President, to be laid before the House as early as may be convenient. All such messages communicating any legislative action on the part of the House of Bishops shall be referred without debate, to the proper Committee, unless without debate the House shall decide to consider such message without such reference. The report of the Committee upon any message so referred shall be entitled to consideration as of the date and priority of the original receipt of such message, and the question of its immediate consideration shall be submitted to the House as soon as the report is presented.

When either without reference, or after reference and report the consideration of such message shall have begun, it shall continue to be the Order of the Day until final action thereon, and shall not be subject to any motion to postpone or to lay on the table. However, consideration of such message shall be subject to a motion for the appointment of a Committee of Conference as hereinafter provided in this Rule.

The final action of the House upon any such message shall be by vote upon the question, "Shall this House concur in the action of the House of Bishops as communicated by their Message No. — ?" If amendments have been adopted, then shall be added the further words, "as amended." Upon the submission of such questions, all votes in the affirmative shall be counted in favor of such concurrence.
If, during the consideration by this House of any action taken by the House of Bishops, a motion is made stating the position of this House and requesting a Committee of Conference, such motion shall have precedence and be put to vote without debate, and if passed by a majority of the members of this House then present, a Committee of Conference shall be appointed. A Committee of Conference shall also be in order with or without motion (1) in cases where the House of Bishops has concurred, with amendments, in action taken by this House, or (2) in cases where this House has concurred, with amendments, in action taken by the House of Bishops. When a Committee on Conference has been appointed final action upon the matter under consideration shall be deferred until the Committee of Conference shall have reported to this House; provided, such report shall be made not later than the next business day or within one hour after the convening of the last session of this House in Convention Assembled, whichever event shall first occur.

The Chairman of any Standing Committee or other Committee, shall have full authority, either alone or with members of the Committee, to confer with the Chairman of any Committee of the House of Bishops, having duties and responsibilities the same as, or similar to, those of the Committee of the House of Deputies chaired by him.

VOTING

27. Unless excused by the House, every member who shall be in the House when any question is put must vote on a division.

Unless he have leave, or be unable to attend, no member shall absent himself from the service of the House.

28. The vote upon any question shall be taken by Dioceses and Orders whenever required by the Constitution or by Canon, or whenever required by the entire Clerical or Lay Representation from any Diocese, before the voting begins. Whenever a vote shall be taken by Dioceses and Orders (except in the case of elections), the vote of each Order in each Diocese shall be stated by one member in each Order as "Aye" or "No" or "Divided." If so desired by the entire Deputation from such Diocese, the vote of the individuals of that Deputation shall be stated and recorded. Such record shall be made also in respect of the individual members of every Deputation, if so ordered, without debate, by a majority of the House.

29. Whenever a vote shall be taken by Orders (except in the case of elections), the Secretary of the House of Deputies shall audibly announce the vote in each Order in each Diocese, before announcing the result to the House; and the vote of each Order in each Diocese so announced shall be corrected before, but not after, the final announcement of the vote of the House.

Any member absent from the House when a vote is taken but coming in before the final announcement of the vote on any question may vote thereon if then permitted by the House, but not otherwise.

The election of President or of Secretary of the House or of Treasurer of the General Convention shall be by individual secret ballot; though by unanimous consent, and direction of the House, a single ballot may be cast by an officer of the House in its behalf.

RECONSIDERATION

30. (a) A question once determined may be reconsidered by the vote of two-thirds of those present in the House when motion for such reconsideration is duly made and hereinafter provided.

(b) Except as so reconsidered every determination of such question shall stand as the judgment of the House. Neither such question nor any question of like import shall be drawn again into debate or presented for action again during the same Convention except with the consent of two-thirds of the members of the House present and voting upon such motion to reconsider.

(c) Only one reconsideration of any matter shall be had. All motions to reconsider shall be made and be seconded on the day the vote is taken, or on the next succeeding day on which the House shall be in session.

31. In all questions decided numerically, the motion to reconsider must be made by one Deputy, and seconded by another, who voted in the majority; or, in case of equal division, by those who voted in the negative. In case of a vote by Orders, where there is a concurrence of both Orders, the motion shall be made by a majority of a Deputation from any Diocese of either Order voting in the majority; and, in case of a non-concurrence of Orders, the motion shall come from a majority of a Deputation from a Diocese of that Order which gave the majority in the negative.

In either case, a motion to reconsider may be seconded by a majority of any Deputation of either side, without regard to its previous vote.

REPORT OF COMMITTEES

32. The reports of all Committees shall be in writing, and unless recommitted by a vote of the House shall be received of course, and without motion for acceptance. All reports recommending or requiring any action or expression of opinion by the House shall be accompanied by a resolution for the action of the House thereon. Printed reports which contain no Resolutions and have been delivered to the members of the House in advance, shall be presented by title except that the spokesman for the report shall be allowed five minutes for summarizing the same.

No report of a Joint Committee or of a Joint Commission that contains resolutions that has been printed and distributed to the members of this House at least three weeks before a meeting of the Convention, shall be read at length to this House, but the Chairman or a member of that Committee may make an oral summary from such Committee.

Every report of a Joint Commission shall be referred to the appropriate Standing Committee of this House, if there be one, but otherwise to a Special Committee of this House. The House may at any time refer any report or resolution to the Committee on Amendments to the Constitution to draft a constitutional amendment or the Committee on Canons to draft a canon or canons which will carry into effect, if enacted, the report of resolution so referred.

33. Reports from the Committee on Memorials of Deceased Members shall embody simply the name, Diocese, date of birth and death, and time of service in General Convention, of deceased members of the current or any preceding General Convention, of whom memorials shall not have theretofore been made; and after suitable devotions such reports shall be received by the House standing.
34. Whenever so ordered by a vote of a majority of the members present, the House may go into Committee of the Whole for the consideration of any matter.

The President shall designate some member of the House to act as Chairman of the Committee of the Whole, which, when in session, shall be governed by these rules as adapted by the Chairman, subject to appeal to the Committee, and also to the following provisions:

(a) A motion to rise and to report to the House, with or without request for leave to sit again, may be made at any time, and shall take precedence of all other motions, and shall be decided without debate. No such motion once made shall be renewed until after further proceeding shall have been had in the Committee of the Whole.

(b) A motion that a vote upon any pending proposition shall be taken at some designated time may be made and be disposed of without debate at any time, but as before provided a motion to report to the House shall take precedence.

No motion to lay on the table shall be entertained.

35. No debate shall be allowed in the House of any motion to permit the Committee of the Whole to sit again. Requests for such permission shall take precedence of all other business, and the motion thereof shall be put to vote immediately without reference.

2. It shall be the privilege of either House to refer to a Joint Committee any matter relating to the subject for which it was appointed; but neither House shall have the power, without the consent of the other, to instruct the Joint Committee as to any particular line of action.

3. The Secretaries of both Houses, in accordance with present practice shall, not later than the month of January following the meeting of General Convention, notify the members of the respective Houses who have appointments upon Joint Commissions and Joint Committees of such appointment and their duty to present a report to the next Convention; and shall remind them one year prior to the opening day of Convention of this duty.

4. When, in the judgment of any Joint Committee or Joint Commission, it is deemed advisable that its report should be sent to the members of the General Convention prior to its meeting, such report shall be sent by the first of June prior to said Convention to the Secretary of the House of Deputies, who shall print and distribute the same, as far as practicable, to all members of said Convention.

5. No Joint Committee or Joint Commission shall be deemed to have performed the duty assigned to it, until it shall have presented its final report. suspended, in any particular case, by the majority vote of the members of such House.

V. ORDER OF BUSINESS.

   Regular Order of Business. Rule 9

An Objection is not in order as to matters coming up regularly on the Calendar nor as to an Order of the Day; and as to such matters a

5. Note—Practice as to Messages from the House of Bishops—Under Rule 26 a distinction is to be observed between the status of a House of Bishops Message before its consideration on its merits is actually begun and its status after it is placed before the House for its actual passage.

When a House of Bishops Message first reaches the House of Deputies it does not have immediate right of way over all other pending business, but is held by the President "to be laid before the House as early as may be convenient." Rule 26

When a Message Calling for legislation is first presented to the House of Deputies it has not been the practice to give it immediate consideration. It is handled like any other measure and Rule 26 itself provides that it shall be referred to the proper Committee, unless without debate the House on Motion shall otherwise order.

When so referred and even when the Committee report is presented the status is the same as that of any other measure and Committee report pending before the House, and is open to all the same motions, dilatory or otherwise, to which any other measure is subject.

It is only when a House of Bishops Message has actually been presented to the House for passage and has begun to be considered on its merits that the third paragraph of Rule 26 applies. The Message then becomes the Order of the Day and it not subject to any motion to postpone or lay on the table, and its consideration must continue until final action is had upon it. This does not mean that the House must remain in session until final action is had, for a debate may continue several days. What it means is that the Message becomes the continuing Order of the Day and must be so handled.

XVI. CONFERENCE COMMITTEES.

1. Motion for appointment of, or for reference of any matter to, is only in order when House of Bishops has amended a House of Deputies' measure, or when the House of Deputies has amended a House of Bishops' measure. Rule 26

2. Message from House of Bishops requesting Conference stands on same footing with any other Message and is in order as to any measure from them which requires concurrent action and which has been amended by House of Deputies.

PREFACE TO THE REPORT

In the two meetings of the Joint Commission on Social Reconstruction held since the General Convention of 1955 there has been an attempt on the part of its members on each occasion to evaluate our corporate acts as members of Christ's Church in the light of our avowed belief as Christian people. As this has been done we have become more and more aware of the complacency with which we, as Churchmen, act upon our Christian statements of faith. The gap between standard and accepted practices in our communities and what the Christian life implies for us becomes far too easily recognizable. It was with this basic idea in mind that we prepared and distributed throughout the Church last year the pamphlet entitled "The Church in Human Affairs," an effort which was intended to point to the fact that Christian faith is Christian when it is concerned with the basic problems of life and the application to them of our Lord's teachings. We are not unmindful of the fact that our Church can well use a decided quickening of its social conscience and it is our fervent prayer that this might be done through the corporate and concentrated efforts of our bishops, other clergy and lay persons throughout the Church. It is a problem which belongs to the Church on every level, national, diocesan and parochial, and we urge that serious thought, consideration and action be given to the basic social ills facing us today and that this be done by study and action groups in parishes and missions, by Departments of Christian Social Relations providing stimuli and leadership in their dioceses and by action of the General Convention which shall be implemented through the study and information which can be disseminated through the Department of Christian Social Relations of the National Council. In connection with this last channel of action we recommend the continued emphasis in the Church each year on the First Sunday after Epiphany of the Church's responsibility and role in human affairs in community, nation and world. We humbly suggest, also, that the General Convention continue the appointment of a Joint Commission on Social Reconstruction to give continued emphasis and study to the current problems which may face us between each General Convention.

The Commission wishes to express its appreciation to the Rev. Canon Almon R. Pepper and the members of his staff in the Department of Christian Social Relations for their advice and counsel and for the cooperation and research work which they have provided. Without their ready help and knowledge ours would have been a much more difficult task.

The Very Rev. John J. Weaver resigned from the Commission in 1957.

As we faced the issues presented to us by members of the Commission we found them to be many and varied. We have chosen those which by a consensus we have considered most pressing and important to the Church's role in our world and on which it is most important, in our opinion, for the Church to speak. Our recommendations will be found in the following statements.

THE PROPHETIC FUNCTION OF THE CHURCH

It is a function of the Church to speak prophetically—thus saith the Lord.
The will of God is revealed in Jesus Christ. The composite thoughts of Churchmen in conference may or may not be the will of God but in Jesus Christ we can see what God would have us do. Christians within the body of Christ are united in a fellowship of love which differences of opinion about human affairs cannot destroy. There will be honest differences of opinion among Christians about practical matters but their union in Christ keeps them together and keeps open the channels of communication between them.

Christians must ever beware lest the Church merely conforms to the trends of thought and behavior around it. If Churchmen react to the scientific achievement of a foreign country with jealousy and a fear of survival, what is this reaction but a sign of spiritual decadence? If Churchmen feel that the immense building program of organized religion is a sign of success what is this but conformity to the bigness cult of the world?

Should Christians accept the continued national experiments with nuclear bombs and intercontinental missiles without a troubled conscience? We are accustomed to pray for peace in our churches but as responsible Christian citizens ought we not also to be seeking ways towards progressive disarmament? Jesus said, "Ye are the salt of the earth." That is not to say that individuals or groups of Christians or even the Church in General Convention can or must tell our political leaders what to do, but it is to say that the proclamation of the Gospel of the Church must ever prod our people towards the application of Christian principles to national problems.

The Commission calls upon the Church to evaluate its trends in the light of the Gospel lest by merely conforming it lose its soul.

The Commission suggests that its function be stated as follows:

1. The Commission should continually remind the Church of its prophetic role in society.

2. That it shall be the function of the Commission to report to General Convention on its study and work in the area of the Church and Human Affairs and suggest action through the National Council and its duly constituted departments.

3. That it shall be the function of the Commission to focus the thinking and influence of the Church in General Convention on concerns of practical matters in resolutions—not attempting to cover the whole field of social action but concentrating on two or three issues of priority significance.

The Church and Peace

The peace of God for men in this world is given to all men who give themselves to God in His Church. The faithful Christian prays that this peace of God will be made known and available to all men and accepted by all men. For the peace of God is the only real peace that can exist in the lives of men; the only peace that can enable men to live peaceably in a world society.

The Church calls its people to draw closer to our Divine Lord in Worship and Sacrament and Prayer. For in making ourselves more at one with our Lord in His Church, we enable Him to deepen and build up His peace in us. Through Him we become “fountains of living waters from which others may drink.”

The missionary work of the Church, expressed in personal witness and corporate missionary effort is God's front line in establishing His peace among men. Imperfect man can never create a perfect society. If society is to be bettered, men must be redeemed. Redemption is the work of our Lord. Our Lord began His redemptive work in His human body and continues it through His Church and through each member of His Church. The Church is God's redeeming society. The Church and only the Church can make men better. Through the Church's redeemed men, God establishes His peace in this world.

This is not to say that secular factors are unimportant in creating peace. Economical, sociological, and political factors are very important. The United Nations, for instance, must be supported in its reconciling efforts. Yet, ultimately, we believe that the power of a vital united worldwide Christendom is needed to hold men together in life.

We call upon this General Convention and upon every member of the Church to do all in our power to carry the Church with its redeeming Gospel to all men and bear personal witness to Christ before all men.

Peace cannot be sought or bought. Peace in the life of one man, peace amongst men, is the gift of the living God. Peace belongs to God. He is our peace, and we live in peace as we live in Him.

THE HOMES IN WHICH THY PEOPLE DWELL

The mobility of people in our generation is unprecedented. This movement of people has created many significant problems, one of which is the houses in which God's people dwell. But housing is more than shelter; housing is a part of a family's way of life.

During the depression years of the 1930's when finance for home construction was lacking, and during the war years, when housing materials were used for other purposes, the housing conditions of the nation deteriorated to an alarming extent.

The postwar years brought a housing boom. The urban redevelopment program was conceived as a means of improving living conditions, beautifying cities, and laying down blueprints of the city beautiful for tomorrow.

Tragically, though urban redevelopment has succeeded dramatically in changing the physical appearance of cities and in restoring property values, it has failed signalY in creating either neighborhoods, or real communities. Too often preoccupation has been with reconstructing space, instead of rebuilding for people and their families.

The cities of our land shape the destiny of our nation. As our cities are rebuilt, we have an unprecedented opportunity to plan for and build communities worthy of our contemporary concepts of democracy. Housing must and can be provided in each community for the typical range of income levels. Each neighborhood must also be open for every variety of American people. The institutions of community must be planned for and included in the rebuilding process so that adequate resources for a full life are integral parts of the new neighborhood.
Racial Relationships

In the face of distressing racial developments in many areas of the nation during the past two years, Churchmen and women have good reason to rejoice over notable instances of courageous and devoted action taken by Church leaders and groups. In one case it may have been amassing a number of congregations to testify to the fact of Christian brotherhood. In another it may have been a succinct, unequivocal statement issued publicly by a group of ministers. In a host of other, unpublicized instances, Church leaders have gone quietly but effectively about their work of reconciliation.

In spite of such examples, all too frequently isolated, the general atmosphere of racial relationships has remained somber, shot through with suspicion and intensified by a withdrawal of neighbor from neighbor when they suspect their disagreement on the subject of race—and even when they are of the same race and church connection.

In this state of affairs the Church meets an opportunity and a challenge, in every part of the land. The mutual trust and respect so badly damaged can be best restored by establishing free, uninhibited communication between disputants on racial issues, to the end of matching opinions with facts, abolishing rumor and once more creating the feeling of neighborliness which Americans like to consider as typical of our national community.

In this respect, the Church can serve as a channel of communication and reconciliation unmatched by any other influence in the land.

Education

1. Religion, all through history has been closely concerned with education.

2. Even in the United States, where there has been great progress, adequate education is still not available to all people who can profit from it; especially in the field of higher education, where there is still lack of equality of opportunity.

3. The fostering of adequate education is still a problem to our nation. The Church looks at it not as a political issue but as a contribution to the advancement of the Kingdom of God.

4. We call upon the people of the Church to be active in the improvement of education in nation, state, and local community.

5. The Church is concerned with the improvement of education in both public and private schools. Private schools have the advantage of being able to be more Christ-centered in their teaching. But private schools cannot do the big job of general education. The major task of the Church, therefore, is to support and improve the public school system. The people of the Church should assume service in this cause on school boards, as teachers, in Parent-Teachers' Associations, and in released time programs for religious education.

6. While the Church recognizes the importance of technology and science, it confirms the basic and essential nature of the humanities and their necessity in developing Christian personality.
The unemployment spread of 1957 and 1958 has reawakened bitter memories of the Depression of the 1930's and its accompaniment of widespread suffering. While this problem deserves and must receive from the Federal and State governments the most urgent and determined attention, we must not consider this as merely a problem for government. Economic suffering in families, like every other aspect of serious human need is a direct, personal responsibility for any person sensitive to the needs of his neighbor. Especially is this the solemn obligation of the Christian.

But economic suffering, for many millions of families, does not end when conditions of "full" employment are restored. Nearly 30 million Americans live in families with incomes of $2,000 a year or less. They may be farm or urban families, migrant or part-time workers; their numbers include the permanently handicapped, the hopelessly dependent, the uneducated and unskilled. These may, in many cases, be considered "displaced persons," American style.

Their are not temporary economic disabilities but are built into our free enterprise system. These people are a permanent charge upon the conscience of a responsible and especially a Christian Society.

Only piecemeal, and frequently belated attention is given to the problem of economic need, often in such fashion as to find the problem's growth far outstripping application of the remedy. Further, there are sharp variances of objectives and standards between states—or between a Federal purpose and a state's implementation of a program.

The Calvinist influence seems still to permeate some of our programs of public assistance, as if economic misfortune were evidence of personal sin. Unemployment compensation in few instances compensates for involuntary unemployment. Public assistance laws in a number of states are shaped to the model of separate, faintly hostile kingdoms, rather than semi-autonomous units of one great nation. Workmen's compensation laws in some instances seem inspired more by a desire to attract industry than by the aim of protecting families against incapacitation of a worker on his job. Assistance to mothers of dependent children is sometimes administered in a spirit of rewarding mothers of praiseworthy character rather than providing children with opportunity for food, shelter and maternal affection, which are the birthright of every child.

The creation of the proper mood and standards of economic protection for the insecure remains one of the urgent responsibilities of the Church and its members.

Labor, management, government and social scientists must never be satisfied until our economic life offers full opportunity for all to earn adequate income and to be constructive contributing participants in the economic process. This will not be achieved easily and we must not sacrifice freedom in our search, but as Christians it must be our goal.

Freedom of Information

We deplore the apparently unyielding policy in almost every branch of the Federal government—and to lesser extent in local and state governments—of withholding news that cannot conceivably come under the national security regulations, from the several mediums of mass communication.

Freedom of the press is meaningless when news is withheld, distorted by governmental press agents, or slanted to conform to the editorial policies of newspaper and magazine publishers.

SALACIOUS LITERATURE

While our Church has great difficulty in publishing a magazine that will be read by its people, hundreds of magazines of all sorts and descriptions are published, sold and read to the financial benefit of the publishers but not always for the moral benefit of the readers.

Without pointing to any particular literature sold in great quantities all over America we are concerned about the continued and increased number of publications which depend for their great success upon the presentation in printed word and picture of very un-Christian views of God-created people and lurid descriptions of their uncontrolled, depraved behavior.

This situation indicates to us that the Church has a colossal missionary task in presenting to people, young and old, in and around our church buildings, a Christian view of the human being as a potential son of God. We must meet the monstrous promotion of salacious literature not with more laws and increased censorship but rather by urging upon all Church people the responsibility of stepping up their personal and corporate efforts under the direction of the Holy Spirit to so preach and teach the Gospel, that more and more people will turn away in disgust from literature that tells lies about mankind and welcome the good news that God's whole creation is good and should only be viewed and used according to the will of the one righteous and holy God.

We believe that the only real expression of our concern about the prosperity of salacious literature is not in book-burning but rather in soul-burning. The fire of the Holy Spirit of God can burn away this chaff from our modern scene when those who are called to be Christians are on fire with the desire to bring people to Christ. The more people who accept Jesus Christ as Lord and Saviour the fewer customers there will be for salacious literature.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

There is an increasing concern in our country with the practical and moral issues involved in capital punishment. It has been abolished in seven states and is under serious discussion in several others. The last Synod of the Eighth Province and several Christian bodies have gone on record favoring its abolition.

Christian consideration of the subject is not motivated primarily by facts as to the deterrent value of the death penalty or other sociological factors but by the conviction that every human life is precious and redeemable in God's sight. Not only is the ever present possibility of the destruction of an innocent life by the miscarriage of justice abhorrent to the Church, but even in the case of a known offender the death penalty forever prevents his Christian rehabilitation in this life. We have no right to take a life we did not create and which is a creature of God and which society has itself warped. There is a growing consensus of Christian opinion favoring the abolition of the death penalty with which your Commission associates itself. We call upon Church people to inform themselves by study and discussion on this issue and request the National Council's Department of Christian Social Relations to give educational aids, and look forward to the development of a definite opinion within the Church.

INDIAN AMERICANS

There are today, in the United States, 450,000 Indians living either on reservations or in communities across the nation. Indians have always been the object of intense missionary interest in the Episcopal Church.

There is great uneasiness about present federal policies and legislation on Indians. The sale of their land and the drive for their relocation into urban areas has been of benefit to thousands of Indians but a disaster for thousands more. It is estimated that two hundred thousand of them are now living in cities. Their adjustment to this new culture and their incorporation into city parishes is of as much importance as is the missionary work on the reservation.

The Commission notes with gratitude the work and resolution of dioceses and provinces for better legislation and public policies in this field. The whole Church should be continuously watchful for the assurance of fair play to Indians wherever they live. For the approximately two hundred fifty thousand who still own land on reservations, there should be public support for proper land development, and legislative guarantee of their own consent in decisions affecting their homes and property. For the two hundred thousand and more who are in cities, there should be assurance that they may participate fully in the life of the Church and the community, with full voice in decisions affecting them. The Commission recommends strongly that the Church give its continued attention, financial support, and study to the social as well as the spiritual ministry to Indians wherever they live.

RESOLUTIONS

1. Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that a Joint Commission on Social Reconstruction be continued by the appointment by the General Convention of five Bishops, five Presbyters, and seven laymen.

2. Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that the name of the Joint Commission on Social Reconstruction be changed to the Joint Commission on the Church in Human Affairs.

3. Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that for the expenses of the Joint Commission on the Church in Human Affairs, the sum of $4,000.00 ($3,000.00 for travel for two meetings and $1,000.00 for publications) be appropriated for the triennium.

4. Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that the General Convention urge the members of the Church in dioceses and parishes to study the matters presented in the report of the Joint Commission on Social Reconstruction in the light of the Gospel, seeking to know God's will in these human affairs and seeking by prayer and conference the guidance of the Holy Spirit in taking action appropriate to the prophetic nature of the Church.

APPENDIX 33

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON THE STATE OF THE CHURCH

The presentation of a concise summary of the vital and financial statistics of the Church is the charge given your Committee under the provisions of Canon 5. The Canons further provide that the work be performed within the period of the Convention itself.
The Committee is of the mind that this is a task next to impossible within the time limits imposed by Convention. We are also agreed that the gathering, classifying and interpreting of the Church's statistics, in the proportion they now have reached, requires the assistance of persons of specialized skills and further that these skills be employed on a continuous basis throughout the triennium. We would naturally expect such persons to have ready access to modern tabulating equipment so that the work might be done with speed and efficiency.

We therefore rejoice that this Convention has seen fit to pass the necessary legislation in a slight revision of the Canon which now permits the Committee on the State of the Church to avail itself of such a service which is now already in existence within the organization of the National Council.

Attached to this report are the statistics for 1955, 1956, 1957 found in tabulatory form.

We confine ourselves to certain significant data we believe to be of major importance.

Working from August, 1957 population estimates as furnished by the Census Bureau of the U.S. Department of Commerce, it has been learned that our Church has experienced an expansion rate from 1950 to 1956 more rapid than the population.

Our Church in 1950 had a membership of 1.6 per cent of the national population or 2,417,464, and this was increased in 1956 to 1.8 per cent or 2,965,137, and the projection would indicate it to be 2.1 percent in 1970 or 4,305,898. The increase between 1950 and 1956 was 22.7 per cent. The Province containing the largest actual population is now Province V, followed by Provinces IV and VIII. The outstanding rate of increase of baptized persons is to be found in Provinces VIII, VII and IV, in that order. The communicant membership, 1,869,078 in 1956, while not so rapid, is still greater than the population rate of increase. The increase between 1950 and 1956 was 15.2 per cent. It follows the same pattern by Provinces as the baptized membership, with Province V following the order just mentioned. The projection into 1970 indicates that our expansion will continue within the same locality as is now presently experienced.

The number of Church School registrations reflects the Church's increased emphasis on Christian education. In 1950 these were 567,007; in 1956—846,798.

Complete information is not available for the growth of the Church in extra-continental United States.

NEW CONGREGATIONS

This expansion has naturally resulted in the establishment of new congregations. There were 840 new congregations brought into being during the seven year period 1950 to 1956. However, while this was happening, the Episcopal Church closed 458 congregations due to shifts in population, new communities and increased suburbanization of our cities, leaving a net gain of 382, or 54.27 per annum. Between 1954 and 1957, the largest percentage of growth took place in Provinces IV and VIII, the South and the Pacific Coast areas. In 1957, as compared with 1954, there were fewer parishes and organized missions in Province II and the extra-continental Missionary Districts, as well as in the Foreign Mission Field. Substantial decreases proportionately, in unorganized missions in Provinces I, III, V, VI, and VIII and the Extra-Continental Field may only indicate that these congregations have been moving toward a more regular status as parishes or organized missions. In 1957 we had 7,347 parishes and missions plus 875 unorganized missions, or a total of 8,222 congregations. A projection indicates that we may expect over 9,000 by 1970.

GROWTH OF NUMBER OF CLERGY

To meet the need of new work and to further staff the established and growing parishes, the number of the clergy has needed to be increased. In 1950 the figure stood at 6,473. It became 8,234 in 1957, of whom 2,211 who were listed as non-parochial. Projections based on figures supplied by The Church Pension Fund indicate that the number of clergy needed in 1960 will be 8,759, in 1970, 10,915.

The largest percentage of increase of active clergy in the past triennium took place in Provinces VII, IV, and VIII. Only Province VI and the Foreign Field had fewer clergy in 1957 than in 1954. Except in the Mission Fields, there was a substantial rise in the number of non-parochial clergy: 2,211 in 1957 vs. 1,951 in 1954, or 13.3 per cent. This was most marked in Province IV, where it was 38 per cent, showing perhaps where retired clergy prefer to live.

Published figures show that our Theological Seminaries are presently running at 78 per cent of capacity. Figures before us indicate a disturbing trend in regard to ordinations and candidates for the ministry, in the face of the increasing need of the Church for clergy. In the 1952-54 triennium, 1,236 deacons were ordained and 1,110 priests. In 1955-57, 1,262 deacons were ordained, and 1,165 priests. This is barely holding our own, and the future is not bright. Provinces I, II, V, VI, VII, and VIII had fewer postulants in 1957 than in 1954, and the gains in Provinces III and IV amounted to only 23 men. Provinces I and VI had fewer candidates for Holy Orders in the past triennium than in the previous one. Provinces VIII, 32 per cent—III, 26 per cent and—V, 23 per cent respectively. A three year gain of 235 candidates is largely cancelled out by a three year loss of 153 postulants, and the indication seems to be that the supply of potential clergymen is drying up. These facts are commended to the attention of the provinces, dioceses and parishes that more vocations may be found, encouraged and developed.

Fiscal Report

Year by year pages of financial statistics have appeared in convention journals. Because of the lack of a clear statement of accounting procedures accompanying the parochial report delivered to treasurers for the obtaining of a uniform method of accounts, it is our conclusion that these figures are not accurate. We are printing, once again, the figures as we have received them.

We have advice of the official auditors of the Church, that a treasurer's manual should be produced which would promote consistency and uniformity of account classifications. This will enable the committee, with the help of the Unit of Research and Field Study, to review, appraise, organize, and publicize the significant fiscal statistics which will be of invaluable aid to such committees of this convention as Program and Budget, the Department of Promotion, as well as all financial officers of the National Council. It would likewise give assurance of a more equitable distribution of quotas to diocesan and parochial authorities.

One may, from this Journal, discern that on a communicant basis the overall giving in 1957 was $78.00. If he cared to compare this figure with the last year of the previous triennium he would discover that the giving per communicant was $72.00: an increase of $6.00 or 8.3 per cent. If the generally accepted rate of inflationary increase is approximately 2 per cent per year, it would appear that the Church was merely holding its own. One might discover also a wide difference in the giving on a communicalt basis among the Provinces and see that the variation is as much as 36 per cent.

With the establishment of a unified national program and budget in 1919, the Church took a great stride forward in its giving. By 1920, for example, gifts for missionary work had jumped from $1,473,000 to $2,969,000. While the advance was curtailed by the depression, by the end of World War II it was again gathering momentum so that the last few years have been record budgets adopted and record funds received.

However, an honest look at the facts is enough to sober enthusiasm and pride. In 1920, the average Episcopalian was giving $32.13 to his Church for all purposes. $2.73 of that sum went to missions at home and abroad. As late as 1954—and the picture has not changed appreciably since—the average per capita gift had soared to $72.46, yet of that figure only $2.76 went to the General Church Program, an increase of but three cents in 24 years. And it must be remembered that it takes two 1954 dollars to do the work of one 1920 dollar.

Compared with other Christian bodies of similar size, financial resources and economic background, our per capita giving is poor. Giving to overseas missions is an index. The United Lutheran Church in America, with 2,235,455 members, gives $1.56 to its National Church overseas missions. The Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. with 2,775,464 members gives $2.70; and the Protestant Episcopal Church in the U.S.A. (2,965,137 members) gives but $1.18. This does not include funds for diocesan program. Of 49 major non-Roman bodies in the United States we were, in 1955, 32nd in missionary giving.

The committee is unable to deliver to the Convention the total current indebtedness of the Church. It was $31,000,000 in 1954, and was as low as $8,000,000 in 1945. On advice from people who have done some work with this indicate that it may range between $45,000,000 and $50,000,000 presently. This is a problem that, with new forms and procedures, the work of the Unit of Research and Field Study will correct. The same can be said of church properties and church endowments.

The Future

For years the Committee on the State of the Church has been faced with an almost impossible problem. We have had on hand at conventions a mass of figures taken directly from parochial report blanks and summarized for us diocese by diocese. Potentially, these figures contain facts, which, upon accurate analysis, can tell a great deal about the state of the Church and point up both our strength and our weaknesses. Actually, however, there is a wide variation in the manner with which these facts are originally compiled and set down on the parochial report blanks, and, in many instances, they are not complete, and sometimes missing entirely. Thus, no report, no matter how carefully made, has been of any significant help to the Church as a whole.

For this reason, your committee asked for and received permission to revise, with professional assistance, the forms for parochial and diocesan reports, and will work toward providing a system of accounting which will make unified procedures possible.

Once we have all the information necessary, modern coding and tabulating machinery will enable us to provide quickly and accurately all possible information contained in the figures. Not only will it be possible for this Convention to judge accurately the state of the Church, and thereby, devise a budget and program on sound facts, but will be of real help to dioceses seeking such information for its own internal program.

Projecting a scientific analysis of the state of the Church or any part of it, against all the national statistics on population growth and movement, and increase of population will enable us to project our plans into the future in a realistic way and determine when and whether the resources will be available to meet the opportunities of our changing times.

It is the opinion of your committee that the Church has reached such proportions and complexity, and because of rapid changes taking place, such a state of flux, that we can no longer depend upon a group such as your committee to interpret once in three years the meaning of what is possible to discover with unified procedures and modern equipment. It is our purpose to work closely throughout the triennium with the Unit of Research and Field Study so that our information will be accurate, meaningful and current.

REPORT OF THE JOINT COMMISSION ON THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION

The Commission reports that because of the great importance of the many matters that demanded our consideration it was necessary to hold two meetings of the full Commission during the triennium. We met in December, 1956 at the Theological Seminary of the Southwest in Austin, Texas, and again in December, 1957 at the College of Preachers in Washington. The Deans of the Theological Seminaries met once at a time when the Commission was not meeting and the Executive Committee met four times.

We record our appreciation for the service and leadership of the Rt. Rev. Norman B. Nash, S.T.D., who served as our Chairman until the time of his retirement in 1956, and for the service of Mr. Richard B. Kahle of Houston, Texas, one of the co-opted lay members of our Executive Committee, who resigned in December, 1956. The Bishop of Missouri was appointed by the Presiding Bishop in place of Bishop Nash and Mr. James Garfield of Boston has succeeded Mr. Kahle.

The Commission again requests permission to add four additional laymen as co-opted members of the Executive Committee.

I. THE OBSERVANCE OF THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION SUNDAY

Theological Education Sunday, first authorized by the General Convention of 1940 and approved by every Convention since, has continued to be a factor of major importance in disseminating information about the ministry and the seminaries, and in achieving support for the Church's enterprise of theological education. The following table shows the growth of the observance in recent years. (The figures cannot be entirely accurate, because they are received a few days before the year's end, and because some parishes, contributing to more than one seminary, may be counted more than once. Moreover, since they are based upon calendar year returns, they will reveal certain discrepancies if compared with the financial tables appended to this report drawn from the seminaries' fiscal year reports; but they are entirely adequate for purposes of comparison and as illustrating the trends. Unrecorded are the small amounts received by the Joint Commission for apportionment among the seminaries.)

Distribution of the contributions from the parishes among the various seminaries during the triennium has been as follows:
When these figures are read in relation to those on enrollment of students in the seminaries, it may be assumed that the encouraging increase in financial support has been a large factor in enabling the seminaries to expand their operations. Theological Education Sunday has served several important purposes in the life of the Church; stimulating concern for high standards in training men for Holy Orders; making Church people aware of the need for clerical manpower; acquainting them with the special problems of the seminaries; and producing nearly 20 per cent of the total amount of money expended on theological education in the established schools.

The seminaries themselves, through their alumni constituencies, have borne the main burden of promotion of Theological Education Sunday. Beginning in 1952 the Executive Committee of the Joint Commission, with the very generous assistance of officers of the National Council, made, for three years in succession, serious efforts to promote observance on a Church-wide scale, and especially to reach the substantial number of parishes whose rectors own allegiance to none of our seminaries. The record of parish participation seems to show that the attempts were attended by considerable success. But they were costly, and overlapped the promotion by individual seminaries. For the past three years, the only measures taken in this direction by the Committee have been the distribution of posters to all active clergy, with a letter urging observance of Theological Education Sunday over the signature of the Commission's Chairman, and the supplying of offering envelopes, on order, to parishes that prefer not to use those supplied by any of the seminaries.

The offering for 1957 records the smallest increase over the previous year ever achieved in the history of the Church's observance, with the exception of 1946, when the effort involved in the Reconstruction and Advance Fund probably accounted for a smaller return than in 1945. While seminary enrollments seem also to have achieved a plateau, it is certainly true that the next 10 years will see increased pressure, both in the need for manpower for a growing Church, and in the numbers of men offering themselves for admission to seminary.

Theological Education Sunday observance will continue to represent the most helpful way in which the concern of the whole Church may be focused upon the training of men for the ministry.
The Commission therefore proposes again a resolution for action by the Convention calling for Church-wide acceptance of responsibility for support of the enterprise of theological education.

2. SEMINARY ENROLLMENT, CLERGY SUPPLY, AND LOCAL TRAINING PROGRAMS

The Commission, in the past triennium, did not repeat the careful studies of the Church's deficiency in supply of clergy to which our reports in 1952 and 1955 gave so much attention. In 1952, we estimated the existing actual shortage of parochial clergy at 688; and in 1955, 806. According to the records of The Church Pension Fund, the rate of increase in clerical manpower in recent years is as follows:

Incomplete figures received December 27 for the year 1957 when compulsory retirement first took effect under the Canons, show 269 terminations and 423 additions, giving a net increase for the year of only 154 ordained clergy.

Only on the assumption that the Church's work and need for priests are static can it be felt that any marked gain in overcoming the real shortage is represented in these figures. And there are many positive indications that the actual situation has seen no real improvement these past three years. Demands seem definitely on the increase for clergy in the non-parochial categories—hospital and other institutional chaplaincies, teaching positions, chaplaincies in the armed forces, etc.

And the increase in population, together with the vast changes in its concentration, poses a constant need for the Church to expand the scope of its work. Changing patterns of Church life and support have led to a great increase in the number of parishes needing curates, and capable of supporting two or more clergy.

Some of the same factors would seem, too, to promise a definite possibility of considerable expansion in the missionary program of the Church at home and abroad. Certainly the wealth of the Church under present conditions will become a destructive force, unless response is made to the challenge of the world beyond its borders.

Pressures of "acute shortage" are pleaded, moreover, in justification of the establishment of such clergy training schools, or institutes as have been founded in the Dioceses of Long Island, Minnesota and Michigan, and in defense of even less systematic practices of preparation of older men for ordination in other areas.

For the first time since World War II, Seminary enrollment this past year declined (the following figures represent registrations for the autumn term; year-end statistics recorded in the tables appended to this report are slightly higher):
The decrease in enrollment last year is almost entirely accounted for in the numbers admitted as special students and as juniors (first year men). The Commission believes that this is largely explained by a natural drop in the curve of college graduations in the years just past, by previous over-expansion in one of two seminaries, and by readjustments in others. Only three of the schools reported increased registrations for 1957. And the Commission finds that, taking the eleven seminaries as a whole, there is room for something like 150 additional ordinands in them, with their present facilities, to say nothing of the plans of some schools to provide increased accommodations.

During the past triennium the Commission conducted a survey addressing inquiry to all chairmen of Boards of Examining Chaplains of dioceses and missionary districts in the Church in order to learn the number of men being trained other than in the normal three-year Church seminary course.

83 out of 99 Dioceses and Missionary Districts replied to this questionnaire on “Trends in Theological Education.” Of 2,450 men reported as having enrolled in the normal three-year course in a theological seminary since 1952 (excluding those ordained or in process of preparation for the Perpetual Diaconate), 118 or 5 per cent received their full training in seminaries not of this Church, and 79 others or 3 per cent had part of their training in a seminary of this Church and part in a seminary not of this Church.

Of the 2,710 reported ordained or in process of preparation since 1952, 260, or almost 10 per cent, were prepared for the ministry without a full three-year seminary course, and of this number 137 or 5 per cent were prepared solely under the direction of local Boards of Examining Chaplains or in local “Training Programs.” The age spread of the 10 per cent who did not have a full three-year seminary course was 17 age 21-31; 133 age 32-40; 68 age 41-50; and 29 age over 50. 152 of these men were college graduates; 74 had college training of less than four years; and 31 had no college training.

It was noted that of the 83 dioceses and missionary districts replying to the questionnaire, 64 reported some men prepared for the ministry without a full three-year seminary course, with two of the dioceses replying reporting special training programs.

The Commission is definitely and strongly of the opinion that a relaxation of standards of intellectual requirements for ordination in the face of local or general shortages promises no real solution of the problem of ministering to people under modern conditions. Between 1952 and 1957, approximately 165 men enrolled in clergy training schools of a local nature in preparation for Holy Orders. In the same period, there were 1,665 men enrolled in seminaries for the normal three-year course. In other words, 10 per cent of the men preparing for Holy Orders during this period were being trained in diocesan schools on a part-time basis. An additional 95 men were being prepared under the direction of Examining Chaplains. Of the total number preparing for Holy Orders outside seminaries, 42 per cent were not college graduates.

Most of the students enrolled in these schools were over 32 years of age. Virtually all were engaged in full time secular employment, or, in one diocese, as lay workers in the Church. Classes are held in the evenings and on weekends. Faculty members are drawn from neighboring clergy who are engaged in full time parochial, missionary or institutional work. Two of the schools have full time salaried directors.

Historically, the Episcopal Church has stood for the highest standards of theological education. It accepts a three-year course in an accredited seminary as normative. The vast majority of the students are college graduates. Competent, fulltime faculty members, adequate libraries of thousands of volumes and adequate teaching facilities are considered essential.

A large scale compromise of the academic norm carries with it the most serious implications for the future of the Church. It is of especial concern to us today when the Seminaries of other denominations are strengthening their educational programs and standards of admissions, and when the secular professional schools of science, law, medicine, et cetera, are enforcing increasingly higher academic standards.

The raison d'être of the Episcopal seminary is not, however, merely academic preparation for Holy Orders. Over and above the academic enterprise, it is the seminary's fundamental task to guide, strengthen and nurture the spiritual lives of its students within the framework of a community infused with a certain spirit and will. Theology finds its liturgical expression in the daily, ordered services of the community in the seminary Chapel. It is filtered, refined and clarified in the out-of-class associations of the students with other students and with professors, whose vocation is teaching and who have been prepared for this specific and high calling. It is in the unique seminary community that the ethos of the Episcopal Church, so necessary to the fulfillment of priesthood, is most effectively communicated.

"Community life contributes to the development of the theological student at almost every point. For three years or more, his mind is molded and his spirit nourished by his interaction with his fellow students and teachers. The Seminary is both his church and his school. In it, he is drawn to love and serve both God and man. His relationships have value not only for himself; he serves his teachers, his fellow students and church, as he is being served. Manifold institutional regulations are developed to facilitate this communal life. Yet some of its most personal meanings can never be rationalized and articulated. It constitutes an occasion and context in which God's actions are made known to men called to serve Him in the churches." (Niebuhr Report, Vol. 2, p. 174.)
We envisage the distinct possibility that the continuance, growth and proliferations of the local training schools will produce clergy inadequately equipped to contribute to the expansion and deepening of the Church's life that their ordination is designed to accomplish. They hamper the recruitment of young men with proper qualifications established by Canon Law, a sufficient number of whom would meet the problem of the present shortage. We believe they will create in the church-at-large a class structure among the clergy of men who will often feel apologetic for their lack of three-year seminary training.

At the same time, the Commission recognizes that the Church must take measures to solve the financial problem faced by properly qualified men, sometimes older and with family responsibilities, who seek to fulfill the normal requirements for ordination. And we urge the authorities in the seminaries to explore carefully the possibilities of offering admission to more men of maturity whose experience may have given them an equipment for theological studies quite the equivalent of that which is represented by a college degree. The Commission finds that the seminaries are aware of the problem and ready now to accept a greater measure of responsibility in attempting to meet it.

We are bound to urge caution in any such measures, and strict observance of the limits prescribed by the American Association of Theological Schools as to admission of men without college degrees. But we believe that the seminaries can do more than they are doing, within these limits, to recognize vocations in older men, add to the Church's supply of clergy, and eliminate the ground for special training schools; and all this without in any way jeopardizing formal accreditation or the actual quality of instruction.

Further, the administration and boards of trustees of those recognized schools that are operating below capacity should look carefully into the reasons for this state of affairs and see if remedies cannot be found and applied. The Church as a whole should be brought to recognize a general responsibility to help, financially and otherwise, where honest efforts in this direction are made. Surely, this is preferable to the proliferation of diocesan training centers and to the establishment of new seminaries before the need is clearly apparent and imminent. The 11 existing seminaries should, ideally, be able to accommodate very close to 1,400 ordinands, and graduate at least 425 men per year. Normal accessions from other sources might be expected to average 70 to 80.

While it may seem like a counsel of despair to admit it, it does not seem likely that the Church will make effective use of greater numbers in the next few years, unless those ordained are of a quality to bring new life and vigor to this Episcopal Church.

3. FUTURE DEMANDS UPON THE CHURCH'S SEMINARIES

The Church in America faces in the years ahead one of the greatest tasks and opportunities in its history. We are heading into years of danger and uncertainty, in a time of material plenty. A revival of religious interest has not resulted in a strengthening of the moral and spiritual fibre of our people. Materialism and complacency are the great threats to our leadership among the nations.
Recently we as a nation have become gravely concerned about the quality of American education, particularly in the field of mathematics and sciences. Schemes and programs are being developed to improve our weaknesses in these areas. We are moving into the age of space with deep awareness of the possibility of total human extinction through nuclear war, and a commitment to make good some of our deficits in military defense and scientific education.

For Christians this is not enough. It is important for the country to be militarily prepared and scientifically educated; it is far more important for us to be aware of our true nature as children of God redeemed by Christ and inheritors of the Kingdom of heaven.

Only a Church dedicated to the Gospel of the Living Christ can answer His demands in such an age as ours. For the effective preaching and communication of His Word, for the bearing of witness to His love and judgment, only the ablest and most carefully trained men will do in the ministry. Never before has theological education and its thorough support by the whole Church been more urgent. As the standards of general education are improved in this country, those of theological education in our Church must improve as well. The urgency of the times, the demands of the Gospel, and our tradition of an educated and highly trained ministry require it.

All surveys now being made of needs of colleges indicate that between now and 1970 the enrollment of college students in this country will double. Since seminary enrollments usually follow college enrollments by a gap of three to four years, this means that our seminaries can expect a comparable increase between now and 1975.

This presents several problems to the seminaries that need to be prepared for now:

1. Need for greatly increasing faculty members. Since 1930 the course and student load has risen sharply for faculty members. Since seminaries are the main intellectual centers of the Church's life, time must be given faculty members for creative study and thought beyond the routine preparation of lectures, teaching hours, and conferences with students. Since the load on our teachers is already a problem in all our seminaries, the ways and means of finding additional competent faculty members are of extreme urgency to the whole Church.

2. Further needs to accommodate increased enrollment, which will cover building and housing of all types.

3. The experience of colleges and universities in recent years has been that 50 per cent of their income has been derived from industry, government, and foundations. That of medical schools has been 56 per cent. Since similar support will not be given to our seminaries from these sources, it is incumbent upon the whole Church to be made aware of this problem.

The Joint Commission on Theological Education is convinced that a study must be made of projected capital needs for building and endowments; of the need for further faculty appointments; and the need for increasing current operating income to support the increased development of the seminaries. We have therefore requested the National Council to finance such a study and to authorize the Unit of Research and Field Study to make this study in cooperation with the Joint Commission.

4. THE NIEBUHR REPORT, THE ROCKEFELLER FELLOWSHIPS AND THE FACULTY FELLOWSHIPS OF THE A.A.T.S.

The Study of Theological Education in the United States and Canada under the direction of Dr. H. Richard Niebuhr, chairman, Dr. Daniel Day Williams and Dr. James Gustafson, and financed by the Carnegie Foundation, produced three volumes published in 1956 and 1957. The Purpose of the Church and Its Ministry by Dr. Niebuhr appeared in 1956 and The Ministry in Historical Perspectives, edited by Dr. Niebuhr and Dr. Williams appeared in 1957; these two volumes treat the concepts of the ministry from earliest days to the present, with emphasis in Dr. Niebuhr's book placed on the role of the minister as "pastoral director" in many parishes today. The last of the three volumes, The Advancement of Theological Education, contains comparative statistics of various aspects of theological school operations both between the present and the situation 30 years ago and among various types of schools in the present. It underlines the decreasing percentage of operating funds devoted to instruction and the increased student and/or teaching load per faculty member. The authors point to the adverse effect this may have on the quality of instruction. They also point out the generally known fact that educational costs are rising much faster than endowment income and suggest that whereas secular schools can look for supplemental government assistance, seminaries must look to the Church for help in maintaining the quality of theological instruction by increased Church-wide support.

The Rockefeller Brothers Theological Fellowship Program has now been in operation for four years. This program provides one year of seminary study to young men and women who have not decided on a vocation. Nominations of promising young people are made by college faculties and clergymen, and the nominees are interviewed by screening committee centers around the United States and Canada. To date 140 fellowships have been awarded, 15 to Episcopalians. This program will, over the years, be a fine recruiting service for the ministry of the Church.

The Sealantic Fund, also established by the Rockefellers, has made available Faculty Fellowships under the supervision of the American Association of Theological Schools. These fellowships are for a year of study and research. They will prove of great benefit to faculty members who wish to carry on their own study and research beyond the doctoral level, and they will encourage schools to establish a program of Sabbatical leaves where such a program does not presently exist. This program has been set up to make possible the execution of certain policies in regard to faculty study recommended by the Niebuhr report.

A grant of $65,000 has been made to the American Association of Theological Schools by the Lilly Foundation for the year 1958 to provide scholarship help to senior students at accredited seminaries. The purpose of these scholarships is to allow seniors of proven ability to be relieved of the necessity to engage in outside work for support in order that they may devote their full time in their last year of seminary preparation to their studies.

We express our appreciation to these three foundations for their interest in, and support of, the enterprise of theological education in the United States and Canada.
5. ACCREDITATION AND RECOGNITION OF SEMINARIES

The Commission is glad to report the accreditation in 1956 of the Episcopal Theological Seminary of the Southwest by the American Association of Theological Schools. This was accomplished in the shortest possible time the rules of the Association allow in the case of this newest of our seminaries.

Nine of the recognized seminaries are now accredited, and the other two, Sewanee and Philadelphia, enjoy the status of Associate Membership. The Commission has heretofore recorded its conviction "that the Church should recognize no Seminary which is not aiming at such accreditation, with a real prospect of success at no very distant time." (Journal, 1955; p. 627.) We feel that we cannot but adhere to that conviction.

6. THE THEOLOGICAL SEMINARY IN KENTUCKY

Following the meeting of the General Convention in 1955, the Chairman of the Commission received a request from the authorities of the Theological Seminary in Kentucky that it be granted representation on the Joint Commission by its Dean or his representative and that the Board of Trustees of that Seminary be given the benefit of the advice of the Joint Commission.

In order that the Commission might have all available information concerning the Kentucky Seminary the Executive Committee constituted a special committee of the Commission to visit and examine the state of the Seminary. This committee visited the Seminary early in May, 1956. The information obtained as a result of this visitation was submitted to the entire Joint Commission at its meeting in Austin, Texas, in December, 1956.

The Joint Commission is of the opinion that some criterion must be established whereby it can be determined whether or not an "institution of learning shall be recognized as a Theological Seminary of this Church" and whether or not such institution conforms "in its course of study to the standards laid down in the Canons of General Convention" in the meaning of Canon 30, Sec. 1. It is the conclusion of the Commission that an institution of learning should be so recognized when it conforms to the basic requirements established by the American Association of Theological Schools for associate membership in that organization.

As a result of this conclusion the Commission transmitted to the Rector and Dean of the Theological Seminary in Kentucky copies of the report of the visitation to the Seminary and informed them that it was the judgment of the Commission that recognition and acceptance of the Seminary as "a Theological Seminary of this Church", in the meaning of Canon 30, Sec. 1, should be accorded when the Joint Commission is satisfied that the Seminary in its organization and in its program of Theological Education conforms to the following requirements for Associate Membership in the American Association of Theological Schools:

1. The school should have at least four full time qualified professors giving their time to the work of post-college theological education, the degree of this service to be calculated independently of the contribution of part-time members of the faculty.

2. The school should have an enrollment of at least 25 students.

3. The school must operate predominantly on a post-college level.
4. The school should present evidence that it is carrying on a strong educational program and has sufficient stability and permanence to maintain it.

5. The school should have a sufficient degree of separateness and independence from any other institution with which it may be associated to identify its assets, its expenditures, and its functions as a theological school.

7. OVERSEAS THEOLOGICAL EDUCATION

The Joint Commission believes that its canonical responsibility extends to theological education in preparation for the ordained ministry throughout the Church. While it has not formerly felt able to render assistance outside the work of the theological seminaries in the United States, it has during this triennium begun studies of theological training in those jurisdictions under the oversight of the Overseas Department of the National Council. For this purpose a special Sub-Committee on Overseas Theological Education was appointed and made its first report in 1957.

A request was received from the Overseas Department for advice and guidance regarding the proposed establishment of a central theological school in the Caribbean area for the training of candidates for the ministry from the various Latin American countries where this Church is now at work. After a year's study the Commission stated in reply that it must advise against the establishment of a central seminary for Latin America, and urge on the other hand the strengthening of existing overseas theological schools and the creation of new ones in individual jurisdictions when and where the demand seems to exist. A full report in explanation of this advice was submitted to the Overseas Department along with various suggestions regarding the strengthening of overseas theological education.

The Commission has also recommended, in accordance with Canon 30, Sec. 3, which has formerly been interpreted as applying only to the recognized theological seminaries in the United States, that each theological school within the jurisdiction of the Overseas Department be requested to present yearly reports to be made on forms prepared and provided by the Joint Commission.

8. THE COMMISSION'S SYLLABUS AND BIBLIOGRAPHY

In 1948 the Commission published "Theological Studies and Examinations: A Syllabus" as a guide to Examining Chaplains and others in elaboration of the canonical requirements of intellectual achievement of postulants and candidates for the ministry. This text is now in its third printing, and current demand for it amounts to about 500 copies per year.

"Theological Studies and Examinations: A Bibliography" was published in 1955 as a companion to the Syllabus, to indicate the standard literature available for theological study. This has not been so much in demand—less than 400 copies per year in 1956 and 1957—but the Commission has nevertheless felt that it should be available and not allowed to become obsolete. A special committee is at work on a revision to take account of recent publications; and the revised edition will be published before 1959.

These two publications together with "A Guide to the Canons on the Ministry" are available at a slight charge from the Processing Unit, National Council, 281 Fourth Avenue, New York 10, N.Y.
9. TRAINING PROGRAMS FOR THE PERPETUAL DIACONATE

During the triennium the Commission conducted a survey on the Perpetual Diaconate addressing inquiry to all Chairmen of Diocesan and District Boards of Examining Chaplains. The purpose of the survey was to ascertain how many dioceses and missionary districts were accepting men for the Perpetual Diaconate under Canon 34, Sec. 10, how many men have been ordained or are now in process of preparation for ordination to the Perpetual Diaconate, how many were college graduates, and how many men so ordained have been advanced to the priesthood, in which case how they were prepared for this step.

Eighty-three of 99 dioceses and missionary districts responded, and of these 51 do accept men for the Perpetual Diaconate and 32 do not. Since 1952 in the 83 dioceses or missionary districts who replied 127 men have been thus ordained, 42 age 32-40, 45 age 41-50, and 40 age over 50 years. 77 men are in process of preparation for such ordination. Of the 204 ordained or in process of preparation for ordination to the Perpetual Diaconate 99 are college graduates. Of the 127 ordained since 1952, 12 have been accepted for the Priesthood, one taking the normal three-year seminary course, 11 studying under the direction of local Boards of Examining Chaplains, in a Diocesan "School of Religion" or under a local rector.

Perhaps it is too early to say whether or not the Perpetual Diaconate is a "back door" into the full time ministry, but the survey indicates that fewer than 6 per cent of those who have been ordained to the Perpetual Diaconate have been accepted for ordination to the Priesthood.

The Commission expresses its intention to continue its interest in the training and ordination of men to the Perpetual Diaconate, and will seek further information in the coming triennium.

10. DURATION OF CANDIDACY

There are many instances when it is inadvisable to admit a Postulant to candidacy as early as two years prior to the time when it would normally be expected that he would apply to be ordered Deacon. Moreover, one interpretation (perhaps the more general interpretation) of the last sentence of Canon 34, Sec. 2, viz., "In the computation of time required to elapse between his admission as a Candidate and his ordering as a Deacon, the successful completion of the last two years in any incorporated Seminary of this Church may be considered as equivalent to two calendar years," could result in the reduction of the period of candidacy to a matter of weeks or even days. We recommend, therefore, that this section be amended by the omission of some of the qualifying provisions, with a view to eliminating this ambiguity and guaranteeing a duration of at least six months to candidacy for Holy Orders.

11. TIMES OFCanonical EXAMINATIONS

In every report to the General Convention since 1949 the Commission has adverted to the problems faced by the Examining Chaplains in the dioceses, and by the seminaries in the matter of the setting of times for canonical examinations.

Seminary administration is greatly complicated by diocesan examinations fixed at a variety of times during the academic year. Yet the pressure to get men ordained as quickly as possible is serious, and the examiners are sometimes left no choice but to yield to it. In 1955 the Commission recommended in strong terms that canonical examinations be deferred until the end of the academic year, and that men who have completed the middle year then be examined in subjects they have studied, other examinations being put off until after graduation.

Diocesan authorities have pleaded in turn, that varying dates of seminary graduations complicate their problems, and that to adopt the Commission’s recommendation is a practical impossibility. The widespread shortening of the diaconate and the urge to ordain men priests before Christmas constitute limiting factors, of a validity, however, that has been called in question.

Some of the seminaries with latest graduation dates are bound, in their calendars, to college or university schedules. And it is a great handicap in the seminary curriculum to be under the necessity of completing the canonical subjects before the final term of the senior year.

The impasse seems complete.

Yet we are glad to record the fact that several dioceses have in recent years adopted the Commission’s recommendation to the letter, deferring all ordinations of seminary men until after graduation, and all examinations until the end of the academic year. A further palliative may be noted in the increasing practice of examiners in transmitting written tests to seminary authorities for administration, thereby relieving candidates of the necessity of absenting themselves from Seminary engagements for appointments necessarily fixed at the convenience of the examiners.

On the whole, we have no choice but to renew our recommendations as stated above, with a plea that examiners who are under pressure that makes full adoption of them impossible avoid any measures that require students to absent themselves from fixed engagements in the seminary calendar.

12. PROVINCIAL BOARDS OF EXAMINING CHAPLAINS

In its report to the General Convention in 1955 the Commission strongly recommended the formation of Provincial Boards of Examining Chaplains implementing Canon 31, Sec. 7, stating that “It is in the best interests of theological education and of the level of intellectual competence of the clergy that there be a general raising of the standards of canonical examinations and introduction of greater uniformity in administration and in the range and character of the attainments required in the several subjects.’ The achievement of these ends could be secured by the constitution of provincial boards of examining chaplains . . .”

During the past triennium the Commission was gratified to learn that five of the eight Provinces had made constitutional provision for such boards and had organized Provincial Boards of Examining Chaplains. In each case where organization has been effected representation of all Diocesan or Missionary District Boards of Examining Chaplains by their chairmen or alternates was directed, and beginnings made in the preparation of syllabi and examination papers for the use and guidance of Diocesan or District Boards. In one Province an attempt is being made to give the same examinations to candidates of all dioceses in that Province with the examination papers being sent to the respective diocesan boards for administration.
We offer encouragement to those Provinces who have not yet imple­mented Canon 31, Sec. 7, and urge that they too organize Provincial Boards of Examining Chaplains. We are glad to know that five Provinces have thus acted and urge that they maintain and strengthen existing Provincial Boards. We believe that in this way Diocesan and District Boards of Ex­amining Chaplains will be aided in the fulfillment of their responsibilities, and that existing variety of standards and eccentricities will be minimized.

13. FINANCIAL CONDITION OF SEMINARIES DURING 1955-57 TRIENNIAL

The most important fact concerning the financial operations of the semi­naries during the current triennium is that total costs of operations for all seminaries for the current triennium have increased 29 per cent, while total revenues from all sources have only increased 27 per cent. This is a decided improvement over the previous triennium when total costs increased 36 per cent, while total revenues increased only 29 per cent. However, it is evident that costs of operating all seminaries increased slightly more than we have been able to obtain additional revenues.

During the current triennium, the greatest increase in expenditures was for library books and periodicals, which amounted to 88 per cent; while financial administration incurred the next largest increase in costs—70 per cent in comparison with the previous triennium. Theological Education Sunday offerings showed very gratifying results producing a 43 per cent increase in revenue.

This information is set forth in Table I, which presents a comparison between total revenue and expenses for the current triennium (1955-57) and the previous triennium (1952-54).

Our studies of the financial operations of all seminaries determined the following pertinent facts:

1. An analysis of the current triennium shows that for the school years of 1954-55 and 1956-57 revenues exceeded expenses by $44,959 and $33,900 respectively; but that in the year of 1955-56 costs exceeded revenues, resulting in a deficit of $11,067 for all seminaries. Refer to Table II, which presents a summarized financial statement for all seminaries for the current triennium (1955-57).

2. For the fiscal school year 1956-57 eight seminaries received sufficient revenues to meet expenses and had balances on hand at the end of the period. However, three seminaries, namely Southwest, Virginia and Nashotah, were unable to balance their budgets and incurred deficits for this period. This indicates some improvement over the fiscal school year of 1953-54 of the previous triennium when five of the seminaries were unable to balance their budgets.

Note: Appended are complete financial reports and statements showing costs and receipts per student for each seminary for the school years 1955, 1956 and 1957.

3. The total costs to educate a student amounted to $1,968 for the school year 1956-57, compared to $531 per student for the 1953-54 school year of school year (1953-54). Payments from students averaged $581 for tuition, board and room, including scholarships and G.I. assistance for the school year 1956-57 (see Table III), compared to $1,699 for the previous triennium the previous triennium. Individual student charges were increased for 1956-57 at seven seminaries which increased receipts from students by 14 per cent during this current triennium. The student receipts for this triennium cover approximately 30 per cent of the total costs of educating each student at all seminaries; however, during the previous triennium total student receipts covered approximately 34 per cent of the total educational costs. Therefore, it is very evident that despite the increases, student charges have still not kept pace with the rising costs of education during this current triennium.

4. Theological Education Sunday offerings this triennium covered approximately 22 per cent of the total costs of educating a student in comparison with approximately 20 per cent of the total costs per student for the previous triennium. Revenues from this source amount to $495 per student for the school year 1956-57, in relation to $340 per student received for the 1953-54 school year.

5. All remaining income derived through invested funds, contributions and special gifts was equal to 49 per cent of the total costs of educating each student for both trienniums. These receipts per student amounted to $919 for the year 1956-57 as compared to $821 per student for the school year 1953-54.

It may be concluded that although there has been a very substantial increase in revenues, particularly from Theological Education Sunday offerings the over-all trend of the seminaries' general financial conditions has declined during this current triennium due to the continuously rising cost of education. In the case of four seminaries, in particular (Bexley, Nashotah, Southwest, and Virginia), there is still a great need for additional funds adequately to operate these seminaries to meet the growing needs of the Church.

To provide sound financial support to our Church's seminaries and to meet the ever growing need for clergy, we recommend the following:

A. That seminaries advise students, dioceses, and home parishes of the actual yearly cost to educate a priest for their seminary by reference to the appended reports for the year 1957.

B. Increased participation by all parishes. The congregations of the churches that have responded splendidly to the needs of the seminaries are to be commended. It is essential that our clergy and laymen present to the Church membership the need for increasing contributions and participations by all parishes.

14. Appropriation

In addition to the expenses involved in the several meetings referred to at the beginning of this report, which we consider to be absolutely necessary if we are to carry out our responsibilities, the Commission is charged each year for the printing and mailing of the general promotional materials for Theological Education Sunday, and not inconsiderable expense is involved in the transaction of the business of the Commission. As a result our expenses during the triennium have really exceeded the amount appropriated by the General Convention, as it was necessary for the Seminaries to bear the expenses of their Deans and for some members of the Commission to bear all or a part of their expenses in travelling to the second meeting of the Commission.

In order that we may be enabled to perform more effectively the duties and responsibilities assigned to us, we are therefore requesting that the appropriation for the coming triennium be increased to $13,000 and we submit a resolution therefor.

15. Resolutions

Resolution 1

Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that the General Convention accepts and approves the Report of the Joint Commission on Theological Education and recommends it to the attention of the trustees and faculties of our Church's Seminaries, to the National Council, and to the clergy and laity of the Church.

Resolution 2

Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that the request of the Joint Commission on Theological Education for authorization to enlarge its Executive Committee by the addition of four additional laymen be approved.

Resolution 3

Resolved, The House of . . . concurring, that Canon 34, Sec. 2., be amended to read as follows:

"Sec. 2. No one shall be ordered Deacon within two years from his admission as Candidate for Holy Orders, unless the Bishop, with the advice and consent of a majority of all the members of the Standing Committee, shall shorten the time of his candidateship; and in no case shall the time be shortened to less than six months."

Resolution 4

WHEREAS, The demands of the Church upon its theological seminaries for the proper training of men for the sacred ministry are constantly increasing; and

WHEREAS, Income from endowments and from students' fees is entirely inadequate to support the required programs; therefore be it Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that the General Convention calls upon every parish and mission of the Church to observe Theological Education Sunday in a manner befitting the need, and to take an offering on that day, or on another day chosen for the purpose, for the support of the seminaries of the Church.

Resolution 5

Whereas, The problems involved in the maintaining of high standards for theological education in the Church demand the constant attention of the Joint Commission on Theological Education; and

Whereas, The work of the Commission is of vital importance to the welfare and growth of the Church; therefore be it

Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that the Committee on Expenses be authorized and instructed to provide in the budget for the next triennium an appropriation of $13,000 for the expenses of the Joint Commission on Theological Education.

The Treasurer is pleased to report that all assessments for the Triennium 1955-58 have been paid in full, continuing a record long established by the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America.

FRANK GULDEN, Treasurer.
The Commission has held five regular meetings during the triennium. Two of these were extended sessions in order to include joint meetings with the Commission on Church Union of the Methodist Church. There were also two special subcommittee meetings with subcommittees of the Commission on Church Union of the Methodist Church.

The major achievement of the Commission during this triennium has been the drafting, jointly with the Commission on Church Union of the Methodist Church, of a document suggesting a procedure by which intercommunion between these two Christian bodies may some day be achieved. At its present stage the document does not represent the final proposal of either Commission but rather a general meeting of minds with reference to how such an official proposal may eventually be formulated.

I.

The Commission has worked during the past triennium on the same presuppositions which lay behind its work during the trienniums 1949-52 and 1952-55. It has believed that its assignment was to negotiate with other Christian bodies toward achieving an arrangement of intercommunion (intercelebration). It believes that the possession of the historic episcopate in both negotiating bodies and a mutual agreement on the principles of the Statement of Faith and Order in Harmony with the Lambeth Quadrilateral as adopted by the Lambeth Conference of 1948 and the General Convention of 1949 are necessary prerequisites for such intercommunion.

The Commission has become increasingly aware during this triennium that the fulfillment of its assignment is part of a much larger process. Negotiations parallel to those which have been carried on with the Methodist Church in the United States have also been carried on during the same period between a commission appointed by the Archbishop of Canterbury for the Church of England and a commission of the Methodist Church in England. At the same time still another commission appointed by the Archbishop of Canterbury has been making a new exploration of possibilities for church union with the Presbyterian Churches of Scotland and England. The theme of the recent Oberlin Conference of the North American Faith and Order Conference sponsored by the United States Section of the Faith and Order Division of the World Council of Churches, the National Council of the Churches of Christ in America and the Canadian Council of Churches likewise points to a larger concern in matters of Christian reunion.

The Commission notes that during the past triennium union has been achieved between the Congregational-Christian Church and the Evangelical and Reformed Church, which have come together to form the United Church of Christ in America. The Chairman of this Commission was asked by the Presiding Bishop to be the Episcopal Church’s delegate at the unification service in Cleveland, Ohio.

II.

In line with its mandate from the General Convention, the Commission began the triennium, as it has previous trienniums, by asking the Secretary to write to officers of the Methodist Church, the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. (Northern Presbyterian), and the United Lutheran Church conveying the greetings of this Commission and inviting negotiations.

Conversations with the Methodist Church continued and will be described in the next section of this report. Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, Stated Clerk of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., and Dr. Franklin Clark Fry, President of the United Lutheran Church, both replied that direct negotiations were not possible at present with their respective bodies because of prior commitments to achieve unity within Presbyterianism and Lutheranism, but that informal conversations might be possible. There has been some discussion as to whether negotiations might be possible with the Presbyterian Church, U.S. (Southern Presbyterian). Aside from informal conversations between the Chairman of this Commission and representatives of that communion, there has been no developments during this triennium.

In the light of the failure of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and the Presbyterian Church, U.S., to unite, it is possible that conversations with the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. may become of more immediate interest in the near future, particularly since the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. and the United Presbyterian Church are presently in the process of merging. At this time, however, such conversations will have to be deferred to the next triennium.

III.

As has been mentioned in the introduction, the major effort of this Commission during the triennium has been the drafting of a document indicating possibilities for achieving intercommunion on the basis of the Statement of Faith and Order and a mutually recognized historic episcopate. These negotiations took the form of dealing with a sequence of Methodist replies to a proposal made during the last triennium (1952-55) by Canon Alden D. Kelley, now Sub-Warden of St. Augustine's College, Canterbury, and formerly Dean of Seabury-Western Theological Seminary and Vice Chairman of this Commission. The Methodist document was revised several times in the course of conversations while at the same time the members of this Commission found opportunity to study more intimately that which is constitutive of Methodism in America. At a meeting of the Commission in St. Louis in February, 1957, Bishop Gerald Ensley of the Iowa Area, Methodist Church, presented a description of the ethos of Methodism and answered questions in detail, leading to a much clearer appreciation of the Methodist tradition and teaching.

In the course of these developments, the Methodist delegation co-opted the Rev. Dr. J. Robert Nelson, formerly Secretary for Faith and Order of the World Council of Churches and presently Dean of Vanderbilt Theological School, to serve as special advisor in preparing a considered Methodist answer to the Episcopalian proposal.

As a result of Dr. Nelson's work the Methodist Church did present its answer at a meeting in St. Louis on September 19, 1957, following which Bishop Bayne, co-opted member of this Commission, and Dr. Kean, the Secretary, and Bishop Newell of the Methodist Commission and Dr. Nelson, co-opted member, were instructed to draft a joint document representing the consensus of the two commissions at the present. While this document, as has been said before, does not represent the final thinking of this Commission, it does represent a hopeful direction. The proposal is not complete. It will be subject to further exploration and discussion.

The Presiding Bishop had been invited by the Archbishop of Canterbury to report this Commission's thinking for discussion at the Lambeth Conference and the Chairman was authorized to transmit this document as representative of the Commission's thinking at this time. At the same time the Commission has thought it well to release this proposal to the press.

IV.

The Commission was saddened in June, 1956, by the death of its longtime member and former Secretary, Alexander C. Zabriskie, and the following resolution was adopted:

"WHEREAS, God in His infinite mercy and goodness has called to the higher service of the Church our friend and brother, Alexander Clinton Zabriskie, priest and doctor; therefore be it

"Resolved, That we, the members of the Joint Commission on Approaches to Unity, mindful of his life-long devotion to the cause of Christian reunion, do hereby record our sense of gratitude for his ministry of Christian reconciliation and for the witness of his life to the conviction that 'they all may be one'; and be it further

"Resolved, That we do hereby acknowledge our debt of appreciation and gratitude for his long service on the Joint Commission on Approaches to Unity, of which he served for twelve years as secretary; and in the proceedings of which he contributed greatly through his wide acquaintance with both the leaders and traditions of other Christian bodies; and be it further

"Resolved, That this resolution be spread upon the minutes of the Joint Commission on Approaches to Unity and that a copy thereof be sent to his family."

The Commission was further saddened by the death six months later of the Rt. Rev. Stephen Edwards Keeler, D.D., Bishop of Minnesota and former Chairman of this Commission, who, although not a member during the past triennium, maintained a lively interest in the proceedings of this Commission, and the following memorial minute was adopted:

"WHEREAS, The Joint Commission on Approaches to Unity sits in formal meeting for the first time since the lamented death of our beloved former Chairman, the Rt. Rev. Stephen Edwards Keeler; therefore be it

"Resolved, That we now record our thanks to Almighty God in appreciation of Bishop Keeler's long and fruitful ministry and especially of his service in the cause of Christian unity during eleven years as a member of this Commission and six years as its Chairman; and we acknowledge our great indebtedness to his leadership, under which was adopted the plan, now endorsed by the Church, of seeking Intercommunion with other Christian Bodies as the first step toward the goal of organic union, and under which the current negotiations seeking such Intercommunion with the Methodist Church were initiated; and be it further
"Resolved, That this resolution be spread upon the minutes of the Joint Commission on Approaches to Unity and that a copy thereof be sent to his family."

The Commission had to accept with regret the resignation of Dr. Alden Drew Kelley, who had been a member for many years, when Dr. Kelley was appointed Sub-Warden of St. Augustine's College, Canterbury.

The Rt. Rev. Arthur Lichtenberger, D.D., Bishop of Missouri, who has been appointed to serve on this Commission, felt it necessary to resign when he became Chairman of the Joint Commission on Theological Education. The Commission notes with gratitude the appointment by the Presiding Bishop of the Rt. Rev. Gerald Francis Burrill, D.D., Bishop of Chicago, to take his place.

The Commission was greatly pleased when the President of the House of Clerical and Lay Deputies appointed the Rev. Powel Mills Dawley, Ph.D., Sub-Dean of the General Theological Seminary, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Zabriskie, and the Very Rev. Sherman E. Johnson, D.D., Dean of the Church Divinity School of the Pacific, to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Dr. Kelley.

By unanimous vote at the beginning of the triennium, the Commission requested the Bishop of Olympia, the Rt. Rev. Stephen F. Bayne, Jr., D.D., to serve as a co-opted member and as liaison with the Commission on Ecumenical Relations. Bishop Bayne has given very generously of his time and energy to the work of this Commission and we are grateful for his contributions to our work.

V. RESOLUTIONS

Your Commission would close its report with the following resolutions:

1. Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that the Joint Commission on Approaches to Unity be continued, and that it be directed to continue negotiations with the Methodist Church and the Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, and to initiate or further such conversations with representatives of such other Christian bodies as in its judgment may lead to closer fellowship with them.

2. Resolved, The House of ... concurring, that the Treasurer of General Convention be directed to provide the sum of $12,000.00 for the general expenses of the Commission on Approaches to Unity during the coming triennium.

A TENTATIVE PROPOSAL FOR REACHING INTERCOMMUNION

BETWEEN THE PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH

AND

THE METHODIST CHURCH

(As edited February 4, 1958)

I. PREFACE

"Can we call ourselves Christian, followers of Him who prayed that all of His disciples might be one, and bar one another from His table?" The Archbishop of Canterbury's question is as fully Christian as it is timely when in his Cambridge sermon on November 3, 1946, he said, "It is not possible yet nor desirable that any church should merge its identity in a newly constituted union. What I desire is that I shall be able freely to enter their churches and they mine in the Sacraments of the Lord and in the full fellowship of worship, that His life may freely circulate between us. Have we the wisdom, the humility, the love, and the spirit of Christ sufficient for such a venture?"

A. The source of motivation for the patient and often frustrating work of these two Commissions, on behalf of their respective Churches, is their belief in the One, Holy, Catholic and Apostolic Church. Any effort on the part of members of the two Churches must be in accord with the revealed will of God, so far as by faith, reason and conscience they can apprehend it.

B. Their common heritage and the many similarities between these two Churches in the present time can be traced and defined. The Methodist movement continued for many years within the Church of England. The American Revolution was the occasion of two historic changes: first, The Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America became an autonomous Province of the Anglican Communion in 1783; second, the Methodist Church organized itself as a separate communion in 1784. This latter act was an event of schism which has more often been deplored than defended by thoughtful spokesmen of the now separated communions. The Methodist Church has retained a large measure of the Anglican usage which Wesley and his followers treasured. The ritual and liturgical practices, especially, are more similar than many uninformed persons imagine. (Cf. the comparative study published by the two Commissions, 1952). And by retaining an episcopal form of government from the start, the Methodists in America remained even closer in form to Anglicanism than did those in Britain.
Nevertheless, a realistic appraisal of the present character of the two communions must include the observation that the practice of the Methodist Church since Wesley's time has become increasingly like the non-episcopal reformed churches of Britain and America; while the Anglican churches have experienced, and variously appropriated the emphases of, the Catholic Revival.

The mutual affinity of Churches of the Anglican Communion with those of world Methodism is more clearly demonstrated today than at any time during the past 150 years. Approaches towards closer fellowship, inter-communion, or organic union involving them, often along with others, are currently being pursued in England, Ceylon, India, Nigeria, Ghana and Australia. Even though the Protestant Episcopal Church and the Methodist Church are autonomous bodies, it is evident that they are now involved in a unitive movement which is world-wide. But particularly urgent and promising is this movement in America, where Methodists and Episcopalians have so many opportunities for common life.

C. While the members of the Unity Commissions of the Protestant Episcopal Church and The Methodist Church rejoice at the possibility of achieving intercommunion between the two Churches, they recognize that such an accomplishment is at best but one step toward the ultimate hope "that they all may be one."

II. PRESUPPOSITIONS UNDERLYING THIS PROPOSAL AS HEREOFHER SET FORTH ARE THOUGHT TO BE HELD IN COMMON BY BOTH CHURCHES.

A. There is but one universal Church of Jesus Christ, who Himself gives unity to its members. The unity of the Church must be visibly manifest in faith and order: in worship, witness and common life.

B. The Protestant Episcopal Church and The Methodist Church are both within the Holy Catholic Church, and their individual baptized members are mutually recognized as members of Christ's Church.

C. Since no communion in divided Christendom alone can embody the fullness of the universal Church, both Episcopalians and Methodists would expect to come closer to that fullness through the sharing of the gifts of God in fellowship and intercommunion with one another.

D. Churches of both communions seek to express their convictions of historic continuity with the Church of apostolic times. The chief instruments of this continuity are: the ordained ministry, Holy Scripture, preaching the Gospel, doctrines and creeds, the dominical Sacraments of Baptism and Holy Communion, and a life in corporate fellowship.

E. The intercommunion which is being sought is to be understood as the mutual and reciprocal sacramental communion between the two Churches. It includes the possibility of the interchange of ministers as celebrants and the privilege of communicant members of each to participate fully in the services of Holy Communion in churches of the other.

F. Following an agreement on full intercommunion, each Church is free to continue fellowship and intercommunion with any other Church with which it had previously agreed to have such relationships, and neither Church would in the future establish intercommunion or organic union with any additional Church without due consultation with the other.

G. Recognizing that the fellowship they seek does not require uniformity of all doctrine and practice, both the Protestant Episcopal Church and The Methodist Church accord each to the other liberty in interpreting the historic episcopate.

(At this stage of our conversations with the Methodists, the full theological implications of this point have not yet been explored in joint discussion.)

H. Each Church recognizes the ministry of the other as having been used by God for the witness of His Word, the care of His people, and the upbuilding of His Church. But the ministry of neither Church is at present universally accepted in scope and authority in the visible Church.

III. INTERCOMMUNION CONDITIONAL UPON SHARED CONVICTIONS AND PRACTICES

A. "Holy Scripture is the inspired record of God's self-revelation to man and of man's response to that revelation. It contains all things necessary to salvation, so that whatever is not read there nor proved thereby is not to be required as an article of faith or be thought necessary to salvation." (Article VI, The Articles of Religion as in the Book of Common Prayer of the Protestant Episcopal Church; Article V, Articles of Religion of The Methodist Church.)

B. "The Apostles' Creed rehearses the mighty acts of God in creation, redemption, and sanctification as recorded in the Holy Scriptures. Upon these the life of the Church is based. As a declaration of allegiance to the Triune God the Apostles' Creed is a profession of faith appropriate to Holy Baptism. The Nicene Creed likewise witnesses to the faith of the historic Church in its assertion of fundamental Christian truths and its denial of fundamental errors and is appropriate to Holy Communion. While liberty of interpretation may be allowed, the Christian faith as set forth in these two creeds ought to be received and believed by all Christian people." (From the Statement on Faith and Order as adopted by the Lambeth Conference of 1948 and the General Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church of 1949.)

(It is evident that ecumenical discussion in the future may require more precise definition of that "liberty of interpretation" of the Creeds that is both allowable and proper.)

The Creeds represent the embodiment of apostolic teaching, the teaching of the undivided Church, have been most widely accepted through history, and are currently normative in ecumenical discussion.

The Apostles' and Nicene Creeds both appear on page 138 of the "Book of Worship" of the Methodist Church.
C. "Christ has ordained two Sacraments only, as generally necessary to salvation, that is to say, Baptism and the Supper of the Lord. We mean by this word 'Sacrament' an outward and visible sign of an inward and spiritual grace given unto us, ordained by Christ himself, as a means whereby we receive this grace, and a pledge to assure us thereof." (From the Offices of Instruction in the Book of Common Prayer of the Protestant Episcopal Church.)

"Sacraments ordained of Christ are not only badges or tokens of Christian men's profession, but rather they are certain signs of grace, and God's good will toward us, by which he doth work invisibly in us, and doth not only quicken, but also strengthen and confirm, our faith in him." (Article XVI of the Articles of Religion of The Methodist Church, which has only incidental verbal differences in text from Article XXV of the Articles of Religion in the Book of Common Prayer.)

D. Both Churches believe that intercommunion between them presupposes the possession by each of an ordained ministry which by intention shall be "acknowledged by every part of the Church as possessing not only the inward call of the Spirit but also the commission of Christ and the authority of the whole Body." It is their purpose, therefore, to maintain the historic three-fold ministry of bishop, presbyter (priest or elder), and deacon.

IV. INTERCOMMUNION CONDITIONAL UPON RECOGNIZED MINISTRY

(At this stage in our conversations with the Methodists the following paragraphs, A to H, indicate the line our discussions are taking. They embody conditions which we jointly feel must be faced if we are to proceed toward the achievement of the necessary unification of the ministry. These paragraphs do not contain any final scheme offered for adoption or rejection, but rather suggest a path for further exploration. It is clear that many problems touched upon in paragraphs A to H must find solutions which command general acceptance in both Churches.)

A. A mutually agreed upon statement setting forth the nature of the exchange of spiritual gifts. This statement has yet to be decided in joint discussion.

B. The achievement of a unified ministry would begin by the participation through prayer and the laying on of hands in all consecrations of newly elected Methodist bishops of three or more bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church or of another Church in the historic episcopal succession, and the participation of three bishops in the Methodist succession in the consecration of all newly elected bishops in the Protestant Episcopal Church. This is an indispensable but not the sole constitutive basis of intercommunion between these two Churches. Such episcopal consecrations would be preceded or accompanied by certain declarations, undertakings and agreements including the principles of the foregoing section.

C. Such Methodist and Episcopalian bishops as are already in office who may wish to enter into this unified ministry would be welcomed into it in accordance with the provisions of the foregoing paragraphs.

D. All future ordinations of presbyters (priests or elders) and deacons in both Churches would include the laying on of hands of bishops consecrated in the unified succession. It would be further understood that men entering the ministry of either Church from Churches in which the historic succession does not obtain would be accepted only on ordination by bishops in the unified succession. Any minister already in service would be free to share in this unified ministry by receiving the laying on of hands from a bishop in the unified succession.

E. The ancient rite of Confirmation will be a normal practice of both Churches, whether by the bishops as in the Episcopal Church or by the pastor in the Methodist Church. Confirmation in the form of the laying on of hands by the bishop as the chief pastor of the congregation of Christ's flock in his jurisdiction is to be commended.

F. Permitting ministers of one Church to officiate in the other would be subject to the pertinent laws of that other Church. It would be understood that the acceptance of such permission commits the minister to use, when administering in any church, the rite of that church. When a minister of one Church has pastoral responsibility for members of the other, it shall be the duty of the bishops involved to determine all questions of rites to be used.

G. We recognize that until the ministries are fully unified there will be a distinction within the ministries of both Churches between those men who are qualified to minister in both Churches and those so qualified only in their own. It is our earnest hope that this period will be as short as possible.

H. In order that it may be clearly seen that intercommunion is a matter of concern to all the people as well as the ordained ministries, wherever a unified ministry is established there should begin appropriate services of intercommunion. It will be understood that qualified communicant members of either Church will be welcome at the altars of the other.

Constitution
ADOPTED IN GENERAL CONVENTION,
IN PHILADELPHIA, OCTOBER, 1789,
AS AMENDED IN SUBSEQUENT GENERAL CONVENTIONS.

ARTICLE I.

SECTION 1. There shall be a General Convention of this Church, consisting of the House of Bishops and the House of Deputies, which Houses shall sit and deliberate separately; and in all deliberations freedom of debate shall be allowed. Either House may originate and propose legislation, and all acts of the Convention shall be adopted and be authenticated by both Houses.

SEC. 2. Every Bishop of this Church having jurisdiction, every Bishop Coadjutor, every Suffragan Bishop, and every Bishop who by reason of advanced age or bodily infirmity, or, who under an election to an office created by the General Convention has resigned his jurisdiction, shall have a seat and a vote in the House of Bishops. A majority of all Bishops entitled to vote, exclusive of Foreign Missionary Bishops and of Bishops who have resigned their jurisdictions, shall be necessary to constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

SEC. 3. At the General Convention next before the expiration of the term of office of the Presiding Bishop, it shall elect the Presiding Bishop of the Church. The House of Bishops shall choose one of the Bishops of this Church to be the Presiding Bishop of the Church by a vote of a majority of all Bishops, excluding retired Bishops not present, except that whenever two-thirds of the House of Bishops are present a majority vote shall suffice, such choice to be subject to confirmation by the House of Deputies. His term and tenure of office and duties and particulars of his election not inconsistent with the preceding provisions shall be prescribed by the Canons of the General Convention.

But if the Presiding Bishop of the Church shall resign his office as such, or if by reason of infirmity he shall become disabled, or in case of his death, the senior Bishop of this Church in the order of consecration, having jurisdiction within the United States, shall (unless the date of the next General Convention is within three months) immediately call a special meeting of the House of Bishops to be held within two months to elect a Bishop having jurisdiction in the United States to be the Presiding Bishop. The Bishop so elected shall serve until the next General Convention.

SEC. 4. The Church in each Diocese which has been admitted to union with the General Convention shall be entitled to representation in the House of Deputies by not more than four Presbyters, canonically resident in the Diocese, and not more than four Laymen, communicants of this Church, having domicile in the Diocese; but the General Convention by Canon may reduce the representation to not fewer than two Deputies in each order. Each Diocese shall prescribe the manner in which its Deputies shall be chosen.

The Church in each Missionary District which shall have been established in accordance with the Constitution and Canons for the government of this Church, shall also be entitled to representation in the House of Deputies by not more than one Presbyter, canonically resident in the Missionary District, and not more than one Layman, communicant of this Church, having domicile in the Missionary District. Each Missionary District shall prescribe the manner in which its Deputies shall be chosen. Deputies from such Missionary Districts, except as otherwise provided in the Constitution, shall be subject to all of the qualifications and with all of the rights of Deputies from Dioceses.

To constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, the Clerical order shall be represented by at least one Deputy in each of a majority of the Dioceses entitled to representation, and the Lay order shall likewise be represented by at least one Deputy in each of a majority of the Dioceses entitled to representation.

On any question the vote of a majority of the Deputies present shall suffice, unless otherwise ordered by this Constitution, or, in cases not specifically provided for by the Constitution, by Canons requiring more than a majority, or unless the Clerical or the Lay representation from any Diocese require that the vote be taken by orders. In all cases of a vote by orders, the two orders shall vote separately, each Diocese having one vote in the Clerical order and one in the Lay order, and each Missionary District having a one-fourth vote in the Clerical order and a one-fourth vote in the Lay order; and the concurrence of the votes of the two orders shall be necessary to constitute a vote of the House. No action of either order shall pass in the affirmative unless it receives the majority of all votes cast, and unless the sum of all the affirmative votes shall exceed the sum of other votes by at least one whole vote.

Sec. 5. In either House any number less than a quorum may adjourn from day to day. Neither House, without the consent of the other, shall adjourn for more than three days, or to any place other than that in which the Convention shall be sitting.

CONSTITUTION

SEC. 6. One Clerical and one Lay Deputy chosen by each Missionary District of the Church established by the House of Bishops, beyond the territory of the United States of America, and one Clerical and one Lay Deputy chosen by the Convocation of the American Churches in Europe, shall have seats in the House of Deputies, subject to all the qualifications and with all the rights of Deputies, except as otherwise provided in this Constitution.

SEC. 7. The General Convention shall meet in every third year on the Wednesday after the first Sunday in October, unless a different day be appointed by the preceding Convention, and at the place designated by such Convention; but if there shall appear to the Presiding Bishop, acting with the advice and consent of the National Council of the Church or of a successor canonical body having substantially the powers now vested in the National Council, sufficient cause for changing the place or date so appointed, he, with the advice and consent of such body, shall appoint another place or date, or both, for such meeting. Special meetings may be provided for by Canon.

ARTICLE II.

SECTION 1. In every Diocese the Bishop or the Bishop Coadjutor shall be chosen agreeably to rules prescribed by the Convention of that Diocese. Provided, however, that when a Diocese shall be formed out of a Missionary District, the Missionary Bishop in charge of said District shall become the Bishop of said Diocese, if he shall so elect. Missionary Bishops shall be chosen in accordance with the Canons of the General Convention.

SEC. 2. No one shall be ordained and consecrated Bishop until he shall be thirty years of age; nor without the consent of a majority of the Standing Committees of all the Dioceses, and the consent of a majority of the Bishops of this Church exercising jurisdiction within the United States. But if the election shall have taken place within three months next before the meeting of the General Convention, the consent of the House of Deputies shall be required in place of that of a majority of the Standing Committees. No one shall be ordained and consecrated Bishop by fewer than three Bishops.

Sec. 3. A Bishop shall confines the exercise of his office to his own Diocese or Missionary District, unless he shall have been requested to perform episcopal acts in another Diocese or Missionary District by the Ecclesiastical Authority thereof, or unless he shall have been authorized and appointed by the House of Bishops, or by the Presiding Bishop by its direction, to act temporarily in case of need within any territory not yet organized into Dioceses or Missionary Districts of this Church.

Sec. 4. It shall be lawful for a Diocese, with consent of the Bishop of that Diocese, to elect one or more Suffragan Bishops, without right of succession, and with seat and vote in the House of Bishops. A Suffragan Bishop shall be consecrated and hold office under such conditions and limitations other than those provided in this Article as may be provided by Canons of the General Convention. He shall be eligible as Bishop or Bishop Coadjutor of a Diocese, or as a Suffragan in another Diocese, or he may be elected by the House of Bishops as a Missionary Bishop.

Sec. 5. It shall be lawful for a Diocese to prescribe by the Constitution and Canons of such Diocese that upon the death of the Bishop a Suffragan Bishop of that Diocese may be placed in charge of such Diocese and become temporarily the Ecclesiastical Authority.
CONSTITUTION

tical Authority thereof until such time as a new Bishop shall be chosen and consecrated; or that during the disability or absence of the Bishop a Suffragan Bishop of that Diocese may be placed in charge of such Diocese and become temporarily the Ecclesiastical Authority thereof.

SEC. 6. A Bishop may not resign his jurisdiction without the consent of the House of Bishops.

SEC. 7. It shall be lawful for the House of Bishops to elect a Suffragan Bishop who, under the direction of the Presiding Bishop, shall be in charge of the work of those chaplains in the Armed Forces of the United States who are ordained ministers of this Church. The Suffragan Bishop so elected shall be consecrated and hold office under such conditions and limitations other than those provided in this article as may be provided by Canons of the General Convention. He shall be eligible as Bishop or Bishop Coadjutor or Suffragan Bishop of a Diocese or he may be elected by the House of Bishops as a Missionary Bishop.

SEC. 8. Upon attaining the age of seventy-two years a Bishop shall tender his resignation from his jurisdiction.

ARTICLE III.

Bishops may be consecrated for foreign lands upon due application therefrom, with the approbation of a majority of the Bishops of this Church entitled to vote in the House of Bishops, certified to the Presiding Bishop; under such conditions as may be prescribed by Canons of the General Convention. Bishops so consecrated shall not be eligible to the office of Diocesan or of Bishop Coadjutor of any Diocese in the United States or be entitled to vote in the House of Bishops, nor shall they perform any act of the episcopal office in any Diocese or Missionary District of this Church, unless requested so to do.
by the Ecclesiastical Authority thereof. If a Bishop so consecrated shall be subsequently duly elected as a Missionary Bishop of this Church he shall then enjoy all the rights and privileges given in the Canons to Missionary Bishops.

ARTICLE IV.

In every Diocese a Standing Committee shall be appointed by the Convention thereof. When there is a Bishop in charge of the Diocese, the Standing Committee shall be his Council of Advice. If there be no Bishop or Bishop Coadjutor or Suffragan Bishop canonically authorized to act, the Standing Committee shall be the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese for all purposes declared by the General Convention. The rights and duties of the Standing Committee, except as provided in the Constitution and Canons of the General Convention, may be prescribed by the Canons of the respective Dioceses.

ARTICLE V.

Section 1. A new Diocese may be formed, with the consent of the General Convention and under such conditions as the General Convention shall prescribe by general Canon or Canons, (1) by the erection into a Diocese of the whole or of any part of one or more Missionary Districts; (2) by the division of an existing Diocese; (3) by the junction of two or more Dioceses or of parts of two or more Dioceses; or (4) by the junction of the whole or part of a Missionary District with a Diocese, or with any part of one or more Dioceses. The proceedings shall originate in a Convocation of the Clergy and Laity of the Missionary District called by the Bishop for that purpose; or, with the approval of the Bishop, in the Convention of the Diocese to be divided; or (when it is proposed to form a new Diocese by the junction of two or more Dioceses or of parts of two or more Dioceses), by mutual agreement of the Conventions of the Dioceses concerned, with the approval of the Bishop of each Diocese. In case the Episcopate of a Diocese be vacant, no proceedings toward its division shall be taken until the vacancy is filled. During a vacancy in a Missionary District, the consent of the Presiding Bishop must be had before proceedings to erect it into a Diocese are taken. When it shall appear to the satisfaction of the General Convention, by a certified copy of the proceedings and other documents and papers laid before it, that all the conditions for the formation of the new Diocese have been complied with and that it has acceded to the Constitution and Canons of this Church, such new Diocese shall thereupon be admitted to union with the General Convention.

SEC. 2. In case one Diocese shall be divided into two or more Dioceses, the Bishop of the Diocese divided may elect the one to which he will be attached, and he shall thereupon become the Bishop thereof; and the Bishop Coadjutor, if there be one, may elect the one to which he shall be attached, and (if it be not the one elected by the Bishop) he shall be the Bishop thereof.

SEC. 3. In case a Diocese shall be formed out of parts of two or more Dioceses, each of the Bishops and Bishops Coadjutor of the several Dioceses out of which the new Diocese has been formed shall be entitled, in order of seniority of consecration, to the choice between his own Diocese and the new Diocese so formed. In case the new Diocese shall not be so chosen, it shall have the right to choose its own Bishop.
SEC. 4. Whenever a new Diocese is formed and erected out of an existing Diocese, it shall be subject to the Constitution and Canons of the Diocese out of which it was formed, except as local circumstances may prevent, until the same be altered in accordance with such Constitution and Canons by the Convention of the new Diocese. Whenever a Diocese is formed out of two or more existing Dioceses, it shall be subject to the Constitution and Canons of that one of the said existing Dioceses to which the greater number of clergymen shall have belonged prior to the erection of such new Diocese, except as local circumstances may prevent, until the same be altered in accordance with such Constitution and Canons by the Convention of the new Diocese.

SEC. 5. A Diocese formed out of a Missionary District shall be subject to the Constitution and Canons to which such Missionary District was subject, until the same be altered in accordance with such Constitution and Canons by the Convention of the new Diocese.

SEC. 6. No new Diocese shall be formed which shall contain fewer than six Parishes, or fewer than six Presbyters who have been for at least one year canonically resident within the bounds of such new Diocese, regularly settled in a Parish or Congregation and qualified to vote for a Bishop. Nor shall such new Diocese be formed if thereby any existing Diocese shall be so reduced as to contain fewer than twelve Parishes and twelve Presbyters who have been residing therein and settled and qualified as above provided.

SEC. 7. The consent of the General Convention to the erection of a new Diocese shall not be given until it has satisfactory assurance of a suitable provision for the support of the Episcopate.
ARTICLE VI.

Section 1. The House of Bishops may establish Missionary Districts in States and Territories or parts thereof not organized into Dioceses. It may also from time to time change, increase, or diminish the territory included in such Missionary Districts in such manner as may be prescribed by Canon.

Sec. 2. The General Convention may accept a cession of the territorial jurisdiction of a part of a Diocese when such cession shall have been proposed by the Bishop and the Convention of such Diocese, and consent thereto shall have been given by three-fourths of the Parishes in the ceded territory, and also by the same ratio of the Parishes within the remaining territory.

Any territorial jurisdiction or any part of the same, which may have been accepted from a Diocese by the General Convention under the foregoing provision, may be retroceded to the said Diocese by such joint action of all the several parties as is herein required for its cession, save that in the case of retrocession of territory the consent of parishes within the territory retroceded shall not be necessary; provided that such action of the General Convention, whether of cession or retrocession, shall be by a vote of two-thirds of all the Bishops present and voting and by a vote of two-thirds of the House of Deputies voting by orders.

Sec. 3. Missionary Districts shall be organized as may be prescribed by Canon of the General Convention.

ARTICLE VII.

Dioceses and Missionary Districts may be united into Provinces in such manner, under such conditions, and with such powers, as shall be provided by Canon of the General Convention; Provided, however, that no Diocese shall be included in a Province without its own consent.

ARTICLE VIII.

No person shall be ordered Priest or Deacon to minister in this Church until he shall have been examined by the Bishop and two Priests and shall have exhibited such testimonials and other requisites as the Canons in that case provided may direct. No persons shall be ordained and consecrated Bishop, or ordered Priest or Deacon to minister in this Church, unless at the time, in the presence of the ordaining Bishop or Bishops, he shall subscribe and make the following declaration:

"I do believe the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments to be the Word of God, and to contain all things necessary to salvation; and I do solemnly engage to conform to the Doctrine, Discipline, and Worship of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America."

Provided, however, that any person consecrated a Bishop to minister in any Diocese or Missionary District of an autonomous Church or Province of a Church in Communion with this Church may, instead of the foregoing declaration, make the promises of Conformity required by the Church in which he is to minister.

If any Bishop ordains a Priest or Deacon to minister elsewhere than in this Church, or confers ordination as priest or deacon upon a Christian minister who has not received Episcopal ordination, he shall do so only in accordance with such provisions as shall be set forth in the Canons of this Church.
CONSTITUTION

Admission of foreign Clergy.

No person ordained by a foreign Bishop, or by a Bishop not in communion with this Church, shall be permitted to officiate as a Minister of this Church until he shall have complied with the Canon or Canons in that case provided and also shall have subscribed the aforesaid declaration.

ARTICLE IX.

The General Convention may, by Canon, establish a Court for the trial of Bishops, which shall be composed of Bishops only.

Presbyters and Deacons canonically resident in a Diocese shall be tried by a Court instituted by the Convention thereof; Presbyters and Deacons canonically resident in a Missionary District shall be tried according to Canons adopted by the Bishop and Convocation thereof, with the approval of the House of Bishops; Provided, that the General Convention in each case may prescribe by Canon for a change of venue.

The General Convention, in like manner, may establish or may provide for the establishment of Courts of Review of the determination of Diocesan or other trial Courts.

The Court for the review of the determination of the trial Court, on the trial of a Bishop, shall be composed of Bishops only.

The General Convention, in like manner may establish an ultimate Court of Appeal, solely for the review of the determination of any Court of Review on questions of Doctrine, Faith or Worship.

None but a Bishop shall pronounce sentence of admonition, or of suspension, deposition, or degradation from the Ministry, on any Bishop, Presbyter, or Deacon.
CONSTITUTION

A sentence of suspension shall specify on what terms or conditions and at what time the suspension shall cease.

ARTICLE X.

The Book of Common Prayer and Administration of the Sacraments and other Rites and Ceremonies of the Church, together with the Psalter or Psalms of David, the Form and Manner of Making, Ordaining, and Consecrating Bishops, Priests, and Deacons, the Form of Consecration of a Church or Chapel, the Office of Institution of Ministers, and Articles of Religion, as now established or hereafter amended by the authority of this Church, shall be in use in all the Dioceses and Missionary Districts of this Church. No alteration thereof or addition thereto shall be made unless the same shall be first proposed in one triennial meeting of the General Convention and by a resolve thereof be sent within six months to the Secretary of the Convention of every Diocese and of the Convocation of every Missionary District, to be made known to the Diocesan Convention or Missionary District Convocation at its next meeting, and be adopted by the General Convention at its next succeeding triennial meeting by a majority of all Bishops, excluding retired Bishops not present, of the whole number of Bishops entitled to vote in the House of Bishops, and by a majority of the Clerical and Lay Deputies of all the Dioceses entitled to representation in the House of Deputies and all the Missionary Districts, voting by orders, each to have the vote provided for in Article I, Sec. 4. Provided, however, that the General Convention at any meeting shall have power to amend the Table of Lessons and all Tables and Rubrics relating to the use of the Psalms by a majority of the whole number of Bishops entitled to vote in the House of Bishops, and by a majority of the Clerical and Lay Deputies of all the Dioceses entitled to representation.
CONSTITUTION

in the House of Deputies, and all the Missionary Districts voting by orders as previously laid down in this Article.

And Provided, further, that nothing in this Article shall be construed as restricting the authority of the Bishops of this Church to take such order as may be permitted by the Rubrics of the Book of Common Prayer or by the Canons of the General Convention for the use of special forms of worship.

ARTICLE XI.

No alteration or amendment of this Constitution shall be made unless the same shall be first proposed at one triennial meeting of the General Convention and by a resolve thereof be sent to the Secretary of the Convention of every Diocese and of the Convocation of every Missionary District to be made known to the Diocesan Convention or the Missionary District Convocation at its next meeting, and be adopted by the General Convention at its next succeeding triennial meeting by a majority of all Bishops excluding retired Bishops not present, of the whole number of Bishops entitled to vote in the House of Bishops, and by a majority of the Clerical and Lay Deputies of all the Dioceses and of all the Missionary Districts entitled to representation in the House of Deputies voting by orders, each having the vote provided for in Sec. 4 of Article I.

Sec. 1 (a). At the time and place appointed for the meeting of the General Convention, the Secretary of the House of Deputies, or, in his absence a Secretary pro tempore appointed by the President of the House or if there be none such a Secretary pro tempore appointed by the members from the House of Deputies on the Joint Committee of Arrangements appointed by the preceding General Convention for the next General Convention, shall call to order the members present, and record the names of those whose testimonials, in due form, shall have been presented to him, which record shall be prima facie evidence that the persons whose names are therein recorded are entitled to seats. If there be a quorum present, according to the record, the Secretary shall so declare, and the House shall proceed to organize by the election by ballot of a President from the members of the House, and of a Secretary; and a majority of all the votes cast shall be necessary to an election. The President, so elected, shall continue in office until the next meeting of the General Convention. As soon as a President and Secretary have been elected a committee shall be appointed to wait upon the House of Bishops, and inform them of the organization of the House of Deputies, and of its readiness to proceed to business.

(b). In order to aid the Secretary in preparing the record specified in Clause (a), it shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Convention of every Diocese to forward to him, as soon as may be practicable, a copy of the latest Journal of the Diocesan Convention, together with a certified copy of the testimonials of members aforesaid. He shall also forward a duplicate copy of such testimonials to the Standing Committee of the Diocese in which the General Convention is next to meet.

(c). The Secretary shall keep full minutes of the proceedings of the House; record them, with all reports, in a book provided for that purpose; preserve the Journals and Records of the House; deliver them to the Registrar, as hereinafter provided, and perform such other duties as may be directed by the House. He may, with the approval of the House, appoint Assistant Secretaries, and the Secretary and Assistant Secretaries shall continue in office until the organization of the next General Convention, and until their successors be chosen.

(d). It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the House of Deputies, whenever any alteration of the Book of Common Prayer or of the Constitution is proposed, or any other subject submitted to the consideration of the several Diocesan Conventions, to give notice thereof to the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Church in every Diocese and Missionary District, as well as to the Secretary of the Convention of every Diocese and of every Missionary District, and written evidence that the foregoing requirement has been complied with shall be presented by him to the General Convention at its next session. All such notices shall be sent by registered mail, return receipts being required. He shall notify each Secretary that it is his duty to make known such proposed alterations of the Book of Common Prayer, and of the Constitution, and such other subjects, to the Convention of his Diocese or Missionary District at its next meeting, and to certify to the Secretary of the House of Deputies that such action has been taken by him.

(e). The Secretary of the House of Deputies and the Treasurer of the General Convention shall be entitled to seats upon the floor of the House, and, with the consent of the President, they may speak on the subjects of their respective offices.

(f). At the meetings of the House of Deputies the Rules and Orders of the previous meeting shall be in force until they are amended or repealed by the House.

(g). In case of the resignation, death or total disability of the President during the recess of the General Convention, the Secretary of the House of Deputies shall perform such ad interim duties as may appertain to the office of President until the next meeting of the General Convention or until such disability is removed.

(h). If during recess a vacancy shall occur in the office of Secretary of the House of Deputies, the duties thereof shall devolve upon the First Assistant Secretary, or, if there be none such, upon a Secretary pro tempore appointed by the President of the House, or if the office of President be also vacant, by the members from the House of Deputies of the Joint Committee on Arrangements for the next General Convention, appointed by the preceding General Convention.

(i). At every triennial meeting of the General Convention, the Secretary elected by the House of Deputies shall, by concurrent action of the two Houses of the General Convention, also be made the Secretary of the General Convention, who shall have responsibility for the printing of the Journal of the General Convention, and attend to any other matters which may be referred to him.

Sec. 2 (a). The right of calling special meetings of the General Convention shall be vested in the Bishops. The Presiding Bishop shall issue the summons for such meetings, designating the time and place thereof, with the consent, or on the requisition, of a majority of the Bishops, expressed to him in writing.

(b). The Deputies elected to the preceding General Convention shall be the Deputies at such special meetings of the General Convention, except in those cases in which other Deputies shall have been chosen in the meantime by any of the Diocesan Conventions, and then such other Deputies shall represent in the special meeting of the General Convention the Church of the Diocese in which they have been chosen.

(c). Any vacancy in the representation of any Diocese caused by the death, absence or inability of any Deputy, shall be supplied either temporarily or permanently in such manner as shall be prescribed by the Diocese, or, in the absence of any such provision, by appointment by the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese. During such periods as shall be stated in the certificate issued to him by the appointing power, the Provisional Deputy so appointed shall possess and shall be entitled to exercise the power and authority of the Deputy in place of whom he shall have been designated.

Sec. 3 (a). The House of Deputies, upon the nomination of the House of Bishops, shall elect a Presbyter, to be known as the Registrar of the General Convention, whose duty it shall be to receive all Journals, files, papers, reports and other documents or articles that are, or shall become, the property of either House of the General Convention; to arrange, label, index, and put them in order, and to provide for the safe keeping of the same in some fire-proof, accessible place of deposit, and to hold the same under such regulations as the General Convention may, from time to time, provide.

(b). It shall also be the duty of the said Registrar to procure a suitable book, and to enter therein the record of the ordinations and consecrations of all the Bishops of this Church, designating accurately the time and place of the same, with the names of the consecrating Bishops, and of others present and assisting; to have the same authenticated in the fullest manner practicable; and to take care for the similar record and authentication of all future ordinations and consecrations of Bishops in this Church. Due notice of the time and place of such ordinations and consecrations shall be given by the Presiding Bishop to the Registrar; and thereupon it shall be his duty to attend such ordinations and consecrations, either in person or by deputy.

(c). He shall prepare, in such form as the House of Bishops shall prescribe, the Letters of Ordination and Consecration in duplicate; and he shall have the same immediately signed and sealed by the ordaining and consecrating Bishops, and by such other Bishops assisting as may be practicable; and he shall deliver to the newly consecrated Bishop one of the said Letters, and shall carefully file the other among the papers in his custody, and make a minute thereof in his book of record.

(d). The Registrar shall also be Historiographer, unless in any case the House of Bishops shall make a separate nomination; and in this event the House of Deputies shall confirm the nomination.

(e). The necessary expenses incurred under this Section shall be paid by the Treasurer of the General Convention.

(f). It shall be the duty of the Secretaries of both Houses, within six months after the adjournment of the General Convention, to deliver to the Registrar the manuscript minutes of the proceedings of both Houses, together with the Journals, files, papers, reports, and all other documents of either House. The manuscript minutes of both Houses shall remain filed until after the adjournment of the Second Convention following that at which such minutes shall have been taken; Provided, however, that any part of such minutes, for any reason unpublished in the Journal, shall remain filed in the Archives. The Secretary of the House of Deputies shall also deliver to the Registrar, when not otherwise expressly directed, all the Journals, files, papers, reports, and other documents specified in Canon 5. The Secretaries shall require the Registrar to give them receipts for the Journals and other papers delivered to him.

(g). In the case of a vacancy in the office of Registrar, the Presiding Bishop shall appoint a Registrar, who shall hold office until the next General Convention.

Sec. 4 (a). The House of Deputies, upon nomination of the House of Bishops, shall elect a Recorder (who may be a natural person or an incorporated organization of this Church), whose duty it shall be to continue the List of Ordinations and to keep a list of the Clergy in regular standing.

(b). It shall be the duty of the Bishop, or, if there be no Bishop, of the President of the Standing Committee or Council of Advice of every Diocese and Missionary District and the Convocation of American Churches in Europe, to forward to the Recorder on or before the first day of March in each and every year a report certifying the following information as of the thirty-first day of December in the preceding year: (1) the names of the Clergy canonically resident therein with their several charges; (2) the names of the Clergy licensed by the Bishop to officiate, but not yet transferred; (3) the names of all persons connected with the Diocese, District or Convocation who have been ordered Deacons or Priests during the preceding twelve months, with the date and place of ordination and the name of the Bishop ordaining; (4) the names of the Clergy of the Diocese, District or Convocation who have died during the preceding twelve months, with the date and place of death; (5) the names of the Clergy who have been received during the preceding twelve months, with the date of their reception and the name of the Diocese, District or Convocation from which received, and, in the case of Clergy not received from a Diocese, District or Convocation of this Church, the date and place of ordination and the name of the Bishop ordaining; (6) the names of the Clergy who have been transferred during the preceding twelve months, with the dates of the Letters Dimissory and of their acceptance, and the name of the Diocese, District, or Convocation to which transferred; (7) the names of the Clergy who have been suspended during the preceding twelve months, with the date and ground of suspension; (8) the names of the Clergy who have been deprived or deposed during the preceding twelve months, with the date, place, and ground of deprivation or deposition; (9) the names of the Clergy who have been restored during the preceding twelve months, with the date; (10) the names of Deaconesses canonically resident therein.

(c). It shall be the duty of the Recorder to furnish, upon proper authority and at the expense of the applicant, such information as may be in the possession of the Recorder based upon the reports required under Clause (b) hereof, but in no case shall the Recorder publish or furnish for publication the grounds of any suspension, deprivation or deposition.

(d). The Recorder shall prepare and present to each session of the General Convention a list of all Clergy ordained, received, suspended, deprived, deposed, or restored, and of all Bishops consecrated, and of all Clergy and Bishops who have died, such list to cover the period from the last preceding similar report of the Recorder through the thirty-first day of December immediately preceding each session of the General Convention.

(e). The necessary expenses incurred under this Section by the Recorder, shall be paid by the Treasurer of the General Convention.

(f). In case of a vacancy in the office of Recorder, the Presiding Bishop shall appoint a Recorder, who shall hold office until the next General Convention.

Sec. 5 (a). At every triennial meeting of the General Convention a Treasurer shall be elected by concurrent action of the two Houses, and shall remain in office until a successor shall be elected. It shall be his duty to receive and disburse all moneys collected under the authority of the Convention, and of which the collection and disbursement shall not otherwise be prescribed; and, with the advice and approval of the Presiding Bishop and the Treasurer of the National Council, to invest, from time to time, such surplus funds as he may have on hand. His account shall be rendered triennially to the Convention, and shall be audited by a committee acting under its authority.

(b). In case of a vacancy, by death, resignation, or otherwise, in the office of Treasurer of the General Convention, the Presiding Bishop and the President of the House of Deputies shall appoint a Treasurer, who shall hold office until a successor is elected. In case of temporary inability of the Treasurer to act, from illness or other cause, the same officials shall appoint an Acting Treasurer who shall perform all duties of the Treasurer until the Treasurer is able to resume them.

Sec. 6. In order that the contingent expenses of the General Convention, and the stipend of the Presiding Bishop, together with the necessary expenses of his office, and Church Pension Fund assessments, may be defrayed, it shall be the duty of the several Diocesan Conventions and of the Convocations of the several Missionary Districts to forward to the Treasurer of the General Convention annually, on the first Monday of January, as to each Diocese not more than twenty-two dollars for each Bishop having jurisdiction therein, any Bishop Coadjutor, and each Suffragan Bishop in active service therein, and each retired Bishop and each Presbyter and Deacon canonically resident therein, and as to each Missionary District an amount equal to one-quarter of the above described Diocesan levy for each Bishop having jurisdiction therein, any Bishop Coadjutor, and each Suffragan Bishop in active service therein, and each retired Bishop and each Presbyter and Deacon canonically resident therein. The number of Bishops, Presbyters, and Deacons canonically resident in each Diocese and Missionary District, as reported to the House of Deputies and recorded in the Journal of the General Convention last preceding, shall be the basis upon which such assessment shall be made. The amount of such assessment shall be determined by the Committee on Expenses. A new Diocese not recorded in the last Journal shall furnish to the Treasurer, prior to the first day of November, a report of the number of Bishops, Presbyters, and Deacons for which such Diocese is subject to assessment, which shall be the same as in its report to the House of Deputies.

Sec. 7. The Treasurer of the General Convention shall have authority to borrow, in behalf and in the name of the General Convention, with the approval of the Presiding Bishop, such a sum, not exceeding twenty-five thousand dollars per annum, as in his judgment may be necessary to help defray the expenses of the General Convention; Provided, that the total amount of the indebtedness authorized in this Section shall at no time exceed fifty thousand dollars.
Sec. 8. The Treasurer shall give a bond conditioned on the faithful performance of his duties. The amount thereof and the terms on which the same shall be given shall be subject to the approval of the Presiding Bishop, the expense of such bond to be paid by the General Convention.

Sec. 9. The Treasurer shall submit to the General Convention at each regular meeting thereof a detailed budget for which he proposes to request appropriations for the ensuing triennium. He shall have power to expend all sums of money covered by this budget, subject to such provisions of the Canons as shall be applicable.

Sec. 10. The Treasurer may appoint, subject to the approval of the Presiding Bishop, an Assistant Treasurer, who shall hold office during the pleasure of the Treasurer and shall perform such duties as shall be assigned to him by the Treasurer. He shall give a bond conditioned on the faithful performance of his duties. The amount thereof and the terms on which the same shall be given shall be subject to the approval of the Presiding Bishop, the expense of such bond to be paid by the General Convention.

CANON 2.

Of the Presiding Bishop.

Sec. 1. Before a Presiding Bishop is elected a Joint Nominating Committee consisting of eight Bishops (one from each Province) together with four clerical and four lay members of the House of Deputies (one member from each Province) shall present to the House of Bishops the names of three members thereof for its consideration in the choice of a Presiding Bishop.

Sec. 2. The Presiding Bishop, when elected according to the provisions of Article I., Section 3, of the Constitution, shall hold office until the fifteenth day of November succeeding the General Convention which follows his attainment of the age of sixty-eight years or which occurs in the calendar year in which he attains that age. Except that when a Presiding Bishop has been elected by the House of Bishops to fill a vacancy, as provided for in the second paragraph of Article I., Section 3, of the Constitution, the Presiding Bishop elected by the next General Convention shall take office immediately.

Sec. 3 (a). Upon the expiration of the term of office of the Presiding Bishop, the Bishop who is elected to succeed him shall tender to the House of Bishops his resignation of his previous jurisdiction, to take effect upon the date of his assuming the office of Presiding Bishop, or not later than six months thereafter.

(b). Such resignation shall be acted upon immediately by the House of Bishops.

Sec. 4. The Presiding Bishop shall preside over meetings of the House of Bishops, and shall take order for the consecration of Bishops, when duly elected. He shall also perform all other duties prescribed for him by other Canons of the General Convention.

Sec. 5. The stipend of the Presiding Bishop and his necessary expenses shall be fixed by the General Convention and shall be provided for in the budget to be submitted by the Treasurer, as provided in the Canon entitled, "Of the General Convention."

Sec. 6. In the event of the disability of the Presiding Bishop, the Bishop who, according to the Rules of the House of Bishops, becomes its Presiding Officer, shall be substituted for the Presiding Bishop for all the purposes of these Canons, except the Canons entitled, "Of The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society," and "Of the National Council."
Sec. 7. At the expiration of his term of office the Presiding Bishop, and any other Bishop who shall have held the office of Presiding Bishop, shall receive a retiring allowance of six thousand dollars per year, less whatever retiring allowance they may receive from The Church Pension Fund.

The tenure of office, compensation, powers and duties of the officers of the Society shall be such as are prescribed by the Canons and by the By-laws of the Society not inconsistent therewith.

ARTICLE IV. This Constitution of the Society may be altered or amended at any time by the General Convention of the Church.

CANON 4.

Of the National Council.

Sec. 1 (a). The Presiding Bishop and the National Council as hereinafter constituted shall have charge of the unification, development and prosecution of the Missionary, Educational, and Social Work of the Church, of which work the Presiding Bishop shall be the executive head.

(b). The officers of the National Council shall be a President, one or more Vice Presidents, a Secretary and a Treasurer, with such duties as the Council, pursuant to this Canon, from time to time, may prescribe.

The President, the Vice Presidents and the Treasurer of the Council shall be \textit{ex officio} members thereof.

Of the members to be elected by the General Convention, the Bishops shall be elected by the House of Bishops subject to confirmation by the House of Deputies, and the Presbyters and Laymen shall be elected by the House of Deputies subject to confirmation by the House of Bishops.

(b). The term of office of the members of the Council elected by the General Convention (other than \textit{ex officio} members) shall be six years; the term of office of the members of the Council elected by the Provincial Synods shall be three years; and the term of office of the members of the Council nominated by the Woman’s Auxiliary shall be three years. The term of office of all members elected as above provided shall commence immediately upon their election and their written acceptance thereof filed with the Secretary of the National Council. Members shall remain in office until their successors are elected and qualified. After any person shall have served six consecutive years on the National Council, a period of three years shall elapse before such person shall be eligible for re-election to the Council.
Should any vacancy occur in the Council through the death or resignation of a member elected by the General Convention or through the change in status of any such member by consecration or ordination the Council shall fill such vacancy by the election of a suitable person to serve until his successor is elected by the General Convention. The General Convention shall elect a suitable person to serve the portion of any term which will remain unexpired.

Should any vacancy occur in the Council through the failure of any Provincial Synod to elect a member, or through the death, resignation or removal from the Province, of any such member, the President and Executive Council of the Province shall appoint a suitable person, canonically resident in such Province, to serve until the Provincial Synod shall by election fill the vacancy.

Should any vacancy occur in the Council through the death or resignation of a member elected from the Woman's Auxiliary to the National Council, the Executive Board of the Woman's Auxiliary shall nominate a suitable person to fill the portion of the term which will remain unexpired.

(c). The Council shall exercise the powers conferred upon it by Canon, and such further powers as may be designated by the General Convention, and between sessions of the General Convention may initiate and develop such new work as it may deem necessary. It may, subject to the provision of this Canon, enact By-laws for its own government and the government of its several departments.

In its capacity as the Board of Directors of The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society, the Council shall have the power to direct the disposition of the moneys and other property of said Society in accordance with the provisions of this Canon and the orders and budgets adopted or approved by the General Convention.
Sec. 3. The Presiding Bishop shall be \textit{ex officio} the President, and the Treasurer of The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society shall be \textit{ex officio} the Treasurer, of the Council. The Council shall elect the Vice Presidents and the Secretary, such elections to be upon the nomination of the President. The additional officers, agents, and employees of the Council shall be such and shall perform such duties as the Presiding Bishop and the Council may from time to time designate.

Sec. 4 (a). The Council shall meet at such place, and at such stated times, at least three times each year, as it shall appoint and at such other times as it may be convened. The Council shall be convened at the request of the President, or on the written request of any nine members thereof.

(b). Nine elected members of the Council shall be necessary to constitute a quorum at any meeting of the Council.

Sec. 5 (a). With the exception of the salary of the President the salaries of all officers of the Council and of all agents and employees of the Council, shall be fixed by the Council and paid by the Treasurer.

(b). The salary of each Bishop of a Missionary District shall be paid by the Treasurer. Such salary shall date from the Bishop's consecration or from the date of his translation, if he be already consecrated, and shall not be diminished without his consent while such Bishop remains in charge of a District. Every Missionary District shall bear a part of the expense of the salary of its Bishop, the amount to be fixed from time to time by the National Council and charged against the District in such manner as may be most convenient.

Sec. 6 (a). The Council shall submit to the General Convention at each regular session thereof a program for the triennium, including a detailed budget of that part of the program for which it proposes to make appropriation for the ensuing year, and estimated budgets for the two succeeding years. In connection with the preparation of such budget the National Council shall, at least fifteen months before the session of the General Convention, transmit to the President of each Province a statement of its existing appropriations for the Dioceses and Missionary Districts within such Province, showing the items for which such appropriations are expended, for the purpose of obtaining the advice of the Province as to changes therein. The Synod, or Council, of each Province shall thereupon, in such manner as the Synod shall determine, consider such budget and report its findings to the National Council for its information. After the preparation of the budget the National Council shall, at least four months before the session of the General Convention, transmit to the Bishop of each Diocese and each Missionary District a statement of the existing and the proposed appropriations for all items in the budget. The National Council shall also submit to the General Convention with the budget a plan for the apportionment to the respective Dioceses and Missionary Districts of the sum needed to execute the program.

(b). There shall be joint sessions of the two Houses for the presentation of such program; and thereafter consideration shall be given and appropriate action taken thereon by the General Convention. The Council shall have the power to expend all sums of money covered by the budget and estimated budgets approved by the Convention, subject to such restrictions as may be imposed by the General Convention. It shall also have power to undertake such other work provided for in the program approved by the General Convention, or other work under the jurisdiction of the Council, the need for which may have arisen after the action of the General Convention, as in the judgment of the Council its income will warrant.

(c). Upon the adoption by the General Convention of a program and plan of apportionment for the ensuing triennium, the Council shall formally advise each Diocese and Domestic Missionary District with respect to its proportionate part of the estimated expenditure involved in the execution of the program in accordance with the plan of apportionment adopted by the General Convention. Such objectives shall be determined by the Council upon an equitable basis.

(d). Each Diocese and Missionary District shall thereupon notify each Parish and Mission of the amount of the objective allotted to such Diocese or District, and the amount of such objective to be raised by each Parish or Mission. Each Diocese and Missionary District shall present to each Parish and Mission a total objective which shall include both its share of the proposed Diocesan Budget or that of the Missionary District and its share of the objective apportioned to the Diocese or Missionary District by the National Council in accordance with the plan adopted by the General Convention. The division of all funds which the Diocese or Missionary District receives for these purposes shall be strictly in accordance with the proportion which the total proposed budget of the Diocese or Missionary District bears to the total objective presented on behalf of the National Council.

(e). The National Council shall approve a standard form for use in Dioceses and Missionary Districts, for the purpose of showing receipts and the distribution of receipts for all purposes. Each Diocese and Missionary District shall annually report to the National Council all receipts and the distribution of such receipts on the standard form.
Sec. 7 (a). Every Missionary Bishop, or in case of a vacancy, the Bishop in charge of the District, receiving aid from the Council, shall report at the close of each fiscal year to the Council, giving account of his work, of money received from all sources and disbursed for all purposes, and of the state of the Church in his District at the date of such report, all in such form as the Council may prescribe.

(b). Every Bishop of a Diocese receiving aid from the Council shall report at the close of each fiscal year to the Council giving account of the work in his Diocese supported in whole or in part by the Council.

Sec. 8. The Council, as soon as practicable after the close of each fiscal year, shall make and publish a full report of its work to the Church. Such report shall contain an itemized statement of all receipts and disbursements and a statement of all trust funds and other property of The Domestic and Foreign Missionary Society, and of all other trust funds and property in its possession or under its control. The Council shall make a like report including a detailed schedule of the salaries paid to all officers, agents and principal employees, to each General Convention.

Sec. 9. No person shall, under any power or authority delegated by this Canon, be appointed a Missionary, who is not, at the time, a Minister or a member of this Church, or of some Church in communion with this Church, in regular standing; Provided, however, that, at the request of the Bishop of a Diocese or Missionary District, other persons not so qualified may be employed in exceptional cases.

Sec. 10. All Canons or parts of Canons inconsistent with the provisions of this Canon are hereby repealed.
Sec. 1. A report of every Parish and other congregation of this Church shall be prepared annually for the year ending December 31st preceding, upon the blank form prepared by the National Council and approved by the Committee on the State of the Church, and shall be sent not later than February 1st to the Bishop of the Diocese or Missionary District, or, where there is no Bishop, to the Secretary of the Diocese or District. In every Parish the preparation and delivery of this report shall be the joint duty of the Rector and Vestry, and in every other congregation the duty of the Minister in charge thereof. This report shall include the following information: (1) the number of baptisms, confirmations, marriages, and burials during the year; the total number of baptized persons and communicants in good standing at the time of the report; and for all purposes the number of members of the Church shall be deemed to be the number of baptized persons; (2) a summary of all receipts and expenditures, from whatever source derived, and for whatever purpose used; and (3) a statement of the property held by the Parish, whether real or personal, with an appraisal of its value, together with a statement of the indebtedness of the Parish, if any, and of the amount of insurance carried. And every Minister not in charge of any Parish or Congregation shall also report his occasional services, and if there have been none, the causes or reasons which have prevented the same. And these reports, or such parts of them as the Bishop may deem proper, shall be entered in the Journal.

Sec. 2. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Convention of every Diocese and of the Convocation of every Missionary District to forward to the Secretary of the House of Deputies immediately upon publication the Journals of the Convention of the Diocese or Convocation of the Missionary District, together with Episcopal charges, statements and such other papers as may show the State of the Church in his Diocese or Missionary District. It shall also be his duty, immediately after the adjournment of the Diocesan Convention or the Convocation of a Missionary District next preceding the regular meeting of every General Convention, to prepare and forward forthwith to the Secretary of the House of Deputies, upon the blank provided for that purpose, which shall conform to the reports required in the previous Section of this Canon, a condensed summary of the statistics contained in the Parochial reports and Bishop's statements, with information as to all institutions in any way connected with the Church within the Diocese or Missionary District, and also as to the condition of all invested funds and the amount of all contributions received and expended by the Bishops, or otherwise within the Diocese or District. Such information shall be tabulated separately for each of the three years. The Secretary of the House of Deputies shall, as soon as may be, present these papers to the House, and a committee shall be appointed to prepare and present to the House a report on the State of the Church, which report, when agreed to by the said House, shall be sent to the House of Bishops.

CANON 6.

Sec. 1. In every Diocese, Missionary District, Parish, Mission and Institution, connected with this Church, the following standard business methods shall be observed:

(1). Trust and permanent funds and all securities of whatsoever kind shall be deposited with a Federal or State Bank, or a Diocesan Corporation, or with some other agency approved in writing by the Finance Committee or the Department of Finance of the Diocese or Missionary District, under either a deed of trust or an agency agreement, providing for at least two signatures on any order of withdrawal of such funds or securities.

But this paragraph shall not apply to funds and securities refused by the depositories named as being too small for acceptance. Such small funds and securities shall be under the care of the persons or corporations properly responsible for them.

(2). Records shall be made and kept of all trust and permanent funds showing at least the following:

(a) Source and date.
(b) Terms governing the use of principal and income.
(c) To whom and how often reports of condition are to be made.
(d) How the funds are invested.

and Missionary Districts, with the view of providing for the clergy disabled by age or other infirmity and for the widows and minor children of deceased clergy.

Sec. 2. The General Convention at each triennial meeting shall elect, on the nomination of a Joint Committee thereof, eight persons to serve as Trustees of The Church Pension Fund for a term of nine years and until their successors shall have been elected and have qualified, and shall also fill such vacancies as may exist on the Board of Trustees.

Sec. 3. For the purpose of administering the pension system, The Church Pension Fund shall be entitled to receive and to use all net royalties arising from publications authorized by the General Convention, and to levy upon and to collect from all Parishes, Missions, and other ecclesiastical organizations or bodies subject to the authority of this Church, and any other societies, organizations, or bodies in the Church which under the regulations of The Church Pension Fund shall elect to come into the pension system, assessments based upon the salaries and other compensation paid to clergymen by such Parishes, Missions, and other ecclesiastical organizations or bodies for services rendered currently or in the past, prior to their becoming beneficiaries of the Fund.

Sec. 4. The pension system shall be so administered that no pension shall be allotted before there shall be in the hands of The Church Pension Fund sufficient funds to meet such pension, except as directed by the General Convention in 1958.

Sec. 5. To every clergyman who, at an age which The Church Pension Fund shall ascertain and determine to be the normal age of ordination, shall be ordained in this Church or received into this Church from another Church, and who shall remain in continuous service in the office and work of the Ministry in this Church, and in respect of whom the conditions of this Canon shall have been fulfilled in the payment of assessments on such reasonable basis as The Church Pension Fund may establish under its Rules of administration, The Church Pension Fund shall make a retiring allowance of at least six hundred dollars a year, and shall also make widows' and minor orphans' allowances related thereto. In the case of a clergyman who at the time of his ordination or reception shall be older than such normal age of ordination or in whose behalf assessments shall not have been continuously and fully paid, The Church Pension Fund shall determine his retiring allowance and the allowance to his widow and minor children, upon fulfillment of the other conditions of this Canon, at a rate consistent with proper actuarial practice. The Trustees of The Church Pension Fund are hereby empowered to establish such Rules and Regulations as will fulfill the intention of this Canon and are consistent with sound actuarial practice. Subject to the provisions of this Canon, the general principle shall be observed that there shall be an actuarial relation between the several assessments and the several benefits, Provided, however, that the Board of Trustees shall have power to establish such maximum of annuities greater than two thousand dollars as shall be in the best interests of the Church, within the limits of sound actuarial practice.

Sec. 7. The action of the Trustees of the General Clergy Relief Fund in accepting the provisions of Chapter 239 of the Laws of 1915 of the State of New York, authorizing a merger with The Church Pension Fund, upon terms agreed upon between said two Funds, is hereby approved. Any corporation, society or other organization which hitherto has administered clergy relief funds, may to such extent as may be compatible with its corporate powers and its existing obligations, and in so far as may be sanctioned in the case of diocesan societies by the respective Dioceses, merge with The Church Pension Fund, or if merger be impracticable, may establish by agreement with The Church Pension Fund the closest practicable system of co-operation with that fund. Nothing herein contained shall be construed to the prejudice of existing corporations or societies whose funds are derived from payments made by members thereof.

Sec. 8. The General Convention reserves the power to alter or amend this Canon, but no such alteration or amendment shall be made until after the same shall have been communicated to the Trustees of The Church Pension Fund and such Trustees shall have had ample opportunity to be heard with respect thereto.

Of New Dioceses.

Sec. 1. Whenever a new Diocese shall be formed within the limits of any Diocese, or by the junction of two or more Dioceses, or parts of Dioceses, or in a Missionary District, and such action shall have been ratified by the General Convention, the Bishop of the Diocese or Missionary District within the limits of which a Diocese is formed, or in case of the junction of two or more Dioceses or Missionary Districts, or parts of Dioceses or Missionary Districts, the senior Bishop by consecration, shall thereupon call the Primary Convention of the new Diocese, for the purpose of enabling to organize, and shall fix the time and place of holding the same, such place being within the territorial limits of the new Diocese.

When a Diocese, and another Diocese which has been formed either by division therefrom or by erection into a Diocese of a Missionary District formed by division therefrom, shall desire to be reunited into one Diocese, the proposed reunion must be initiated by a mutual agreement between the Conventions of the two Dioceses, consented to by the Ecclesiastical Authority of each Diocese. But if the agreement is made and the consents given within three months of the next meeting of the General Convention, the facts shall be certified instead to the Secretary of the House of Deputies, who shall lay them before the two Houses; and the reunion shall be deemed to be complete when it shall have been sanctioned by a majority vote in the House of Bishops, and in the House of Clerical and Lay Deputies voting by orders.

Sec. 3. Such Presbyter, after having publicly officiated at such place on four consecutive Sundays, may give notice, in the time of Divine Service, that a meeting of the persons of full age and attending the services, will be held, at a time and place to be named by the Presbyter in charge, to organize the Congregation. The said meeting may proceed to effect an organization subject to the approval of the said Bishop and Council of Advice and in conformity to such regulations as the said Council of Advice may provide.

Sec. 4. Before being taken under the direction of the General Convention of this Church, such Congregation shall be required, in its Constitution, or Plan, or Articles of Organization, to recognize and accede to the Constitution, Canons, Doctrine, Discipline, and Worship of this Church, and to agree to submit to and obey such directions as may be, from time to time, received from the Bishop in charge and Council of Advice.
Sec. 5. The desire of such Congregation to be taken under the direction of the General Convention shall be duly certified by the Minister, one Warden, and two Vestrymen or Trustees of said Congregation, duly elected.

The judgment of the said
Commission, solemnly made, shall then be sent to the Bishop in charge, and to the Presiding Bishop, and, if approved by them, shall be carried into effect; provided, that no such Commission shall recommend any other discipline than admonition or removal from his charge of Minister of said Congregation. Should the result of the inquiry of the aforesaid Commission reveal evidence tending, in their judgment, to show that said Minister deserves a severer discipline, all the documents in the case shall be placed in the hands of the Presiding Bishop, who may proceed against the said Minister, as far as possible, according to the Canons of the General Convention.

Sec. 11. If there be a Congregation within the limits of any city in a foreign land, no new Congregation shall be established in that city, except with the consent of the Bishop in charge and the Council of Advice.

Sec. 3. The Minister shall have required that the parties sign the following declaration:

"We, A. B. and C. D., desiring to receive the blessing of Holy Matrimony in the Church, do solemnly declare that we hold marriage to be a lifelong union of husband and wife as it is set forth in the Form of Solemnization of Holy Matrimony in the Book of Common Prayer. We believe it is for the purpose of mutual fellowship, encouragement, and understanding, for the procreation (if it may be) of children, and their physical and spiritual nurture, for the safeguarding and benefit of society. And we do engage ourselves, so far as in us lies, to make our utmost effort to establish this relationship and to seek God's help thereto."

Minister may decline to officiate.

(b). If the Bishop or Ecclesiastical Authority is satisfied that the parties intend a true Christian marriage he may refer the application to his Council of Advisors, or to the Court if such has been established by diocesan action. The Bishop or Ecclesiastical Authority shall take care that his or its judgment is based upon and conforms to the doctrine of this Church, that marriage is a physical, spiritual, and mystical union of a man and woman created by their mutual consent of heart, mind and will thereto, and is a Holy Estate instituted of God and is in intention lifelong; but when any of the facts set forth in Canon 17, Section 2, Clause (b), are shown to exist or to have existed which manifestly establish that no marriage bond as the same is recognized by this Church exists, the same may be declared by proper authority. Sec. 1. No Church or Chapel shall be consecrated until the Bishop shall have been sufficiently certified that the building and the ground on which it is erected have been fully paid for, and are free from lien or other encumbrance; and also that such building and ground are secured from the danger of alienation, either in whole or in part, from those who profess and practice the Doctrine, Discipline, and Worship of this Church, except in the cases provided in Secs. 2 and 3 of this Canon.

Sec. 2. It shall not be lawful for any Vestry, Trustees, or other body authorized by laws of any State or Territory to hold property for any Diocese, Missionary District, Parish, or Congregation, to encumber or alienate any consecrated Church or Chapel, or any Church or Chapel which has been used solely for Divine Service, belonging to the Parish or Congregation which they represent, without the previous consent of the Bishop, acting with the advice and consent of the Standing Committee of the Diocese, or of the Council of Advice of the Missionary District, as the case may be.

Sec. 1 (a). Every person desiring to be admitted a Candidate for Holy Orders is, in the first instance, to consult his immediate Pastor, or, if he have none, some Presbyter to whom he is personally known, setting before him the grounds of his desire for admission to the Ministry, together with such circumstances as may bear on his qualifications, or tend to affect his course of preparation.

(b). If, as the result of a thorough inquiry into the physical, mental, moral and spiritual qualifications of the applicant, he is counselled by the aforesaid Presbyter to persevere in his intentions, he shall make his desire known personally, if possible, or in writing, to the Bishop in whose jurisdiction he has been canonically resident for the three months preceding. But with the written consent of the said Bishop, and on the recommendation of at least one Presbyter of the said jurisdiction who is acquainted with the applicant, the latter may at once apply to some other Bishop. He shall give to the Bishop the name of his Pastor, or, if he have none, of some other Presbyter in good standing, to whom he is personally known, from whom the Bishop may ascertain, either by personal conference, or by direct report in writing, his qualifications, as stated above, for the work of the Ministry.

Before the admission of a Postulant the Bishop shall whenever possible confer in person with the applicant, and shall require the applicant to submit to a thorough examination by a physician appointed by the Bishop. This examination shall cover the man’s mental and nervous as well as his physical condition. The form of medical report prepared by The Church Pension Fund shall be used for this purpose. The Bishop may require from the Postulant’s Rector and Vestry a certificate in the following words, viz.:

To the Right Reverend Bishop of

We, whose names are hereunder written, testify to our belief (based on personal knowledge or on evidence satisfactory to us) that A. B. is sober, honest and godly, and that he is a communicant of this Church in good standing. We do furthermore declare that, in our opinion, he possesses such qualifications as fit him to be admitted a Postulant for Holy Orders.

(Signed)

Whenever such a recommendation is required a copy shall be filed with the Standing Committee of the Diocese or Council of Advice of the Missionary District.

A record of the medical report shall be kept on file by the Bishop and shall be submitted to the Standing Committee, or Council of Advice, when application is made by the Postulant to be recommended for admission as a Candidate.

Sec. 2 (a). The Bishop, in a book to be kept for that purpose, shall enter the name of each applicant, with the fact of his approval or disapproval of the application, and the date of such entry. If he approve of the application, he shall inform the applicant of the fact, and of the date of his admission as Postulant.

(b). Similar records shall be made and information given of the removal of a name from the list of Postulants. Without further reason, the Bishop may remove the name of a Postulant who fails to be admitted as a Candidate for Holy Orders within four years from the date of his reception as a Postulant.

(c). Every Postulant for Holy Orders shall report himself to the Ecclesiastical Authority personally or by letter, four times a year, in the Ember Weeks, giving account of his manner of life and progress in his studies; and if he fails to make such reports to the satisfaction of the Ecclesiastical Authority, his name may be stricken from the list of Postulants.

Sec. 3 (a). No Bishop shall accept as a Postulant any person who has been refused admission as a Postulant or as a Candidate for Holy Orders in any other Diocese or Missionary District, or who, having been admitted, has afterwards ceased to be a Postulant or a Candidate, until he shall have produced a certificate from the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese or Missionary District in which he has been refused admission, or in which he has been a Postulant or a Candidate, declaring the cause of refusal or of cessation.

(b). Should the Bishop accept such applicant as a Postulant, he shall send the said certificate, or a copy thereof, to the Standing Committee of the Diocese, to be considered by them if the said Postulant should apply to be recommended for admission as a Candidate.

Sec. 4. A Standing Committee, acting as the Ecclesiastical Authority of a Diocese, shall be competent to receive and act upon applications under this Canon from persons desiring to be received as Postulants.

Sec. 5 (a). If this work include sufficient instruction in the subjects specified in Clause (b) of this Section and is otherwise deemed adequate and satisfactory, no further examination shall be required; but if not, the Postulant must satisfy the Board of Examining Chaplains that he possesses the intellectual ability to enter with advantage upon a course of study preparatory to Holy Orders.

(b). If the Postulant be not a graduate as aforesaid, he shall be required to pass an examination in the following subjects:

If the Postulant be of other race and speech, and is to exercise his Ministry among people of his race in the United States, the Bishop, on recommendation of the Board of Examining Chaplains, may, at his discretion, dispense him from all examinations except those specified in the Clause immediately preceding this Clause. But if the Postulant is to exercise his Ministry among people of his race in a foreign Missionary District, the Bishop may, at his discretion, dispense him from all such examinations; Provided, only, that he shall satisfy the Bishop and the Board of Examining Chaplains that he possesses good mental ability and sufficient education to enable him to pursue a course of study preparatory to the work of the Ministry.
(e). If the Postulant have served with good repute and success in the regular Ministry of some other body of Christians for at least five years, and shall lay before the Board of Examining Chaplains satisfactory evidence of a thorough theological training in his previous communion, the Bishop, on recommendation of the Board, may, at his discretion, dispense him from the above examinations. But in all other cases such Minister shall conform to the requirements of other Postulants.
(f). Should a Postulant who has been examined in any of the above subjects afterwards apply for admission as Postulant in any other Diocese or Missionary District, he shall lay before the Bishop of such Diocese or District a certificate from the Bishop who admitted him as Postulant, stating what examinations he has taken and the result of each. And if he has failed to pass in any subject, he shall not be admitted to examination in that subject until at least six months after such failure.

(g). The Board of Examining Chaplains may, at their discretion, accept, in lieu of examination, satisfactory evidence that the Postulant has fulfilled the requirements in any one or more of the subjects specified in this Canon.

Sec. 6. The Board of Examining Chaplains shall report to the Bishop in writing whether these examinations have been satisfactorily sustained, and the Bishop shall transmit this report to the Standing Committee or Council of Advice.

I hereby certify, that the Laymen whose names are attached to the foregoing certificate are communicants of this Church in good standing, and that this form of certificate was used for no reasons affecting the moral or religious character of the Candidate, but because (here give the reasons for departing from the regular form). CANON 36

Of the Ordination of Deacons and Priests in Special Cases.

Sec. 1. In case any Minister who has not received episcopal ordination shall desire to receive such orders from a Bishop of this Church to the Diaconate and to the Priesthood without giving up or denying his fellowship or his ministry in the Communion to which he belongs, the Bishop of the Diocese or Missionary District in which he lives, with the advice and consent of the Standing Committee or the Council of Advice, may confirm and ordain him; Provided, also, that the congregation, if any, in which such Minister officiates, shall declare, through its proper representatives, its desire for such ordination on behalf of its Minister, and its purpose to receive in future the ministrations and the Sacraments of one who shall be ordained to the Priesthood by a Bishop.

Sec. 2. The Minister desiring to be so ordained shall satisfy the Bishop that he has resided in the United States at least one year; that he has been duly baptized with water in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost; that he holds the historic faith of the Church as contained in the Apostles' Creed and the Nicene Creed; that there is no sufficient objection on grounds physical, mental, moral or spiritual; that the Ecclesiastical Authority to which he is subject in the Communion to which he belongs consents to such ordination; that he will not knowingly admit to the Holy Communion any person who has not been baptized with water in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Ghost; and further, the Bishop shall charge him that the Church hopefully anticipates the use of the Apostolic practice of Confirmation among his people.

Sec. 3. At the time of such ordination the person so to be ordained shall subscribe and make in the presence of the Bishop a declaration that he believes the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments to be the Word of God and to contain all things necessary to salvation; that in the ministration of Baptism he will unfailingly baptize with water in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost. He shall also undertake that in the celebration of the Holy Communion he will invariably use the elements of bread and wine, and will include in the service (1) a Prayer of Consecration, embodying the words and acts of our Lord in the Institution of the Sacrament, an Offering, an Invocation of the Holy Spirit and a Thanksgiving, (2) the Lord's Prayer, and (3) the Apostles' Creed or the Nicene Creed as the symbol of the faith and unity of the Holy Catholic Church. He shall also agree that when thereto invited by the Bishop of this Church having jurisdiction in the place where he lives, he will (unless unavoidably prevented) meet with such Bishop for Holy Communion and for counsel and cooperation; and that he will hold himself answerable to the Bishop of this Church having jurisdiction in the place where he lives, or, if there be no such Bishop, to the Presiding Bishop of this Church, in case he be called in question with respect to error of faith or of conduct.

Sec. 4. In case a person so ordained be charged with error of faith or of conduct he shall have reasonable notice of the charge and reasonable opportunity to be heard, and the procedure shall be similar to the procedure in the case of a Clergyman of this Church charged with the like offense. The sentence shall always be pronounced by the Bishop and shall be such as a Clergyman of this Church would be liable to. It shall be certified to the Ecclesiastical Authority to which the defendant is responsible in any other Communion. If he shall have been tried before a tribunal of the Communion in which he has exercised his ministry, the judgment of such tribunal proceeding in the due exercise of its jurisdiction shall be taken as conclusive evidence of facts thereby adjudged.

Sec. 5. A Minister so ordained may officiate according to the prescribed order of this Church, in a Diocese or Missionary District of this Church when licensed by the Ecclesiastical Authority thereof, but he shall not become the Rector or a Minister of any Parish or Congregation of this Church until he shall have subscribed and made to the Ordinary a declaration in writing, whereby he shall solemnly engage to conform to the Doctrine, Discipline and Worship of this Church. Upon his making such declaration and being duly elected Rector or Minister of a Parish or Congregation of this Church, and complying with the Canons of this Church and of the Diocese or Missionary District in that behalf, he shall become for all purposes a Minister of this Church.

Sec. 6 (a). If any Minister who has not received Episcopal ordination desires to be made a Deacon or to be ordered Priest in this Church, without giving up or denying his fellowship or his ministry in the Communion to which he belongs, after the Bishop of the Diocese is satisfied that he has resided in the United States at least one year; that he has been duly baptized with water in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost; that he holds the historic faith of the Church as contained in the Apostles' Creed and the Nicene Creed; that there is no sufficient objection on grounds physical, mental, moral or spiritual; the Bishop with the consent of the Standing Committee or of the Council of Advice of the Missionary District obtained after the canonical requirements precedent to ordination as set forth in this Canon have been fulfilled may make him a Deacon or order him Priest. At the time of such ordination the Bishop may read this preface to the service:

A. B., who has already been ordained a minister of Christ, and desires to be a Deacon (or Priest) in this Church, has satisfied the Ecclesiastical Authority of this Diocese that he accepts the Doctrine, Discipline and Worship of this Church. We are about to confer upon him authority to minister in this Church.

(b). The letters of ordination in such cases may contain the words: Recognizing the ministry which he has already received and hereby adding to that commission the grace and authority of Holy Orders as required for the exercise of the ministry of this Church.
(c). If any minister who has been ordained to the Diaconate or to the Priesthood by a Bishop whose authority to convey such orders is open to question, shall desire to exercise his ministry in this Church, the Bishop of the Diocese in which he resides shall, if necessary, baptize him and confirm him, and with the advice and consent of the Standing Committee or of the Council of Advice of the Missionary District after all canonical requirements precedent to ordination have been fulfilled, may ordain him conditionally to the Diaconate and to the Priesthood. The Bishop at the time of such ordination shall read this preface to the service:

A. B., who was ordained by a Bishop whose authority is not recognized by this Church, has now satisfied the Bishop of the Diocese that he accepts the Doctrine, Discipline and Worship of this Church, and desires conditional ordination. We propose to give assurance that A. B. is qualified to minister in this Church.

Sec. 7. In this Canon the action to be taken by a Bishop is limited to that of the Bishop of a Diocese or Missionary District, having jurisdiction therein.

CANON 37.

Of Ministers Ordained in Foreign Countries by Bishops in Communion with this Church.

Sec. 1 (a). A Minister declaring himself to have been ordained beyond the limits of the United States by a foreign Bishop in communion with this Church, or by a Bishop consecrated for a foreign country by Bishops of this Church under Article III. of the Constitution, shall, before he be permitted to officiate in any Parish or Congregation of this Church, exhibit to the Minister, or, if there be no Minister, to the Vestry thereof, a certificate of recent date, signed by the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese or Missionary District, that his letters of Holy Orders and other credentials are valid and authentic, and given by a Bishop in communion with this Church, and whose authority is acknowledged by this Church, and also that he has exhibited to the said Ecclesiastical Authority satisfactory evidence of his moral and godly character, and of his theological acquirements.

(b). And before he shall be permitted to take charge of any Parish or Congregation, or be received into any Diocese or Missionary District of this Church as a Minister thereof, he shall produce to the Ecclesiastical Authority Letters Dimissory or equivalent credentials under the hand and seal of the Bishop with whose Diocese or Missionary District he has been last connected, which letters or credentials shall be delivered within six months from the date thereof. Before such Minister shall be so received, the Bishop shall require him to promise in writing to submit himself in all things to the discipline of this Church, without recourse to any foreign jurisdiction, civil or ecclesiastical; and shall further require him to subscribe and make in his presence, and in the presence of two or more Presbyters, the declaration required in Article VIII. of the Constitution. He shall also be examined by the Bishop and at least one Presbyter as to his knowledge of the history of this Church, its worship and government. The said Ecclesiastical Authority, being satisfied of his theological acquirements, may then receive him into the Diocese or Missionary District as a Minister of this Church; Provided, that such Minister shall not be entitled to hold canonical charge in any Parish or Congregation, until he shall have resided one year in the United States subsequent to the acceptance of his credentials.

(c). A Minister declaring himself to have been ordained beyond the limits of the United States by a foreign Bishop in communion with this Church, or by a Bishop consecrated for a foreign country by Bishops of this Church, under Article III. of the Constitution, shall not be accepted nor shall the Minister named therein be placed on the clergy list of this Church until such a Minister shall have submitted himself to, and satisfactorily passed, a thorough examination by a physician appointed by the Bishop. This examination shall cover the man's mental and nervous, as well as his physical condition. The form of medical report prepared by The Church Pension Fund shall be used for this purpose.

Sec. 2. If such Minister be a Deacon, he shall not be ordered Priest until he shall have resided in the United States at least one year.

CANON 38.

Of the Admission of Ministers Ordained by Bishops Not in Communion with This Church.

Sec. 1. When a Minister ordained by a Bishop not in communion with this Church shall apply to a Bishop for admission into the same as a Minister thereof, he shall produce to the Bishop satisfactory evidence of his moral and godly character and of his theological acquirements, and that his letters of Holy Orders and other credentials are valid and authentic; he shall also produce a written certificate from at least two Presbyters of this Church, stating that, from personal examination, or from satisfactory evidence laid before them, they believe that his desire to leave the Communion to which he has belonged has not arisen from any circumstance unfavorable to his moral or religious character, or on account of which it may not be expedient to admit him to the exercise of the Ministry in this Church. Before such Minister shall be received into the Ministry of this Church, the Bishop shall require him to promise in writing to submit himself in all things to the discipline of this Church without recourse to any foreign jurisdiction, civil or ecclesiastical; and shall further require him to subscribe and make in his presence, and in the presence of two or more Presbyters, the declaration required in Article VIII. of the Constitution.

If such a Minister furnish evidence of a satisfactory theological training in his previous communion, and have exercised his ministry therein with good repute and success for at least five years, he shall be examined by the Bishop and two Presbyters in the following subjects:

(1). Ecclesiastical Polity and Canon Law, including the Constitution and Canons of the General Convention, and of the Diocese in which he expects to serve;

(2). The History of the Church of England and of this Church;

(3). The History, Contents and Use of the Book of Common Prayer;

(4). The points of Doctrine, Discipline and Worship in which the Communion from which he has come differs from this Church.

But if such Minister cannot furnish evidence of a satisfactory theological training in his previous Communion, or if he have not exercised his Ministry therein with good repute and success for at least five years, he shall conform to the requirements of Canon 26, Sec. 5, and Canon 29, Sec. 1, in full.

After which the Bishop, being satisfied of his theological acquirements and soundness in the faith, may, with the consent of the Standing Committee, or Council of Advice, receive him into the Diocese or Missionary District as a Minister of this Church; Provided, that such Minister shall not be entitled to hold canonical charge in any Parish or Congregation until he shall have resided one year in the United States or, in a Diocese or Missionary District of this Church located outside the United States, subsequent to the acceptance of his credentials.

Sec. 2. If such Minister be a Deacon he shall not be ordered Priest until he shall have resided in the United States or in a Diocese or Missionary District of this Church located outside the United States at least one year.

Sec. 3. No Minister ordained by a Bishop not in communion with this Church shall be accepted by a Bishop of this Church or placed on the clergy list of this Church until such Minister shall have submitted himself to, and satisfactorily passed, a thorough examination by a physician appointed by the Bishop. The examination shall cover the man's mental and nervous, as well as his physical condition. The form of medical report prepared by The Church Pension Fund shall be used for this purpose.

CANON 39.

Of the Ordination and Consecration of Bishops.

Sec. 1 (a). Whenever the Church in any Diocese shall desire the ordination and consecration of a Bishop-elect, if the election shall have taken place within three months before a meeting of the General Convention, the Standing Committee of the said Diocese shall, by their President, or by some person or persons specially appointed, forward to the Secretary of the House of Deputies, evidence of the election of the Bishop-elect by the Convention of the Diocese, together with evidence of his having been duly ordered Deacon and Priest, and also a testimonial, signed by a constitutional majority of such Convention, in the following words, viz.:
We, whose names are hereunder written, fully sensible how important it is that the Sacred Order and Office of a Bishop should not be unworthily conferred, and firmly persuaded that it is our duty to bear testimony on this solemn occasion without partiality or affection, do, in the presence of Almighty God, testify that the Reverend A. B. is not, so far as we are informed, justly liable to evil report, either for error in religion or for viciousness of life; and that we know of no impediment on account of which he ought not to be ordained and consecrated to that Holy Office. We do, moreover, jointly and severally declare that we believe him to be of such sufficiency in good learning, of such soundness in the Faith, and of such virtuous and pure manners and godly conversation, that he is apt and meet to exercise the Office of a Bishop to the honour of God and the edifying of His Church, and to be a wholesome example to the flock of Christ.

(Signed)

The Secretary of such Convention shall certify upon this testimonial that it has been signed by a constitutional majority thereof.

There shall also be forwarded with the testimonial and other documents a certificate from two medical doctors, who shall be chosen by the Presiding Bishop, that they have thoroughly examined the Bishop-elect and have not discovered in his physical, mental or nervous condition any reason why it would not be wise for him to undertake the work for which he has been chosen.

The Secretary of the House of Deputies shall lay the said testimonials before the House, and if the House shall consent to the consecration of the Bishop elect, notice of said consent, certified by the President and Secretary of said House, shall be sent to the House of Bishops, together with the testimonials aforesaid.

(b). If the House of Bishops consent to the consecration, the Presiding Bishop shall, without delay, notify such consent to the Standing Committee of the Diocese electing and to the Bishop-elect; and upon notice of the acceptance by the Bishop-elect of his election, the Presiding Bishop shall take order for the consecration of the said Bishop-elect either by himself or the President of the Province of which the Diocese electing is a part and two other Bishops of this Church, or by any three Bishops of this Church to whom he may communicate the testimonials.

In all particulars the service at the consecration of a Bishop shall be under the direction of the Bishop presiding at such consecration.

(c). If the election of a Bishop shall have taken place more than three months before the meeting of the General Convention, the Standing Committee of the Diocese electing shall, by their President, or by some person or persons specially appointed, immediately send certificate of the election to the Standing Committees of the several Dioceses, together with copies of the necessary testimonials and other documents, including the medical certificate as required in Sec. 1 (a) of this Canon; and if a majority of the Standing Committees of all the Dioceses shall consent to the consecration of the Bishop-elect, the Standing Committee of the Diocese electing shall then forward the evidence of said consent, with the other necessary testimonials, to the Presiding Bishop, who shall immediately communicate the same to every Bishop of this Church having jurisdiction in the United States, and if a majority of such Bishops shall consent to the consecration, the Presiding Bishop shall, without delay, notify such consent to the Standing Committee of the Diocese electing and to the Bishop-elect, and upon notice of his acceptance of the election, the Presiding Bishop shall take order for the consecration of the said Bishop-elect either by himself or the President of the Province of which the Diocese electing is a part and two other Bishops of this Church, or by any three Bishops of this Church to whom he may communicate the testimonials.

The evidence of the consent of the several Standing Committees shall be a testimonial in the following words, signed by a majority of the Standing Committees of all the Dioceses:

We, being a majority of all the members of the Standing Committee of , and having been duly convened at , fully sensible how important it is that the Sacred Order and Office of a Bishop should not be unworthily conferred, and firmly persuaded that it is our duty to bear testimony on this solemn occasion without partiality or affection, do, in the presence of Almighty God, testify that the Reverend A. B. is not, so far as we are informed, justly liable to evil report, either for error in religion or for viciousness of life; and that we know of no impediment on account of which he ought not to be ordained and consecrated to that Holy Office.

In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hands this day of in the year of our Lord

(Signed)

If the Presiding Bishop shall not have received the consent of a majority of the Bishops within three months from the date of his notice to them, he shall then give notice of such failure to the Standing Committee of the Diocese electing.
(d). In case a majority of all the Standing Committees of the several Dioceses shall not consent to the consecration of a Bishop-elect within the period of six months from the date of the notification of the election by the Standing Committee of the Diocese electing, or in case of majority of all the Bishops entitled to act in the premises shall not consent within the period of three months from the date of notification to them by the Presiding Bishop of the election, the Presiding Bishop shall declare the election null and void, and the Convention of the Diocese may then proceed to a new election.

(e). It shall be the duty of the Bishop-elect to notify the Presiding Bishop of his acceptance or declination of the election at the same time as he notifies the electing Diocese.

Sec. 2 (a). When a Bishop of a Diocese is unable, by reason of age, or other permanent cause of infirmity, or by reason of the extent of Diocesan work, fully to discharge the duties of his office, a Bishop Coadjutor may be elected by and for said Diocese, who shall have the right of succession; Provided, that before the election of a Bishop Coadjutor for the reason of extent of Diocesan work, the consent of the General Convention, or during the recess thereof, the consent of a majority of the Bishops having jurisdiction in the United States and of the several Standing Committees, must be had and obtained. Before any election of a Bishop Coadjutor, the Bishop of the Diocese shall read, or cause to be read, to the Convention thereof, his written consent to such election, and in such consent he shall state the duties which he thereby assigns to the Bishop Coadjutor, when duly ordained and consecrated, and such consent shall form part of the proceedings of the Convention. The duties assigned by the Bishop to the Bishop Coadjutor in any Diocese may be enlarged by mutual consent whenever the Bishop of the Diocese may desire to assign such additional duties to the Bishop Coadjutor. In case of the inability of the Bishop of the Diocese to issue the aforesaid consent, the Standing Committee of the Diocese may request the Convention to act without such consent, and such request shall be accompanied by certificates of medical men as to the inability of the Bishop of the Diocese to issue his written consent.

(b). In the case of a Bishop Coadjutor, the grounds for his election, as stated in the record of the Convention, shall be communicated, with the other required testimonials, to the General Convention, or to the Standing Committees and the Presiding Bishop.

(c). In case of application for the ordination and consecration of a Bishop Coadjutor, the Standing Committee shall forward to the Presiding Bishop, in addition to the evidence and testimonials required by the preceding section, a certificate of the Presiding Officer and Secretary of the Convention that every requirement of this Section has been complied with.

(d). There shall not be in any Diocese at the same time more than one Bishop Coadjutor.

Sec. 3. It shall be lawful, within six months prior to the effective date of the resignation or retirement of a Bishop from his jurisdiction, for the said Bishop, with the advice and consent of the Standing Committee, to call a special meeting of the Convention of the Diocese to elect a successor; Provided, that if the Convention is to meet in regular session meanwhile, it may hold the election during such regular session. The proceedings incident to preparation for the ordination and consecration of such successor shall be as provided in Section 1 of this Canon; but the Presiding Bishop shall not take order for the consecration to be on any date prior to that upon which the resignation is to become effective.

Sec. 4. No one shall be ordained and consecrated Bishop unless he shall at the time subscribe, in the presence of the ordaining and consecrating Bishops, the declaration required in Article VIII. of the Constitution.

CANON 40.

Of Missionary Bishops.

Sec. 1. The House of Bishops may establish Missionary Districts in States or Territories, or parts thereof, or in territory belonging to the United States, not organized into Dioceses, or in territory beyond the United States, not under the charge of Bishops in communion with this Church. It may also, from time to time, change, increase, or diminish the territory included in such Missionary Districts.

Sec. 2 (a). The House of Bishops may, from time to time, choose a suitable person or persons to be a Bishop or Bishops of this Church in Missionary Districts, such choice to be subject to confirmation by the House of Deputies during the session of the General Convention, and at other times to confirmation by a majority of the Standing Committees of the several Dioceses. The medical certificate as required in Canon 39, Sec. 1 (a), shall also be required of Missionary Bishops-elect.

(b). When a vacancy shall occur in the Episcopate in any Missionary District within a Province, the President of the Province may convene the Synod of the Province prior to the meeting of the House of Bishops at which a Missionary Bishop for such Missionary District is to be elected. The Synod of the Province may thereupon nominate not exceeding three persons to the House of Bishops for that office. It shall be the duty of the President of the Province to transmit such nomination, if any be made, to the Presiding Officer of the House of Bishops, who shall three weeks before the meeting of the House of Bishops communicate the same to the Bishops along with other nominations that have been made in accordance with the Rules of Order of the House. Each Province containing a Missionary District shall, by ordinance, provide the manner of convening the Synod and making such nomination. The foregoing provision for nomination by the Synod of the Province shall not apply in the case of the election of Missionary Bishops for Districts in Alaska, the Canal Zone, or in any other region outside the continental boundaries of the United States, notwithstanding such Districts may be included in Provinces.

(c). The evidence of such choice shall be a certificate signed by the Bishop presiding in the House of Bishops and by its Secretary, with a testimonial, or certified copy thereof, signed by a majority of the Bishops of the House, in the form required in Canon 39, Sec. 1 (a), which shall be sent to the Presiding Officer of the House of Deputies, or to the Standing Committees of the several Dioceses, if the General Convention be not in session.

(d). When the Presiding Bishop shall have received a certificate signed by the President and Secretary of the House of Deputies (or certificates signed by the Presidents and Secretaries of a majority of the Standing Committees as the case may be), that the election has been approved, and shall have received notice of the acceptance by the Bishop-elect of his election, he shall take order for the consecration of the said Bishop-elect either by himself and two other Bishops of this Church, or by any three Bishops of this Church to whom he may communicate the certificates and testimonial.

Sec. 3. The House of Bishops shall have power, at their discretion, to transfer a Missionary Bishop from one Missionary District to another, and, in case of the permanent disability of the Bishop in charge, to declare the Missionary District vacant.

Sec. 4. When the Bishop of a Missionary District is unable, by reason of age or other permanent cause of disability, fully to discharge the duties of his office, at his request a Bishop Coadjutor may be elected for that Missionary District with right of succession and subject to all the other provisions of this Canon governing the election of Missionary Bishops. Before such election the Bishop asking for such assistance shall state the duties which he thereby assigns to the Bishop Coadjutor. The duties assigned by the Bishop may be enlarged by mutual consent whenever the Bishop of the Missionary District may desire to assign such additional duties to the Bishop Coadjutor.

Sec. 5. Any Bishop or Bishops elected and consecrated under this Canon shall be entitled to a seat and vote in the House of Bishops, and shall be eligible to the office of Bishop or Bishop Coadjutor or Suffragan Bishop, in any organized Diocese within the United States; Provided, that such Bishop shall not be so eligible within five years from the date of his consecration, except to the Office of Bishop of a Diocese formed in whole or in part out of his Missionary District. And whenever a Diocese shall have been organized within the jurisdiction of such Missionary Bishop, if he shall be chosen Bishop of such Diocese, he may accept the office without vacating his Mission-

Provided, that he continue to discharge the duties of Missionary Bishop within the residue of his original jurisdiction, if there be such residue, until the House of Bishops shall elect a Missionary Bishop of such residue.

Sec. 6. (a). When a Diocese, entitled to the choice of a Bishop, shall elect as its Diocesan, or as its Bishop Coadjutor, or Suffragan Bishop, a Missionary Bishop of this Church, if such election shall have taken place within three months before a meeting of the General Convention, evidence thereof shall be laid before each House of the General Convention, and the concurrence of each House, and its express consent, shall be necessary to the validity of said election, and shall complete the same; so that the Bishop thus elected shall be thereafter the Bishop of the Diocese which has elected him.

(b). If the said election have taken place more than three months before a meeting of the General Convention, the above process may be adopted, or the following instead thereof, viz.: The Standing Committee of the Diocese electing shall give duly certified evidence of the election to every Bishop of this Church having jurisdiction in the United States thereof, and to the Standing Committee of every Diocese. On receiving notice of the concurrence of a majority of such Bishops and of the Standing Committees in the election, and their express consent thereto, the Standing Committee of the Diocese electing shall transmit notice thereof to the Ecclesiastical Authority of every Diocese and Missionary District within the United States; which notice shall state what Bishops and what Standing Committees have consented to the election. On receiving this notice the Presiding Bishop shall certify to the Secretary of the House of Bishops the altered status and style of the Bishop so elected.
The Standing Committee of such Diocese shall transmit to every congregation thereof, to be publicly read therein, a notice of the election thus completed, and also cause public notice thereof to be given in such other way as they may think proper.

Sec. 7. In case of the death or resignation of a Missionary Bishop, or of a vacancy in the Missionary District from other cause, the charge thereof shall devolve upon the Presiding Bishop with the power of appointing some other Bishop of this Church as his substitute in said charge until the vacancy is filled.

Sec. 8. If during the recess of the General Convention, and more than six months previous to its session, there shall be a vacancy in a Missionary District arising from any cause, the House of Bishops shall, on the written request of twelve members of the same, be convened by the Presiding Bishop; and thereupon may proceed to elect a Bishop for such District.

Sec. 1. A Suffragan Bishop shall be elected in accordance with the Canons enacted in each Diocese for the election of a Bishop. But the initiative shall always be taken by the Bishop of the Diocese asking for the assistance of a Suffragan.

Sec. 2. Before the election of a Suffragan Bishop in a Diocese or Missionary District the consent of the General Convention, or during the recess thereof the consent of a majority of the Bishops having jurisdiction in the United States and of the several Standing Committees must be had and obtained.

Sec. 3. There shall not at any time be more than two Suffragan Bishops holding office in and for any Diocese, save by special consent of the General Convention previously obtained.

Sec. 4. The House of Bishops, from time to time in its discretion, may choose a Suffragan Bishop for any Missionary District in the same manner as provided by Canon 40, Sec. 2, and subject to all the provisions thereof.

Sec. 5. A Suffragan Bishop shall act, in all respects, as the assistant of the Bishop of the Diocese, or Missionary District, and under his direction.

Sec. 6 (a). Every Suffragan Bishop, upon attaining the age of seventy-two years, shall forthwith tender his resignation from his position by sending it to the Presiding Bishop, who shall immediately communicate the same to every Bishop of this Church having jurisdiction in the United States and shall declare the said Bishop's resignation accepted, effective at a designated date not later than three months from the date of such resignation.

(b). The Presiding Bishop shall communicate to the resigning Bishop the fact of the acceptance of his resignation and the termination of his position effective as of the date fixed; and, in the case of a Suffragan of a Diocese, shall certify the same to the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese concerned. He shall also order the Secretary of the House of Bishops to record the same effective as of the date fixed, to be incorporated in the Journal of the House.

At each meeting of the General Convention, it shall be the duty of the Presiding Officer of the House of Bishops to communicate to the House of Deputies, when in session, a list of such resignations which have been accepted since the preceding meeting of the General Convention.
(c). Such retired Suffragan Bishop shall receive from the Treasurer of the General Convention a retiring allowance of four thousand dollars per annum, less whatever allowance such Bishop may receive from The Church Pension Fund and from the Diocese in which he served as Suffragan Bishop. Such retiring allowance may be revised whenever such retired Bishop shall receive a regular stipend from ecclesiastical employment.

(d). If any Suffragan Bishop should for any reason fail to submit his resignation upon attaining the age of seventy-two years, as provided in Clause (a) above, the Presiding Bishop shall certify that fact to the House of Bishops. The House of Bishops shall then declare the said Bishop's position terminated, effective at a date not later than three months from the date of such declaration; and shall order the Presiding Bishop's certificate and its own declaration and action to be recorded in its Journal. It shall then be the duty of the Presiding Officer of the House of Bishops to pronounce such position terminated, and to communicate the fact to the House of Deputies, if in session, and to the Ecclesiastical Authority of each Diocese and Missionary District.

(e). The tenure of office of a Suffragan Bishop shall not be terminated on the death or removal of the Bishop of the Diocese or Missionary District. A Suffragan Bishop may, at any time, resign his position as Suffragan of a Diocese or Missionary District with the consent of a majority of the Bishops of this Church having jurisdiction in the United States under the procedure set out in Canon 43, Sec. 8, so far as it applies. A Suffragan Bishop whose resignation has been accepted shall exercise Episcopal functions only as he may be authorized by the Ecclesiastical Authority of a Diocese or a Missionary District.
Sec. 7 (a). Whenever a Suffragan Bishop shall be elected Bishop or Bishop Coadjutor of a Diocese or Bishop of a Missionary District, if such election shall have taken place within three months before a meeting of the General Convention, evidence thereof shall be laid before each House of the General Convention and the concurrence of each House and its express consent shall be necessary to the validity of said election, and shall complete the same, so that the Bishop thus elected shall be thereafter the Bishop or Bishop Coadjutor of the Diocese which has elected him; or Missionary Bishop of the District, as the case may be.

(b). If the said election has taken place more than three months before a meeting of the General Convention, the above process may be adopted, or the following instead thereof, viz.:

The Standing Committee of the Diocese electing, or the Secretary of the House of Bishops, as the case may be, shall give duly certified evidence of the election to every Bishop of this Church having jurisdiction in the United States and to the Standing Committee of every Diocese.

On receiving notice of the concurrence of a majority of the Bishops and of the Standing Committees in the election, and their express consent thereto, the Standing Committee of the Diocese concerned or the Secretary of the House of Bishops, as the case may be, shall transmit notice thereof to the Ecclesiastical Authority of every Diocese and Missionary District within the United States; which notice shall state what Bishops and what Standing Committees have consented to the election. On receiving this notice the Presiding Bishop shall certify to the Secretary of the House of Bishops the altered status and style of the Bishop so elected.

If the Presiding Bishop shall not have received the consent of a majority of the Bishops within three months from the date of his notice to them, he shall then give notice of such failure to the Standing Committee of the Diocese electing.

Sec. 8. No Suffragan Bishop, while acting as such, shall be Rector or settled Minister in charge of a Parish or congregation.

CANON 42.

Of the Consecration of Bishops for Foreign Lands.

Sec. 1. Pursuant to the provisions of Article III. of the Constitution the following conditions are prescribed as necessary to be fulfilled before the Presiding Bishop of this Church shall take order for a Consecration to the Episcopate authorized by that Article.

(1). A person seeking to be ordained and consecrated a Bishop for a foreign land, within the purport of Article III. of the Constitution, must present to the Presiding Bishop of this Church a statement in writing subscribed by him setting forth his name, and the date and place of his birth; his Ecclesiastical and Civil status; whether he is in Priest's Orders, and, if so, the time and place and Episcopal source of his admission thereto, and to the Diaconate; the fact of his election or appointment, by a body of Christian people in a foreign land, to be, when duly ordained and consecrated, their Bishop; the corporate name under which such body is or desires and intends to be known as a distinct part of the Catholic Church of Christ; and the land wherein and the civil government under which it claims and purposes to exercise its jurisdiction as such; that the position of this body of Christian people in the land wherein they dwell is such as to justify its distinct organization as a Church therein; that the members of that body will receive the person consecrated for them by the Episcopate of this Church as a true and lawful Chief
Pastor, will suitably maintain him as such, and will render to him all due canonical obedience in the exercise of his proper Episcopal functions; that by the lawful authority recognized in the body applying through him for the Episcopate there has been prescribed for use in that body a Book of Offices containing the Creeds commonly called the Apostles' and Nicene Creeds, together with forms for the Administration of the Sacraments of Baptism and the Lord's Supper, an Ordinal, an Office for the Administration of Confirmation by the Laying on of Hands, and an Order for the public reading of the Holy Scriptures of the Old and New Testaments, in which Book the Faith and Order of the Church, as this Church hath received the same, are clearly set forth and established as the Faith and Order of the Church in which the Episcopate is as aforesaid desired to be settled and maintained; and that the person presenting himself for consecration is, in his life and teaching, in entire conformity with the principles of such Faith and Order, that he is not justly liable to evil report for error in religion or viciousness of life, and that he has no knowledge of any impediment on account of which he ought not to be consecrated to the Office of a Bishop.

(2). In case a Bishop should already have been consecrated for a foreign land under the provisions of Article III. of the Constitution, and application should be made for the consecration of a second or of a third Bishop for the same country, the judgment in writing of the Bishop or Bishops already exercising jurisdiction in that land concerning the proposed consecration shall be presented to the Presiding Bishop together with the papers required in the foregoing Clause.

(3). The applicant making the statement required in Clause (1) shall with it present to the Presiding
Bishop evidence fully substantiating the said statement in every particular thereof; and shall make such further statement, supported by such further evidence, as the Presiding Bishop may in the premises deem to be desirable or essential.

(4). If the Presiding Bishop shall deem the statement so submitted, with the evidence substantiating the same, sufficient to justify the consideration of the application by the Bishops of this Church, he shall lay the whole record embodying such statement and evidence before the House of Bishops on the next occasion on which they may be duly convened as such, with the presence of a majority of all the Bishops of this Church entitled to vote in that House.

Sec. 2. If after consideration of the statement and evidence so presented, and of any other evidence of which they may be cognizant, a majority of the Bishops of this Church entitled to vote in the House of Bishops shall consent to the proposed ordination and consecration under the provisions of Article III. of the Constitution, the Presiding Bishop shall take order therefor in the same manner as order is prescribed to be taken by him in the consecration of Bishops in this Church, the Order of Consecration being conformed, as nearly as may be in the judgment of the Bishops consecrating, to that used in this Church.

Sec. 3. Immediately after a consecration as herein provided shall have taken place, the Presiding Bishop shall lodge the original record of the statement and evidence above required, together with such other papers and documents as he may deem essential to the true and complete history of the proceedings, with the Registrar of the General Convention for preservation among the Archives of this Church.

CANON 43.
Of Duties of Bishops.

Sec. 1. It shall be the duty of every Bishop of this Church to reside within the limits of his jurisdiction; nor shall he absent himself therefrom for more than three months without the consent of the Convention or the Standing Committee of the Diocese, or, in the case of a Missionary Bishop, without the consent of the Presiding Bishop.

Sec. 2 (a). Every Bishop shall visit the Congregations within his Diocese or Missionary District at least once in three years, for the purposes of examining their condition, inspecting the behavior of the Clergy, administering Confirmation, preaching the Word, and at his discretion celebrating the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper. At every visitation it shall be the duty of the Bishop to examine the records required by Canon 45, Section 3.

(b). If a Bishop shall for three years have declined to visit a Parish or Congregation, the Minister and Vestry [or the Corporation], or the Bishop, may apply to the Presiding Bishop to appoint the five Bishops in charge of Dioceses who live nearest to the Diocese in which such Church or Congregation may be situated as a Council of Conciliation, who shall amicably determine all matters of difference between the parties, and each party shall conform to the decision of the Council in the premises; Provided, that in case of any subsequent trial of either party for failure to conform to such decision, any constitutional or canonical right of the defendant in the premises may be pleaded and established as a sufficient defense, notwithstanding such former decision; and, Provided, further, that in any case the Bishop may at any time apply for such Council of Conciliation.

(c). Every Bishop shall keep a record of all his official acts, which record shall be the property of the Diocese, and shall be transmitted to his successor.

Sec. 3. Every Bishop shall deliver, from time to time... at his discretion, a Charge to the Clergy of his Diocese or Missionary District, and may, from time to time, address to the people of his Diocese or Missionary District Pastoral Letters on points of Christian doctrine, worship, or manners, which he may require the Clergy to read to their congregations.

Sec. 4. At every Annual Convention or Convocation the Bishop shall make a statement of the affairs of the Diocese or Missionary District since the last meeting of the Convention or Convocation; the names of the Churches which he has visited; the number of persons confirmed; the names of those who have been received as Candidates for Holy Orders, and of those who have been ordained, and of those who have been by him suspended or deposed from the Ministry; the changes by death, removal, or otherwise, which have taken place among the Clergy; and all matters tending to throw light upon the affairs of the Diocese or Missionary District; which statement shall be inserted in the Journal.

Sec. 5. It shall be the duty of a Bishop, whenever leaving his Diocese or District for the space of six calendar months, to authorize, by writing, under his hand and seal, the Bishop Coadjutor, or, should there be none, the Standing Committee of the Diocese, or the Council of Advice of the District, to act as the Ecclesiastical Authority thereof during his absence. The Bishop Coadjutor, or, should there be none, the Standing Committee, may become at any time the Ecclesiastical Authority upon the written request of the Bishop, and continue to act as such until the request be revoked by him in writing.

Sec. 6 (a). Any Bishop of this Church may, on the invitation of the Convention or of the Standing Committee of any Diocese where there is no Bishop, or where the Bishop is for the time under a disability to perform Episcopal offices by reason of a judicial sentence, visit and perform Episcopal offices in that Diocese, or in any part thereof; and this invitation may be for a stated period, and may be at any time revoked.

(b). A Diocese without a Bishop, or of which the Bishop is for the time under a disability by reason of a judicial sentence, may, by its Convention, be placed under the provisional charge and authority of the Bishop or Bishop Coadjutor of another Diocese, who shall by that act be authorized to perform all the duties and offices of the Bishop of the Diocese so vacant or whose Bishop is under disability, until, in the case of a vacant Diocese a Bishop be duly elected and consecrated for the same; or in the case of a Diocese whose Bishop is disabled, until the disqualification be removed; or, until, in either case, the said act of the Convention be revoked.

(c). A Diocese, while under the provisional charge of a Bishop, shall not invite any other Bishop to perform any Episcopal duty or exercise authority.

Sec. 7 (a). Every Bishop and every Bishop Coadjutor and every Missionary Bishop, upon attaining the age of seventy-two years, shall forthwith tender his resignation from his jurisdiction, as required by Section 8 of Article II. of the Constitution, by sending it to the Presiding Bishop, who shall immediately communicate the same to every Bishop of this Church having jurisdiction in the United States and shall declare the said Bishop's resignation accepted, effective at a designated date not later than three months from the date of such resignation.

Sec. 9. No woman shall be recognized as a Deaconess until she has been admitted to that office by a service prescribed either by the General Convention or, in the absence of such prescription, by the Bishop of the Diocese or Missionary District.

Sec. 10. A Deaconess shall not accept work in a Diocese or Missionary District without the express authority in writing of the Bishop of that Diocese or Missionary District; nor shall she undertake work in a Parish without the like authority from the Rector of the Parish. No candidate shall be admitted as Deaconess until she shall have been appointed to serve in some position under the jurisdiction of the Church.

Sec. 11. When not connected with a Parish, the Deaconess shall be under the direct oversight of the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese or Missionary District to which she is canonically attached. Each Deaconess shall report annually to the Bishop of her Diocese in the form prescribed by the Bishop. A Deaconess may be transferred from one Diocese or Missionary District to another by Letters Dimissory. A Deaconess may at any time resign her office to the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese or Missionary District to which she is attached under this Canon, but she may not be suspended or removed from office except by the Bishop for cause. A Deaconess thus suspended or removed may demand a trial by a special Court, to be composed of two Presbyters and four Lay communicants, one man and three women, of whom two shall preferably be Deaconesses. The members of the Court shall be chosen by the Standing Committee or Council of Advice. The procedure of the Court shall be according to the rules governing the trial of a Clergyman in the Diocese or Missionary District to which the Deaconess is attached under this Canon.
Sec. 1. A religious community of men or of women desiring the official recognition of the Church shall submit for his approval its Rule and Constitution to the Bishop of the Diocese wherein the Mother-house of the community is situated; and no change in the Rule or Constitution shall be made without his approval.

Sec. 2. In such Constitution there shall be a distinct recognition of the Doctrine, Discipline, and Worship of this Church as of supreme authority.

Sec. 3. No religious community shall establish itself in another Diocese without permission of the Bishop of that Diocese.

Sec. 4. The community may elect a Chaplain, but if he be a Priest who is not canonically resident in the Diocese, he must be licensed by the Bishop. Any Priest ministering in a chapel of a religious community shall be responsible to the Bishop of the Diocese for his ministrations, in the same manner as a parochial Clergyman.

Sec. 5. In the administration of the Sacraments the Book of Common Prayer shall be used without alteration, save as it may be lawfully permitted by lawful authority.

Sec. 6. It shall be provided in the Constitution of a religious community that real estate and endowments belonging to the community shall be held in trust for the community as a body in communion with this Church.

Sec. 7. Members of a religious community who are in Holy Orders shall be subject to all canonical regulations concerning the Clergy.
Sec. 8. Provision shall be made in the Constitution for the appointment of a Visitor, with the approval of the Bishop of the Diocese in which the Mother-house is situated, if the Bishop is himself unwilling to serve in such capacity. It shall be the duty of the Visitor to see that the Constitution and Rule, as approved, are duly observed, and to receive and hear appeals either from the community or from individual members thereof as to transgressions of the Rule. No full member of a community shall be dismissed therefrom without appeal to the Visitor, nor shall any be released from his or her obligations thereto without the Visitor's sanction.

Sec. 9. It shall not be within the power of a succeeding Bishop to withdraw the official recognition that has been given to a Religious Community, provided, that the conditions laid down in this Canon are observed.
IV.
ECCLESIASTICAL DISCIPLINE.

CANON 53

Of Offenses for which Bishops, Presbyters or Deacons May Be Tried.

Sec. 1. A Bishop, Presbyter, or Deacon of this Church shall be liable to presentment and trial for the following offenses, viz.:

(1). Crime or immorality.

(2). Holding and teaching publicly or privately and advisedly, any doctrine contrary to that held by this Church.

(5). Violation of the Constitution or Canons of the Diocese or Missionary District to which he belongs.

(6). Any act which involves a violation of his Ordination vows.

(7). Habitual neglect of the exercise of his Ministerial Office, without cause; or habitual neglect of Public Worship, and of the Holy Communion, according to the order and use of this Church.

(8). Conduct unbecoming a Clergyman;

Provided, however, that in the case of a Presbyter or Deacon charged with this offense, before proceeding to a presentment, the consent of three-fourths of all the members of the Standing Committee or Council of Advice of the Diocese or Missionary District in which the Presbyter or Deacon is canonically resident, shall be required.
Upon a Presbyter or Deacon being found guilty, such Presbyter or Deacon shall be admonished, or shall be suspended or deposed from the Sacred Ministry, as shall be adjudged by the Trial Court, except as provided in Canon 64, Sec. 3.

Sec. 2. In the case of a Bishop, Presbyter or Deacon convicted in a Court of Record of any crime or misdemeanor involving immorality, or against whom a judgment has been entered in a Court of Record in a cause involving immorality, it shall be the duty of the Presiding Bishop, in the case of a Bishop, and in the case of a Presbyter or Deacon, of the Standing Committee of the Diocese or of the Council of Advice of the Missionary District in which he is canonically resident, to institute an inquiry into the matter. If in the judgment of either, there is sufficient reason for further proceedings, it shall be their duty to present him, or to cause that he be presented, for trial.

Sec. 3. No presentment shall be made or conviction had for any offense, unless the offense shall have been committed within five years immediately preceding the time of the presentment, except that in a case of a conviction in a Court of Record exercising criminal jurisdiction as aforesaid, a presentment may be made at any time within one year after such conviction notwithstanding five years may have elapsed since the commission of the offense.

CANON 54.

Of Amenability, Citation and Attendance.

Sec. 1. Bishops, Presbyters and Deacons are amenable for offenses committed by them; a Bishop to a Court of Bishops, and a Presbyter or Deacon to the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese, or the Missionary District, in which he is canonically resident at the time the charge is made.
Sec. 2. A notice or citation required by any law of this Church to any Bishop, Presbyter or Deacon to appear, at a certain time and place for the trial of an offense, shall be deemed to be duly served upon him if a copy thereof be given him personally or be left at his last usual place of abode within the United States, sixty days before the day of appearance named therein; and in case such Bishop, Presbyter or Deacon has departed from the United States, if a copy of such citation be also published once a week for six successive weeks in such newspaper printed in the Diocese or Missionary District in which the Bishop, Presbyter or Deacon is cited to appear as the Ecclesiastical Authority shall designate, the last publication to be six months before the said day of appearance. Acceptance of service will render unnecessary any further process of citation.

Sec. 3. A notice or citation, other than those above mentioned, required by any law of this Church, when no other mode of service is provided, may be served personally, or by registered mail, addressed to the person to be served, at his last known place of residence, or by leaving a copy at his last usual place of abode within the United States.

Sec. 4. It is hereby declared to be the duty of all members of this Church to attend and give evidence, when duly cited in any Ecclesiastical trial or investigation under the authority of this Church.

CANON 55.

Of Courts, Their Membership and Procedure.

(a) Diocesan Courts for the Trial of a Presbyter or Deacon.

Sec. 1. In each Diocese and Missionary District there shall be an Ecclesiastical Court for the trial of any Presbyter or Deacon thereof, and it shall be the duty of each Diocese and Missionary District to provide by Canon for the establishment of such Court and the mode of conducting trials in the same.

(b) Courts of Review of the Trial of a Presbyter or Deacon.

Sec. 2. In case of conviction by the Trial Court, the Bishop shall not proceed to sentence the accused before the expiration of thirty days after he shall have been served with notice of the decision of the Court in the manner specified in Canon 54, Sec. 3, nor in case an appeal is taken shall sentence be pronounced pending the hearing and determination thereof.

Sec. 3. In each of the Provinces there shall be a Court of Review of the trial of a Presbyter or Deacon, which shall be composed of a Bishop therein, three Presbyters canonically resident in one or other of the Dioceses or of the Missionary Districts within the Province, and three Lay communicants of the Church having domicile in the Province; two at least of said Lay communicants to be men learned in the law.

Sec. 4. Each Provincial Synod shall triennially at its first meeting after the regular meeting of the General Convention elect the Judges of the Court of Review in the Province. The Synod shall prescribe the manner in which such Judges shall be elected. The persons so elected, except in case of death, resignation, refusal or inability to serve, shall continue to be members of the Court for the term of three years and until their successors shall be elected.

The Bishop elected by the Synod shall be the Presiding Officer of the Court.

Sec. 5. The several Courts of Review are vested with jurisdiction to hear and determine appeals from decisions of Trial Courts in Dioceses and Missionary Districts, on the trial of a Presbyter or Deacon.

Sec. 6. An appeal to the Court of Review of the Province within which a trial was had may be taken by the accused from a decision of the Trial Court which sustains in whole or in part a charge of any canonical offense. Upon the written request of at least two Bishops of other jurisdictions within the Province, the Bishop or the Standing Committee of the Diocese or the Council of Advice of the Missionary District within which a trial was had shall appeal from a decision of the Trial Court acquitting the accused of a charge involving a question of doctrine, faith, or worship; Provided, however, that such appeal shall be on the question of the Church's doctrine, faith or worship only, and that the decision shall not be held to reverse the acquittal of the accused on other charges than these. But such an appeal by the Standing Committee or Council of Advice can be taken only when there is a vacancy in the office of Bishop or in case the Bishop is unable to act. The Bishop of the jurisdiction within which a trial was held, or (in case of his inability to act) the Standing Committee or Council of Advice, shall cause to be served on the accused against whom an adverse decision has been made by the Trial Court, written notice thereof. Within thirty days after the service of such notice the accused may appeal to the Court of Review by serving a written notice of appeal on the Bishop or Standing Committee or Council of Advice of said jurisdiction and a duplicate on the President of the Court. Such notice shall be subscribed by the appellant and shall briefly set forth the decision from which the appeal is taken and the grounds of the appeal. An appeal by the Bishop or Standing Committee or Council of Advice may be taken by the service by the appellant of a written notice of appeal upon the accused, and also upon the President of the Court within thirty days after the decision from which the appeal is taken.

If the trial was had in a Missionary District not specified in Canon 8, Sec. 1, the appeal shall lie to the Court of the Province embracing the Diocese, the Constitution and Canons of which had been selected for the administration of such Missionary District.

Sec. 7. An appeal shall be heard upon the record of the Trial Court. When an appeal shall have been taken, the Bishop, or in case of his inability to act, the Standing Committee of the Diocese or Council of Advice of the Missionary District wherein the trial was had, within thirty days after receiving notice of the appeal, shall transmit to the President of the Court of Review of the Province, a full and correct transcript of the record, proceedings, and decision of the Trial Court, including all the evidence taken upon the trial, duly certified by the Presiding Officer or Clerk of such Court. Except for the purpose of correcting the record, if defective, no new evidence shall be taken by the Court of Review.

Sec. 8. The President of the Court of Review of the Province having jurisdiction, within ninety days after the record shall have been received by him, shall appoint a time and place within such Province for the hearing of the appeal. At least thirty days prior to the day appointed, written notice of such time and place shall be given by him to the other members of the Court, and also to the accused, and to the Bishop and Standing Committee of the Diocese or Council of Advice of the Missionary District in which the trial was had. When the appeal is from the decision of a Trial Court in any Missionary District such notice shall be served at least three months prior to the day appointed for the hearing and the appellant shall have four months after the appeal is taken within which to serve and deliver copies of the record.

Sec. 9. It shall be the duty of the appellant to procure a certified copy of the record of the trial, including the charges, evidence, decision or judgment, together with the notice of appeal, to be printed. Within sixty days after the appeal shall have been taken he shall serve two printed copies of the record and notice of appeal upon the opposite party, and shall deliver seven printed copies to the President of the Court for the use of the Judges. For reasons by him deemed sufficient, the President may dispense with the printing of the record, or of any portion thereof.

The Church Advocate shall be deemed to be the opposite party for the purposes of this and the succeeding Canons.

Sec. 10. At the time and place appointed, the Court shall organize, and proceed to hear the appeal; Provided, however, that at least six Judges, of whom the President of the Court shall be one, shall participate in the hearing. But the members present, if less than that number, may adjourn the Court from time to time, until the attendance of the requisite number shall be secured.

Sec. 11. The Court may reverse or affirm, in whole or in part, the decision of the Trial Court, or, if in its opinion, justice shall so require, it may grant a new trial. If after having been duly notified, the appellant fail to appear, and no sufficient excuse be shown, the Court, in its discretion, may dismiss the appeal for want of prosecution, or may proceed to hear and determine the appeal in his absence.

Sec. 12. The concurrence of two-thirds of the members of a Court present shall be necessary to pronounce a judgment. The judgment or decision of the Court shall be in writing, signed by the members of the Court uniting therein, and shall distinctly specify the grounds of the decision and shall be attached to the record. If the concurrence of two-thirds of the members cannot be obtained as provided, that fact shall be stated in the record, and the decision of the Trial Court shall stand as affirmed. Immediately after the determination of the appeal the President of the Court shall give notice thereof in writing to the accused and to the Bishop and the Standing Committee of the Diocese or Council of Advice of the Missionary District in which the trial was had. Upon the determination of the appeal, the original record upon which the appeal was heard, together with the record of the Court of Review, certified by the President and the Secretary or Clerk, shall be remitted to the Bishop or the Standing Committee of the jurisdiction in which the trial was had. All records remitted as herein provided shall be deposited and be preserved among the archives of the jurisdiction to which they are sent.

Sec. 13. The Court of Review for the trial of a Presbyter or Deacon shall not pronounce sentence on the affirmation of a conviction. When the appeal is so determined, upon receipt of the record by the Bishop or Standing Committee or Council of Advice of the jurisdiction of the Trial Court, the accused shall be sentenced in accordance with Canon 64, the provisions of which shall be complied with.

(c) Court for the Trial of a Bishop.

Sec. 14 (a). There shall be a Court for the trial of a Bishop constituted as follows: The House of Bishops shall choose three Bishops to serve as judges of said court for a term of three years, three Bishops to serve as aforesaid for a term of six years, and three Bishops to serve as aforesaid for a term of nine years, and thereafter at each General Convention, the House of Bishops shall choose three Bishops to serve as aforesaid for the term of nine years, in place of those whose term of office shall then have expired.

(b). The Court is vested with jurisdiction to try a Bishop who is duly charged with any one or more of the offenses specified in Canon 53.
(c). Not less than six of said judges shall constitute a quorum, but any less number may adjourn the Court from time to time.

(d) The Court of Review of the Trial of a Bishop.

Sec. 15. There shall be a Court of Review of the Trial of a Bishop, which shall be composed of Bishops only and shall be constituted as follows:

The House of Bishops shall choose three Bishops who shall serve as Judges of the Court of Review of the Trial of a Bishop for the term of three years; three Bishops to serve as aforesaid for the term of six years; and three Bishops to serve as aforesaid for the term of nine years, and thereafter at each General Convention the House of Bishops shall choose three Bishops to serve as aforesaid for the term of nine years in place of those whose term of office shall then have expired.

Sec. 16. The said Court of Review is vested with jurisdiction to hear and determine appeals from the determination of the Court for the Trial of a Bishop.

Sec. 17. Not less than six Judges shall constitute a quorum and the concurrence of six Judges shall be necessary to pronounce a judgment, but any less number may adjourn the Court from time to time.

(e) Of Membership in Courts.

Sec. 18 (a). No person shall sit as a member of any Court who is a presenter of charges or is related to the accused or either of them by affinity or consanguinity in a direct ascending or descending line, or as a brother, uncle, nephew or first cousin, nor shall any Bishop, nor any Presbyter, nor any Layman of the Diocese or Missionary District in which the trial was had be competent to sit on an appeal from the decision on such trial, nor shall any Bishop, Presbyter or Layman who for any other reason upon objection made by either party is deemed by the other members of the Court to be disqualified.

(b). The death, permanent disability, resignation or refusal to serve as a member of any Court or Board of Inquiry shall constitute a vacancy in the Court or Board of Inquiry.

Notices of resignations or refusals to serve shall be given as follows:

(1). By any Bishop chosen to serve as a member of the Court for the Trial of a Bishop or of the Court of Review of the Trial of a Bishop; written notice sent to the Presiding Bishop.

(2). By the President of the Court of Review of the Trial of a Presbyter or Deacon; written notice sent to the President of the Provincial Synod.

(3). By a Presbyter or Layman of such Court; written notice sent to the President of said Court.

(4). By a Presbyter or Layman appointed to a Board of Inquiry; written notice sent to the Presiding Bishop.

(c). If any Presbyter appointed to a Board of Inquiry or to any of the Courts shall become a Bishop, or any Layman appointed to a Board of Inquiry or to any of the Courts shall become a Presbyter before the final disposition of the charge, he shall thereby vacate his place as a member of the Board or Court.

Sec. 19. Vacancies occurring in any of the Courts or Boards may be filled as follows:

(1). In the case of disqualification of any Judge of any Court, the remaining Judges of the said Court shall appoint a Judge to take the place of the one so disqualified in that particular case.

(2). In the case of a vacancy in the Court for the Trial of a Bishop or in the Court of Review of the Trial of a Bishop the remaining Judges thereafter shall have power to fill such vacancy until the next General Convention when the House of Bishops shall choose a Bishop to fill such vacancy. The Bishop so chosen shall serve during the remainder of the term.

(3). In the case of death, permanent disability, resignation or refusal to serve, or the removal from the Province of the Bishop appointed as a member of the Court of Review of the Trial of a Presbyter or Deacon, the President of the Provincial Synod shall give written notice thereof to the Bishop with jurisdiction senior by consecration in the Province. Thereupon the Bishop so notified shall become a member of the Court until a new appointment shall be made. If in a particular case the Bishop so appointed is unable or unwilling to serve as a member of the Court he shall notify the President of the Provincial Synod of this fact, who shall thereupon appoint the Bishop with jurisdiction next senior by consecration in that Province.

(4). In case a vacancy shall exist in the membership of the Court of Review in any Province, among the clerical or lay members originally chosen, or in case any of them shall be disqualified or unable to sit in a particular case, the President of the Court shall appoint other Presbyters or Laymen residing in the Province to fill such vacancy and to sit as members of said Court.

(5). In the case of a vacancy for any cause in the Board of Inquiry the Presiding Bishop shall appoint another Presbyter or another Layman, as the case may be, to act as a member of the Board, who, upon acceptance of appointment, shall become a member of the Board.

All of the provisions of the Canons relating to persons originally appointed as members of the several Courts or Boards of Inquiry or Commissions, shall apply to those persons appointed in succession to the persons originally appointed, and all proceedings which may have been taken on any cause pending at or prior to such appointment, shall have the same force and effect as if the appointee had been a member of the Court, Board or Commission, when such cause was commenced, and such appointee may participate in the continuing hearing and determination of the said cause.

If the term for which a member of a Court, Board or Commission was chosen shall have expired during the course of a hearing or trial, said member shall notwithstanding be competent to act in the cause until the termination of the trial or hearing.

(f) Of Procedure.

Sec. 20 (a). The procedure in Diocesan Courts shall be as provided by the Canons of the respective Dioceses or Missionary Districts.

(b). The Court for the Trial of a Bishop and the Court of Review of the Trial of a Bishop shall from time to time elect from its own membership a Presiding Judge who shall hold office until the expiration of the term for which he was chosen Judge. If in any proceeding before said Courts the Presiding Judge is disqualified or is for any cause unable to act, the Court shall elect a Bishop as Presiding Judge pro tempore.

(c). The several Courts shall appoint clerks and if necessary assistant clerks who shall be Presbyters of this Church to serve during the pleasure of the Court.

The several Courts may appoint not less than two nor more than three lay communicants of this Church learned in the law, as assessors. They shall have no vote. It shall be their duty to give the Court an opinion on any question, not theological, upon which the Court or any member thereof, or either party, shall desire an opinion. If a question shall arise as to whether any question is theological, it shall be decided by the Court by a majority of the votes.
The several Courts may adopt rules of procedure not inconsistent with the Constitution and Canons of this Church, with power to alter or rescind the same from time to time.

Sec. 21. In the conduct of investigations preliminary to presentments, as well as in all trials, the laws of the civil jurisdiction in which such investigation or trial is had so far as they relate to evidence shall be adopted and taken as the rules by which said Board of Inquiry, Commission, or Court, shall be governed, and trials shall be conducted according to the principles of the common law as the same is generally administered in the United States except in those Dioceses where Ecclesiastical Courts are provided for by Constitution or Statute, in which case the same shall govern.

No determination or judgment of any Court shall be disturbed for technical errors not going to the merits of the cause.

The several Courts shall keep a record of all their proceedings.

Sec. 22. The various Courts shall permit the accused to be heard in person or by counsel of his own selection, provided every such counsel shall be a communicant of this Church, but in every trial or investigation the several Courts may regulate the number of counsel who may address the Court or examine witnesses.

The President, or any other member of the several Courts, shall upon application of either the Church Advocate or the accused issue subpoenas for witnesses, but before doing so the person who issues the same shall first be satisfied that the testimony sought to be adduced is material and that the witness is one whom the Court would be willing to hear upon the trial, otherwise he may refuse to issue the same.
When the several Courts are not in session, if there is a vacancy in the office of the President, the Bishop who is senior by consecration shall perform the duties of the office of President.

If in the course of a trial it becomes necessary to take the testimony of absent witnesses, it may be taken upon a commission as such commissions are authorized by the common law in the jurisdiction in which the trial takes place, and in case there is ground to suppose that the attendance of a witness at the forthcoming trial cannot be obtained, it shall be lawful for either party to apply to the Court if in session, or, if not, to any member thereof, who shall thereupon appoint a Commissioner to take the deposition of such witness; and such party desiring to take such depositions shall give the opposite party reasonable notice of the time and place of taking depositions, accompanying such notice with the interrogatories to be propounded to the witness, whereupon it shall be lawful for the other party within six days after such notice to propound cross-interrogatories and such interrogatories and cross-interrogatories, if any be propounded, shall be sent to the Commissioner, who shall thereupon proceed to take the testimony of such witness and transmit it under seal to the Court. Such testimony shall be preceded by a written declaration of the witness similar to that of a witness testifying in person before the Court for the Trial of a Bishop.

In any Diocese in which the Civil Government shall have authorized the Ecclesiastical Courts therein to issue subpoenas for witnesses or to administer an oath, the Court shall act in conformity to such law.

Provided, however, that no deposition shall be taken, or read at the trial, unless the Court shall deem such testimony to be material and also have reasonable assurance that the attendance of the witness cannot be procured, and the several Courts shall have power to limit the scope of the testimony and the number of witnesses to be examined and whose depositions shall be taken.

Sec. 23. Where a presentment of a Bishop is made by any three Bishops of this Church exercising jurisdiction, they may select a Church Advocate as legal adviser. The Presiding Bishop upon the receipt of written charges or written demand under the provisions of Sections 3 or 4 of Canon 56 shall at the same time that the Board of Inquiry is appointed as provided in Section 5 of said Canon 56 appoint a Church Advocate to act as the legal adviser of the Board.

In all trials and upon all appeals the several Courts may appoint a Church Advocate with or without assistants, all of whom shall be of the profession of the law, and communicants of the Church, to appear in behalf of the Church upon such trial or appeal. The Church Advocate shall then be considered the party on one side, and the accused the party on the other.

Sec. 24. The necessary charges and expenses of the Court of Review of the Trial of a Presbyter or Deacon, including the necessary expenses of the Church Advocate and Lay Assessors, shall be a charge upon the Province and shall be paid by the Treasurer of the Synod of such Province upon the order of the President of the Synod. Similar charges in the case of the trial of a Bishop, and of the Court of Review of the Trial of a Bishop, shall be paid by the Treasurer of the General Convention upon the order of the President of such Courts.

The necessary expenses of Boards of Inquiry or Commissions appointed under the Canons of this Church to make preliminary investigation and to report upon charges presented, including therein the necessary expenses of Church Advocates appointed to assist such Boards or Commissions, shall be a charge upon the General Convention, or upon the Province, or the Diocese, or the Missionary District, as the case may be. They shall be paid by the respective Treasurers of the General Convention, of the Synod or Province, or of the Diocese or of the Missionary District, upon the order of the President of the several Courts.

CANON 56.
Of Presentments.

(a) Of a Presbyter or Deacon.

Sec. 1. The mode of presentment of a Presbyter or Deacon shall be that provided by the Canons of the Diocese or Missionary District wherein the accused is canonically resident.

(b) Of a Bishop.

Sec. 2. A Bishop may be presented by any three Bishops of this Church exercising jurisdiction, for holding and teaching publicly or privately and advisedly, doctrine contrary to that held by this Church. Such presentment shall be in writing, signed and verified by the Bishops presenting, and shall be delivered to the Presiding Bishop.

Sec. 3. A Bishop may be charged with any one or more of the offenses specified in Canon 53, other than that of holding and teaching doctrine contrary to that held by this Church, by three Bishops or ten or more male communicants of this Church in good standing, of whom at least two shall be Presbyters; one Presbyter and not less than six communicants shall belong to the Diocese or Missionary District of the accused, or, in case the accused have no jurisdiction, to the Diocese or District in which he has domicile. Such Presentment to be in writing.

A Bishop may demand investigation.

The Presiding Bishop shall summon Board of Inquiry.

Duties of Board of Inquiry.

Testimony to be preserved.

Presentment.

Charges shall be in writing, signed by all the accusers, sworn to by two or more of them, and shall be presented to the Presiding Bishop of the Church. The grounds of accusation must be set forth with reasonable certainty of time, place and circumstance.

Sec. 4. Whenever a Bishop shall have reason to believe that there are in circulation rumors, reports, or allegations affecting his personal or official character, he may, acting in conformity with the written advice and consent of any two Bishops of this Church, demand in writing of the Presiding Bishop that investigation of said rumors, reports and allegations be made.

Sec. 5. The Presiding Bishop, upon the receipt of such written charges or such written demand, shall summon not less than three nor more than seven Bishops, and, unless a majority of them shall determine that such charges, if proved, would constitute no canonical offence, they shall select a Board of Inquiry of five Presbyters and five Laymen, none of whom shall belong to the diocese of the accused, of whom eight shall form a quorum.

The Board of Inquiry shall investigate such charges, or the said rumors or reports, as the case may be. In conducting the investigation, the Board shall hear the accusations and such proof as the accusers may produce, and shall determine whether, upon matters of law and of fact, as presented to them, there is sufficient ground to put the accused Bishop on his trial.

The testimony shall be stenographically reported, and shall be preserved in the custody of the Presiding Bishop or in the archives of the House of Bishops. The proceedings of the Board of Inquiry shall be private.

Sec. 6. If in the judgment of the majority of the whole Board of Inquiry, there is sufficient ground to put the said Bishop upon trial, they shall cause the Church Advocate to prepare a presentment, which shall be signed by such of the Board as shall agree thereto, and which shall be transmitted with the certificate of the determination of the Board to the Presiding Bishop.

If a majority of the whole Board shall determine that there is not sufficient ground to present the accused Bishop for trial, it shall forward the charges and a certificate of the finding thereon to the Presiding Bishop. He shall send the same to the Secretary of the House of Bishops, by him to be deposited in the archives of the House; and a true copy of these papers shall be given to the accused Bishop. No further proceeding shall be had by way of presentment on such charges, except that any communicant of this Church in good standing may make and present to the Presiding Bishop his affidavit alleging the discovery of new evidence as to the facts charged and setting forth what such evidence is; and upon the receipt thereof the Presiding Bishop shall decide whether the affidavit does or does not state grounds which in his opinion are sufficient for reopening the case. If the Presiding Bishop shall be of opinion that the affidavit states grounds sufficient to justify reopening the case, he shall reconvene the Board, which shall determine, first, whether as a matter of fact the evidence set forth in such affidavit is really new evidence and not merely cumulative; and if the Board shall find that the evidence so tendered is new, it shall proceed to receive and to consider such evidence, and any further evidence that it may deem proper to receive; and in the light of all the evidence the Board shall determine whether there are sufficient grounds for presentment. If the Board, by a majority of its members, shall decide that there is any such sufficient ground, it shall certify its decision as in this Canon heretofore provided.
Sec. 7. In case a majority of the whole Board shall fail to find either that there is, or that there is not, sufficient ground to present the accused Bishop for trial, it shall certify the fact of its inability to agree upon any such finding to the Presiding Bishop, who, at the request of the accused Bishop, may select a new Board in the manner provided in Section 5, who shall consider the case de novo.

Sec. 8. In case any presentment shall be made to the Presiding Bishop as hereinbefore provided, he shall at once transmit the same to the President of the Court for the Trial of a Bishop, and shall cause a true copy of the presentment to be served upon the accused Bishop, in the manner provided in Canon 54.

Sec. 9. In case the Presiding Bishop shall be either an accuser or the accused, or shall otherwise be disabled, his duties under this Canon shall be performed by the Bishop who, according to the rules of the House of Bishops, becomes its Presiding Officer in case of the disability of the Presiding Bishop of the Church.

CANON 57.
Of the Trial of a Bishop.

Sec. 1 (a). When the President of the Court for the Trial of a Bishop shall receive a presentment, he shall call the Court to meet at a certain time and place, said time not to be less than two nor more than six calendar months from the day of mailing such notice, and at a place within the Diocese or Missionary District of the accused Bishop, unless the same be of such difficult access, in the judgment of the President of the Court, that reasonable convenience requires the appointment of another place; and in case the accused have no jurisdiction, at a place within the Diocese or Missionary District in which he has his domicile. With said notice, he shall send to each member of the Court a copy of the presentment.
(b). He shall also summon the accused to appear at the same time and place to answer the said presentment, and shall also give notice of the said time and place to the Church Advocate.

Sec. 2 (a). At the time and place appointed, a quorum of the Court being present, the President shall declare the Court open for hearing the case; and when thus open, he shall direct the clerk to call the names of the Church Advocate and the accused; and if both appear, he shall then cause the Clerk to read the presentment.

(b). The accused shall then be called upon by the Court to plead to the presentment and his pleas shall be duly recorded; and on his neglect or refusal to plead, the plea of not guilty shall be entered for him, and the trial shall proceed; Provided, that for sufficient cause the Court may adjourn from time to time; and Provided, also, that the accused shall, at all times during the trial, have liberty to be present, and in due time and order to produce his testimony and to make his defense.

(c). If the accused fail or refuse to appear in person, according to the notice served on him as aforesaid, except for reasonable cause to be allowed by the Court, it shall pronounce him in contumacy, and give him notice that sentence of suspension or deposition will be pronounced against him by the Court at the expiration of three months, unless at that time he shall appear and take his trial upon the presentment. If he do not so tender himself for trial, sentence of suspension, or of deposition from the Ministry may be pronounced upon him by the Court.

Sec. 3. The accused being present and the trial proceeding, it shall be conducted in accordance with Secs. 20, 21 and 22 of Canon 55. The accused shall in all cases have the right to be a witness on his own behalf, subject to cross-examination in the same manner as any other witness. No testimony shall be received at the trial, except from witnesses who have signed a declaration in the following words, to be read aloud before the witness testifies and to be filed with the records of the Court.

“I, A. B., a witness on the trial of a presentment against the Right Reverend , a Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States of America, now pending, do most solemnly call God to witness that the evidence I am about to give shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help me God.”

Sec. 4. The Court, having fully heard the allegations and proofs of the parties, and having deliberately considered the same after the parties have withdrawn, every member of the Court sitting in the cause shall declare whether in his opinion the accused is guilty or not guilty, and with respect to each particular charge and specification contained in the presentment; and the accused shall be deemed not guilty upon every charge and specification upon which he shall not be pronounced guilty by a majority of the members of the Court sitting in the cause.

Sec. 5. The decision of the Court as to all the charges and specifications shall be reduced to writing, and signed by those who assent to it, and the Court shall also, if the accused is found guilty of any charge or specification, determine and embody in the written decision the penalty which it shall adjudge should be imposed upon the accused, which penalty may be admonition or suspension or deposition from the ministry, as shall be by the Court adjudged; and the decision so signed shall be recorded as the judgment of the Court, and shall be judgment nisi until it becomes final as hereinafter stated.

Sec. 6. A Bishop found guilty upon a presentment for crime or immorality shall not, after the rendering of such judgment, and while the same continues unreversed, perform any Episcopal or Ministerial functions, except such as relate to the administration of the temporal affairs of his Diocese or Missionary District.

Sec. 7. If the accused shall be found guilty of any charge or specification, he may file a motion for a new trial and for a modification of penalty. Any such motion or motions shall be filed within 30 days from the date of the filing of the decision, and the motion shall set forth all the reasons therefor, and no other shall be relied on at the hearing of the motion without the consent of the Court. The President of the Court shall set a place and time for hearing the motion and shall reconvene the Court to hear and determine the same.

The Court may in the interest of justice grant a new trial or modify the penalty. If the motion for a new trial is granted the President of the Court shall set a time and place for the new trial, and notify the parties and the members of the Court of such time and place. If the motion for a new trial is overruled, the judgment nisi as to the guilt of the accused shall become final, but the Court in the exercise of its discretion may modify or change the penalty, and shall in writing signed by a majority of the Court direct what penalty is to be incorporated in the final judgment to be recorded by the Clerk. If no motion for a new trial or for modification of sentence shall be filed within the time limited for filing such motions, the Clerk of the Court shall on the next secular day enter, as final, the judgment rendered by the Court.
An appeal from a final judgment of a Court for the Trial of a Bishop to the Court of Review of the Trial of a Bishop, as provided in Canon 58, may be taken within sixty days from the entry of such judgment.

After the entry of final judgment, the President of the Court shall appoint a time and place not less than 60 days thereafter for pronouncing sentence. At the time and place appointed, if the accused shall not have an appeal pending in the Court of Review of the Trial of a Bishop, or the action of the Court of Review has not made it unnecessary for the Trial Court to proceed to pronounce sentence, the President of the Court or a member thereof designated in writing by a majority of the members thereof to do so, shall in the presence of the accused, if he shall see fit to attend, pronounce the sentence which has been adjudged by the Court, and direct the same to be recorded by the Clerk.

Sec. 8 (a). During the trial, exceptions in writing may be taken by either side to the admission or exclusion of evidence, or to any ruling of the Court, and such exceptions shall form part of the record of the case.

(b). Such record shall be kept by the Clerk, and inserted in a book to be attested by the signature of the President and Clerk. The record shall be in the custody of the Clerk and kept in the depositary of the Registrar of the General Convention, and shall be open to the inspection of every member of this Church.
Trial Court to the Court of Review of the Trial of a Bishop; and in the case of a Bishop presented for holding and teaching doctrine contrary to that held by this Church, the Church Advocate shall have a like right of appeal.

Sec. 2. Unless within sixty days from the date of entry of judgment in the Trial Court the appellant shall have given notice of the appeal, in writing, to said Court, to the party against whom the appeal is taken, and to the President of the Court of Review of the Trial of a Bishop, assigning in said notice the reasons of appeal, he shall be held to have waived the right of appeal, although in its discretion the Court of Review of the Trial of a Bishop may entertain and hear an appeal not taken within such prescribed period.

The President of the Court of Review upon receiving the notice of appeal shall appoint a time within 60 days thereafter for hearing the appeal and fix the place of the hearing, and at least 30 days prior to the day appointed written notice of such time and place shall be given by him to the other members of the Court and also to the appellant and appellee.

Sec. 3. Upon notice of appeal being given, the Clerk of the Trial Court shall send to the Clerk of the Court of Review of the Trial of a Bishop a transcript of the record, including all the evidence, certified by the President and Clerk of the said Court, and the Clerk shall lay the same before the Court at its next session.

Sec. 4. No oral testimony shall be heard by said Court, nor, except by permission of the said Court shall any new evidence be introduced in said hearing.

Sec. 5. The Court of Review of the Trial of a Bishop may affirm or reverse any judgment brought before it on appeal, and may enter final judgment in Proviso. In doctrinal cases, finding of guilt must be approved by vote of two-thirds of all Bishops.

Sentence. Stay of proceedings in Trial Court.

Sec. 6. If the Court of Review of the Trial of a Bishop shall enter final judgment in the case, and if by said judgment the accused shall be found guilty of any of the charges or specifications upon which he has been tried, the Court of Review of the Trial of a Bishop shall determine the sentence, which shall be either admonition, suspension, as defined by the Canons of this Church, or deposition. Before sentence is passed the accused shall have the opportunity of being heard, if he have aught to say in excuse or palliation. The sentence shall be pronounced by the Presiding Bishop, or such other Bishop as the Presiding Bishop shall designate who shall thereupon give the notices thereof required by Canon 64.

Sec. 7. In case of appeal, all proceedings in the Trial Court shall be stayed until such appeal be dismissed by the Court of Review of the Trial of a Bishop, or the said case be remitted by the said Court to the Trial Court. Should the appellant fail to prosecute his appeal before the said Court at the first session thereof, after the entry of the appeal, at which the same could be heard the appeal may be dismissed for want of prosecution. In case the said Court dismiss the appeal, the Clerk of the Court shall immediately give notice of such dismissal to the Trial Court.

The appellant may waive his appeal at any time before a hearing thereof has begun before the Court of Review of the Trial of a Bishop. After said hearing has begun, he may waive his appeal only with the consent of the Court. In case the appeal is waived or dismissed, the Trial Court shall proceed as if no appeal had been taken.

Canon 59.

Of a Minister in any Diocese or Missionary District Chargeable with Offense in Another.

Sec. 1. If a Minister belonging to any Diocese or Missionary District shall have conducted himself in any other Diocese or Missionary District in such a way as to be liable to presentment under the provisions of Canon 53, the Ecclesiastical Authority thereof shall give notice of the same to the Ecclesiastical Authority where he is canonically resident, exhibiting, with the information given, reasonable ground for presuming its truth. If the Ecclesiastical Authority, after due notice given, shall omit, for the space of three months, to proceed against the offending Minister, or shall request the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese or Missionary District in which the offense or offenses are alleged to have been committed, to proceed against him, it shall be within the power of the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese or Missionary District, within which the offense or offenses are alleged to have been committed, to institute proceedings according to the mode provided by the said Diocese or Missionary District.
Sec. 2. If a Minister shall come temporarily into any Diocese or Missionary District, under the imputation of having elsewhere been guilty of any of the offences within the provisions of Canon 53, or if any Minister, while sojourning in any Diocese or Missionary District, shall so offend, the Bishop, upon probable cause, may admonish such Minister and inhibit him from officiating in said Diocese or Missionary District. And if, after such inhibition, the said Minister so officiate, the Bishop shall give notice to all the Ministers and Congregations in said Diocese or Missionary District, that the officiating of said Minister is inhibited; and like notice shall be given to the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese or Missionary District to which the said Minister belongs, and to the Recorder. And such inhibition shall continue in force until the Bishop of the first-named Diocese or Missionary District be satisfied of the innocence of the said Minister, or until he be acquitted on trial.

Sec. 3. The provisions of the last Section shall apply to Ministers ordained in foreign lands by Bishops in communion with this Church; but in such case notice of the inhibition shall be given to the Bishop from whose jurisdiction the Minister shall appear to have come, and also to all the Bishops exercising jurisdiction in this Church, and to the Recorder.

CANON 60.

Of Renunciation of the Ministry.

Sec. 1. If any Minister of this Church not under presentment shall declare, in writing, to the Ecclesiastical Authority of the Diocese or Missionary District in which he is canonically resident, his renunciation of the Ministry of this Church, and his desire to be removed therefrom, it shall be the duty of the Ecclesiastical Authority to record the declaration and request so made. The Bishop, being satisfied that the person so declaring is not amenable for any canonical offense, and that his renunciation of the Ministry is not occasioned by foregoing misconduct or irregularity, but is voluntary and for causes, assigned or known, which do not affect his moral character, shall defer formal action upon the declaration for three months, and meanwhile shall lay the matter before the clerical members of the Standing Committee (or of the Council of Advice), and with their advice and consent he may pronounce that such renunciation is accepted, and that the Minister is released from the obligations of the Ministerial office, and that he is deprived of the right to exercise the gifts and spiritual authority as a Minister of God's Word and Sacraments conferred on him in his Ordination. He shall also declare in pronouncing and recording such action that it was for causes which do not affect the man's moral character, and shall, if desired, give a certificate to this effect to the person so removed from the Ministry. In all other cases of Renunciation of the Ministry, where there may be a question of foregoing misconduct or irregularity, the Bishop shall not pronounce sentence of Deposition save with the consent of the Standing Committee of the Diocese or the Council of Advice of the Missionary District. The Bishop shall give due notice of every such Removal or Deposition from the Ministry, in the form in which the same is recorded, and in accordance with the provisions of Canon 64, Sec. 3 (b).

Sec. 2. If a Minister making the aforesaid declaration of renunciation of his Ministry be under presentment for any canonical offense, or if he shall have been placed on trial for the same, the Ecclesiastical Authority to whom such declaration is made, shall not consider or act upon such declaration until after the said presentment shall have been dismissed, or the said trial shall have been concluded and sentence, if any, pronounced. If the Ecclesiastical Authority to whom such declaration is made shall have ground to suppose that the person making the same is liable to presentment for any canonical offense, such person may, in the discretion of the said Ecclesiastical Authority, be placed upon trial for such offense, notwithstanding such declaration of renunciation of the Ministry.

CANON 61.

Of the Abandonment of the Communion of this Church by a Bishop.

Sec. 1. If a Bishop abandon the communion of this Church, either by an open renunciation of the Doctrine, Discipline, or Worship of the Church, or by formal admission into any religious body not in communion with the same, or in any other manner, it shall be the duty of the Standing Committee of the Diocese or the Council of Advice of the Missionary District of said Bishop to certify the fact to the Presiding Bishop, and with such certificate to send a statement of the acts or declarations which show such abandonment, which certificate and statement shall be recorded by the Presiding Bishop. The Presiding Bishop, with the consent of the three senior Bishops having jurisdiction in the United States, shall then suspend the said Bishop from the exercise of his Office and Ministry until such time as the House of Bishops shall investigate the matter.

Sec. 2. The Presiding Bishop shall forthwith give notice to the said Bishop of such suspension, and that unless he shall, within six months, make declaration that the facts alleged in said certificate are false, and shall demand a trial, he will be liable to deposition from the Ministry. And if such declaration be not made within six months, as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the Presiding Bishop to convene the House of Bishops to consider the case; and if the said House, by a majority of the whole number of Bishops entitled to vote, shall give their consent, the Presiding Bishop shall depose the said Bishop from the Ministry, and pronounce and record in the presence of two or more Bishops, that he has been so deposed.

CANON 62.

Of the Abandonment of the Communion of this Church
by a Presbyter or Deacon.

Sec. 1. If any Presbyter or Deacon shall, without availing himself of the provisions of Canon 60, abandon the communion of this Church, by an open renunciation of the Doctrine, Discipline, or Worship of this Church, or by a formal admission into any religious body not in communion with the same, or in any other way, it shall be the duty of the Standing Committee of the Diocese or the Council of Advice of the Missionary District in which the said Presbyter or Deacon is canonically resident to certify the fact to the Bishop, or, if there be no Bishop, to the Bishop of an adjacent Diocese or Missionary District, and with such certificate to send a statement of the acts or declarations which show such abandonment; which certificate and statement shall be recorded, and shall be taken and deemed by the Ecclesiastical Authority as an equivalent to a renunciation of the Ministry by the Minister himself; and the said Bishop shall then suspend the said Minister for six months. Notice shall then be given by the said Bishop to the Minister so suspended that, unless he shall within six months transmit to the Bishop a retraction of such acts, or make declaration that the facts alleged in said certificate are false, he will be deposed from the Ministry.

Sec. 2. If such retraction or declaration be not made within six months, as aforesaid, it shall be the duty of the Bishop to depose the said Minister from the
CANON 63

Ministry, and to pronounce and record, in the presence of two or more Presbyters, that he has been so deposed.

CANON 63.

Of a Minister Absenting Himself from his Diocese, or Abandoning the Work of the Ministry.

Sec. 1. If a Minister shall have been absent for more than two years from the Diocese or Missionary District in which he is canonically resident without having given reasons satisfactory to the Bishop thereof; or if he shall engage in any secular calling or business without the consent of such Bishop, and shall refuse to engage in the work of the Ministry at the call of his Bishop, coupled with reasonable provision for his support, it shall be the duty of the Standing Committee of the Diocese or the Council of Advice of the Missionary District, or of any two Presbyters of the same jurisdiction, the case being brought to their attention by the written statement of the Bishop, to present the offending Minister for trial for violation of his Ordination vows.

Sec. 2. Whenever a Minister of this Church shall have been absent from the Diocese or Missionary District for a period of more than two years, and has failed to make the annual report, so that his whereabouts are unknown, the Bishop may send the name of such Minister to the Secretary of the House of Bishops of the Church, who shall keep a list of such Ministers; but upon application of either the Bishop or the Minister himself, or at the discretion of the Presiding Bishop, he shall be placed again upon the Diocesan list.

While the Minister's name remains upon the list of the Secretary of the House of Bishops he shall not be considered as canonically connected with the Diocese.
CANON 64

Of Sentences.

Sec. 1. Whenever the penalty of suspension shall be inflicted on a Bishop, Presbyter or Deacon, in this Church, the sentence shall specify on what terms and on what conditions and at what time the penalty shall cease.

Sec. 2. Whenever a Minister is deposed from the Sacred Ministry, he is deposed therefrom entirely, and not from a higher to a lower Order in the same.

Sec. 3 (a). If a Presbyter or Deacon is liable to sentence upon conviction by a Trial Court or upon affirmance of such conviction by a Court of Review, sentence shall be imposed by the Bishop of the jurisdiction in which the original trial of the accused was had, or in case such Bishop is disqualified or there be no Bishop of that jurisdiction, by another Bishop by the request of its Standing Committee or Council of Advice, and it shall be lawful for the Bishop of the jurisdiction or for such other Bishop in his discretion to pronounce a lesser sentence than that adjudged by the Court. The Bishop to act shall appoint a time and place for pronouncing such sentence and shall cause notice thereof in writing to be served upon the accused in the manner provided in Canon 54 at least thirty days before the time appointed.

(b). In the case of renunciation of the Ministry by a Minister as provided in Canon 60, and in case of the abandonment of the communion of this Church by a Presbyter or Deacon as provided in Canon 62, sentence of Removal or Deposition shall be pronounced in the presence of two or more Presbyters, and shall be entered in the official records of the Diocese or Missionary District in which the Presbyter or Deacon being removed or deposed is canonically resident. The Bishop who pronounces sentence of Removal or Deposition as provided in Canon 60 or Canon 62 shall give notice thereof in writing to the Presiding Bishop, the Recorder, the Secretary of the House of Bishops, the Secretary of the House of Deputies, and The Church Pension Fund. In giving such notice the Bishop who pronounces sentence of Removal or Deposition may request, for reason to be stated by him, that the sentence be held in confidence until the regular date of the next ensuing publication of the list of ordained clergy of this Church. Unless the Presiding Bishop shall disapprove in writing, within thirty days, of the granting of the request that the sentence be held in confidence, those notified as above provided of the sentence of Removal or Deposition shall not publish or give notice of the same, but shall record the sentence in confidence in the official records kept by each of those to whom notice is sent as above provided.

(c). If the sentence to be pronounced upon a Presbyter or Deacon be deposition, the Bishop acting in the matter shall pronounce and record the same in the presence of two or more Presbyters.

(d). In case an accused Presbyter or Deacon confesses the truth of the charges made against him, and in writing waives the right to a trial and submits himself to disciplinary action, the Bishop may in his discretion proceed at once to pronounce sentence.

(e). After a Presbyter or Deacon shall have been convicted by a Trial Court of a crime or immorality rendering him liable to canonical sentence, the Bishop of the Diocese or Missionary District shall have the right to suspend him from all public ministrations. Such suspension shall continue until a final judgment upon the case. When the sentence is of a suspension or deposition, the Bishop who pronounces the same shall without delay give notice thereof in writing to every Minister and Vestry in the Diocese or Missionary District in which the accused was canonically resident; to all the Bishops of the Church, and where there is no Bishop, to the Standing Committee of the Diocese or to the Council of Advice of the Missionary District as the case may be; to the Recorder, and to the Secretary of the House of Bishops, who shall deposit and preserve such notice among the archives of the House. The notice shall specify under what Canon the said Minister has been suspended or deposed.

Sec. 4. No sentence shall be pronounced until an opportunity shall have been given to the accused either on conviction or on confession to show cause, if any, why sentence should not be pronounced, and to offer any matter in excuse or palliation for the consideration of the Bishop to pronounce sentence.

Sec. 5. When a Bishop is liable to sentence under a judgment of a Trial Court or under a judgment of a Court of Review of the Trial of a Bishop on an appeal to said Court of Review, the sentence to be imposed, the Bishop to pronounce the same, and the procedure to be followed in imposing sentence shall be as provided in the several Canons governing the procedure of said Courts.

Sec. 6. In the case of the suspension or deposition of a Bishop it shall be the duty of the Presiding Bishop to give notice of the same to the Ecclesiastical Authority of every Diocese and Missionary District of this Church and to the Recorder and the Secretary of the House of Bishops and to all Archbishops and Metropolitans, and all Presiding Bishops of Churches in communion with this Church.

Sec. 7. A Bishop found guilty upon a presentment for a crime or immorality shall not, on the rendering of such judgment, and while the same continues unre-versed, perform any episcopal or ministerial functions, except such as relate to the administration of the temporal affairs of his Diocese or Missionary District.

CANON 65.

Of the Remission or Modification of Judicial Sentences.

Sec. 1. The House of Bishops may remit and terminate any judicial sentence which may have been imposed upon a Bishop, or modify the same so far as to designate a precise period of time, or other specific contingency, on the occurrence of which such sentence shall utterly cease, and be of no further force or effect; Provided, that no such remission or modification shall be made except at a meeting of the House of Bishops, during the session of some General Convention, or at a special meeting of the said House, which shall be convened by the Presiding Bishop on the application of any five Bishops, three months' notice, in writing, of the time, place and object of the meeting being given to each Bishop; Provided, also, that such remission or modification be assented to by not less than a majority of the whole number entitled at the time to seats in the House of Bishops; and Provided, that nothing herein shall be construed to repeal or alter the provisions of Canon 64.

Sec. 2. A Bishop of this Church may, for reasons which he shall deem sufficient, remit and terminate any sentence of deposition or removal pronounced in his jurisdiction upon a Minister; but he shall exercise this power only upon the following conditions:

(1). That he shall act with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Standing Committee.

(2). That he shall submit his proposed action, with his reasons therefor, to the judgment of five of the Bishops of this Church, whose Dioceses or Missionary Districts are nearest to his own, and shall receive in writing, from at least four of the said Bishops, their approval of the said remission, and their consent thereto.

(3). That before remitting such sentence, he shall require the person to be restored to the Ministry to subscribe to the declaration required in Article VIII. of the Constitution.

Sec. 3. In case such person was deposed for abandoning the communion of this Church, or, having been deposed by reason of his renunciation of the Ministry of this Church, or for other cause, he have also abandoned its communion, the Bishop before granting such remission, shall be satisfied that such person has lived in lay communion with this Church for three years next preceding his application for such remission.

Sec. 4. In case the person applying for such remission shall be domiciled beyond the Diocese or Missionary District in which he was deposed, the Bishop, before granting such remission, shall be furnished with written evidence of the approval of such application by the Bishop of the Diocese or Missionary District in which such person is domiciled.

Sec. 5. Whenever a Bishop shall remit and terminate any sentence of deposition, he shall, without delay, give due notice thereof under his own hand, sending said notice in a sealed envelope to the Ecclesiastical Authority of every Diocese and Missionary District of this Church and to the Recorder, giving, with the full name of the person restored, the date of the deposition and the Order of the Ministry to which he is restored.

Declaration.

The case of one deposed for abandoning the communion of the Church.

If residing out of the Diocese, his application to have the approval of the Ecclesiastical Authority where he lives.

Bishop to give notice of remission of sentence.
CANON 66

V.

CANONICAL LEGISLATION.

CANON 66.

Of Enactment, Amendment, and Repeal.

Sec. 1. No new Canon shall be enacted, or existing Canon be amended or repealed, except by concurrent resolution of the two Houses of the General Convention. Such resolution may be introduced first in either House, and shall be referred in each House to the Committee on Canons thereof, for consideration, report, and recommendation, before adoption by the House; Provided, that in either House the foregoing requirement of reference may be dispensed with by a three-fourths vote of the members present.

Sec. 2. Whenever a Canon which repealed another Canon, or part thereof, shall itself be repealed, such previous Canon or part thereof shall not thereby be revived or re-enacted, without express words to that effect.

Sec. 3. In all cases of future enactment, the same, if by way of amendment of an existing provision, shall be in substantially the following form: "Canon .... (or Section ...., or Clause .... of Section ...., of Canon ....,) is hereby amended to read as follows: (here insert the new reading)." And in the event of insertion of a new Canon, or of a new Section, or Clause, in a Canon, or of the repeal of an existing Canon, or of a Section or Clause, the numbering of the Canons, or of divisions of a Canon, which follow shall be changed accordingly.

Sec. 4 (a). The Committee on Canons of each House of the General Convention shall, at the close of each regular meeting of the General Convention, ap­point two of its members to certify the changes, if any, made in the Canons, including a correction of the references made in any Canon to another, and to report the same, with the proper arrangement thereof, to the Secretary, who shall publish them in the Journal.

(b). The Committee on Amendments to the Constitution of each House of the General Convention shall, at the close of each regular meeting of the General Convention, appoint a similar committee of two of its members to certify in like manner the changes, if any, made in the Constitution, or proposed to be made therein under the provisions of Article XI. of the Constitution, and to report the same to the Secretary, who shall publish them in the Journal.

Sec. 5. All Canons enacted during the General Con­vention of 1943, and thereafter, and all amendments and repeals of Canons then or thereafter made, unless otherwise expressly ordered, shall take effect on the first day of January following the adjournment of the General Convention at which they were enacted or made.
